In the evening bingo and other games of chance will be played, under the ball park flood lights, or in case of rain in the town hall. Dancing will commence at 10 p.m. at the Riverside Pavillion. All proceeds are going towards the annual children's Christmas party.

Scoops Government By 11 Years Carved 10 Shields At Ottawa

By DOUGLAS HOW.

OTTAWA, July 31 — (CP). — The man who scooped the Government by 11 years is all set to carve Newfoundland into Confederation.

Cleo Soucy, a sculptor, a stonecarver and a singer and clarinet player to boot, says he figured in 1937 that something like a 10th Province was liable to happen to Canada. So, in the midst of the work he has been doing for the Government for 30 years, he has carved 10 instead of nine shields around the great Gothic arch at the entrance to the centre block of Parliament.

Nine of them have long been willed with the coats of arms of the provinces. The 10th stayed blank. Now if Newfoundland comes in—Mr. Soucy admits he wasn't sure whether it would be Newfoundland, Yukon or the North-West Territories — he will make it one of his first jobs to complete the picture.

He works in a little room on the fifth floor of the centre block, modelling in clay and then casting in plaster all sorts of designs of faces—such as Champlain and Wolfe and Mackenzie King—and gargoyles and symbolic characters.

Gadgets

There is a story that L. B. (Mike) Pearson, Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, got a bit of a surprise recently. It seems that Prime Minister Mackenzie King was being shown a new interoffice communications system by Jack Pickersgill, his secretary. Mr. King thought it was an excellent thing.

"Tell me somebody you want to call?" he asked.

"Mike Pearson," Mr. Pickersgill said.

Mr. King called Mr. Pearson.

"Hello," he said. "Mr. Pearson?"

"Yes."

"This is Mr. King. Mr. Pickersgill would like to speak to you."

Hydro Power Line Endangers Firemen

TORONTO, July 30. (CP)—A Hydro power line carrying 110,000 volts posed a threat to suburban Leaside firemen fighting a blaze which destroyed a section of the Master Builders plant at Leaside Thursday night. The power line is located 60 feet from the building, too close for comfort, especially if a gust of wind or water from the hose pushed it near the men.

At one point the stream of water got so close to the wire that firemen dropped the hose. After Hydro men shut, off the power, firemen were able to bring the blaze under control and keep it from spreading to other parts of the building.

The New Importance of The Canadian North

"With the treacherous connivance of the Mackenzie King Government, the U.S. General Staff is planning to make Churchill on Hudson Bay a gigantic base for aggressive air-borne war against the Soviet Union". These words form part of a 1948 May Day "greeting" sent by Mr. Tim Buck, elusive National Leader of the Labour Progressive Party to comrades in the United States. He also said, "Clearly the Truman-Marshall plans look towards taking over Canada and using her as a Finland or Belgium of World War III".

These are either lies or nonsense, nevertheless thousands of Canadians as well as Tim Bucks and Soviet Russians have dangerous misconceptions about the new importance of and our activities in the north. Obviously the Canadian Arctic has military importance. The shortest routes to and from the land mass of Europe and Asia run across the Arctic regions. The vast territories of the Arctic can now be crossed by powerful aircraft. Some time in the future fleets of bombers may be built which will make possible the delivery of heavy attacks across the Arctic Ocean. Canadian and American military authorities must consider this possibility. We must not neglect what can be done in these areas for the defence of this continent.

• • •

Military outposts are maintained in the Canadian Arctic and sub-Arctic regions—weather stations, landing strips, temporary camps for testing equipment and for experimental training. These are small and isolated. A meteorological station in the Far North, manned by fewer than a dozen men, may be called an "air base", because it is equipped with an air strip to enable supplies to be flown in. The men may be in uniform. There is a small winter experimental station at Churchill on Hudson Bay controlled by the armed forces. (This is the "gigantic base" which Mr. Tim Buck said was being planned.) A couple of years ago the Canadian Army sent a small expedition from Churchill to the shores of the Arctic Ocean. This 3,000-mile expedition was given the name "Musk-Ox". The total number of men in this powerful force was forty.

• • •

The Canadian Arctic is not becoming a huge military preserve. Mr. Mackenzie King said last year in the House of Commons that "Canada's northern program is primarily a civilian one, to which contributions are made by the armed forces". Civil and military governmental activities are interlocking and complementary. In an address on the subject given last May by Mr. Hume Wrong, Canadian Ambassador to the United States, to the Arctic Institute of North America, Mr. Wrong pointed out the difference between our and European meanings of the word "frontier". In Europe a frontier is a boundary between two states dotted with customs offices and guards. In North America a frontiersman is not a customs officer, soldier or gendarme, but a pioneer — dreaming, exploring, developing. The last North American frontier, the Canadian North, is not bristling with arms.

• • •

The new importance of the Canadian North, new because of the development of flying, is primarily not military but economic and social. It is a massive area for exploitation and development. In the 1,460,000 square miles of the Northwest Territories and the Yukon, along the 6,000 miles of Arctic shoreline of the Canadian mainland and the 27,000 miles of shoreline of the Arctic islands, in the hinterland of Quebec and Labrador (between which there will happily exist no "frontier" in the European sense when Newfoundland enters the Canadian union)—in these vast areas are riches and mysteries to fire the imagination. Men of spirit, pioneers of industry, engineers, scientists of genius are going and will go into this grand North to learn its secrets, solve its problems and develop its potential.

• • •

Canada will not surrender this North to a foreign power like the United States. All the quasi-military establishments there now are under the full control of the Canadian Government. Canada has, however, the responsibility for developing these regions and, unlike Russia, the other great Arctic power, welcomes the collaboration of other nations in this enterprise.

The Disappearance Of The Soap Box

We have been ruminating about the Soap Box Derby which took place in Peterborough a fortnight ago. It was not the variety of home-made cars and the reckless speed of the youngsters careening down the Westclox Hill which has stirred us into thought, but the name of the race: "Soap Box Derby". Why call it that, when it had been donkey's years since soap has been packed in wooden boxes? Imagine a child going 40 m.p.h. in a cardboard carton!

Soap boxes have become debased. So has the application of the term. There is something unseemly in calling the present cartons in which soap is handled "Soap Boxes". A real soap box is—pardon, was—a strong, honest wooden box, suitable for babies' sleds, a packing-case for bride's dishes, a kitchen stool, a child's homemade commode, a public orator's podium. The soap boxes in present use cannot even be burned readily! The old soap box was an institution and we may expect any day to hear that a candidate for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy is writing a thesis on the subject "The Social and International Significance of the Soap Box (1880-1920)." We have heard that five American museums have acquired soap boxes for their collections.

The disappearance of the real soap box coincided with the end of an era. How many of our modern troubles can be blamed on the lack of soap boxes? Soap box orators no longer flourish, except behind microphones. Were the new cardboard cartons responsible for their fall? Is that why politics no longer have hustings and have become meek and mild—no brimstone, no lye? In these degenerate days we have soap operas, scented soft soap, soap box Derbies. Sad to think that probably the youngsters who speed down hill in their wheeled contraptions, which undoubtedly have secret propellers, hidden jet-plane engines and Superman in the phantom rear seat, have no realization of the historic significance of "soap box" as applied to their contest. They have probably never seen a real soap box.

Overcoming Butter Blues?

One immediate response to the Newfoundland referendum seems to have been the announcement that the cabinet has decided to refer the ban on margarine to the Supreme Court, to test its validity. Newfoundland manufactures and permits the sale of margarine. It could, of course, enter the Confederation margarine-tainted while the rest of Canada remained butter-pure. In doing so a kind of customs barrier would be set up between the one province of Newfoundland and the other provinces, which would not be a co-operative thing. What is needed is a wide-open gate and not a margarine barrier.

The decision to refer the ban to the Supreme Court is not politically embarrassing. If in the court's judgement the ban is invalid then margarine should become a legal commodity, and the dairy industry could wail but not blame the Government. Alas, the prospect of having margarine legalized is not yet bright. The national ban seems originally to have been made possible on the specious theory that the Government was protecting the health of the nation. If margarine were found to be a healthy food the ban might be no longer valid. Then—and this is the fly in the marge—each province could decide for itself whether or not to continue the ban. Thus the question of having or not having margarine would become a Sacred Provincial Matter.

The price of butter continues to rise. A grave scarcity of butter is likely this autumn, which may ban butter from our tables completely, even if we could afford it. Please, cannot we have a bit of margarine for our Christmas dinner? Surely Santa Claus will be kind if the Supreme Court and the provincial legislatures prove not to be.

The soothing power of music apparently does not fail even at examination times. A recent newspaper heading states that "Music Examination Results in Harmony and History". We are glad, by the way, that —under examination—music in Peterborough is making history at long last.

Diary Of A Great Moral Force

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Having passed a comparatively peaceful day, I tempted fate this evening by going for a short drive in the country; collected a heaping snootful of noxious pollens and dusts, and on the homeward journey the car used no gasoline at all, being urged forward by the overwhelming power of my sneezes. A new means of jet propulsion?.... Tried to distract myself with a little music, and was soon puzzling over the question of why so many of the great composers of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries wasted so much time composing variations on foolish tunes. Mozart was a constant offender in this respect. When he should have been busy at his proper job of writing symphonies and operas he was quite likely to be composing twenty-six variations on "Popf Geht der Weaschel" or some other tavern tune of the period. Nobody writes variations any more. Imagine what Stalin would say to Shostakovitch if he turned up with a set of variations on "Nature Boy"!

MONDAY: Watched a man operating a power-driven excavator this afternoon—an instructive and artistically satisfying way of passing the time. It was a funny-faced little machine with caterpillar treads and a scoop on its front, but he operated it with a finesse which reminded me of a Chinese eating a bowl of fried chicken and almonds with a pair of chopsticks. There was the same complete command of the situation, the same miraculous ability to do seemingly impossible things.... My hay fever continues unabated. Several people have told me that I should go to the seaside—useless advice for I have no money for gallivanting. I am toying, however, with a new invention, Marchbanks Maritime Mask. It will be a respirator, filled with sea water, and worn over the face and mouth like a dog muzzle; every breath the wearer takes will be filtered through the sea water, and thus he will have all the benefits of the seaside, while living inland.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: Was invited to a private showing of a sex education film this morning, along with prominent members of the clergy, judiciary, police chiefery and fire departmentery. This is because I am a Great Moral Force in my Community. My sex education is now complete, and I give my word of honour that, whatever temptations life throws in my way, I shall never have an illegitimate baby. Was fascinated by a distinction which the film insisted upon between "sentimental love" and "sensual love". The former is what nice people feel, and the latter is what low scoundrels feel. But my dictionary says that "sensual" means "connected with the gratification of the senses", and it has been my observation that when a young man monopolizes a girl's time without making at least a half-hearted attempt to gratify a few of her senses (her passion for nut-fudge sundaes with chocolate and marshmallow sauce, for instance) she soon passes him up for a more adventurous fellow. The plain fact is that however hard a young man may try to live up to his Scout Oath, and to keep his love on a purely sentimental plane, girls don't encourage him to do so. And just as well, too. There is a point beyond which purity should not be allowed to go.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: Put two cents in a parking meter this morning, and the thing gobbled them up without any change of expression. This irritated me, so I shook it vigorously, and at last gave it a sharp kick. Just at that moment a police car drove by, and two cops cast oblique glances at me, which seemed to say, "Aha, a parking-meter-kicker, eh? Aha!" This caused me to blush all over my body. I am the only person since the death of Eleanora Duse who can do this.... Viewed a birthday cake this evening, and was impressed by the leaves, flowers, and tender messages which had been wrought upon it in squeezed sugar. One of my dreams is to get my hands on a cake about the size of a piano box, and an unlimited supply of pink, white and green icing, and go to work. What Epstein has done in bronze would pale into insignificance beside what I would do in sugar.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: Saved a fellow creature from a hideous fate this afternoon. He was standing in a lane, looking at something, when a car backed up and knocked him down. As he made no outcry, and as he was far below the level of the motorist's mirror, the car came onward, and another onlooker and I snatched the fallen one to safety in the very nick of time. It was only then that he uttered a sound. He burst out laughing, and seemed to regard his narrow escape as a great joke....Examined a baby this evening, a fairly new child, belonging to some friends. It looked very old and very wise. Now the only other creature which looks both old and wise is an old man, and as I gazed at the baby the shocking idea popped into my head that perhaps old men are in reality no wiser than babies. The younger a baby is, the wiser it looks; the older an old man is, the wiser he looks. Can it be that I have at last solved the problem of why it is that even the wisest-looking old men so rarely say anything really interesting?

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: As I wept, sneezed and coughed my way through my day's work, reflected that the world judges diseases by unjust standards. Anyone who has a migraine headache, for instance, receives the keenest sympathy, for his ailment is heroic and—this is important—silent. But a man who has hives is a joke, though hives are desperately painful. Similarly it is heroic to suffer with one's sinus, but a man who has catarrh, and who, in consequence, hawks, hoots, snorts, roars, gags and spits is thought to be making a great and disgusting fuss about nothing. The healthy can endure invalids only when the latter are quiet and motionless. Let them but cough or scratch, and sympathy flies out of the window.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: Every year, at about this time, I take a vacation, as a result of social pressure. I do not really like vacations; I much prefer an occasional day off when I do not feel like working. When I am confronted with a whole week in which I have nothing to do but enjoy myself, I do not know where to begin. To me, enjoyment comes fleetingly and unheralded; I cannot determinedly enjoy myself for a whole week at a time. A day's work when everything goes smoothly, or an evening when I am thoroughly happy and at ease, or an unexpected stroke of luck—these are the things which I enjoy. But when I go after the coy nymph Pleasure with a blunderbuss, determined to make her my mistress for a whole week, she vanishes into her fastnesses, and hurls ordure and makes rude noises at me whenever I approach.

Rasping British Politicians

Party verbal jousting in England is a far different thing from what it is in Canada, where there is no fire in the bellies of our politicians at all. Recently Labour Health Minister Aneurin Bevan remarked that he had a "burning hatred for Tories" and considered them "lower than vermin". Whereupon Churchill retorted:

"I can think of no better step to signalize the inauguration of the national health service than that a person who so obviously needs psychiatrical attention should be among the first of its patients."

This is reminiscent of Lloyd George's crack about Lord Gladstone, son of the great William Ewart. "His only contribution to Liberalism is his proof of its main thesis that brains aren't hereditary". It is also, in large measure, the British traditional way — the way that was made famous in the great contests between Pitt and Fox, which were continued by O'Connell and Disraeli, and which Lloyd George brought to a peak with what became known as "Limehouse". Said he once of the Chamberlains, who were manufacturers in Birmingham: "While the Empire expands, the Chamberlains contract".

Against this level of debate there is much to be said. Yet we think we prefer it to our discussions in Canada, out of which fire and iron seem to have gone completely, and which increasingly confuse dullness with decorum.—Ottawa Journal.

IN SEARCH OF DREAMS

Lines In Praise

Blessings upon that tribe, intrepid, brave,
Who run the children's camps, where waters lave
The granite lakeshores of Ontario.
To glades where oft the redskin used to go
Now go our greenbacks; to those who for a price
Profess to think our children very nice
And advertise to rally them around,
Prepared to worry lest the dears be drowned
They offer to accept responsibility
That would produce neurotic instability
In parents. Armed with many a trusty first aid kit
For those who in the poison ivy sit,
They build their camps well off the beaten track
That misled parents may not hurry back
To comfort the imaginary woe
Of children who forgot them days ago
While shuffling off the hampering skins of home
And donning regulation shorts to roam
In ordered file, the ordered woodland dell,
Where prosperous little ones in summer dwell
And evenings, by the campfire, softly drone
Songs the Ontario censors could not but condone.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!....

They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters; these see the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deep. For he commandeth, and raiseth the stormy wind, which lifteth up the waves thereof. They mount up to the heaven, they go down again to the depths: their soul is melted because of trouble....

Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distresses. He maketh the storm a calm, so that the waves thereof are still.

Then are they glad because they be quiet; so he bringeth them unto their desired haven. (Ps. 107: 21, 23-26, 28-30.)

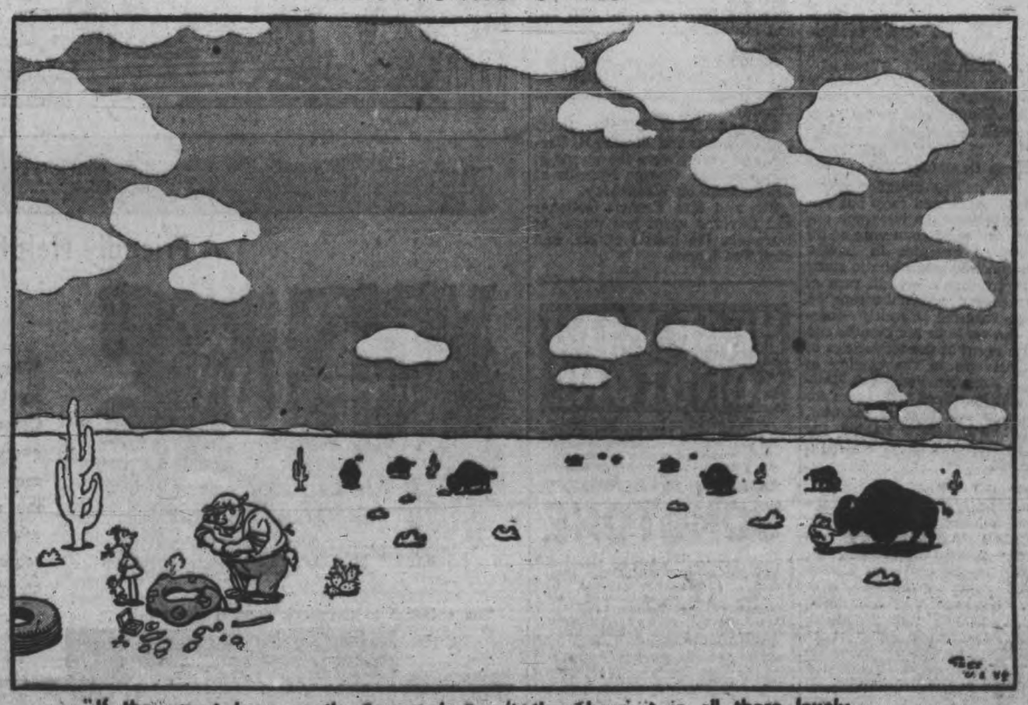
✧ ✧ ✧

O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good; because his mercy endureth for ever. (Ps. 118: 1.)

✧ ✧ ✧

I will praise thee with uprightness of heart, when I shall have learned thy righteous judgments....

Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law. (Ps. 119: 7. 18.)



Ag'in The Government

Although, in a booklet entitled "The True Signifance of the Ontario Election Results", the Ontario Temperance Federation declares it "is not in alliance with any political party", the contents of the booklet show beyond doubt that the Federation is in the hands of men who are actively opposed to the Conservative party.

Obvious of the fact that the Liberal party in convention assembled was silent on the question of reform of liquor legislation, and although the C.C.F.'s program was so vague as to offer little comfort to the temperance forces, it is against the Conservative party alone that this attack of the Ontario Temperance Federation is directed. Such an attitude suggests that the Federaion is being disingenuously used for party purposes.

It is within the rights of the Federation to declare its opposition to the liquor legislation now on the statutes and to state its belief that this legislation cost the government considerable support. But when it declares that "the government retains power in opposition to the expressed will of the people" it speaks with the voice of left-wing partisans and its statement has nothing whatever to do with temperance.—Torono Telegram.

Tight Stays Threatened Women's Health

BY RALPH GREENHILL

If the present trend continues for women's clothes to copy past fashions, we may yet see a return to the Victorian stays. With this in mind, a reference might be useful to the Penny Magazine of the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge. In the magazine's monthly supplement for February, 1833, it has a detailed article "On the ill effects of insufficient exercise, constrained positions, and tight stays on the health of young women."

The article explains how by means of stays "the stomach and liver are compresser, and, in time, partially detruded from the concavity of the diaphragm, to the great disturbance of their functions; and being pressed downwards too, these trespass on that space which the other abdominal viscera require, superinducing further derangements. Thus, almost, every fuction of the body becomes more or less depraved." Two illustrations are included, "taken from a valuable work in German, by the late Prof. Soemmering, on the effects of stays, and cannot fail to make an impression on the mind of every parent and guardian of youth."

Not all Victorian publishers were so interested in the moral and intellectual uplift of their reader. Duffy's Hiberian Sixpenny Magazine for March, 1863, has a story entitled "Married in Spite of My Aunt."

Chapter I, however, begins, "Lest in the minds of the world the above title may suggest the idea of a naughty, indiscreet, and totally - devoid - of - propriety runaway match, with visions of a heart-broken, elderly, female relative left to weep alone and forsaken, I must hasten to assure the said world, which, as far as I can judge, is always in a great hurry to jump at uncharitable conclusions, that my aunt is not heart-broken-so far from weeping, she is at this moment laughing at a very stupid joke of my mischievous husband's —and as she is going to live for the remainder of her life with a most devoted and affectionate niece meaning myself of course— she cannot be said to be forsaken." And the world of 1863 read on.

The love story played an extremely important part inthe tremely important part in the magazines of the Victorian era. A large part of Cassell's Magazine for 1869 was devoted to "Baffled; or Micheal Brand's Wrong," by Julia Goddard, author of "Joyce Dormer's Story," "The Search for the Gral," etc. Chapter the Sixty-First ends: "He stooped and kissed her. And with a rushing sound, as of a mighty wind, the past fled into the shades of night, and the waves of Lethe rolling by swept away all its bitterness. And in the distance rolled a fair majestic river, upon whose shores was never-ceasing happiness to be found. Was it a new earth? or had the angel-keeper fled away and left unguarded the wide open gates of Paradise?"

The Young Ladies Journal of 1878 contains not only stories such as "Played Out," by the author of "Her Bitter Repentance," "The Burden Laid Upon Her," "A Shot in the Dark," "Cora," etc., etc., but also many interesting features and articles.

There is some excellent "Advice to Ladies." "Do not trust your happiness in the keeping on one who has no heart, no head, no health. Beware of insane blood. Do not rush thoughtlessly, hastily, into wedded life, contrary to the counsel of your best friends. Love can wait; that which cannot wait is something of a very different character."

A column devoted to "Notice to Correspondents and Subscribers Generally" contains the fellowing useful information for the benefit of a correspondent or subscriber named Facio. "We know of nothing that will permanently remove superflous hair. One of the best modes is to pull each hair separately with a pair of tweezers."

Another column is devoted to "Women's Domestic, Useful and Lucrative Employments." It warns prespective "Matrons in Reformatories and Refuges" that "it need not be concealed that the work of the (Reformatory and Refuge) Union is done amongst the lowest of the Juvenile population of town and country; and ladies who are apt to be particularly fastidious in their methods of philanthropic action should seriously question themselves as to their readiness to encounter incidents inseparable from such work."

Many specialised magazines were published seventy years ago. The Gardener's Magazine for April 1, 1871 contains an extremely detailed "Report in Paris gardens and nurseries after the war," by William Robinson, Esq. F. L. S.

"And such is war," he wrote, glorious war, of which all obtain such false notions when young but nobody who witnesses its devestations and its carnage can ever wish to see again. It may require a Darwin to point out man's ape-origin to the many, but, for evidence of his cretinous and suicidal folly, cvommend me to the environs of Paris in their present condition."

Tells Of Frog Lake Massacre

By JIM ENGLISH

Memories of the Frog Lake massacre were revived when a letter from Lieutenant-Colonel Arthur T. H. Williams, printed in an Examiner of July, 1885, was brought again into The Examiner office.

About Col. Williams, the Encyclopedia of Canada says: "Williams, Arthur Trefusis Heneage (1837-1885), soldier, was born at Port Hope, Upper Canada, in 1837, the son of Commander Tucker Williams, R.N. He was educated at Upper Canada College, Toronto and at Edinburgh University. He returned to Canada, and became a gentleman farmer...(and)... represented East Durham in the Legislative Assembly of Ontario from 1867 to 1875, and in the House of Commons from 1878 to 1885. As lieutenant-colonel of the 46th battalion of the volunteer militia, he served in the North West rebellion of 1885; and he died near Fort Pitt, in the North West Territories, on July 4, 1885."

This is the complete letter, written only a few weeks before his death to Major Howden, a relative of George Howden, Port Hope:

Camp Frog Lake,
June 15, 1885.

My dear Howden:

I received your letter, but as we have always been moving on, and as you must know I have a multitude of duties, which keeps me forever on the grind, it is hard to find time when one is not too fatigued to write. We, the Midland, are now in camp alone here, with a few scouts and 26 teams attached, so of course I am in command and am not bothered with brigade details. This place is the scene of the massacre of nine white people by Big Bear's band, who we are now after. There is a trail from Loon Lake which he crossed to escape from Gen. Middleton to this, and we have been in hopes that he would favour us with his presence.

We marched 18 (miles...the paper is torn here) of this to join Gen. Strange; then received orders to return to Frog Lake yesterday. Gen. Strange wanted us on again, 40 miles north. Gen. Middleton passed through with his 300 horsemen, and relieved us of the severe tramp, which would have been doubly bootless, as the shoes of many of the men are quite worn out.

This is a charming spot. Our camp is pitched overlooking the most beautiful scenery, lakes with small islets lying in front of us, with rising ground above them covered with the richest foliage of grass and trees. But behind us there is a different scene; devastation and fire, as well as the cruel attack upon and murder of the nine white people have left a sad mark of savage wickedness. We found two of the bodies and buried them, placing a cross over each.

The Indians were doing well here in the farming way. It seems so sad that they allowed themselves to be misled.

The campaign is now nearly over, and if Big Bear had not the 23 white prisoners still, I think the Mounted Police would be left to hunt him and we could go home.

We have gone through many hardships, and I have been in some very hot places, with bullets fairly singeing me, but I have been spared, though often nearly grazed with lead, particularly in the rush or charge across the open at Batoche. But of all this I will tell you, which I trust will be in a few weeks.

The good things you sent out to me have not yet reached us. They will indeed be welcome. We have had nothing but canned meats, hard tack biscuits and tea with occasional sugar, for many a long week.

We are, as you will see by the map, very far from the base of our supplies.

Kindest regards to Mrs. Howden.

Sincerely yours,
Arthur T. H. Williams.

The battle of Batoche which Col. Williams mentioned occurred on May 12, 1885, and in it Gen. Middletone defeated Louis Riel's main force. Riel was captured a few days after this battle. Big Bear was a chief of the Plains Crees, and led a band of Indians upon the Hudson's Bay Company post at Frog Lake, massacring some of the whites there. He eventually surrendered to the militia on July 2, two days before the death of Col. Williams. Big Bear and Poundmaker, another Indian chief, got off with only prison sentences, while Riel was hanged in November.

Outdoors

With PETE McGILLEN

MY GRANDMOTHER who is long since dead was very Irish and she loathed untidy people. Her favorite expression when describing such people was "she's a stree-el". I thought of her this week when I walked through a stretch of lovely woodland to one of my favorite fishing spots on Indian river. A city group had left a few minutes before after having had a picnic on the river bank. Wax paper, banana peelings, empty cigarette boxes, two empty beer bottles, some lipstick-smeared tissues, a pork and bean can, paper plates, crumped paper cups and two pieces of newspaper littered the grassy bank. It was a mess. Why is it that so many people have no outdoor manners. Surely behaviour in Nature's living room should be on a higher plane than that. There is no denying that the world has a great many of these sloppy, ungrateful characters who mess up every good picnic spot, park and bathing beach in the country. A plague on such people, I hope they sit in poison ivy.

MEASURING A FISH to meet the requirements of the law appears to be a popular subject of discussion this week. Stan Windsor, Conservation Officer paid me one of his rare visits on Monday and popped the blue book 1944 in front of me, also the special Ontario fishing regulations. Both indicated that a fish must be measured from the tip of the snout to the fork of the tail. But here is the catch. When the blue book 1947 was printed, the special Ontario fishing regulations which carry this section dealing with how to measure a fish were omitted. Just one of those oversights that occur. No doubt the next issue will have the addition but in the meantime if you hook a small-mouth black bass be sure it is ten inches to the fork of the tail, a pickerel 13 inches to the fork, and a muskie 30 inches. I am glad to have this pointed out to me because I checked the 1947 blue book twice and only to find the section was missing, hence the paragraph in my last Saturday's column. Mr. Windsor was right on the job and I hope he comes in more often. He is doing good work but doesn't let people know enough about it.

AN OUTBOARD MOTOR can spoil a vacation. Three years ago I rented a balky one and spent an entire day cussing, and sweating on White lake. This year I rented a 1937 model Johnson, about a 3 H.P., and it was a dilly. Never gave me a bit of trouble. When I woke in the morning in a cabin high on a hill overlooking Dark lake at Terrace Inn, Wilberforce, I could hear the motor purring away down on the water. My younger son was out for an early spin. Mind you that was an old motor, but it was a Johnson, and Johnson motors have been around for a long time. Perhaps there's a moral to this story, and the moral would be, get a motor that is proven by years of experience and satisfaction. Sure this sounds like a plug, but my conscience is clear, I paid my rental on that motor and would gladly have paid double because I had a trouble-free holiday. For most of us, vacations only come once a year, and if a motor is available that sings a merry tune for the entire two weeks, then that holiday is a dream session, not a nightmare.

MUSKIES ARE HITTING in Lovesick lake near Burleigh. Clevelanders staying at Larry Rerick's Forest Hill Lodge have been doing well this week and up to Wednesday night, 17 maskinonge had been brought in not counting the undersize battlers which were turned loose. L. L. Huffman, 79 Kraft St., Berea, Ohio, led the parade. He got a 16½ pounder and a 14½ pounder. The big one was taken on a 12 lb. test line, with gut leader and he was using a fly-type safety pin. Twelve boats closed in and watched him battle the fish for almost 40 minutes. George Frank and Alf Holmes, both of Cleveland got two between 9 and 10 pounds. Mrs. Ed Olsen captured two and her husband one, while Leo Bridenbaker got a dandy ten pounder. Dick Wilcox, Cleveland and Dr. John Baube, Mt. Vernon, Ohio, got two both 8½ pounders. Mrs. Dick Wilcox hooked a tackle-smasher and he carried off the plug, leader and about 30 feet of line. The muskie cleared water once as he snapped the line, and he looked like a 20 pounder. Live bait is paying off for the still fishermen, but most of the bass are the large-mouth variety.

THAR'S MONSTERS in them thar waters laddie, and don't you forget it, and the monsters are 40 lb. snapping turtles, which of course aren't so bad until you hook one while fishing. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Henderson took their niece and nephew on a fishing trip to Ketchecum lake, 36 miles northwest of Peterborough. The nephew, Dick Henderson, now of Peterborough, is six foot six, and his sister, Mary Lou Henderson, comes from South Bend, Indiana. Joe Henderson hooked a sunfish to start the parade, then nonchalantly said "I'll hook the grand-daddy of them all next time". He did. After a mighty struggle the catch broke water. It was a snapper, about 18 inches in diameter hooked through the upper jaw, and he was quite mad about it. Dick Henderson first hurled his pipe at the brute, then grabbed a pair of pliers, the only club handy and slugged the turtle across the shell. He meant to clip it on the head. A few seconds later the snapper broke the line. But that didn't end the story.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

WHILE THEY WERE TALKING about the odd experience, up pops the turtle again, with the hook still in its mouth. It cleared water with its head and glared balefully at the occupants of the boat. Then Joe Henderson waggishly remarked, "I'll bet it is going to bang a hole in the boat and sink us". Both women screamed, and Joe had a job reassuring them. Then the turtle popped up again on the opposite side of the boat, and stared at the four anglers. Perhaps the shellback wanted a look at the guy who had bopped him on the snout with a pair of pliers, but his second visit was too much for the four people. They got out of that particular spot fast. You never know what you are going to hook when you go fishing in the Kawarthas.

CAN A PERSON land a ten or 12 lb. muskie on spinning tackle. That's the 64 dollar question. Reg Faryon, who has become a spinning reel addict says it can be done, but he isn't listing his first experience as any proof. He hooked an undersize muskie just at dark in Lake Chemong, and the leader wire parted. He also reports catching three pickerel west of Chemong Park which are the first reported taken in that area. Another light tackle user, Bub Killaly was using a four ounce rod, 5 lb. leader and a fly at Stony lake when he hooked a 31 inch muskie. That muskie fought like a tiger, and the strange part of the story is that all the time the muskie was fighting the bait, another maski nonge, undoubtedly its mate swam alongside matching every turn and rush. It took 40 minutes to boat that fish, but it was done without any damage to the tackle. The muskie measured exactly 31 inches but was returned to the water.

FRANK BUTLER, PORT ALLEGHENY, PA., Fred Bendon, Rochester, and Wally Nelson, newspaper editor from Emporium, Pa., went fishing in Clear lake near South Beach Hotel. They had a bet on that the man who caught the largest keeper would pay 25 cents to the other two in the boat. Several undersize bass were taken and released when suddenly Bendon hooked a beauty. It was an exciting spot for a few minutes and suddenly Nelson leaned over with the landing net to boat the fish. Just as he touched it, the line parted and Mr. Bass was gone. The two men claimed the line parted under very suspicious circumstances and have dubbed the newspaperman "Scissors" Nelson. Of course, Wally pleads innocent, then before they reached the dock, Wally hooked the only keeper of the trip, a 12 inch small-mouth black. He paid over the 25 cents to Butler and Bendon, but still they shake their heads and say "There's no telling the lengths an editor will go to hog the spotlight". Bendon's fishing line was only about ten years old, so Wally claims.

"...AND THEN THE CAR SWERVED" explains a driver to Traffic Officer Claire McGillen of the Peterborough Police Department. Even a minor accident (such as this car-bus collision at the corner of Hunter and Water Sts. recently) attracts a big crowd. Few of the public, however, know how police operate when an accident happens, and the little-seen activities of the Department in helping to prevent an even greater toll of damage and injuries on the roads. —Examiner Staff Photo

Great Amount of Detail Required Following Every Traffic Accident

By BOB BUCHANAN

In 1947 there were 578 accidents involving motor vehicles in Peterborough. Fifty-six persons were injured — three were killed. Responsibility for investigating road accidents, following through with prosecuting of erring drivers — and, most important — steps to see that accidents do not happen —is one of the tasks of the City Police Department.

Like an autombile itself, traffic problems and traffic accidents are a complicated business. The present trend towards more and more speed in cars, the growing number of motorists, the contempt which comes with familiarity with cars, all add up to a big headache for the law enforcement agencies.

Most accidents happen in a few seconds, too late for any prevention then. When the officer arrives, it is often mystifying to the onlookers to see the great care with which he notes all the details of the accident. Tape measures come out, skid-marks are measured, distances from curb-to-car, from one point to another are carefully noted. Names, addresses are taken and explanations of what happened — and why — are taken from those involved and from eyewitnesses.

This attention to detail often irks people, and dark mutterings about "red tape" are heard. The reason for it is logical. Police authorities and crown counsel must be able to make out from the officer's report an exact picture of the collision. In case of future court action, every detail is vital and must be recorded.

When the traffic officer returns to the station he writes a complete report of the accident. If necessary, diagrams with pertinent measurements, are included. From his knowledge of the situation, the officer might recommend a specific action to be taken — such as laying a charge of drunk driving, careless driving or reckless driving.

The report goes to the Chief Constable, whose duty it is to study it carefully. If he desires more detail, he may call in the investigating officer and question him further.

Should the Chief feel that the circumstances of the accident warrant a prosecution in court under some infraction of the Highway Traffic Act or the Criminal Code, he will consult with crown officials. With his knowledge of the law and required evidence, the crown attorney can see whether a conviction may be registered.

This decision is important. Because unsuccessful court action are expensive to the crown (which means the taxpayers' money), care is taken to see that there are good grounds for a charge to be laid.

An accident, of course, is the dramatic part of the work of the traffic police. Routine, day-by-day work of these men seldom comes to the public notice. But it is through these activities that the toll of the streets is not higher.

A traffic officer's "normal" day, besides reporting and investigating accidents, may include: warning a motorist that his front lights are burning dim; giving a friendly caution to a young driver about swinging too wide on the corners; checking brakes and other vital equipment on sample cars; watching dangerous crossings to see what the hazards are there and how they might be overcome.

It is impossible to assess the value of such moves. There is no way in which can be estimated the number of lives and dollars saved. Traffic officers estimate conservatively that they issue five times as many warnings and "tips" to motorists as convictions.

Thei raim is to cut down on those documents to the Chief headed: "Accident Report."

Record Entry Expected In Golf Tourney

First class golf should feature the play at the Kawartha Golf Club on Civic holiday. To date, 177 entries have been received, and the draw has already been made. Club officials say that more than 12 golfers should break 75 if they play to their handicaps, since each player in this group has a handicap of four or less.

Play begins at 7 a.m. on Monday, and between 10.30 and 11.20, 21 players will tee off whose handicaps are less than nine. All in all, 52 have entered so far in the first flight, handicaps 1 to 9, 86 are in the second flight, and 39 in the third flight, handicaps 21 to 32.

One of the top threesomes will tee off at 10.37, consisting of B. Johnson of Credoke, Ernie Bentley of Weston, last year's low gross winner, and A. Cassidy of St. George's, one of the teams that won last year's Schneider Trophy. Another one to watch will go off at 11.19, and will include Gerry Kesselring, Canadian junior champion, from Kitchener Rockaway, Bob Fair, Ontario junior champion from Toronto Cliffside, and Elmer Cassidy, another member of the St. George's team. None of these players has higher than a four handicap.

Six clubs each have at least four players with handicaps of seven or less, and these clubs will be going all out to win the Schneider team trophy. These clubs are: Hamilton Chedoke, Kitchener Rockaway, Toronto Cedar Brae, Toronto St. Andrew's, Cliffside, and St.George's. St. George's won the trophy last year.

Ron Patterson, Hamilton Ancaster, and Ernie Bentley, Weston, winners of low gross in 1946 and 1947 respectively, are both back to have another try at it. Fifty-nine threesomes are made up already, and one will tee off every seven minutes, starting at 7 a.m.

Here and There In Sport

Provincial police said Friday they had solved the mystery of a gunman who was apparently taking pot-shots at racing shells in the Canadian Henley at Port Dalhousie. A 13-year-old boy confessed. Police said no charges would be laid against the "local youngster" because he said he was only target-practising and not aiming at Henley contestants.

Provincial Constables Norman Fach and Bill Coles, both of nearby St. Catharines, found the boy near a bridge on the grass-fringed Welland canal course.

Michael Parco, a 33-year-old driving range operator, Friday led the 45th Western Open Golf Championship with a scintillating 35-32—67.

That effort, added to his 69 of Thursday gave him 136 strokes eight under par, at the half-way mark in the 72-hole test.

Ben Hogan, United States Open and PGA champ, the year's top money winner, was snapping at Parco's heels. Ben was only a stroke behind with a total of 137.

Gerry Dawson, Windsor quarterback in the ORFU last year, will join Ottawa Rough Riders Monday, it was reported in Ottawa Friday. Dawson is expected to share football pivot duties with Bob Paffrath, on his way here from Red Falls, Minn. Rough Riders are boosting their ranks for an exhibition match with Frank Filchock's Hamilton Tigers in Hamilton, Aug. 21.

J. M. Davis' His Lady from Clayton, Del., driven by Joe Hylan, Friday won the featured $5,000 Toledo Grand Circuit pace by a nose from Dr. Stanton, owned and driven by W. L. (Lin) Fraser of Forest at Westbury, N.Y. The time was 2:02, equalling the season's track record at Roosevelt Raceway set by Grattan McKylo two weeks ago.

FORMER ST. LOUIS baseball star, Pepper Martin (above) is faced with a problem in equipment now thtat he is in training with the football Dodgers at Plattsburg, N.Y. Can the bat be used for kicking those extra points? From the look on his face he doubts it.

Petes Vanquish Orillia 16-12 In Sr. Lacrosse

Peterborough extended its undefeated winning streak to 13 last night at Miller Bowl, as they beat Orillia Terriers 16-12 in a regular senior B lacrosse game that had a full house on its feet at the finish.

The locals led at the end of the first quarter 6-2, in a session that saw referee Don Wilson hand out five penalties, one to Balkwill and Creighton for fighting. At half time, Ostranders held a lead of 12-4 and seemed to have the game well in hand.

Orillia had other ideas, however, and scored three neat goals in the third, to one for the locals and continued their rally in the final quarter, adding five more. Jack Foote's counter at 7.20 broke the jinx and two quick tallies by Bob Breakspear and Lou Vitarelli in the dying moments, put the locals safe.

Jack Foote won the hat, with a fine all round display, including three goals and three assists in a game that saw many stars. The work of Bob Breakspear, Hill in goal, the Vitarelli boys and E. Creighton stood out, while for the Terriers, Antonio with three goals and one assist was best with Pearsall and Hill also good. It was a fine game.

The teams:

Peterborough: Goal, Hill; defence, Magee, Chute; centre, E. Creighton; wings, J. Foote and R. Breakspear; rover, Don Smith; alternates, Horton, J. Breakspear, L. Vitarelli, Terry Gordon, Curly Smith, D. Vitarelli.

OHA Will Investigate Hockey Damages Case

GRAVENHURST, July 31—(CP)—President George Panter of the Ontario Hockey Association said Friday night the OHA will investigate a case in which sponsors of the Goderich hockey team were ordered to pay $4,895 damages to a spectator who was injured in a rink accident last winter.

"The Ontario Hockey Association will stand behind its teams" he said. "The decision affects hundreds of other clubs and we're not going to stand idly by and see our clubs in this kind of trouble."

NEW ROLE FOR HIM - - By Alan Mayer

Canada Scores Only One Point In Glittering Olympics First Day

LONDON, July 31.—(CP). — Two track and field records and a swimming record tell, in highlight, the first-day story of the 14th Olympics.

Canada had no part in that glittering Friday performance. She did score a single point in the unofficial national standing when Art Jackes of Toronto placed sixth in the high jump final. Beyond that her best showing came in the wrestling and basketball preliminaries.

These were the record-breaking feats:

1. Emil Zatopek, Czech army lieutenant of unorthodox running style, finished the 10,000-metre run as though he were a sprinter in 29 minutes, 59.6 seconds, to smash a 16-year-old Olympics mark.

2. Swedish hurdler R. Larsson broke the 400-metre hurdles record at 51.9 seconds, only to have it tied in the next semi-final by fleet Roy Cochran of Los Angeles.

3. For the women, Nel Van Vliet of the Netherlands churned to a new mark of two minutes, 37.4 seconds in the 200-metre breast stroke, breaking a record set only minutes earlier by Hungarian Eva Szekely.

Zatopek's record was set in one final competition and two other events were cleaned away in non-record fashion.

Wins High Jump

Twenty-three-year-old John Winter, bank clerk from Perth, Australia won the high jump at six feet, six inches—two inches more than his own height.

And Mlle. M. Ostermeyer of France placed first in the final of the Women's discus throw.

Canada's mat team got a 50-pt. break with three wins and three losses and the basketballers scored a freely-predicted first-round victory over Italy 55-37.

The Canadian track squad squeezed Jack Hutchins of Vancouver into today's 800-metre semi-finals and the swimmers were fortunate to get Irene Strong of Victoria into the 200-metre breast-stroke swimming semi-finals.

Dr. George Athans, far down in point-scoring for the spring-board event, continued into today's diving competition.

Two Upsets

Two off-the-field events marred an otherwise smooth first day. Some of Eire's athletes were banned on the grounds that they are natives of Northern Ireland and shouldn't compete unless on the British team. Pakistan and Colombian wrestlers were not allowed to compete when they were late for the weigh-in.

The unofficial standings show France atop the list with 21 points with Czechoslovakia and Australia tied for second spot with 10 points each. The United States, Sweden and Norway come next with seven points each, followed by Poland with three, Australia with two and Canada, the Netherlands and Belgium with one point each.

One Registers

Of the seven Canadians who started out in the track events, Jackes was the only one to register, jumping six feet, 2¾ inches. Hutchins finished third in his 800-metre run to qualify for today's semi-final event.

Ted Haggis of London, Ont., placed second in his preliminary heat in the 100-metre dash but was eliminated when he could do no better than fourth in the semi-final.

Jimmy O'Brien of Toronto lost out in his first 100-metre heat trailing throughout after a slow start while Bill LaRochelle of Chatham finished last in the 400-metre hurdles after stumbling several times.

Bill Parnell and Ez Henniger, both of Vancouver, failed to qualify in their heats.

Places Fifth

Irene Strong edged through the 200-metre breast stroke preliminaries in the swimming events by placing fifth. Most swimmers in fifth place in a heat are eliminated but Miss Strong advanced with a small group permitted to move into the next round on the ground their time was "fastest among the losers."

Only other Canadian to enter second-day competition was Dr. Athans, who placed 13th in the opening compulsory dives on the three-metre spring board. There are six more dives today. Dr. Athans who had 38.22 points, was suffering from a bad cold.

Eric Jubb of Victoria finished fifth in his first-round heat in the 100-metre free style and Pete Salmon of Victoria wound up fourth in his.

Miss Strong also was entered in the women's 100-metre free style but failed to qualify, placing sixth. Kathleen McNamee, fellow Victorian, placed fifth in her heat.

In the wrestling field, Canada's matmen wound up even, with three victories and three defeats.

Vachon Starter

Eighteen-year-old Maurice Vachon of Montreal started the team on the winning path after the Canadians had suffered two straight defeats. He took less than a minute to dispose of K. P. Roy of India in his middleweight bout.

Morgan, of Toronto, lightweight, disposed of P. G. Luck of Great Britain in a match that went the limit. The judges' decision was unanimous for the Canadian. Fernand Payette, Montreal heavyweight, tossed R. Landesmann of France in convincing fashion in eight minutes, 40 seconds.

On the losing side were Norman May, of Toronto, a bantamweight, who lost to N. Akar of Turkey, Mario Crete of Montreal, defeated by F. Toth of Hungary, and Harry Peace, Toronto welterweight, who lost to L. G. Merrill of the United States.

In the Dominion's first appearance on the Olympic basketball field, Canada defeated Italy 55-37. The Canadian team tangles with Britain today.

Pat McGeer of the Universtiy of British Columbia paced the Canadian basketballers with 12 points, while Reid Mitchell of West Vancouver came through with nine.

Canada fared badly in the fencing events. The Dominion's four-man team, which went into the second round when Belgium defaulted the first-round contest, lost all 16 matches to France and then went on to lose nine consecutive matches to the United States.

Quebec Golfers Sweeping Millar Play

TORONTO, July 31—(CP)—Dick Borthwick of Hamilton is the only Ontario golfer left in the Millar Trophy professional golf championships here.

He knocked out Jules Huot of Quebec yesterday's quarter-finals and today takes on Huot's brother, Rudolph, as the suburban Islongton golf course.

Quebec golfers practically made a clean sweep of the quarter-finals.

Rudolph Huot is professional Golf Association champion and Royal Quebec Club pro.

Today's other semi-final match will feature two Montrealers, Stan Horne of Islemere and Gerry Proulx of St. John's Club.

Proulx provided Friday's major upset, ousting favored Bob Gray of the Scarboro Club, three and two. Proulx went ahead on the eighth hole and was never headed. He won the match on the 16th when Gray overshot the green.

Stan Horne eliminated defending champion Bill Kerr of Beaconsfield, one up, recovering beautifully from the creek on the 18th to halve the hole and win the match.

Borthwick had a tough battle with Jules Huot. All square after the 15th, Borthwick sank a long uphill putt to take the 16th and the lead. Thatp roved enough as they halved the next two holes.

Toronto Girls Champion Team

Some fans may still be wondering how the Sunday Morning girls softball team of Toronto compares with other leading girls teams throughout Canada and the United States. Commenting recently, Bobby Rosenfeld, girls' sports editor of a Toronto paper, cleared up this point in her column. Miss Rosenfeld pointed out that in a recent 5-game series with the Phoenix Queens, Sunday Morning Class won three and lost two. Phoenix Queens at Chicago last Saturday night defeated the jarring Jax of New Orleans 1-0. The New Orleans club for the past four years have been world's champions.

Sunday Morning Class appear next Friday evening, August 6, at Ashburnham Bowl under floodlights when they play the Erin-Brews of Cleveland, Ohio, one of the top ranking United States teams. The Peterborough Rotary Club which is sponsoring this game has arranged for seating accommodation for 6,000 fans and it is expected that the seats will be taxed to capacity.

Tigers Batter Philadelphia In Wildest Scoring Spree

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe McCarthy seems to have the "Injun sign" on the fast vanishing Tribe from Cleveland.

Eight straight victories over Lou Boudreau's gang have served to elevate McCarthy's Boston Red Sox to the top of the American League and drop the Indians to third place.

Denny Galehouse, who failed at Detroit Tuesday when the Sox' 13-game winning streak was broken, hurled brilliant relief ball Thursday night against Cleveland, allowing only two hits in an 8 2-3-inning stint. Lefty Mel Parnell was belted out during the six-run first inning.

Three singles sent Satchel Paige down to his first big-league loss 8-7, in the seventh.

It was a big victory for the Red Sox because Philadelphia Athletics and New York Yankees also lost. As a result Boston's margin over the A's now is 1½ games.

Badly Battered

To say Philadelphia lost is putting it mildly, for they were battered by Detroit 17-2, in the Tigers' biggest scoring spree of the season. Three of the 17 hits were homers.

Chicago White Sox outlasted the Yankees 8-7 in a slugfest that was decided on Taft Wright's two-run single in the eighth inning. Tommy Henrich got the Yanks in the game with his third grand-slam homer of the season in the seventh but Bucky Harris' pitching wasn't up to the job.

Rae Scarborough halted St. Louis with four hits as Washington edged the Browns 3-2. The winning run scored when Frank Biscan walked pinch-hitter Early Wynn with the bases loaded.

Rout Chicago

New York Giants picked up ground in the National League by routing Chicago Cubs 9-1.

Harry Brecheen of St. Louis tamed the leading Boston Braves 6-2, despite one bad inning. The Cat had a no-hitter going to the seventh when he wobbled to allow two runs.

Brooklyn remains 5½ games back of the Braves because of their 10-5 drubbing by Pittsburgh. Bob Chesnes, shaky in the first and again in the fifth when Gene Hermanski hit a three-run homer, settled down to go the route, beating Ralph Branca.

Andy Seminick continued to make life gay for Toronto's Eddie Sawyer, the Phils' new manager, as he bashed two home runs in Philadelphia's 8-5 verdict over Cincinnati. The husky catcher now has hit five homers in four consecutive games.

Harry Peace Scores A Fall

EARLS COURT STADIUM, London, July 31 —(CP)—Harry Peace of Toronto scored a fall over A. Irvine of Britain today in the second day of wrestling at the Olympic Games.

Peace, who lost his opening bout Friday, scored his fall just before the 15-minute time limit and after a tough battle.

Mario Crete, Montreal lightweight, suffered his second reverse in two days, losing today to A. Jousville of France by unanimous decision of the judges and was eliminated from the continuing first-round competition.

Norm May, Toronto bantamweight, was also eliminated, losing his second straight match. His opponent, B. Beringer of Hungary, won the decision of all three judges. Beringer was too strong for the faster-moving May.

Maurice Vachon of Montreal, 18-year-old middleweight, got involved in a split-decision verdict with M. Gandemin of France and Coach John Tutt of Vancouver entered a protest against the decision. A ruling was expected tonight.

Morgan Plumb of Toronto, winner Friday, lost the unanimous decision today to R. Baumann of Hungary but remained in the competition.

Novikoff Sparks Newark's String Of Wins

By The Associated Press

Lou Novikoff, baseball's "mad Russian," is finding International League pitching to his liking.

The colorful Newark outfielder played a prominent role in the Bears' double triumph over Rochester Red Wings Friday night.

In the 6-5 first-game triumph, Novikoff singled to keep a three-run rally going and he drove in all of Newark's runs in the Bears' 5-1 nightcap.

A three-run homer by Bill Barnacle helped Baltimore Orioles to take the opener 4-1 of a twin bill with Montreal. George Anderman held the faltering Royals to three hits.

The Royals took the second tilt 2-1, collecting 14 hits while Don Newcombe limited the Orioles to six. Ed Levy's homer in the fifth accounted for Baltimore's only tally.

Jersey City Giants trounced Toronto Maple Leafs 18-7, whacking Oscar Judd and Ed Green for 17 hits. Hal Bamberger drove in four runs on a homer and single while Hank Biasatti knocked in five of Toronto's markers on two four-baggers. Biasatti also collected two singles.

Buffalo's hard-hitting Bisons nosed out the Syracuse Chiefs 5-4.

Lorne Main Wins Junior Crown

TORONTO, July 31—(CP)—Lorne Main, 18, of Vancouver, today wore the Canadian junior singles tennis crown while Henri Rochon of Montreal and Bill Tully of Bronxville, N.Y., prepared to battle for the Canadian men's singles title.

Main defeated Ray Page of Montreal 6-1, 8-6, 6-2 to end a successful invasion of Eastern Canada that has resulted in his winning the Ontario Open and Junior crowns also.

In a marathon doubles match for the Canadian junior championship Thursday Main and partner Don Platt of Toronto lost the title to Page and Ham Quain of Ottawa 8-10, 6-4, 13-11, 4-6, 6-3.

AS IF GIRDING himself for a spiritual battle, new manager of the New York Giants ball team, Leo Durocher, rolls up his sleeves in the Giants' dugout before game time at Brooklyn, N.Y., recently in preparation for his first appearance at Ebbets Field in any uniform other than that of his beloved Brooklyn Dodgers. New York air must agree with Durocher, and Durocher must agree with the New York ball players. They trounced the Dodgers to the tune of 13-4.

Fishing Couple Each Catch Muskie

CAMPBELLFORD, July 31 —(ENS)—Two more lunge are reported from the Campbellford vicinity during the last few days.

Neither of them are world-beaters, but they do serve to convince the moaners that some people are getting them, so it must be the methods and not the river that is responsible for the shortage in some quarters.

On Wednesday, Mrs. H. Greene of Toronto, staying at T. J. Craighead's summer home, two miles north of town, landed an eight-pound muskie easily.

Not to be outdone, her husband got a seven-and-a-quarter pounder on Friday afternoon, although this wasn't an easy one.

At the crucial moment, just when it appeared that the fish would be in the bag, his rod broke, and the battle commenced all over again, Mr. Geene eventually landing the big fellow by pulling the thin line in hand over hand, until he got the muskie into the boat.

Remember When

By The Canadian Press.

Larry O'Connor of Toronto's West End YMCA track club flashed over the 110-yard hurdles to a Canadian record at the Ontario Track and Field championships nine years ago today. He broke the tape at 14.8 cutting 2/5 of a second from the mark held by Earl Thompson.

40 DP's Arrive

TORONTO, July 31.—(CP). — Forty girls from displaced persons camps in Germany landed Friday at nearby Malton Airport. They were brought to Canada by a Hamilton cotton company. The first of 90 girls to be brought to Canada by the company, they will live in a YMCA-operated hall in Hamilton.

Music Critic Dies

CANANDAIGUA, NY, July 31. (AP)—Frank Hamilton Warren, 73, former music critic of the old New York World, died Friday after a long illness. Warren, born in Fort Erie, Ont., joined the World as a reporter in 1908, became music critic a few years later and held the post until 1922.

Horne Defeats Lex Robson In Millar Play

Lex Robson was defeated yesterday, five up and four to play, by Stan Horne of Montreal, in the second round of Millar Trophy match play. Favorite Bob Gray defeated Bob Dean, Toronto, three up and one to play.

Montreal seemed to have a stranglehold on second round play, as four golfers from that city advanced into third round: Jules Huot defeated Bob Lamb, Toronto Summit; Horne defeated Robson; Bill Kerr defeated Ben Norris, Timmins; and Gerry Proulx defeated D. Gauthier, Montreal, one up.

Dr. Geo. Athans Gets 86 Points

EMPIRE POOL, Wembley, July 31 (CP)—Dr. George Athans of Vancouver, Canada's only diving representative at the Olympic Games, completed eight of 11 dives today for a total of 86.42 points.

Four compulsory springboard dives were finished Friday and of the opening group of four today one was compulsory and three optional.

Two more dives remained to be carried out later today. Both are optional dives.

With the eight dives completed, Dr. Athans was unofficially rated in 11th place. Friday he was 13th in a field of 27 after four dives.

Bruce Harlan of the United States was in front with a total of 121.34 points for the eight dives and Miller Anderson, another American, was second with 113.29.

The brilliant young Joaquin Capilla of Mexico was in third place with 111.67 points. Dr. Sammy Lee of Pasadena, Calif., army lieutenant of Korean parentage, held fourth place with 108.38. He is rated the ace American for the high-tower diving.

Final Rites For Tinker

ORLANDO, Fla., July 31.—(AP).—Final rites for Joe Tinker, one of baseball's stars of the early 1900's, were held Friday. Friends of bygone days joined townsfolk in services for the former Chicago Cubs' shortstop of the Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance double-play combination. Tinker, who died Tuesday on his 68th birthday, was the last of the three to succumb.

Citizens' Band Concert Planned

CAMPBELLFORD, July 31. —(ENS).—The regular weekly band concert of the Campbellford Citizens' Band will be held Sunday night, weather permitting, at the Ayrhart Woodland Estate.

A special program has been arranged by Bandmaster Donald D. Bennett, A.T.C.M., and there will be the usual silver collection toward the purchase of extra instruments, required for the enlargement of the band.

Performers at the Sunday concert will be: Cornet, W. Lowe, Ross Richardson, J. Eastman, E. Godden and J. Bell; alto, C. Batman, H. Pierce, A. Mills; saxophone, G. Nelson; trombone, W. Cubitt, R. Tinney; baritone, E. Archer; base, D. Mitchell, H. Pierce; symbals, K. Gummo; drums, M. Sills and G. Frederick.

A large crowd enjoyed the inaugural concert last week, and it is confidently expected that the number of visitors will be increased this week.

THERE IS AN INTERESTING big-league expression on the face of eleven-year-old Toddy Parrott (above), son of Harold Parrott, traveling secretary of the Brooklyn Dodgers, as he warms up before game time. Darling of the Dodgers, Toddy, they're convinced, gives the appearance of a bonus player.

Today we Live in a Greater Canada

Through their Eyes

. . . CANADA is the most desired of countries. It represents hope and opportunity. It is where they want to be.

The dream of millions overseas is a reality for us.

"To see ourselves as others see us" strengthens our realization of our country's new importance in the modern world. The Canada that emerged from the war is a far greater country than we ever thought possible — a country of vastly increased and varied productivity — with a million more employed than before the war — with a new wealth of interesting careers awaiting those alive to the opportunities around them.

125,000 APPLICATIONS were on file in Ontario House, London, when Ontario began its immigration plan. It has been estimated that at least 80% of the displaced persons in Germany want to emigrate to Canada.

SIGNIFICANT, too, is the number of new plants established here by foreign firms. Specially interesting are those built up by wartime refugees, of whom about 3,500 entered Canada. They established at least 56 new industries employing over 6,000.

CANADA is increasingly attractive for visitors too! More tourists than ever came to us in 1947 — making an ever-growing contribution to continued Canadian progress and prosperity.

LOUIS FISCHL, escaping from Czechoslovakia, came to Canada in 1938 — began manufacturing kid gloves in an old renovated Ontario factory. Canadians joined his original handful of skilled Czech workers to learn the new art. Today thousands of pairs of finest Canadian high-fashion gloves, in leather and in fabrics, are being produced both in Prescott, Ont. and St. Tite, Que., their new branch.

LOUIS FISCHL says: "When I knew, I was finished with Europe and had to begin a new life at 50, Canada was the country to which I was most anxious to come. Here there is a future. Here is everything needed for industry; vast resources for development; great opportunities for new careers".

Urges Christians Act In Politics

MERRICKVILLE, July 30 — (CP).— Unwillingness of Christians to become involved in political action has led to failure of Christianity in politics, Dr. Roland Bodger said Thursday.

The Montreal reverend, in his final address to the week-long Rideau summer conference here, saaid Christian people should take the fullest share in public life, both in parlaiment, in municip councils and in employers' and workers' organizations.

"If Christians are not to be entirely unprincipled, they must have a settled program of action," Dr. Bodger said.

There were five choices, said the speaker, left open to the Christian:

1. He could abstain from politics and thus leave them in the hands of non-Christians.
2. He could criticize constructively from the side-lines.
3. He could represent the floating vote.
4. He could help form a Christian party.
5. He could join one of the secular parties.

Canada's Political Parties To Invade Newfoundland

OTTAWA, July 31 — (CP). — Canada's major political parties—the Liberals, the Progressive Conservatives, the CCF and the Social Crediters—likely will begin organization of branches in Newfoundland during the last 15 island with the Dominion is being negotiated here.

Parties have disappeared in Newfoundland during thte last 15 years. Up until the 1930s the island's legislative assembly mainly was made up of Liberal and Conservative members. But in 1933, with the island in serious financial difficulties, responsible government was replaced by a commission government, appointed by the United Kingdom.

The national convention elected in June 1946 to recommend future form or forms of government for the island was non-partisan.

No one from Newfoundland has been officially invited to attend the national Liberal convention here next week, but it was learned that Joseph Smallwood and F. Gordon Bradley, of St. John's, will sit in as observers. The two men, now on a holiday in Toronto, are anxious to see how Canadian political affairs are run.

Other Invitations

It is possible that some men from the island will be invited to attend the Progressive Conservative convention in September. It is likely that these men would be classed only as observers, because Newfoundland will not become a part of Canada until action has been taken by the Canadian and United Kingdom parliaments.

Mr. Smallwood, leader of confederate forces on the island, has said that election of a provincial government probably could take place next June. He believes that seven federal by-elections would be held simultaneously with the provincial elections.

Under the British North America Act, Newfoundland would be entitled to seven seats in the Commons and six in the senate. This would boost Commons' representation to 252 seats and the Senate to 102.

Mr. Bradley, solicitor-general in one of the last Liberal governments in Newfoundland, possibly would contest a by-election. If elected, it is considered likely that he would be chosen as Newfoundland representative in the cabinet.

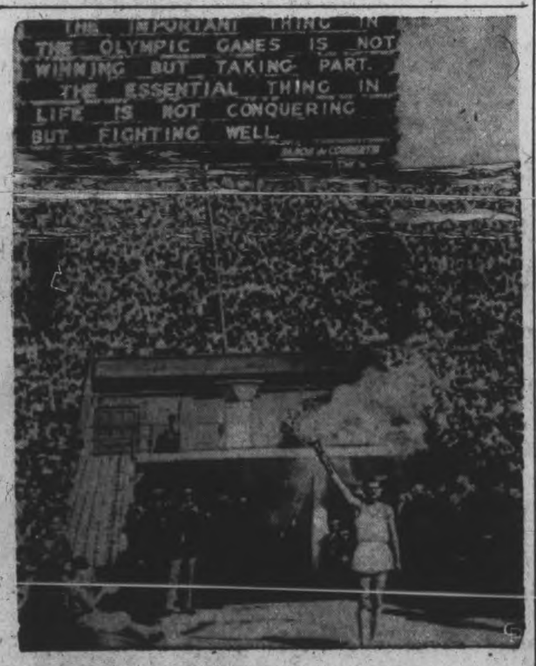
Mr. Smallwood is mentioned in Newfoundland as possible leader of the Liberal provincial government there.

Maj. Peter Cashin, who served with both Liberal and Conservative parties on the island, is mentioned as one of the candidates for leadership of a revived Conservative party.

Others mentioned include Chesley A. Crosbie, prominent St. John's fish merchant and industrialist, Charles E. Hunt, well-known St. John's corporation lawyer, and Calvert C. Pratt, a St. John's merchant.

Labrador Remains With Newfoundland

OTTAWA, July 31. — (CP).—When Newfoundland joins Canada as a province she will retain possession of Labrador, the 110,000 square miles of mineral-rich territory which leans on northeastern Quebec like a huge iceberg.



In setting out possible terms of union last year, the Canadian government said it would respect the 1927 decision of the Privy Council which confirmed Newfoundland's ownership of Labrador and fixed the boundary between that territory and Quebec. The population of Labrador is 5,500.

Baruch, the Scribe

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Jeremiah 32:6-15; 36-37; 43:5-6

The word of the Lord came to Jeremiah the prophet, in prison, telling him to buy a piece of land from his uncle's son; Jeremiah did so and counted out the money, Baruch being witness.

The Lord told Jeremiah to take a roll and write thereon all the words He had spoken to him, so Jeremiah called Baruch, son of Meriah, and Baruch wrote what Jeremiah told him.

Jeremiah told Baruch he was a prisoner and could not go into the temple, so he —Baruch—must go and read all he had written to the priests and the people, that they might repent their sins.

The people heard the word of the Lord that Baruch read and the roll was taken to King Jeroiakim, but he, having a fire before him, burned the roll.

MEMORY VERSE—Isaiah 40:8.

Not Possible To Destroy World's Great Literature

Scripture — Jeremiah 32:6-15; 36-37; 43:5-6.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

The first part of our lesson we will pass over briefly because it concerns only Jeremiah and his kin; merely mentioning Baruch, the hero of today's story. It tells of Jeremiah, the prophet, at the very end of the reign of the last king of Judah—Zedekiah

The word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, telling him his uncle's son would come to him and ask him to buy some land near Jerusalem to keep it in the family. The man came to Jeremiah and the prophet bought the land, and paid to rit, Baruch, Jeremiah's secretary, witnessing the deed.

MEMORY VERSE

"The word of our God shall stand forever."—Isaiah 40:8.

Now we go back to the reign of Jehoiakim, when Jeremiah was in prison because he had offended the king. It was not safe in those days to question the king's acts, any more than it is in these days, in certain countries, to criticize the regime.

The Lord told Jeremiah to take a scroll and write therein all the words the Lord had spoken to him, that the house of Judah might hear them read and maybe repent of their evil ways and avoid disaster.

Jeremiah called Baruch, therefore, who was of a nable house and son of Neriah, and Baruch wrote that Jeremiah told him—every word.

Baruch was the type of man who could be depended upon to do the job thoroughly. He was working for Jeremiah, and Jeremiah was doing what his God told him to do, and Baruch was therefore doing God's work, too.

Now there may be some young people who study this lesson who will one day be secretaries, and they should remember Baruch, a little known Bible character, who was a good and faithful secretary on whom his employer could depend absolutely, and revolve to be like him.

When the writing was done, Jeremiah told Baruch that as he was a prisoner he could not go to the temple and read the writings to the priests, the princes and the people, so Baruch must undertake that task.

Baruch went to the temple, as Jeremiah commanded, and read the scroll or roll aloud. When Michaiah, son of Gemariah, son of Shaphan, heard the words of the book, he went into the king's house, into the scribe's chamber, where the princes sat, and he declared to them all the words Baruch had read.

The princes said Baruch must read it to them, and he did so The people had been afraid when they heard Jeremiah's prophesies of what was about to befall their country, and the princes also were afraid and said they must tell the king.

The princes told Baruch that he and Jeremiah should go into hiding, and they would take the roll to King Jehoiakim. They found the king in the winter palace, and after they had told him what the roll contained, he asked that it be brought to him. It was fetched and Jehudi read it to the king. There was a fire burning in a brazie before the king, and he cut the roll with a penknife, and bit by bit hardered to cast the word to God into the fire until it was all consumed by the flames.

Neither the king nor his servants were in the least concerned by what they had heard or what the king had done. Only three men at the court tried to prevent the burning of the roll.

When word was brought to Jeremiah of the king's deed, he had Baruch write it all over again on another roll, and so say in it that Jehoiakim the king should died and none of his descendants would ever sit on the throne of Judah.

After Jekoiakim was dead and Zedekiah, reigned in his stead. neither he nor his people listened to the words of Jeremiah, although he told them that the Lord was against them.

Even though the Egyptians appeared to be coming to help them against the Babylonians and their king, Nebuchadnezzar, they would not prevail.

The last we know of Baruch, he and Jeremiah, with all the remnant of the people left in Judah were taken to Egypt.

We all remember how the Nazis in Germany burned the books of the Bible and all Jewish literature they could find in great bonfires. They, too, thought they could forever destroy these great books, but it is not possible to eradicate such literature. The destroyers are gone, but the books still live, not only in the hearts of the world, but in reality. The word of our God shall stand forever."

All Donations To Civic Arena To Be Tax Free

Official word was received Friday that donations to the Peterborough Civic Arena are deductible from income tax payments. Notice of this ruling came to Arena Committee Chairman Dick Ouimet from the Taxation Division of the Department of National Revenue.

This successful move, which is regarded by campaign officials as a big booster, is the result of considerable consultation between various city leaders and federal officials. Chairman Ouimet mentioned for particular praise the work of Alderman Hurrell Dodds and City Clerk E. A. Outram.

The letter of notification, from J. S. Forsythe of the Taxation Division wished the campaign "lots of luck."

MAIN ST. TOPICS

COUNCIL MEETING

Civic Holiday Monday moves the council meeting back to Tuesday evening.

HOLIDAY CLOSING

Less than half a dozen downtown stores are closed for staff holidays, but people who want their clothes cleaned are finding it difficult with three dry-cleaning establishments shut.

RESURFACE HIGHWAY

A new surface is being put on Highway 14 from Marmora to Bonarlaw. The construction company is reported to have completed as far as Stirling by the end of the week. Two carloads of rocks were brought into Marmora to fix a section of the road in that vicinity.

MORE SIGNS NEEDED

Cottagers and guides at Lovesick Lake and Deer Bay report poachers are invading the closed area known as Black Duck Bay. There are no signs at the dam indicating this is a closed area, and it is believed such signs warning anglers would help keep the fishermen out.

NO NOISY WHISTLES

Fitful sleepers in the vicinity of the CGE plant that are used to being jarred from their slumber in the morning by successive blasts from the CGE whistle, are having two weeks of bliss. While the factory is idle the whistle is stilled. One local resident suggested that CGE try the installation of an electric bell system.

A BUCKETFUL OF BOTHER is Barney, pet St. Bernard puppy of Wendy Nickels, Lakefield. He finds himself dumped into the queerest places and can't understand why he shouldn't chew on drapes, cushions and shoes that are left lying about. He is a late go-to-bedder and a very early riser and appears to feel that it was unfair to be asked to pose in the copper coal scuttle by the fireplace; he can think of a hundred other things to do at the moment and won't tell Wendy one of them.

Hold Caesarian On Spaniel Deliver 6 Pups

A caesarian operation on a cocker spaniel was performed on Tuesday night by Dr. H. H. Hamilton. Mother and her six offspring are said to be doing well.

Those who are not well acquainted with canine surgery would be surprised to know that this is a fairly common operation for veterinarians. The doctor estimates that within the course of a year he performs about half a dozen caesarians on dogs.

He also says that he has a couple of calls every year to operate on cattle. Most domestic animals can be operated on in this manner, he says, but the horse, because it is very easily infected, remains an exception.

If the mare received the same sanitary conveniences as a prospective human mother when about to give birth, the operation would be just as feasible. "The horse is just as subject to infection as the human," says Dr. Hamilton.

Usually the delivery of an animal takes place in an open field. But they have enough resistance to withstand infection despite the seriousness of a caesarian. Pigs, cats and even sheep are generally able to survive after this form of delivery.

The cocker spaniel that needed surgical assistance in order to be delivered of her pups had been run over by a car a couple of years ago and had suffered a broken pelvis.

Usually one routine checkup is sufficient to ensure that the animal will recover. The caesarian operation on a dog takes up to three quarters of an hour, and a couple of hours later, after it has come out of chloroform, the animal is well on the way to recovery.

Hotelmen Would Up Price 3 Cents On Pint Purchases

There isn't any relief in sight for Peterborough hotelkeepers as far as their hoped-for increase in the price of beverage room ale and beer is concerned. Four proprietors surveyed received no word from the Ontario Hotel Association regarding the requested increase.

Since early June, they have been absorbing the price increase granted to brewers by the Government, which amounted to $1.25 more for each half barrel of draught beer and ale, and 22 cents more for each case of bottled beer.

"The association is discussing the question at present, but nothing has been done yet. At least, we haven't heard anything," said one.

The association is after a reduction in the size of beverage room glasses from nine to eight ounces, with the price remaining at 10 cents. They also seek a raise in the price of pints from 22 to 25 cents.

Demand has naturally increased with the coming of the hot weather, but some hotelmen are complaining about the shortage of bottled beer, which, they claim, is brought on by tourists.

"The bottled beer shortage comes every year at the same time as the tourists," said one. "So how can anything else be the cause?"

However, some say that the bottled beer shortage is non-existent; that their supplies are sufficient. They believe this is due to increased production of bottles.

Recover Body At Rice Lake

ROSENEATH, July 31. (ENS)—The body of 19-year-old Harold Lee O'Neal, Croton, Ohio, was discovered shortly after 9 a.m. today in Rice Lake near Braithwaite's Landing. Two men, Moses Smoke of Alderville, a guide, and Mr. Bund of Canton, Ohio, located him in almost the exact spot where he drowned on Wednesday evening when the motorboat in which he and two companions were riding upset.

Dragging operations have continued since then but without success until today.

The three youths, Harold O'Neal, his brother John, 17 and Robert Gooch, 18, had been camping beside the Trent River near Hastings. They rented a boat and started up the Trent towards Rice Lake. When they entered the lake they encountered choppy water and a stiff wind. A large wave swamped the craft and it overturned.

Two of them were able to swim to the overturned boat and hang on until they were rescued, but O'Neill could not swim and was drowned.

Order Inquest In Dutton Death

CAMPBELLFORD, July 31.—(CP).—An inquest has been ordered into the death of Thomas Dutton, Jr., 16, shot last week as he rode his bicycle at nearby Allan's Mills after a fishing trip.

Dr. F. M. Dure, coroner, has ordered an enquiry to be held at Brighton, Aug. 4. Police said they believed a youth fired the shot.

Ill In Hospital Veteran's Rent Overdue

The wife of a veteran now ill in hospital has charged that her landlady has padlocked them out of their Lakefield home and removed furniture valued at $300 to collect a month's overdue rent. The complaint is being checked by the local DVA authorities and the Canadian Legion.

Complainant is Mrs. Ernest Edwards, whose husband has been ill for nearly a month. Employed by a construction company in Peterborough before his illness, Edwards is a former resident of Havelock. He was in the army more than five years, two of them spent in Newfoundland and one year and four months in Europe. There are no children in the family.

Mrs. Edwards told The Examiner that she was unable to pay the month's rent because of her husband's illness and inability to earn. She said that the landlady had threatened to evict them. She mentioned that there had been ill-feeling between the two parties over some difficulty about the cistern at the house.

Since Edwards has been in hospital, Mrs. Edwards has been staying in the city with relatives. Last Tuesday, she said, she went out to Lakefield to their house.

She found the front door padlocked and bolted on the inside and the windows nailed down. Furniture taken was from the kitchen, she said.

A cheque, paying the rent to July 31, was mailed this week, Mrs. Edwards said. No notice has been received at any time, she added.

Parking Area On Charlotte Usually Packed

Peterborough's downtown parking area on the vacant lot on Charlotte St., north of the bus terminal, is getting plenty of use. It was created several years ago, before the advent of parking meters, to try to relieve the parking problem.

Many motorists complain that the one-hour parking time alloted when using the parking meter is not long enough and they must either leave their cars outside the downtown area or find a parking lot.

Apparently there are many shoppers who want to use the Charlotte St. parking lot. Shortly before 10 a.m. today there were more than 70 cars, many of them with American license plates, lined up inside the lot, and others were coming in at a steady pace.

The only space left at that early hour was down at the King-Aylmer entrance where at most another 50 cars could be accommodated.

On Saturdays the Market Square cannot be used to park cars and this throws an extra burden on the Charlotte St. lot.

Long term plans as shown by the Official Plan for Peterborough would make two city blocks in the downtown area available for cars: the block bounded by Aylmer and Charlotte Sts. In addition Charlotte Sts., and the block bounded by George, Sherbrooke, Aylmer and Charlotte Sts. nI addition the present City Hall site and the Market Square would be turned over for the use of motorists who wished to park their cars.

GLIMPSE OF THE WEST

CNR letter today from Winnipeg says all Manitoba grain crops are excellent. Conditions in Saskatchewan show much improvement and the prospect in Alberta is better than fair. Rain has been general over the prairies this week.

JAMES REGAN, who has been on the staff of Grafton's store in this city for the past few years is now manager of the store at Brantford. He took over his new post this month.

Many Events Featured On Week-End

Looks like a busy week-end for Peterborough. One ball game, two regattas and the Cloyne Lumbermen's Picnic are set for Saturday. In a scheduled COBL game, Oshawa meets Peterborough at Riverside on Saturday afternoon, the Petes returning to Oshawa for a game on Monday.

Regattas on Saturday are set for Balsam and Cameron Lakes, and the Stony Lake power-boat races are planned for Saturday afternoon at Viamede. Sunday is a day of rest as far as planned outings are concerned, but the lakes will probably be packed with swimmers, anglers and sailors.

Monday is even more busy. Swimming and canoe races will finish off the Stony Lake regatta at Juniper Island, and two more regattas are slated for Belmont Lake and Trent River.

On the links, the Kawartha Lakes Invitation Golf Tournament is up, and should be one of the largest and best held in the district. Spectators may enter free, and will see some fine golf.

A feature of the Veterans' Picnic to be held on Civic Holiday will be the parade of floats and bands in the afternoon. The G. K. Fraser Trophy will be awarded to the best industrial float in the parade.

Beyond the above, the week-end should be normal. The weatherman says: clear and cooler.

Jr. Beach Patrol In Rescue Role

A 12-year-old member of the Junior Beach Patrol at Riverside Park, John Mills of 11 Bethune St., on Friday afternoon rescued a young girl who had gotten into difficulties in deep water in front of the "H" wharf.

Thirteen-year-old Doug Leech of 16 Stewart St., seeing the girl's plight jumped into the water to help her, but was forced under by the girl when she became panicky. John Mills saw the struggle and immediately dived in and pulled the struggling girl to the wharf, where Lifeguard Gord Buck helped her out of the water. Doug Leech made his own way to the wharf after the girl let go her hold on him.

Auto Bumps Moose

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP).—An unidentified motorist was mighty surprised when he got involved in a traffic accident here recently. The other party to the mishap was a bull moose. Knocked down by the auto, the moose jumped up quickly and charged into some nearby bush.

Original Power Plant Site At Civic Hospital Confirmed By Committee

The site of the power plant and laundry building of the new Civic Hospital as proposed by its board of governors was confirmed by the Council's hospital building committee Friday.

The committee meeting, with Ald. Dick Raine presiding, was called for the purpose of considering objections to the power plant site which were raised last Monday night by Hugh Stewart, owner of the property on the north side of the extension of Weller St., and opposite the hospital grounds.

Mayor Ovens' motion of confirmation was unanimously supported after hearing Mr. Stewart, representatives of the governors and architects.

Reasons Given

Reasons for retention of the proposed site were mainly: economy in cost of building; facilities of tunnel communication between the main buildings and its related units; screening of traffic into and out of the hospital; general appearance and layout of the grounds, and also, it was said, consideration of the residential interests of the neighborhood.

Among those present were Mr. Walter R. L. Blackwell of Peterborough and James Govan, Toronto, architects; H. H. Angus, Toronto, consulting engineer on heating, and members of the Board: John R. Marshall, chairman; Reeve M. H. Johnston, Ian F. McRae, and John Hornall, superintendent of Civic Hospital.

The power plant site lies north of the hospital and between it and the proposed extension of Weller St. Its north wall, Mr. Blackwell said, would not be more than six feet above the ground, explained by the fact that it is to be built on the slope to the south from Weller S. Mr. Marshall said the building would lend itself to complete screening from the street, and in turn would provide a means of screening the traffic in and out of the hospital.

If this building were moved to the south and west as suggested by Mr. Stewart that change would entail substantial additional cost, including increased cost of walls if the power plant was arected on the level ground in that direction. Mr. Blackwell also explained that tunnels between the sections of the institution would have to be increased in length, adding to cost and also extending the ordinary routes in the day to day communication to the underground way.

Mr. Govan said the present proposed site provided the most omenities of location, and Mr. McRae recalled that the Utilities Commission have to erect a water town in the vicinity. In his opinion Mr. Stewart was too apprehensive about the ultimate landscaping and appearance of the hospital and its adjunct buildings.

Mr. Stewart's plea was to the effect that the placing of the power plant with its 100 foot chimney on the north side of the hospital, toward Weller St., was going to reduce greatly the realty value of his property reaching northerly from the extension of Weller St. He appealed to the committee to consider his interests and the residential values that would be created in the vicinity of the hospital.

"We have done what we promised you we would do," Ald. Raine told Mr. Stewart. "We send representatives and we asked the Board of Governors to write the architects requesting them to come. All that our committee can do is to hear both sides as fully as we can, and we have done so. We have to depend on the advice of the experts we have engaged."

Mr. Govan said the question of site and disposal of the buildings was thoroughly canvassed a year and a half ago whenthe plans were being discussed, and the proposed location of the laundry and power plant was regarded as being in every respect most advantageous to the hospital.

Not The Council's Job

Mr. Marshall asked the committee to try to imagine the effect of transferring the power plant down the slope toward south and west and virtually in front of the hospital. "Peterborough was not created for Hugh Stewart. He will dictate to you as long as he can. He got twice as much for the land you bought from him as he paid for the whole farm. Besides, I think in this matter the Council is stepping beyond your province. The question of site is a matter for the Board of Governors. You could have avoided any embarrassment by telling Mr. Stewart that."

Ald. Max Swanston: "But the Council had to let the contract for the laundry and power plant building. Mr. Stewart was making his objection before the contract was let."

Ald. Raine stirred a note of humor by his remark to Mr. Marshall: "I don't know how the Council could have missed that passing the Stewart petition on to the Board of Governors. We get blamed for all that sort of thing. I can hardly believe we let that chance go by."

Mayor Ovens enlarged the information by saying that the Township of North Monaghan had opened a street from Sherbrooke St. west, on the west side of the hospital lands, to connect with Weller St. extension. But, the city had not obtained from Mr. Stewart a deed of that strip. Hence, when the projection of Weller St. across the land of Mr. Stewart was mentioned to him, he in turn recenly asked what the Council was going to do about the location of the hospital's power plant.

GET WAGE INCREASE

Employees of the Utilities Commission are receiving a wage increase of 10 cents an hour beginning next week. This applies to the members of the staff who are paid on an hourly basis. The others who are on salary get a 10 per cent increase. This was a voluntary action by the Commission recognizing the increasing cost of living and also wishing to keep in line with the wage advances that have been made generally throughout industry.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

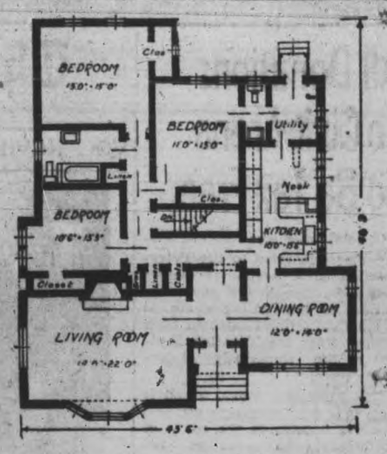
Architect Assures Builder Of Truly Livable House

Whether you plan a new home or extensions to an old one . . . there's no investment you can make more profitable than the services of a good architect. Not only will be assure you of a soundly constructed and truly livable house . . . a house you can be proud of . . . but in addition, his training and evperience can guide you along the most economical path to home ownership. His fees are modest considering the benefits obtained, ranging usually from 2 per cent to 10 per cent of the expected cost of the house, depending on how far you wish him to carry through with your building project.

Architects are experienced in "building to a budget" . . . if $8,500 is your limit he can design and specify accordingly to give you the most for your money. Beyond conserving your building dollars, the architect-built house will give you a feeling of satisfaction . . . of being sure things are right as far as exterior and interior beauty are concerned, to say nothing of knowing that convenience and durability have been built into the house as well!

A Good Plan Is An Economy



Whether or not you know much about house planning and building, so long as your architect has a knowledge of your needs and preferences he is the one best able to solve your fundamental problem: how to get what you want for what you can pay. Ofter he may advise you against some particular pet plan you have in mind . . . take his advice seriously. He is your guarantee against faulty and unlivable design, poor workmanship and other pitfalls.

Having explained to him your family requirements and preferences, your architect will first submit sketches that interpret your ideas. Maybe the first set will not appeal . . . others will follow as your criticisms or the original studies show the architect more clearly what you really have in mind.

Rough sketches will eventually be translated into complete working drawings and specifications. If desired, he will invite reliable contractors to bid on your project. He will remind you of things not included in the contract itself . . . items which do not necessarily pass through the hands of the general contractor. If cost is too high, he can suggest revisions making the least sacrifice of things you want.

Personal supervision of the construction of the house he has planned is a service by the architect to the owner which ordinarily accompanies designing. In this capacity the architect is of inestimable value to the owner, acting as professional adviser and representative in drawing contracts, complying with building codes and lion laws, certifying charges . . . in general, seeing throughout construction that the owner gets what he pays for. With materials in short supply, his experience is a big help in electing alternative materials to use when your building supply dealer is unable to fill a specific order.

HOUSE NO. 29 — This sparkling white clapboard home with green roof and shutters, deserves the admiration it commands from homelovers. Not only does it nestle well on its roomy corner site high on the slopes above the city, but the interior plan is particularly pleasing. That deep recessed entrance is both interesting and practical—and who would deny the charm of the spacious living room with its large bay window, and open fireplace opposite? While the dining room could not be called large, it is unusually bright, with easy access to the kitchen. All three bedrooms have excellent closet space, and two windows apiece. The "inside" bedroom would be splendid for a maid as it has access to a separate washroom and the service area of the house. Properly Arranged Lighting Often Overlooked In Home

This new home you are about to buy or build is just about the most important thing you ever bought. You want to be sure that it contains every necessity and convenience you can afford. Right at this moment your head is probably buzzing with details about construction, location, financeng, equipment, and furnishings . . but have you given much attention to its lighting plan?

Too many people overlook the lighting plan until their home is finished. Then they often find changes must be made to give them proper lighting.

Much of the charm, liveableness, and safety of your new home will depend upon its lighting. You waht lighting that brings out the true colors of your upholstery, wallpaper, and draperies. You want lighting properly arranged so there are no unlighted halls or stairways where you might fall in the dark. And above all you want lighting that makes reading, studying and sewing easy for the eyes.

THE LIGHTING SYSTEM: Every lighting system is composed of four elements, wiring, lighting fixtures, portable lamps, and lamp bulbs. Each element should receive your personal attention, so we will discuss each briefly.

THE WIRING SYSTEM: The wiring system compares with the veins and arteries of your body. Through the wiring flows the electricity which lights the lamps and fixtures and operates your appliances. A good wiring system necessarily must include (1) fixture outlets properly located for good general illumination; (2) convenience outlets located to serve all possible furniture arrangements; (3) switch control of outlets and fixtures so arranged that passage through dark room does not require groping in the dark to find the light switch and (4) adequate size wire to assure efficient operation of lamps, fixtures and appliances.

Remember that your contractor does not know all your wiring needs unless you sit down with him and discuss them. Do this now. Go over the wiring layouts with him.

LIGHTING FIXTURES: Most rooms of the home employ generaly illumination supplied by ceiling and wall fixtures and localized illumination supplied by portable lamps. A lighting fixture serves two functions in nearly every room; to provide surrounding light to soften the effect of the strong local light and to harmonize with and complement the decorative plan. In kitchen, bath, and laundry, the fixture does not require as much styling as in the living room. However, care must be used to see that the fixtures selected provide a prescribed quantity for good vision. For the living, dining room, and bedrooms there s a great demand for highly styled fixtures. In fact there is a tendency on the part of many to buy fixtures that are purely decorative and not good light sources. Today there are many well-designed and well-styled fixtures that meet the requirements for good sight and good appearance. Your contractor has access to fixtures of these types in styles to fit any decorative scheme.

BUDGETING THE COST OF LIGHTING FIXTURES: To have properly designed and styled fixtures, a minimum allowance of 1½ per cent to 2 per cent of the total home cost should be provvided in the budget for fixtures. Such an amount is very small when the benefits are weighed. Eyesight is priceless, good light is cheap. Don't risk eyestrain by economizing on the lighting fixtures and lamp bulbs.

PORTABLE LAMPS: Except in strictly utilitarian rooms such as the ktchen, bath, and laundry, portable lamps are the most convenient means of providing the local light needed for specific tasks as reading, writing or studying.

Durham County Boy, Veteran Publisher Dies

Joseph A. Osborne, of Williamsburg, Virginia, publisher and editor emeritus of the Virginia Gazette, oldest weekly newspaper in North America died suddenly of a heart attack in his 87th year on Sunday.

Born at Tyrone, Durham County, Ontario, Mr. Osborne spent almost his whole life in journalism and remained active in the Gazette right up to the eve of his passing. Only a few weeks before he won a national trophy for second place among 4,000 weeklies for the excellence of a special edition of his famous paper. Earlier in the year he was a special personal guest of Prime Minister King while in Williamsburg to receive an honorary degree from William and Mary College.

Starting out as a youth Mr. Osborne went west to become a reporter on the Winnipeg Tribune. Then he founded one of Canada's earliest news magazines. The Manitoban, published in Winnipeg. In succession he served on the Brandon, Manitoba, Daily Sun and then owned and edited the Rat Portage (now Kenora) Miner and the Rainy River, Ontario, Gazette. Highly successful he retired to Florida many years ago, but as a true newspaperman, inactivity irked him and he went back to renew his career.

In 1917 he purchased the Virginia Suffolk Herald and twelve years later corwned his ambition by securing the Virginia Gazette. But Mr. Osborne had wide interests outside of his editorial sanctum. While a Canadian editor he took part in several explanatory expeditions to sub-Arctic regions and located mineral deposits in Ungava. He served on several commissions for the Canadian government and always took a keen interest in political and scientific affairs. He was a leading figure in every community in which he lived and was a former Mayor of Fort Frances.

Lt.-Gen. Simonds Coming Home For Liaison Visit

OTTAWA, July 31 (CP)—Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, occasionally rumored as the next Canadian army chief, is coming home from England for "a liaison visit" that will include conferences with Defence Minister Claxton and officials.

Seconded to the British army, he currently is senior army instructor at the Imperial Defence College in the United Kingdom.

Mr. Claxton, in an announcement, said Gen. Simonds sailed from Southampton today for New York for a six week visit to Canada and the United States.

Gen. Simonds has always been considered a logical successor to Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chief of the general staff, who is getting on towards three years in office.

Gen. Simonds rose to command the 2nd Corps in its European actions in the recent war and for a time substituted as commander of the First Canadian Army itself.

Special Visits

The announcement said his trip will include visits to the National Defence College at Kingston and the National War College in Washington.

Gen. Simons plans to go directly to Kingston on arrival as guest of Maj.-Gen. J. F. M. Whitely, commandant of the National Defence College. Gen. Whitely, a British officer, came to Canada on an exchange basis when Gen. Simonds took over his post at the Imperial College in January, 1947.

From Kingston, Gen. Simonds will go to Toronto and then to Winnipeg. He plans to remain in Winnipeg until approximately Sept. 6 and will then spend two days in Ottawa before proceeding to Washington and West Point. He returns to the United Kingdom from New York Sept. 16.

Smaller Beer Glasses

TORONTO, July 31. (CP) — Hotels were authorized to reduce the size of 10-cent draft beer glasses from nine ounces to eight ounces by a provincial regulation approved Friday. Price of pints was increased to 23 cents from 21. The date the change will take effect was not disclosed.

THE DEMAND for bread and feed grains in Great Britain and Western Europe will continue for a long time to come in the opinion of one of the world's authorities on food supply problems. He is Sir Maurice Hutton, CMG, Britain's top food man in Washington and Ottawa for many years, now on his way home after relinquishing his important post and taking a busman's holiday—a tour of Canada's bread basket. Sir Maurice, who is accompanied by Lady Hutton, will spend some time with friends in New Hampshire and sail home from New York in about two weeks.

US Government Official Denies Revealing Secrets

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP).—A young United States Government official, proclaiming his innocence of charges that he fed wartime secrets to a Russian spy, headed "confidently" today for a meeting with Senate investigators. William W. Remington, now on leave from the Commerce Department, said accusations by an admitted former Communist party agent before a Senate committee Friday "are not true."

The charges were made by Elizabeth Bentley, who said she became a Soviet spy after the falling in love with a Russian-born Communist named Jacob Golos, now dead.

The 36-year-old Miss Bentley testified before a Senate expenditures sub-committee headed by Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep. Mich), investigating reports that subversive persons are holding important government jobs.

Remington, who faces the same group this morning, was placed on "indefinite leave" about a month ago by commerce secretary Charles Sawyer pending a loyalty investigation by the civil service commission.

Remington, just over 30, is director of the export programs staff of the office of international trade.

Approved Transfer

The assistant commerce secretary, Thomas C. Blaisdell, who preceded Miss Bentley to the Senate witness stand, told the Senators he had approved Remington's transfer to the office of international trade and still has complete confidence in him.

Miss Bentley told the Senators:

1. She collected Communist party dues from Remington, as well as secret military information he obtained while working with the war production board. (Remington later told reporters both charges are untrue).

2. The Communists had a "contact" in the White House, who once told them when the Americans were about to break a Russian code.

3. A high American official, who she met "at least once," helped place Communists in key government positions.

4. Mary Watkins Price, a former secretary to columnist Walter Lippmann, once helped her go through his files secretly to get material for the Russians on British-American relations.

Miss Price, now chairman of the Progressive party of North Carolina, termed the last charge "fantastic" and added to reporters in Greensboro: "It is an obvious effort to smear the great new progressive party."

It was Golos, Miss Bentley said, who introduced her to Remington. A month later, she began getting information from the youthful official, arranging meetings in various parts of the capital under the name "Helen."

Remington told a press conference Friday night he believed Miss Bentley was a reporter.

"Miss Bentley believes I gave her secret and confidential information," he said. "That is not true. I was far more frank with other reporters."

Trade Policy 'Severe Drain'

LONDON, July 31 (CP)—Sir Patrick Ashley Cooper, governor of Hudson's Bay Company, said Friday in a review of the company's trading for 1947 that Canada's continuation of her pre-war external trade policy has imposed a "severe drain" on the Dominion's reserves of gold and United States dollars.

The statement, preparatory to the company's 279th annual general meeting in London, said one of the fundmental features of Canada's pre-war external economy was to sell the bulk of her agricultural production to the old world and buy manufactured consumer goods from the new world with accrued European and United Kingdom credits.

In the post-war period this policy was continued, except that a large portion of Canadian produce exported to the United Kingdom was financed by Canadian government credit and thus did not offset Canada's debit balance with the United States.

This "disequilibrium" Sir Patrick said was accentuated by the suspension of sterling convertability in August, 1947.

U.S. Air Cadets Pay Exchange Visit To Canada

OTTAWA, July 31.— (CP), — Twelve cadets of the United States civil air patrol turned to the Dominion's west with spirited interest today as a program of Canadian-U.S. air cadet exchange visits got under way.

The American group's appetite for the Canadian scene was whetted with a one-day visit to the capital Friday. They exclaimed that Canada "is far better than we expected."

On the reciprocal visit, a group of 12 cadets from eastern Canada were southbound for Fort Worth, Texas, and a similar fortnight's flying in the U.S.

With a scarlet-coated RCMP band playing southern tunes, the two groups met at nearby Rockcliffe airport Friday and exchanged greetings.

Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, chief of the air staff, was luncheon host in the airmen's mess and speeded the two groups on their way with a singularly brief but warm and genuine welcome. He hoped the exchange, being inaugurated this year, would be "only a beginning and that we can count on them as annual affairs."

This is the first year of such a Canadian-U.S. exchange. Other exchange visits with Britain, started last year, will be resumed next week and the announcement that a U.S.-British exchange is planned for next summer pointed up Canada's place as a link between the two countries.

Cadets in each case are chosen on the basis of proficiency, character and sports ability from representative parts of each country. Broad purpose behind the program is to promote an international outlook and understanding.

Deal Sharp Blow

Ignore Demand For UN Hearing On Hyderabad

LONDON, July 31 — (AP). — Winston Churchill, in a heated debate with Prime Minister Attlee, on Friday demanded in the House of Commons that Britain's representative at the United Nations be told to push a hearing of Hyderabad's complaint against India.

Churchill said Hyderabad is being subjected to a "harsh blockade" by the Dominion of India which is causing hardships greater than the Russian blockade of Berlin.

Attlee replied: "Mr. Churchill always takes what he calls his facts from one side, and I do not start with Mr. Churchill's preconceived notion that everything the Hindus do is wrong."

Resenting contentions that Britain is disregarding treaty obligations to Hyderabad, Attlee said he hopes the UN mission to Kashmir also may be able to deal with the Hyderabad problem. Hyderabad, a large princely state, has refused to join the Dominion of India.

Jawaharlal Nehru, India's Prime Minister, has threatened military operations against the State.

As Parliament adjourned for a summer vacation, it appeared the large Labor majority was in no mood to heed Churchill's insistence that Hyderabad be helped at the United Nations.

Churchill said alleged stoppages of medical supplies by Indian commercial sanctions against Hyderabad raises dangers of a spread of pestilence. The Conservative Leader warned that the risks of armed conflict are great.

WARNING

CAMPERS and SMOKERS

RE: FOREST FIRE PREVENTION

Improperly extinguished camp fires, and carelessly discarded cigarette stub or match, have been responsible for the occurrence of destructive Forest Fires.

Camp fire should be made only on bare rock, or on soil that has had all the litter and humus removed, leaving no chance for fire to creep along dead roots, logs or other inflammable material.

When the camp fire has served its purpose, all live coals and burning material must be thoroughly doused with water. All fire must be completely out

Do not throw away a burning cigarette stub or match. Be sure that no spark or fire remains, before it is discarded.

It is in the interests of everyone to obey the Forest Fires Prevention Act.

Washington In a Dither Over Communist Scare

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, July 31—(CP)—Washington is witnessing much to-do about Communist coming into the United States on delegations, on delegation staffs, on the secretariat and as correspondents, associated with the United Nations.

The current unpleasantness will add strength to the arguments of those who would like to see the organization pull out of New York and settle somewhere in Europe.

Congress gave this same school of thought a boost by failing to approve the $65,000,000 building loan for the permanent headquarters on Manhattan Island.

There is no certainty that the loan will be approved at the current special session to which legislators were recalled by President Truman to complete unfinished business. He listed it as one of the urgent pieces of business neglected when Congress adjourned last June 20.

Apparently the present outcry, about persons dangerous to the safety of the country gaining admission to the United States through the medium of the nations, is over-emphasized.

Committee Appointed to Probe Reports

However, State Secretary Marshall has appointed a committee of three "distinguished citizens" to examine reports that this is happening.

Judging from some of the comments in high places it would appear that the agitators have only now realized that the presence of the United Nations headquarters in the United States necessarily involves admitting Communists.

The United Nations constitution requires that staff for the general secretariat must be drawn from all member countries in reasonable ratio. Which means a substantial number of Communists or adherents are on the staff of Secretary-General Trygve Lie.

Then there are many newspaper correspondents from all member countries which means that those from Communist-controlled countries are members of that party or its close adherents.

Correspondents asked Marshall last week what it was all about He said there had been no complains of any alien entering on United Nation visa doing anything inimical or dangerous.

Meanwhile the United Nations secretariat is aroused and angry over the implications, and the public wonders what a committee of three private citizens can do that the Secret Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the State Department experts, Treasury agents and rank and file cannot do to run down subversives.

Ontario Fine Holiday Spot New England Editor Says

Herbert S. Austin, advertising manager of The Townsman of Wellesley, Mass., was one of the party of 24 American newspapermen who visited Ontario last month as guests of the Department of Travel and Publicity and the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association."

Writing in the Wellesley Paper, he says, "Throughout the trip our hosts showed us every courtesy and did everything to make our stay pleasant and our return prompt. The countryside that we saw, 1,000 miles of it, was not cluttered with billboards, hot dog stands and the other things that mar our scenic spots. There was little evidence of careless spending and the whole scale of living appeared to be on a less expensive basis than ours. Ample accommodation and meals, excellent service and courteous treatment make this section most attractive to the American tourist."

"Exchange is even and your money goes further than at home. Woollens, flat silver, perfumes, English china and various other items are cheaper in Canada than in the United States and a returning visitor can bring in $100 duty free or $400 if the visit extends more than two weeks. The fisherman will find everything he wants. Any boatman will find water to his liking. The family who wants to relax in comfortable surroundings and with all inexpensively should look to Ontario. It isn't far as the miles reel of fin this post-war period. The citizens of Ontario are our kind of people. There should be more of these good-will tours going in both directions and as the National Editorial Association makes plans to visit New England in 1950 we are hoping to greet in our scenic localities some of the kind hosts who were so very cordial to us in June, 1948."

Hold Two Men In Lauzon Death

PASCAGOULA, Miss., July 31—(CP)—Search for slayers of Ulysse Lauzon led today to New Orleans, where police are holding two men in connection with the "gangland slaying" of the Windsor desperado.

The almost-nude body of the escaped bank robber was found with bullet wounds in the temple and heart in the weeds beside a highway near here July 19.

New Orleans police said they are investigating "a possibility" that McDonald is in the gulf-coast area. They expect pictures of McDonald to arrive by air today.

The two men held for questioning in New Orleans are Miles Porter, 20, of Moselle, Miss., charged with carrying concealed weapons, and Marion Williams, 24, of Laurel, Miss., held for aggravated battery in connection with an attack on a soldier Wednesday night.

Police said there was "a possibility" that one of the pair is a relative of Lauzon.

Police here said they believed the slaying took place in a night club or fishing camp two days before the body was found. They speculated that the slaying was done by criminal associates who thought Lauzon had "double crossed them in a divvy-up of spoils."

CANADIAN BULWARKS OF DEMOCRACY

the school

"The Foundation of Every State Is the Education of Its Youth"—Diogenes.

The student in the truly democratic state is taught these fundamentals: Freedom and truth are inseparable: The basis of democracy is human diversity and that to his conscience, his family, his country, is owed a duty. In the school, it is purposed guiding the youth in the development of his character, his sense of moral and social responsibility to all his fellow citizens . . . this, regardless of their racial origin, creed or color. He should be aided to an understanding of his country, its government, its history, its people, its blessings, its shortcomings. If our schools set these as the goal, our youth can develop in stature, in character, well fitted to take their chosen place in this lusty giant that is Canada, today.

In Canada, from the wooden-framed 20-desk country school, to the city's 30-room school, our millions of children are being guided to take their place in our society of free men. They are taught something more than just the three "R's". The objective must be to help fit them to meet the duties and responsibilities of citizenship in a country "rich, beyond measure, spiritually, morally and physically." If we aim at anything less . . . we fail ourselves, our children and our country.

Shortcomings, failings our schools have . . . but in the mad, regimented world about us, they stand out like an oasis in the bleak desert of the totalitarian world. Let us see to it that our children are "guided" to think, reason, decide for themselves. Let them learn how millions elsewhere are, by state directives, ordered into any field the "leader" sees fit to send them. Let them realize to the full that few youths in other lands can do as they do . . . make of their talents what they will.

Let us guard, zealously, our schools, and schooling system . . . work towards bettering them . . . continue to treat our children as individuals . . . not robots. By so doing, we can help fit them to face the future . . . courageous, alert, alive; eager to be citizens of a country blessed as are few others.

The Rev. W. J. Gilling performed the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Gerald Bousfield who accompanied Miss Agnes Moore as sh sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register. Mr. Roland Krant gave her sister in marriage.

A gown of white lace styled on tailored lines with fullness in the skirt was the bride's choice. She wore a close-fitting cap of white lace with gathered fullness at the back and lace mittens to the elbow. A cascade of roses completed her all-white ensemble. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Roana Wickenden, who wore a dainty frock of white Swiss voile with wide pink hat and pink accessories and she carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds.

Mr. Vern Selkirk was the groomsman and Messrs. Frank Barrie and Andre Dalton ushered.

The reception afterward was at the bride's home where her aunt, Mrs. Henry Wickenden, received her guests, assisted by the groom's sister, Miss Hazel Batten. The former was attired in moss blue crepe and wore black accessories and a corage of white roses. The latter's dress for the occasion was tea rose crepe and she had brown accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Batten have left on a wedding trip to Toronto and Detroit and on return will reside at 359 McDonnel St. When going away the bride was wearing a dress of navy sheer with accessories to match, Kolinsky furs and a corsage of white roses.

Of Interest to Women

KEEPING COOL DOMESTICALLY—It is almost as hard to keep a cool temper as a cool house when the thermometer soars and the usual chores pile up just as furiously as they do in decent weather. A single, coverall garment is the best bet, and one can find many a version for sale at pin money prices in the fashion stores. These pinafore-like fast color cotton frocks cost less than five dollars, and they are all the flattery and comfort one needs to look pretty and feel relieved of swaddling, when laundry, gardening, baby sitting or dish washing is the work at hand. Primarily designed for household duties, they are well styled enough to grace home parties and neighborhood calls. Colors are bright and pretty, ironing problem nil.

DOROTHY DIX

Popularity Hints As Aid To Getting Girls Dates

A girl who is just beginning to be boy-conscious, asks what boys like in a girl and how she can be a date snatcher.

Dorothy Dix

Well, daughter tastes differ even in cuties, and the arts and wiles that ravish one boy's fancy leave another boy cold. However, I think that the charm that has an almost universal appeal to the entire masculine sex, young and old, is for a girl to be friendly. Not high hat. Not show-offy. Not affected. Not posy. Just simple and sweet and palsy-walsy.

You see, nearly all boys are girl-shy to begin with. The first time Johnny takes Sally to the movies by himself he is doing an act as heroic as if he were leading an army into battle. He is scared blue, and the thing that makes a hit with him is for Sally to be chummy, and even when he buys her an ice cream soda at the drug store to be as delighted over it as if he were feeding her on ambrosia.

The next thing that boys like in girls is for the lassies to have a good line of talk. You never saw a Dumb Dora who was popular. It is the girls who babble like the brook that went on and on forever about whom boys swarm like bees around a honeypot. It saves them from the chore of having to make conversation. A nimble tongue is a greater asset that a pretty face for a girl in her pipsqueak days.

Must Make Good

Boys like girls who know how to do things. The clinging vine is dead wood in these days. The modern youth is not an altruist and any girl who expects to be popular has to pay her way by making good. He isn't going to drag around the girls who dance on his feet or who can't play bridge, or golf, or fit into a crowd, or do anything else that is jolly and amusing.

Boys like girls who are honest and sincere and who do not pretend to be what they are not. The girls who fake an aristocratic ancestry, who claim that they only work for excitement, and who always say that their hats and gowns are Paris models, make no hit with the average boy. He sees through the transparent lies and is disgusted by them. They are not the kind of people his Mom, and Mom is the standard boys judge all girls by.

Of course, all boys have to go through the sentimental period when they feel it is a disgrace if they do not have a Girl Friend, but most of them hope and pray that the little darlings won't take the romance too seriously. It flatters a lad's vanity for Sally to be known as "Johnny's girl" and for him to exercise a sort of lordship over her, but in his heart he knows that it is only playacting and that it will end just a sweet memory.

And, perhaps most of all, boys like girls who dress and look and act like ladies. No matter how uncouth a lad may be himself, he pays tribute to the girl who is clean and dainty in appearance, whose manners are courteous and gentle, and whose voice is soft and sweet.

And, finally, daughter, if you forget all else that I have told you, remember this: The one charm to which all men are vulnerable, from the cradle to the grave, is flattery. Use plenty of that and you will always be popular.

AUTUMN COLOR AND CUT—A soft frock which forecasts Autumn fashion, both in silhouette and color, is made of crepe in a bright paprika shade which harmonizes with the russets of harvest. The skirt is slim looking, its fullness introduced near the hem in flares that lie smooth; the simple bodice has a double collar and flat ties of self fabric. A good dress without any coat on a sunny, crisp day; very pretty later on, under a short fur or cloth coat.

New Autumn Hats Display Flowers and Large Veils

By BARBARA STEVENSON

PARIS, July 30 (Reuters). — The Paris hat, autumn 1948, covers the hair, the head and often part of the neck.

Unabashedly romantic, more than 90% of the models shown in the new collections have plenty of veiling, and every hat is the complement of the silhouette it tops.

Although no capricious mood is neglected, the hats seem to blend with the ensemble to create a composite picture which is utterly feminine.

The chin is the focal point for attention, with veils and ribbons tied below it, with flowers or feathers tucked into the knot in the Victorian manner.

Most forheads are bare, the majority of shapes tending to give height rather than width. Berets in fabrics to match the costume are popular. They are a trifle larger than Spring versions, but still pushed forward to form brims or tilted upward to give a halo effect. One exception, however, is fashioned like a padre's beret, worn back and to the side in the Dior manner but with the hair tucked inside except for a saucy fringe in the middle of the forehead.

Maud Roser swoops her brims down over the ears almost to the neck, and then back and up over the brow. For cocktails, she tucks a sleek coiffure into a pointed halo of pearl-studded feathers, swathed in soft tulle.

Huge Pom-Poms on Brim

As usual, Roser shows several models which recognize no season. One, fashioned of tulle has two huge pom-poms on the Watteau brim and tiny paillettes fleck a veil which covers the crown and the brim, falls over the face and under the chin, and swoops up again to meet itself in soft curls below the back of the crown.

Jane Blanchot is also partial to soft tulle for evening wear and shows a crown of flowers, topped with a mist of tulle, framing the face and caught just over the bust with a cluster of the same flowers.

Mme. Le Monnier fan-pleats a brim up and over the brow and down the right side to cover one ear completely. A swirl of black veiling appears from under the brim, covers the face from nose to chin and ties high over the left ear. The ends are held firmly in place by carved, jade hat-pins.

Mother Nature would have difficulty deciding the source of the feathers on this season's hats. They are spotted and dotted, stiffened and dyed, then perched under and over, up and down brims, atop and behind high and low crowns. They curl and swing from veils and are tucked in bows under the chin.

But the essential accompaniment to all Paris hats this Autumn is a fring of hair. It can even be dyed in the new, temporary manner to match a costume or suit your mood.

As for the very, very young and daring, they may even sport a kiss curl. The youngest and newest hat in the fashion picture is worn over such a hair-do.

THE STARS SAY....

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, August 1

Sunday's horoscope hold augury of a definite urge to forge ahead on the attainment of practical goals or major objectives. And while the spirit of enterprise and initiative may measure up to hopes and wishes, at the same time there is little cooperation or approbation from superiors or those whose goodwill and concrete help had been counted on. Some prior ideas or plans may have to be relinquished and it may be necessary to assume full responsibility for future operatons, in order to establish firm working ground for future security. Studied programs build on sound ideas should prosper.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves deep in a period in which they may have to assume all obligations and responsiblity for important plans and propositions, in which promised aid, or funds, may not be forthcoming. Higher-ups may withdraw active support. With thrift, well worked out procedures, and determined effort based on studied and far-reaching securtiy, much may be accomplished, with added satisfaction from independence and solo performances in strenuous crises.

A child born on this day has well-equipped endowment of talents, skills, with stabilitiy and endurance to attain ambitions and secure its own independence minus outside cooperation.

For Monday, August 2

Monday's astrological forecast is for a sensational and disturbing state of affairs, with unlooked-for changes, unforeseen developments and perplexities probably brought about by erratic, tumultuous and ash conduct, with emotions and feelings running riot, in utter abandonment of previous plans and calculations. This might upset all objectives and find unhappy reactions on health, spirits and reputation. Accidents and strange adventures could happen under tempest and fury. In personal and romantic affiliations there could be crashes or abrupt terminations.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may run into a year of varied ill luck, upset plans and crashed ambitions, unless they maintain perfect control and direction of their personal feelings, emotions and behavior. The tendency to rush headlong and tumultuously into difficult or perplexing situations might precipitate all sorts of dangers and clashes. Accident, industry, ill health, could hamper all efforts to cope with problems and menaces of a more intangible aspect. Calm and composure might avert calamity.

A child born on this day may have a reckless, headstrong and difficult disposition, opening the way for trials, failures and regrets. Early training and discipline are urged.

For Tuesday, August 3

The prospects are most propitious for pushing to major objectives, in which matters of large scope and of peculiar angles, must be handled with exceptional calm, consideration and precaution against possible hidden factors and strange contacts. The feelings and emotions, as well as ideals and imaginary ideas, should be held in realms of reason. With matter-of-fact manipulation, intriguing and alluring situations could unfold constructively. Maintain composure and keep alert.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may be wise to keep alet to the development of strange, irregular or unique situations or propositions outside the realm of the realistic and commonplace. A subtle undercurrent may unfold, in which hidden circumstances could be manipulated with strategic force to exceptional heights of achievement. Feelings, emotions and imaginaton beng a strong element in making decisions, or influencing agreements, the situation might prove critical as well as intriguing and glamorous. Curious circumstances demand logic and regulation tactics, in personal, intellectual and business activities.

A child born on this day may be endowed with peculiar faculties, with ideas and aspirations of subtle force. With calm, composure and good sense exceptional experiences may develop.

BACKYARD PRIVATE BEACH—Garden switch on the sidewalk trick of turning the fire hydrant on for hot children in midsummer, is shown you here, in a magnificent doughnut, in which to be dunked, rather than to dunk. The plastic ring (eighty inches in diameter and with a depth of nine water inches) is easily blown up, and filled by means of the garden hose, to be set on level ground. Fashion news? Why not? These babies have jumped in wearing pinafores; they could as happily be clad in swim suits, or any of the cool scraps designers devise for children which keep them free of heat rash, of warnings "not to get dirty," and not to go near the water.

6—In Memoriam

CONROY — In loving memory of Mrs. Alex. Conroy, who passed away 3 years ago to-day.

Two bright eyes, a tender smile,
A loving hear that knew no guile;
Deep trust in God that all was right,
Her joy to make some other bright.
If sick or suffering one she knew
Some gentle act of love she'd do;
No thought of self, but of "the other"
I know He said, 'Well done, dear mother."

—Ever remembered by Husband and Family.

LESLIE — In loving memory of my mother, Mrs. Loretta Leslie, who died one year ago, July 31, 1947

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.

—Sadly missed by Helen, Charles and Freddie.

SEXSMITH—In sad and loving memory of our dear mother, Harriet Sexsmith, who passed away July 22, 1944, and our dear father, James Sexsmith, who passed away August 2, 1946, both of Lindsay.

When the twilight hour draws near
And sunset flames the sky,
We think of our dear parents
And the happy days gone by.
Thoughts of you come drifting back,
Within our dreams to stay,
To know that you are resting
When the twilight ends the day.

—Ever remembered by their five sons and daughters, John, Arnold, Earl, Mrs. Ralph Godfrey (Effie), Mrs. Elizabeth Olan of Keene, Norman, Mrs. Cecil Hickson (Evelyn), Mrs. Bert James (Dorothy) of Lindsay, William of London, and Mrs. Gregg Pearson (Louise) of Peterborough.

WOODCOCK — In loving memory of my father, who passed away August 1, 1946.

Two years have passed since that sad day
The one we loved was called away;
And while he sleeps his peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep.

—Sadly missed by Daughter Dorothy and Family.

YORK— In memory of Wilford York, who was killed in action, August 1, 1944.

Not till the loom is silent,
And the shuttles cease to fly,
Shall God unroll the canvas
And explain the reason why.
The dark threads are as needful
In the weaver's skilful hands
As the threads of gold and silver
In the pattern to be planned.

—Always remembered by Mother, Margaret and Babies.

Gimli Observes Iceland Day In Manitoba

By SAMUEL SOLOMON

GIMLI, Man., July 31—(CP)—They'll celebrate Islendingadagurrin Aug. 2 this year—and, in this community founded by Icelanders in 1876, it will be the only time native costumes will be on view.

Islendingadagurrin (Day of Iceland) is a familiar festival to the residents of this Lake Winnipeg town. The native language often is heard in conversations on the streets.

Gimli's population now is 1,500. Six years ago it was 700, Mayor Barney Egilson said in an interview today:

"The vast majority of the population owes its livelihood to fishing and farming. But a cycle of poor fishing has hit the town. I remember 20 years ago fishermen said the lake was depleted, but it picked up again. Now one hears the same talk."

Most of the annual catch of whitefish, pickerel, bass and pike is exported to the United States. The famous Lake Winnipeg Goldeye is another important commercial fish, but few have been caught this year.

Politically, the resident of Gimli are divided. The Iceland traditionally were Liberals. But Mayor Egilson said the C.C.F. drew a heavy vote in the last federal election, whenGimli was in Selkirk constituency. Under redistribution, it has been placed in Norquay riding.

More Fields Open To Women In All Countries

TORONTO, July 31 — (CP) — More opportunities for women in occupational fields are now available through the world than in the past, Grace Nicholls of Toronto Friday told the American Federation of Soroptimists.

She was a member of a committee set up in 1938 to gather data on occupations for women.

Chances for women in most occupations have increased in Canada, Miss Nicholls said. Women are being trained for difficult foreign consular positions by the External Affairs department at Ottawa. A Canadian woman is serving as vice consul both in New York city and San Francisco.

Women in the United States are working in all but nine of the country's 451 occupations. Increased opportunities are reported in all fields except coal mining, railway engineering—and fire departments.

Questionnaires sent to many countries showed there are a few laws against women entering certain occupations. In England a woman cannot serve in the Church of England, nor be a member of the London Stock Exchange. In Denmark a woman cannot hold a commission in army or navy.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BLAMING IS BAD POLICY

SELDOM is it good policy for one defender to blame the other for something he did during the play. In any event it is unwise to do so unless you have first figured out whether or not you had been the cause of his move which proved costly, or whether the declarer could have obtained the same result by somewhat varied methods if you or your partner had acted differently. Even when you are utterly sure your partner made a mistake which was all his fault, you still must consider whether or not your censure will make him a more inefficient performer on the next and succeeding hands. Remember his morale is one of the assets you require for good results.

West could easily read that his partner's bid had been a psychic, but counting on him for having something in the called suit, opened the diamond 7. East put in the 9 to keep his A over the J and also to be in position to win the second diamond and lead for a possible ruff by West. South headed off the ruffing business by winning the first trick and promptly taking out trumps in three rounds. Then he led to the diamond J to force the A, and East this time switched to the 8 of his partner's spades.

South put on his most skillful clothes then. He let West have that trick with the J, then won the K with the A. Clearing out diamonds from both his holdings with the Q trick, he was now ready to end-play West, which he did by sending the spade 10 to the Q. Now West was on the horns of a helpless dilemma. A spade return would give South a ruff in dummy and a discard of a losing club. Having nothing else but clubs, West led the Q. South got that with his A and led the 7, finessing the 9 against the marked J. Then the club K and heart 5 finished the hand.

East began to criticize West for his club Q return which cost a trick, but the latter headed him off by showing his only alternative was a spade for a ruff and discard. West then tackled East on the point that a club return after he won with the diamond A would have been better than the spade lead he made, and would have prevented the club end-play. The declarer calmed both down by showing that West on such a trick would have had to stick in the J or Q, which the A would win. Later, South could have thrown West in with a spade as he did and could have made West pitch away from the remaining club honor.

Your Week-End Question

If you had never heard of the "suit-preference" signal, under what circumstances would you be able to deduce that your partner's high card on a trick asked for a shift in lead to the higher-ranking of certain other suits?

SALLY'S SALLIES

"George is so kind. He let our neighbor borrow our lawn mower when he himself was in the midst of cutting the grass"

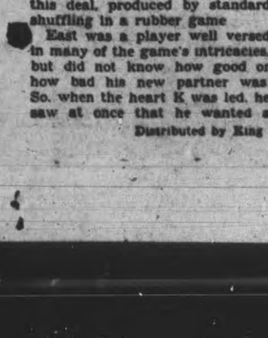
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WHO WOULD BE HELPED?

WHETHER a high card by your partner—when you know he could have followed suit with a lower one—asks for a repeat of that suit, or has some other meaning, is not an easy question to answer in all cases. Answering another question may be the key to that one. Who would be helped by your repeat of the suit? If evidence shows it would aid declarer, then surely your partner used the high card for some other purpose, to convey some other message to you.

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	1 ♠
2 ♥	2 ♠	3 ♥	3 ♠
4 ♥	4 ♠	Dbl.



If you tried to get up a synthetic hand to teach someone his first lesson in the "suit preference" signal, you could hardly have done better than frame up this deal, produced by standard shuffling in a rubber game.

East was a player well versed in many of the game's intricacies, but did not know how good or how bad his new partner was. So, when the heart K was led, he saw at once that he wanted a switch on the next trick to ma-honds in preference to the lower-ranking clubs. He consequently played his 10 on the heart lead. West, noting the height of the card, repeated the suit, with the A, and thereby presented South a game, doubled, on a silver platter. South of course ruffed, took out trumps in two rounds and then discarded a losing diamond on the heart Q. So he lost only two diamonds and one heart.

Who would be helped by a second heart lead? If West had asked himself that simple question, he would have realized that the declarer would be aided by it. Therefore East had a different purpose, which could only be that he preferred the higher-ranking diamonds instead of clubs. In such a spot, that would be only the natural meaning of the signal. Obviously a switch to a diamond would have produced three tricks in the suit and beaten the contract.

What is the best play by West at 4-Spades doubled after North leads the heart K?

Dramatic Career Fading For Vic Mature

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, July 31 (AP)—This town is full of stories, and not all of them hit the headlines or movie scripts.

He was an ambitious guy who knew what he wanted — to be a movie star. He thought he could act, but he realized ballyhoo would get him to the top faster. So he sold himself to stardom, with accent on his most obvious asset—his build.

Came the war and he went off to make a good record in the service. He returned to Hollywood, realizing he would not last long in pictures as a glamor boy. He concentrated on a dramatic career and hit a couple of good pictures.

So what happens? He signed for his most important role—as history's most famous strong man. "And now I guess the 'beautiful hunk of man' routine will start all over again," laments Victor Mature.

Queen in Danger

She was Queen of Hollywood, and like all queens, she wanted to keep her throne. But it was in danger. She made one poor picture and she was wary of the next one. She balked at making it.

"It will be sensational," the bosses told her. She was unconvinced.

They shot the movie twice and it was bad both times. But she will survive. It takes more than a couple of bad pictures to dim the great talent of Greer Garson.

Tufts on Upswing

A wartime discovery, he rose fast and sensationally in the boom era of movies. His studia shoved him into picture after picture, milking his popularity. Caught in the party whirl, he did not pay enough attention to what was happening to his career. Suddenly, he and the studio parted company.

Then the outlook began to change. He landed a deal to make Westerns and participate in the profits. More offers came in, and he was making many times what he earned at his old studio. That is the reason behind the broad grin on Sonny Tufts' face

The Last Straw

HAMILTON, N.Z. (CP).—When Hamilton householders found that envelopes containing income tax statements were postmarked with the slogan "Blood donors are urgently needed," one taxpayer remarked: "I knew it would come to this sooner or later. The income tax takes everything else I've got and my blood is about the only think I have left."

A HUGE GROUP OF FRENCH war veterans jammed traffic on the Champs Elysees and other Paris streets, demonstrating for higher pensions. Here drivers are honking their horns as the medalled vets sit tight. Some carry crutches and canes.

Name Winners At Norwood

NORWOOD, Aug. 1 (ENS). — With rain until noon and threatening skies all afternoon, many were in doubt as to whether the Norwood Legion's street dance could possibly be held. It was, and a bigger and better success than ever before. The games tables were kept busy, and about 10.30 the dancing was really under way, with modern and old time dances. The music played by Art Jones, Joe Watts, Frank Leahy, Jack Robson and Johnnie Rae, with a few vocal numbers by Art Jones by special request.

Prize winners of the grand draw were: 1st, tailor-made suit, Mr. George Webster, Warsaw; 2nd, wrist watch, L. Kay, Campbellford, and the five mystery prizes: Mrs. Fred Kempt, N. Rogers, J. H. Patterson and Bruce Parker, all of Norwood, and T. M. Finker, Peterborough.

Selwyn Youth Accidentally Shot By Dad

Woodchuck Hunting Ends In Tragedy; On Mathieson Farm

Nineteen-year-old Hector Mathieson of R.R. 3, Lakefield, is in hospital here in "critical condition" from a .22 bullet which entered his abdomen, Monday afternoon.

The youth was accidently shot by his father, George Mathieson, about one o'clock Monday afternoon as the two were out shooting woodchucks near their home west of Selwyn on the 11th concession of Smith. He was taken to Dr. H. E. Gastle, at Lakefield, who had the boy removed to Civic Hospital, Peterborough.

The accident happened as the father and son were going out to the hay field. They were accompanied by Clarence Elliott and his son, Orville Elliott, also of Smith. The rifle was taken along "just in case there were groundhogs or something to shoot." The father said he was shooting at a groundhog when the bullet struck his son, who had run on ahead and was close to the animal. Because the youth had been moving quickly towards that spot, his nearness was not noticed as the shot was fired.

The hospital reported this morning that his condition was "only fair" and that Mathieson had passed a "fairly satisfactory night."

FOUR OF A KIND, all Queens for the day, chosen at the third annual District Lumbermen's Association picnic at Cloyne, North Frontenac County on Saturday, were beauteous Misses Margaret Marshall, "Miss Canada", Left, and Toby Robins, "Miss CNE". They are posing with the baby beauty winners which they chose. "Miss Canada" holds Verna, who doesn't seem to care and "Miss CNE" poses with 11-month old twin sister Vera, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Monte Spicer of Cloyne. The older girls were crowned Queen of the Lumberjacks; all four stole the show.

Report Shake-up In Greek Army

ATHENS, Aug. 3—(AP)—Dispatches from the front today said Greek forces have captured Kerassovon, southern anchor of Markos Vafiades main defence line on the western front.

Kerassovon lies between the heights of Prophet Elias and Kelptis, which have fallen in the past three days. There were previous reports that the rebel bastion was being evacuated.

Earlier, Premier Themistokles Sophoulis announced a reshuffle in the Greek army high command to "accelerate the tempo" of the war effort. The shake-up followed United States suggestions for speeding up the fight against the Communist-led insurgents.

The Greek premier said Lt.-Gen. Panos Kalogeropoulos, commander of the 2nd Corps, has been given a month's leave. He added that the Greek deputy chief of Staff, Lt.-Gen. Stylianos Kitrilakis, is proceeding to the northern front to take full command of the Grammos Mountains offensive.

Find Hand Grenade At St. Peter's Square

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 3.—(AP).—A street sweeper found a tiny red hand grenade this morning near the entrance to St. Peter's Square. It was nestled at the bottom of the first column in the right arc of the Bernini Colonade.

The sweeper called Achille Triners of the St. Peter's Security detachment, who noted that the pin was out. The Italian war ministry's artillery headquarters sent explosives experts who nudged the grenade some yards from the Colonnade, sand-bagged it and set it off harmlessly.

Pair Remanded In Shooting At Claremont

TORONTO, Aug. 3.—(CP) — Frederick Aldred, 21, of Claremont, Ont., was remanded today until Aug. 10 on a charge of murdering W. D. Cowan, a storekeeper of Malvern, 20 miles east of here.

May Hill, 17, who told police she ran away with Aldred because she loved him and her parents sought to interfere, was remanded until the same date on a charge of being an accomplice.

Police said Aldred shot the storekeeper four times when he and his teen-age girl friend were surprised early Sunday in the act of breaking into Cowan's general store.

Police said Alfred told them that he and the girl broke into the store at Malvern, near Claremont, at dawn Sunday in an effort to obtain something to eat. They said the shooting followed when Cowan, armed with a revolver, grappled with the intruder.

Cowan's wife and five daughters watched the struggle. They had followed Cowan downstairs into the store after hearing sounds of a break-in.

Did Not Give Up

"We heard dad say: 'What are you going to do with that gun?' said Eleanor Cowan, 17-year-old daughter of the slain storekeeper. "We went downstairs and dad started to wrestle with the man. One of my sisters grabbed him by the shirt and tore it from his back. Then he started shooting and we saw dad fall."

Although he was bleeding from at wound over the heart and an-

Reductions Up To $363 Announced On Ford Cars

WINDSOR, Aug. 3—(CP)—Retail price reductions ranging from $177 on the Ford Deluxe business coupe to $363 on the Monarch sport sedan were announced by the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, following the federal government's downward revision of the excise tax on passenger cars. Horace H. Greenfield, director of sales and advertising, said the retail tax-included prices, reduced the full equivalent of the government's tax revision, "become effective with billings to dealers on and after Aug. 2.

The previous and new taxes on some of the company's products, the models quoted being the lowest and highest priced in their respective lines:

Freight and delivery charges are extra.

"While the high tax has priced some potential purchasers out of themarket sinceit went into effect last November, it has had no effect upon the immediate demand for cars," Mr. Greenfield said.

"Dealers generally have many more orders than they can hope to fill for some time to come. The tax revision will have no effect in making more cars available to would-be purchasers in the Dominion.

"The government's action on taxes does not alter the quota of United States dollars allotted to Canadian automotive manufacturers for the importation of essential parts and materials used in making cars, and this remains as the chief factor governing the volume of production of automobiles in this country."

Hospitals Watch For Injured Men

TORONTO, Aug. 3 — (CP) — Hospital officials were warned today to watch for two men believed to have been wounded while eluding a police trap Saturday night.

Police said the pair escaped amid a hail of bullets when they returned to recover their housebreaking loot, hidden in a north-central Toronto field.

The police trap was laid in the field after an eight-year-old boy found a box filled with silverware and stamps valued at several hundred dollars in a clump of bushes.

After a five-hour vigil police noticed two men approach the field and bend over the box. Residents said as the pair fled from police they appeared to be wounded.

Tanks and 1,400 Soldiers Keep Order At Dayton Plant

DAYTON, O., Aug. 3— (AP) — An Ohio national guard force spearheaded by tanks quietly deployed in Dayton early today to crush any fresh outbreaks of violence at the struck Univis Lens company plant. Officers said the size of the force was a military secret.

Governor Thomas J. Herbert ordered the troops here "to maintain law and order" in a labor dispute he described as having a "communistic pattern."

The size of the force was estimated unofficially at more than 1,400 troops with equipment including at least two medium tanks.

The guardsmen exploded five tear-gas grenades to disperse a crowd of 75 strike sympathizers, but otherwise the scene was peaceful.

A crowd of 300 strike sympathizers infiltrated the lines and reached a street curb opposite the plant. The guard went into action with a Sherman tank and machine-gun carriers flanked by foot soldiers and drove the crowd two blocks back.

Despite the secrecy wrapping the troop movements, the force appeared strong enough to assure the reopening of the eyeglass factory.

Strike-bound since May 5, the plant re-opened a week ago Monday under police protection. Striking united electrical workers (C.I.O.) and sympathizers, however, defied a court order against mass picketing. The company's attempts to keep the plant open for nearly 400 employees refusing to stay on strike resulted in clashes between police and pickets and street fighting between pickets and workers.

Monday the company closed the plant after police said they could no longer control the situation.

Estonians Believe Canada Good Refuge

STORNOWAY, Scotland, Aug. 3 — (CP). — A party of 73 Canada-bound emigrants arrived here Monday from Gothenburg, Sweden, on their way to Halifax.

The pary, comprising three Poles and 70 Estonians, including 15 children, arrived on the Ostervag, whose skipper, Capt. Past, said tow other boats had left before him and that others were preparing to sail.

A cable received here Sunday night reported the safe arrival at St. John's, Nfld., of the Astrid, an Estonian motor fishing boat, with 29 Estonians "fleeing from Soviet Communism." The vessel left Sweden July 17.

Capt. Past said: "There are many Estonian refugees anxious to go to Canada from Sweden. It is too hot there near Russia."

Germans Hurl Rocks At Russians

Crowds Block Way As Black Market Traders Flee Police

BERLIN, Aug. 3 — (AP). — German civilians stoned Russian sector police Monday night when they attempted to cross into the British sector of the city in pursuit of a black marketeer. One policeman was reported injured.

There were two versions of the incident, which occurred when Soviet-conrolled police squadrons conducted raids against black marketeers at Potshamer Platz, a favorite raiding centre.

Apparently fleeing from the police, some of the traders crossed he occupation border into the British sector to escape. Then, said the British-licensed newspaper Telegraf, Soviet-controll police entered the British area in pursuit.

"Crowds in the Potsdammer Strasse lined up against the police and clashes occurred," the paper said. "There were reports that one passerby was dragged out of the British sector, manhandled by pistol-brandishing Soviet sector police and dragged off to their headquarters."

Poet Appointed Head Of Hungary

BUDAPEST, Aug. 3.—(AP).—Arpad Szakasits, a former stone mason, journalist and poet, today was elected president of Hungary. The vote by Parliament was unanimous.

He succeeds Zoltan Tildy, who resigned last Friday, a few hours after his son-in-law, Dr. Victor Csornoky, was arrested and charged with espionage and treason.

When it was announced that Szakasits was the only candidate for the presidency, members of the Democratic Peoples party and of the Christian Women's Camp —both opposition groups—walked out. They returned to their seats after the speaker declared Szakasits elected.

Szakasits, nominated by the Unified (Communist-ruled) Labor party, formerly was deputy premier, under Premier Lajos Dinnyes.

Hope Dwindles For 52 On Plane

PARIS, Aug. 3 — (AP). — Hope dwindled today for the 40 passengers and 12 crew members aboard a huge Air France flying boat, missing over the South Atlantic since Sunday.

Air France said it would publish a passenger list late today. This indicated that next of kin were being notified.

The line grounded all similar airliners pending an exhaustive study.

Air line officials announced Monday night that mechanical failure may have caused the giant six-engined flying boat to crash. They said a thorough investigation is being made in cooperation with the air ministry.

The plane was last heard from just after midnight Sunday. An intensive search is being carried on about 1,200 miles off Dakar, where it was last reported. High seas and rough winds have hampered the rescue ships and planes.

30 Acre Site Purchased In Smith Area

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP) — A 30-acre tract of land, three miles west of Peterborough, has been purchased by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission as a site for a new $5,000,000 transformer station, Chairman Robert H. Saunders announced to-day.

During the next three years, facilities will be installed for delivery of additional power to Peterborough and other Eastern Ontario communities.

The transformer will utilize power developed at Chenaux Falls on the Ottawa River, 60 miles above Ottawa. The Chenaux Falls development is scheduled to be completed in 1952.

Details Of Red Underground Outlined In U.S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)— Whittaker Chambers, who said he was a Communist from 1924 to 1937, testified today that the Red "underground" in the United States then included Alger Hiss, state department official, and Nathan Witt, attorney for the National Labor Relations Board.

Chambers testified under oath before the House of Representatives un-American Activities Committee, investigating charges of Soviet spying in the United States.

Across the Capitol a Senate committee also was continuing hearings on alleged Communist spying. There, Chairman Homer Ferguson (Rep. Mich.) protested the committee's failure thus far to receive information it has asked from the commerce department about William W. Remington.

Chambers, now a senior editor of Time Magazine, said in a prepared statement read to the House committee that he himself "served in the underground, chiefly in Washington."

Names Organizer

He said there was an underground organization developed, to the best of his knowledge, by Harold Ware, one of the sons of the Communist leader known as "Mother Bloor."

He went on:

"I knew it at its top level, a group of seven or so men, from among whom, in late years, certain members of Miss (Elizabeth T. Bentley's organization were apparently recruited."

"The head" of the underground group was Nathan Witt, lawyer for the national labor relations board. Later John Abt, became the leader.

"Less Pressman was also a member of this group, as was Lager Hiss, who, as a member of the state department later organized the conferences at Dumbarton Oaks, San Francisco and the

Launch Recruiting Drive For Forces September 1

OTTAWA, Aug. 3—(CP)—The defence department will launch a recruiting campaign for all three services, both active and reserve forces, on Sept. 1, defence minister Claxton announced today.

The minister said the campaign will be marked by air shows and other "major events" and will continue on throughout the winter.

Present strength of the three regular forces is roughly 36,500 and no definite target is being set.

"We will take all we can get so long as they meet our qualifications," Mr. Claxton said at a press conference.

The minister said he would officially open the royal military college at Kingston Sept. 20 on a post-war basis as a training ground for future officers of all three services.

The Royal Roads college in British Columbia would open the same day, also on a tri-service basis for the first time. There would be 100 in the first R.M.C. class, selected from 400 applicants.

The 100 would be chosen soon from 250 who were weeded out of the 400 for further tests.

Both R.M.C. and Royal Roads would, for the first two years, have curriculums similar to those at universities. In the summer months the cadets would poin C.O.T.C. contingents from the universities in camps of their respective services.

This would fuse the military training of the universities and the servce schools and was aimed at producing "officers of a higher calibre than we've ever known in Canada."

Mr. Claxton said construction of 2,350 housing units for married members of the three regular forces should be completed by the end of March, 1949. Two hundred had been occupied.

British Envoy Forwards Report To London On Kremlin Conference

Three Allied Diplomats In Good Spirits After Two-Hour Session; Longest Meeting With Stalin Granted Yet

LONDON, Aug. 3.—(AP).—The Foreign Office announced today that it had received a report from Frank Roberts, special British envoy, on his conference Monday night in Moscow with Prime Minister Stalin. A spokesman said the report now is being studied, but declined to comment on what it contained.

London received with cautious optimism this morning the news of the momentous Kremlin conference.

The spokesman, limiting his comments to barest essentials, said top British policy-makers are "weighing very carefully" the reports from Roberts, who is Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's principal private secretary.

Bevin conferred with Herbert Morrison, acting prime minister, on the report soon after it had been decoded.

The spokesman said Roberts has not present plans to leave Moscow. This was seen as indicating the Western envoys expected to continue talks with Foreign Minister Molotov, and possibly with Stalin. It also may indicate the envoys are waiting fresh instructions from their capitals on means of ending the Berlin crisis.

The spokesman said it was unlikely that there would be any comment or unofficial guidance for the press on the Moscow talks for several days. He refused even to say whether he was optimistic. However, most British officials did not attempt to conceal their feeling that the east-wing tension had eased.

Receives Diplomats

MOSCOW, Aug. 3 (AP)—Western diplomats looked to Washington, London and Paris today for a new move to settle east-west differences which they now have taken up personally with Prime Minister Stalin.

Stalin received envoys of Britain, the United States and France at the Kremlin Monday night and talked with them for two hours and 15 minutes. The conversation concerned particularly the prospects for a settlement of the Berlin crisis.

Details were shrouded in official secrecy, but a high authority said progress is being made in this Russian capital.

There was no immediate announcement as to details of what they talked about but the diplomatic representatives of Britain, the United States and France emerged from the Kremlin shortly before midnight smiling and in good spirits.

The meeting, which lasted two hours and 15 minutes, was the longest any foreign diplomats ever had with the Russian leader. After leaving the audience, at which Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia, also was present, the three foreign diplomats immediately went into another conference.

British Chief Won't Be Bullied By Vishinsky

BELGRADE, Aug. 3. (AP)—Sir Charles Peake, chief of Britain's delegation to the 11-country Danube River conference here, fired an angry verbal barrage today at Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Russian Deputy Foreign Minister.

Accusing Vishinsky of trying to dominate the conference through control of the seven eastern states, Sir Charles declared:

"I for one have no intention of being bullied or intimidated. The United Kingdom will not jump at the crack of Mr. Vishinsky's whip. Let me make that plain."

He was replying to Vishinsky's statement of last Saturday, in which he charged the western powers were trying to put pressure on the conference in order to get their way, and with delivering an ultimatum that they would refuse to heed decisions with which they disagree.

Boat Upsets Tourist Safe

COBOURG, Aug. 3.—(ENS).—Rice Lake residents on Sunday were sure that they had another drowning on their hands, when an overturned outboard motorboat was found near Roseneath by Lloyd Hall.

Provincial Police were called and a thorough search of the area revealed no trace of a drowning victim.

As it was not possible to identify the boat, the case seemed stymied until police learned that the owner was J. F. Black, Buffalo Negro, who had upset in the waves at the west end of the lake early Sunday morning. He stayed afloat for several hours due to his life preserver and came ashore around Sunday noon, and then departed for Buffalo.

Truck Plunges In River, 2 Die

SUDBURY, Aug. 3.—(CP). — Reino Hautamaki and his 4½-year-old son were killed near here today when a half-ton truck ran off a bridge and plunged into the Vermillion river. Mrs. Hautmaki suffered serious head injuries in the crash.

Police said they believed the truck failed to make a turn on Highway 17 west of here between Whitefish and Vermilion river bridge and struck a cement abutment, catapulted over the railing and landed in 18 feet of water.

Mrs. Hautamki was thrown clear. She was hauled from the river by Watson Thompson of Sudbury who arrived at the scene a few minutes after the accident. Hautamaki and his son were trapped in the truck as it sank and the bodies were not recoved for almost two hours.

Foil New Republic

SINGAPORE, Aug. 3—(Reuters)—Malcolm MacDonald, United Kingdom commissioner for South-East Asia, said today in an address over Radio Malaya that Communist Terrorists in Malaya had intended to proclaim today a Soviet Republic of Malaya. By that time they expected revolutionary tyranny to be firmly established on the Malaya Peninsula and Singapore Island, MacDonald said.

Welcome Power In Liberal Leadership Race

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 — (CP). — Entry of Hon. C. G. Power into the campaign for the Liberal Party Leadership was welcomed Monday by both External Affairs Minister St. Laurent and Agriculture Minister Gardiner, both major contenders.

Mr. St. Laurente said he welcomed entries of other candidates as concrete evidence of the whole party's serious endeavor to make the bets possible choice.

Mr. Gardiner said he stood with Mr. St. Laurent in welcoming Mr. Power's reported decision to enter the campaign.

With positive statements of their intention to run for Prime Minister Mackenzie King's political mantle by three prominent Liberals, the campaign was seen as a possible tight, three-way battle.

However, one top-ranking Cabinet source close to Mr. King on Monday night said nine-tenths of the Cabinet favored Mr. St. Laurent.

He threw no brick-bats at thet other candidates, but said most of the Cabinet considered Mr. St. Laurent had those qualities required to meet a tense international situation.

It is possible, the spokesman added, that a major upset may be thrust into the convention by Mr. Power, btu it is not considered likely in Cabinet circles.

He predicted that unless there is a major upset which is unforeseen in the current political picture, Mr. St. Laurent will follow Mr. King as the next Prime Minister of Canada.

Sensational Story

Miss Bentley, mentioned by Chambers, is the young woman who told a sensational story last week of collecting information for the Russians from scores of government employees during the war.

The committee's request for Remington's employment record was sent to the White House because President Truman has forbidden government agencies to give out information on "loyalty" checks on government workers.

It was indicated that the committee still expects to get the information it has asked.

Remington has been named by Miss Bentley, confessed former courier for a Russian spy ring, as one of the United States governmen officials who gave her wartime secrets. He has denied giving her any data that was not available to reporters or research workers.

other in the thigh, Bill Cowan did not give up. He staggered to his feet and went to the back of the store, where he had a 12-gauge shotgun. He picked it up and tried to follow his assailant as the young man fled from the store after glass in the front door had been broken by the waiting girl. Bill Cowan, however, was too badly hurt to continue the fight. He dropped to the floor and died as his murderer fled.

While her husband put up a terrific struggle, Mrs. Cowan block the rear door and the daughters tried to help their father. When her husband dropped for the first time, Mrs. Cowan stood her ground as the gunman tried to flee. He warned her to "Get out of my way, sister, or I'll let you have it." She stood firm, but was knocked down by a blow from the gun.

CPR Man Sounds Alarm

Mrs. Cowan called Edna Ready, Agincourt telephone operator, as soon as the struggle was over.

"She said that Bill had been killed and to have his brother, Jim, come right over and call the police," said Miss Ready. She passed along the information that the man and girl had been seen running toward the railway tracks, and telephoned Glenard Flynn, of Peterborough, 18-year-old relief telegraph operator at Agincourt.

"I told him to ring me if he saw them and I would let the police know," she said. "Not long after that he called and said he thought he saw them looking in the station window. I phoned Cowan's store and told the police.

Alred and the girl were arrested on railway tracks near Agincourt, about two miles from the store. Police said Aldred had Cowan's revolver in his belt but offered no resistance.

Leave Notes

At Claremont, police found two notes said to have been left by Aldred and the Hill girl. The girl's note said merely "Goodbye, dad."

The boy wrote in a scrawling, childish hand:

"Dear Mom, I'm leaving home because they is somebody who I care for an I'm needed to help this person all I can. I borrowed your suitcase and I will return it back to you as soon as I can. Tell the old man I won't be working with ..... no more and tell him he will have a big pay coming in this week. You loving son, Fred. P.S. I will write you."

Fred Aldred and May Hill could have asked the kindly storekeeper for food and would not have been turned down, neighbors said today.

"Bill Cowan was a man who would stick to his own opinion, but he would always help some one down on his luck," one of the Scarboro police officers said.

"They could have asked Bill Cowan for a handout and he would have given it to them." a neighbor said. "Bill was that kind of man."

Smith, French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau, and Frank Roberts, special British representative — were rushing to compare notes and prepare their reports on the conversation for transmission to Washington, Paris and London.

Before they went to the Kremlin there were hints here that international tension might be easing.

As they hurried to the American Embassy, where other officials of their countries awaited them, correspondents followed. They had to pursue Smith up the steps before they could stop him. Finally, he turned and laughted:

"Wait a minute. You can't follow me right into my office. We're having a meeting there tonight, you know.

"Generalissimo Stalin and Mr. Molotov received us all at a meeting. There probably will be a communique to tha effect tonight I don's think there will be anything more. I'm sorry, but that's all."

Thos. H. Graham Widely Mourned

The large company of friends, especially from his own township of Smith, was an evidence at his funeral Saturday afternoon of the high esteem in which the late Thomas Henry Graham was generally held in this community.

The service was held at the Belleghem funeral home, conducted by Rev. L. S. Haverstock of Gilmour Memorial church. The pallbearers were six grandsons of the late Mr. Graham. They were John and Robert Flett, John and Harry Darling, Gerald and Donald Westlake.

Mr. Graham had been a resident of Smith throughout the active years of his life until he retired to live in Peterborough. He had long been active in the affairs of the municipality, was a director of the Peterborough Exhibition for many years, especially as chairman of the class for heavy horses, had been a judge of horses at other fairs and at plowing matches, and was greatly esteemed by his associates and by all those who kenw him. His death is deeply regretted by all his friends.

Canada Makes Poor Showing At Olympics

OLMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, Aug. 3 — (CP). — Athletes of many countries today applied the "new look," with a vengeance, to the Olympic record book.

Four marks were scattered by late afternoon of the fourth day of competition in the 14th games.

One existing mark was broken four times, one three times and one twice.

This is what happened:

1. A Dane, a Briton, a Frenchman and an Italian lopped time from the 10,000 meter walk record by 46 minutes 28.4 seconds, set in 1912 at the Stockholm Olympics by George Goulding of Toronto. Fastest of all in their preliminary was Sweden's J. F. Mikaelsson with 45 minutes 3 seconds.

2. Three United States shot putters fought a ding-dong battle in the final for their event. All of them broke the record. Wilbur Thompson of Los Angeles, Cal., had the best mark—56 feet 2 inches. The Olympic record was set by H. Woellke of Germany at the Berlin Games in 1936.

3. A Dane and an Australian broke the 100-metre back stroke swimming record of 1 minute 16.6 seconds, set at Berlin 12 years ago by Dina Senf, of Denmark. Karen Harup, the Danish girl, was faster of the two, covering the distance in 1:15.6

4. Fanny Blankers-Koen of The Netherlands, 30-year-old mother of two who Monday won the 100-metre dash, equalled the world record for the 80-metre women's hurdles in a preliminary heat and lopped three-tenths of a second from the Olympic mark established at Berlin in 1936 by Trebisonda Valla of Italy.

Fare Poorly

While this record-smashing was in progress, Canada's contestants in today's events were faring poorly.

Eric Coy of Winnipeg failed to qualify in the shot put preliminary round and Joyce Court of Montreal failed to qualify in the 100-metre back stroke. Three Montreal fencers, Georges Pouliot, Roland Asseli and Alf Horn were eliminated from the individual foils in the first round.

Yachting started at Torquay, Devon, and Canada's yachtsmen did no better than the land-lubbers. John Robertson of Hamilton, Paul McLaughlin of Toronto and Bill Gooderham of Toronto finished seventh, fifth and ninth, respectively, in their first races, though all continued in competition.

The record-breaking display in four events almost eclipsed Mrs. Victora Manalo Draves' victory in the women's springboard diving championship. The Pasadena, Calif., brunette beauty beat out 17-year-old Zoe Ann Olsen of Oakland, Calif., American springboard champion, and Patricia Ann Elsener of San Francisco in the event, an American shut-out.

Peterborough Guns In Cobourg Parade

One of the interesting sights of the 150th anniversary parade at Cobourg yesterday was the Army display of high-firing anti-aircraft equipment which took part in the parade.

The equipment included two 3.7 inch HAA guns of the 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment (PWR) RCA, of Peterborough. These guns were being returned to this city after having been fired at Point Petre AA Camp by the regiment during the summer camp period.

Reports of the summer camp activities of the unit show that the regiment had shown great progress in training. Actual firing engagements at camp by the regimental gunners was among the best seen there, army officials stated.

The regiment will commence fall parades early in September.

Exhibition Dates Said Incorrect

Peterborough Exhibition is coming in for some conflicting publicity from the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Obviously it is unintentional, but the effect is just the same as if an enemy were doing it. In the list of fairs published Saturday in the Port Hope Guide Peterborough dates are given as Sept. 25-28.

The Exhibition is this month: Aug. 25 to 28, inclusive, but in all their details of planning, etc., the directors, appear to have overlooked the list of dates which is annually distributed through the provincial Department of Agriculture. The Por Htope Guide is typical of all the newspapers in the province that are now as a matter of news and helpfulness announcing that Peterborough's Exhibition is late in September. This same information is likely o reach the farm journals, especially the weeklies.

Industrials, Golds Firm In Dull Trading

TORONTO, Aug. 3 — (CP). — Industrials and golds firmed in dull trading here today and base metals eased slightly but showed signs of strengthening. Western oils were quiet and held steady.

Industrials moved in narrow fractional range with gains and losses scattered in all groups. Bell Telephone gained ½ and Dominion Steel B was up ¼. Royal Bank, Powell River, Goodyear and Canadian Celanese Pfd. were other stronger issues.

Senior golds were quiet with Sigma the only stock showing a change, gaining 15 cents. Pickle Crow, Negus, Macassa, Eldona, Elder, Conwest and Chimo were ahead from 1 to 8 cents in juniors.

Base metals mixed gains and losses in moderate action. Falconbridge and Labrador were down 10 cents and International Nickel dipped ⅝. Normetal, New Calumet, Golden Manitou and Torbrit Silver edged ahead.

Home Oil was active in western oils, rising 30 cents. New Pacific Petroleum and Atlantic Oil were easier.

Car Buyers Save 15 Million Under Tax Cut

OTTAWA, Aug. 3.—(CP).—A finance department official Monday night estimated Canadian buyers of new cars would save from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000 if automobile manufacturers pass along to consumers the reduction in excise taxes made Saturday.

The estimate was made on the basis of current level of production. The official said the tax reduction for a car in the low-price field would amount to from $150 to $200.

He said savings on a high-priced car would be comparatively greater. For instance, a car with a basic price of $2,000 carried an extra $700 in excise taxes last week. Now the tax will total $200.

It was problematical whether manufacturers would pass on the entire saving. "There have been some price increases in the wind," the official said.

Announcement Soon

He thought it likely manufacturers might make an announcement of their policy within a few days. The official suggested recent increases in steel prices might force them to raise prices, and thus absorb some or all of the savings involved in the excise tax reduction.

The November increases were on a sliding-scale basis. The result was a 25-per-cent. tax on the first $1,200 value of a new car, 50 per cent. on the next $800, 75 per cent. on the amount over $2,000.

Goods Still Scarce

Some goods will be cheaper and a few will cost more as the result of a series of week-end government moves. But it is unlikely that the goods will be available on the counters in any greater quantity than they have been.

The import restrictions — the main factor in cutting down Canadian supplies of many types of food and serviceable articles—still remain.

To conserve United States dollars, there is a complete ban on the import of such items as jewelry, candy, novelties, typewriters, radios, refrigerators, washing machines and furniture.

Quota restrictions apply to automobiles, all textiles except raw materials and yarns, shoes, fresh fruits and some vegetables, and sundries such as clocks, watches, vutlery, sporting goods and smokers' supplies.

Apart from automobiles, articles which may be expected to take the biggest price plunge will be electric refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, electric appliances, firearms, motorcycles, outboard motors and certain toilet articles, chiefly brushes, combs and mirrors.

On these, the 25-per-cent austerity excise tax is cleaned off altogether.

Drops To 10 P.C.

On other items, the tax drops down to the 10 per cent level in effect before the dollar-conservation program took hold last Nov. 18. These include automobiles, radios, phonographs, cameras, projectors, and photographic films and supplies. The expectation here is that a large part, if not all, of the reductions will be passed along to the buyer.

On the other side of the picture, the customer can expect to pay more for soaps, shortening, lamb and mutton.

By removing its $1,500-000-to-$2,000,000-a-month subsidy on fats and oils going into shortening and decontrolling them, the government left either the trade or the customer to absorb these increases:

On toilet soap, about a cent a bar; on laundry soap, about one to two cents a bar; on medium packages of soap flakes and chips, three cents a package; on shortening, 12 cents a pound.

Imports of these fats and oils will continue on a quota basis. They are allocated by the International Emergency Food Council to various countries, and in Canada the government will go on with its distribution controls.

COBOURG MARKS 150th ANNIVERSARY WITH 3-DAY PROGRAM

Cobourg's Big Anniversary Results In Lively Week-end

COBOURG, Aug. 3 — (ENS). — Cobourg celebrated during the civic holiday week-end, the 150th anniversary of the first settlement here. In marking the event, Cobourg wrote new history by providing the biggest crowd on record to take in the week-end program. From the official opening on Friday night until the week-end came to a close Monday night, it was a steady sequence of thrilling events.

From all parts of Canada and many from the United States, Cobourg old boys and girls flocked to their home town for what turned out to be a bigger event than the town's centennial celebration back in 1937. The overflow of visitors found accommodation in the neighboring town of Port Hope and in rural communities north and east of Cobourg. The spirit of the occasion was infectious and the staid old town had an air of gaiety that it had never before experienced. The tired committee members heaved a sigh of relaxation after it was all over and vowed that next year, the civic holiday celebration would be bigger and better than ever—an ambitious mark to shoot at.

It is difficult to estimate the number who took in the big weekend but a safe estimate is that the town had an influx of at least 3,000 people, which, added to the town's permanent population of 7,000 brought the total to around 10,000.

Athletic events for the young folk occupied Saturday morning, the water being too cold for the aquatic sports. The soap box races drew only nine entries, three from Cobourg, one from Bowmanville and five from Peterborough, and the Peterborough entrants took all three prizes, in the order of Dick Miller, first; Herb Jackson, second, and Hugh Pollard, third. Starters were Major Earl Drope and Ray Smillie; starting line judges, Otto Curtis, Jim Miskelly and Bill Brown; finishing line judges, Bob Smith and T. McCutcheon; committee chairman, Lyle Willson.

Saturday night saw the most elaborate fireworks display ever witnessed in Cobourg. Held near the beach it could be seen by the thousands who jammed the park.

Sunday saw the solemn dedication and unveiling of the park gates, which were donated by the Cobourg Business and Professional Women's Club in memory of the fallen Cobourg boys in the two wars since 1914. Next of kin of the deceased warriors occupied benches to the west of the gates and on the platform to the east were Premier George Drew; Hon. William Goodfellow, Mayor Joe Smith, Hon. Arthur Welsh, Alex Stephens, warden of Northumberland and Durham Counties, Major the Rev. John Foote, VC; J. C. German, chairman of the parks board; Wing Commander W. Riddell; Colonel Stuart Craig; Group Captain W. Baker; Charles Stephenson, MP; Miss Christine Reynar, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

1,500 Legionnaires

With 1,500 Legion members from branches all over the province taking part, the huge Legion parade marched along King Street on Sunday afternoon and as it passed the park gates, the colour party broke off, swung briskly to the right and at that moment Miss Christine Reynar pulled the cord that brought the flags from the stone memorial gates and the colour party, immediately after the unveiling, marched through the gates to the park.

Addressing the drumhead service from the shell bandstand, Colonel Drew urged preparedness.

"The best way that free people can prevent another war is to keep alive the simple fact that preparation for war and defence is not encouraging war but discouraging any other power that may be contemplating war," Col. Drew said. "The Legion knows well how important it is that free people stand together to preserve the peace for which our young men laid down their lives in two wars."

Major the Rev. John Foote urged his listeners to give the proper values to the material and spiritual things in life.

"The greatest sermons ever preached were preached by Christ himself in a day where there were no bands or loudspeakers and to people who knew poverty; poor homes, who lacked protection of property and life. I have no wish to return back the clock to when men and women had less, as we want to accept gladly the advantages of our age but we need to put these things in their proper places and perspective so that the material things are placed where they belong and in proper relation to spiritual ones. Christ does not ask you to give up all these things but he asks 'what profit a man to gain the world if he lose his soul'. Be good soldiers in time of peace with the spirit of faith and confidence that you had in war. If we put the material things of life before the spiritual we will miss the most in life. You people are those to whom we look for stability. Seek first the Kingdom of God and the other things which we require will be added to us," Mr. Foote said.

Chairman of the service was Jack Burnet of Cobourg. Greetings were extended by Jack Ewart, president of the local Legion; Ted Hulse, vice-president of the provincial command and Frank Threadgold, district commander. Premier Drew was introduced by the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow. Soloist was Mrs. Bertha Wright Knapp. After the service a band concert was presented by the well-known Barrie Collegiate Band with Allan Fisher conducting.

A big calithtumpian parade, sports, carnival, band concerts and variety shows, RCAF display of jet planes in the air and a baby show were some of the events on the program yesterday.

PARK GATES WERE UNVEILED on Sunday in Cobourg as 1,500 Legionnaires marched through the gates; it was the more solemn event in the three-day anniversary of the founding of the town. TOP PHOTO, LEFT, Bill Harnden and Jesse Medhurst burned along the streets on their ancient two-wheelers. Sale Of Lots Causes Council Some Confusion

CAMPBELLFORD, August 3—(ENS)—While major contentious matters were given a hoist to the next meeting at Monday's council meeting, there were lots of things that could be dealt with, and in spite of cutting out some business, it was 10.30 p.m. before the members finally adjourned.

The request of the Campbellford Rotary Club to hold their annual street dance and carnival on Front street on August 12 was granted.

Arthur Drinkwater, taxi operator, asked, through Mayor Donald, that he be granted a refund on his taxi license which he purchased in June, and which is good for one year. He has made arrangements to move to Belleville, and did not think that he should therefore have to pay for the balance of the year.

Members pointed out that there is no provision in the by-law for refunds, and it was brought out in discussion that it has been the practice for some of the town's business people, notably poolroom operators, to delay purchase of the necessary licenses until the middle of the year, although they were due at the start of the year. The matter was turned over to the legal committee for investigation, with a report to be made at Wednesday's meeting.

Eric Little appeared before the meeting regarding a lot which he wished to purchase on Ranney street, next to the Kellogg property, and adjoining the old railroad right-of-way.

For awhile the councillors, the Mayor and the engineer, J. C. Birmingham, were in quite a tangle, as there was no map of the town available, and everyone had a different idea of what the particular lots look like.

After about half-an-hour's discussion, the fact emerged that Mr. Little wishes to purchase a lot next to the Kellogg property. It presently has a 66 foot frontage, diminishing toward the rear portion, and that there is a considerable amount of fill to be removed. Council has already set the price as $30, which was agreeable to Mr. Little.

However, some time ago, Laverne Kellogg made an offer for a wedge-shaped piece of the same property, in order to square up his own lot and driveway. This has an 18-foot front, which would come off the lot that Mr. Little wants, making the lot useless for his purpose.

An agreement and by-law has been drawn up for some time, and has been awaiting the signature of Mr. Kellogg, but there had been some discussion regarding the removal of a power pole from the sidewalk in front of the portion required by Mr. Kellogg, and the papers have not yet been signed.

Aug. 15 Deadline

Council agreed to notify Mr. Kellogg that he has until Aug. 15 to make a decision, failing which the lot will be sold as is.

Councillor Macmillan remarked that there was a great deal of money being wasted by having by-laws prepared by the town solicitor before an agreement had been signed by would-be purchasers, and thought that council should make certain whether a purchaser was definitely going through with a deal before spending public money on legal papers that would not be used.

Council turned the matter of the same lot over to the property committee to ascertain what portion of the land is owned by the municipality and which is not, there being some talk of squatter's rights in the area.

Calls Park "Disgrace"

Councillor Macmillan brought up the matter of the tiny park on Centre Street, opposite the Catholic Church, and said that it was a disgrace to the town, due to the condition of the hedge and the plants.

A man was being paid to look after it, and there did not seem to have been anything done to it for some time. The hedge, he said, is rying, and the grass is full of weeds. He felt that if there is not something done in one week, a new man should be placed on the job, or he could put some of the road gang in to clean it up. The matter was left to him to clean up.

Complaints from Carl Maier and Jack Torrance that there are drops of several inches in front of the driveways leading into their respective properties were turned over to the chairman of the roads and bridges committee (Councillor P. H. Macmillan) for action.

Citizens Band Concert Attracts Large Crowd

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3. — (ENS).—Showers late Sunday afternoon did not delter music lovers from attending the band concert by the Campbellford Citizens' Band at the Ayrhart Woodland Estate int the evening.

Bandmaster Don D. Bennett arranged the excellent program for the occasion of this second Sunday concert.

The attendance was large and the collection brought in $38 toward the purchase of new instruments for additional members of the band.

There will be another concert next Sunday.

3066 People Now In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3 — (ENS). — The population of the town of Campbellford is now 3066, according to R. H. Townsend, assessor, presenting a report to council Monday night.

Mr. Townsend said that this figure was arrived at on Saturday last, and that for the first time, the town is now over the three thousand mark.

The increase, he said, is mainly in Ward 2. By wards, the population is Ward 1, 825; Ward 2, 725; Ward 3, 842; Ward 4, 674.

Mr. Townsend told the council that he did not know how this would affect the other municipal officers, but in his case it would entail a great deal of work.

While the total was less than three thousand, a ratepayer assessed for $200 per year or more was entitled to a vote. With the increased population, an assessment of $300 is necessary in order to get on the voters' list, and this would mean a considerable amount of work on his part.

Mr. Townsend suggested that council consider an increase of assessment by 50 per cent, but in later discussion the members would have none of it, and talked around the point for some time, but got nowhere. It was agreed that the veterans' subdivision is responsible for the increase, but members were doubtful as to what could be done about it, whether the occupants of such homes are tenants or owners, and in view of the fact that there is a fixed assessment for such property, how it affects the town revenue and county assessment.

Other portions of Mr. Townsend's report indicated that the number of dog licenses purchased this year has so far topped all records and that he expects that the cash total realized from their sale will be $600 before the end of the year.

The office is running short of tags and a number have been ordered in order to accommodate the demand.

ENOUGH'S ENOUGH

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3—(ENS)—A Campbellford barber is getting pretty well fed up with things in general.

Some months ago, when the old price of 15 cents for a shave was increased to 25 cents, one of his most irascible customers rose in great dudgeon and announced that he intended to buy a safety razor and shave himself rather than be stuck for such an outrageous sum for his weekly shave.

Now the old chap, (he is over 70), has commenced the habit of dropping into the barbershop, where he refuses to be shaved, and spends the entire morning scrutinizing the morning paper, which the tonsorialist provides for the benefit of the paying customers.

Question: should the barber risk a riot by telling the old chap off about his offensive habit, or should he go to the expense of buying two morning papers, so that the cash customers can get the news before it becomes stale?—T.F.

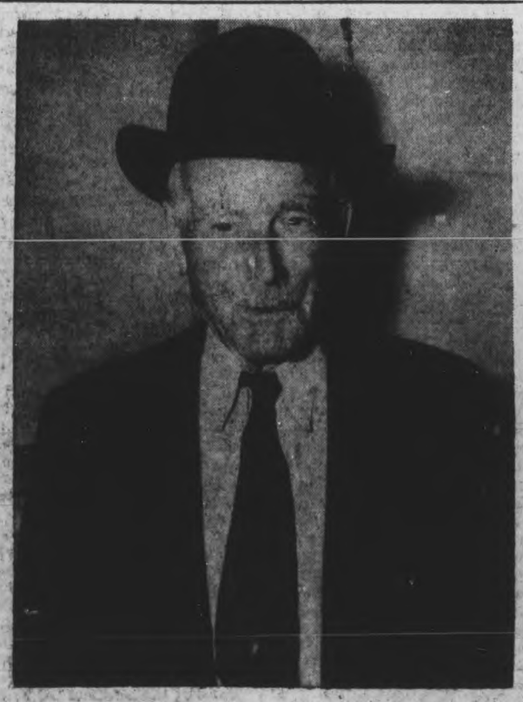
Man Held Following Scuffle On Highway

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3 — (ENS)—A Stirling man was arrested early Sunday morning by provincial police from Cobourg, following a complaint to Campbellford police from William Longmuir that he had been assaulted on the Sixth Concession Road.

Investigating officers learned that Frank Haggerty, Stirling, while driving along the road, got into difficulties, and asked Longmuir for assistance. An altercation ensued, during which it is alleged that Longmuir was assaulted by Haggerty, who then made off.

Campbellford police made the initial investigation, and informed the provincial officers, who made the arrest in the early hours of Sunday morning, removing Haggerty to the county jail at Cobourg.

Flee Hail of Bullets



TORONTO, Aug. 3 — (CP). — Two men fled through a hail of police bullets Sunday night when they attempted to pick up their loot cached in a box in a northwest Toronto field. The box, containing a quantity of silverware and a $400 stamp collection, was discovered earlier by a boy playing in the field.

Ban On Resorts

TORONTO, Aug. 3 — (CP). — The Ontario Attorney-General's department has cracked down on wide-open Sundays at several Ontario summer resorts. The ban on Sunday amusement, believed a result of complaints by the Lord's Day Alliance, was felt Sunday at Port Stanley, where only refreshment booths were open.

Political Summer

Americans are indulging in hot summer politics with their national party conventions and the presidential elections in the offing. Canadians are having their political a-la-main-left-to-the-corners-all and minuets. This summer there have been provincial general elections in New Brunswick, Ontario, Saskatchewan and Quebec, and one is taking place in Alberta. Newfoundland, soon to be integrated with Canada, has had two referendums. The national convention of the Liberal party takes place in Ottawa this week. The Conservatives are having theirs in the same city on September 30th, October 1st and 2nd. The C.C.F. is holding a national convention in Winnipeg on August 19th, 20th and 21st.

* * *

There are various reasons for this gush of political activity, among them the retirement of party leaders. Even these retirements are indicative of the underlying reason, which is that the war and post-war period has ended. The parties are setting the stage for the new era. They are taking stock of the present, attempting to guage the future and to draw up creeds and platforms to cope with it. They are assessing their leadership. This summer, politically speaking, the post-war period ends.

* * *

Chief interest centres on the Liberal convention, because the platform drawn up will shape Government policy, the new leader chosen will become Prime Minister. The importance of the Conservative convention is growing in view of the political successes achieved by Premier Drew and Premier Duplessis. The Conservatives are now moribund in the federal field, partly because of a lack of forceful steady leadership. Since 1935 the party has been led successively by Messrs. Bennett, Manion, Meighen and Bracken, with the late Mr. Hanson and Gordon Grayson filling in as house leaders. Largely upon the Conservatives' ability to find a good leader who can secure a national following depends the life or death of the party.

Candidates For Liberal Leadership:

Hon. C. G. Power

Eighth on the alphabetical list of candidates mentioned as possible leaders of the national Liberal party is the name of the Hon. Charles Gavan Power, B.A., LL.L., member of the Federal House of Commons for Quebec South, whose years of service in the Dominion Cabinet are well remembered. Mr. Power is regarded as a "dark horse". Now he has made a statement allowing his name to go before the Liberal convention at Ottawa this week.

The active political career of C. G. Power began in 1917, when he was elected to the Commons to represent the newly-created riding of Quebec South. He has been re-elected at every general election since that time, by majorities ranging as high as 10,000. His popularity in his own riding is matched by his popularity in the Liberal party generally, and his service to the nation has been warmly acknowledged by members of other political parties.

In 1935, Mr. Power was first appointed to the Cabinet as Minister of Pensions and National Health. His management of that department revealed exceptional administrative ability, and four years later he became Postmaster General. He served as Acting Minister of National Defence on several occasions, and when the Department of National Defence for Air was created in 1940, Mr. Power was appointed to head it and was also appointed Associate Minister of National Defence. He held these posts until he resigned from the Cabinet over the conscription issue.

Mr. Power's resignation was a matter of principle, for he had gallantly demonstrated his personal willingness to fight for his country in the First Great War. He served overseas and was twice wounded, being invalided from the service in 1918; he won his captaincy, was made acting major and was decorated with the Military Cross. His services in the Second Great War were even more valuable to the nation, for he presided over the early years of the building of the R.C.A.F., and to him goes much of the credit for the amazing success of the great Commonwealth air training plan.

A lawyer by profession, Mr. Power is one of the ablest politicians in Canadian public life today. He is a vigorous and expert debater, a man of high courage and integrity. He is married, has two sons and one daughter; he is a member of the Roman Catholic Church. His record of service to the nation as a member of Parliament is one of the longest among men still in public life.

The Churchill Word

It is unnecessary, at this late date, to comment upon the oratorical genius of Winston Churchill; his capacity to combine brilliance of expression with intelligent optimism and common sense was one of the great weapons in the Allied armoury during the war.

In peace, he is no less apt. Consider this passage of criticism of the Admiralty, taken from his great speech of June 26:

> 'When the Admiralty made their misleading announcement some months ago that the British Home Fleet was reduced to one cruiser and four battle destroyers, the Governments of Chile and Argentina thought we were so completely finished that they occupied some of our possessions in the Antarctic, near the famous Falkland Islands.
>
> "Mr. Bevin told us in the House last week that the invading parties are still there. But the Government seem to be unable to do anything to assert our rights. It is at this juncture that the Board of Admiralty, who seem strangely infected by the Socialist moon, have offered to sell the cruiser Ajax to the Chilean Government so that she can help protect this wrongful intrusion upon British territory. The Ajax is, of course, the most famous warship in the South Atlantic because of the part she played in sinking the von Spee (Graf Spee) in the battle of the River Plate, nine years ago.
> "Nothing could do more at this moment to humiliate Britain throughout South America than the sale of this ship to Chile. I suppose that the Admiralty thought they could get a few more dollars out of the Chileans on that account. It is like selling the shirt that Nelson wore at Trafalgar to General Franco and getting a little extra for the blood-stains."

When we read this we cast our eyes upward at the long shelf in our office which bears the weight of Hansard, for the Canadian parliamentary session which has recently concluded. There is not a paragraph in all those hundreds of thousands of words that rings like this quotation from Churchill; there is little, indeed, which is readable. And again we ask ourself: Why do Canadian politicians so persistently neglect the art of good speaking?

No Slums In Peterborough?

A city the size of Peterborough should have no slums. It is small enough to be neighbourly, for destitution to be alleviated, for homes with gardens, not warrens which rats would despise. Compared with slums in great metropolitan cities like Glasgow, London, Naples or New York—or even Toronto and Montreal—Peterborough has no slums. Nevertheless, there are some rather down-at-the-heel blotches of housing which stand out sorely against clean, brightly painted houses in the same districts or even in the same block.

A stone's-throw from the town clock is an array of dwellings whose back entrances and yards are as squalid in appearance as anything on Lagauchetiere Street, Montreal. There is a group south of Charlotte street which we hope not many tourists see, if they are to leave this fair city inspired by its beauty. There are other ugly spots. Perhaps the blemishes are merely external, and nothing that a coat of paint, minor repairs to verandahs and a lifting of litter could not remedy. There may be some landlords who feel that rent controls and rising municipal taxes do not permit them to indulge in painting and minor repair jobs. There are undoubtedly some crowded houses in which so many families, parents and children are trying to accomodate themselves that the responsible inhabitants have long ago given up any attempt to keep the place neat, tidy and homelike. Whatever the reasons for the evidence of squalor, the evidence, if not the real thing, can be found in pretty Peterborough.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Cut-throat competition in business and homage to dollar-grabbing are not what they used to be. A short comment on the trend of the times (and present prosperity) is the sign in a Simcoe Street shop window:

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

"KENNETH Grahame looked as one would wish the author of 'The Wind in the Willows', 'The Golden Age' and 'Dream Days' to look", writes Curtis Brown in 'Contacts'. "He was one of the handsomest men I ever saw—fairly tall and broad-shouldered, a perfect figure with not a bulge in it, topped by a big beautiful head, crowned with white hair. He moved and spoke with unhurried grace, as if each word and step were the result of an instinct for perfection. He looked as if he should be the secretary of the greatest bank in the world, with a side interest in letters. As it happened that is exactly what he was, until he retired on a pension from the Bank of England.

"A crazy man who did not like the bank, but had no personal objection to Kenneth Grahame, got past the portals of 'the Old Lady of Threadneedle Street' one day and burst into the secretary's room and fired at him at short range. It must be supposed that when the maniac really saw his intended victime, he was unnerved by such majesty of mien, for his bullets went wild and he was at once seized and put out of harm's way. If 'K.G.' was perturbed, it is inconceivable that he showed it."

THE famous "T" of 'Punch' relates this story. "With a discretion which I admit rather spoils my story, one adventure which led to my entertaining an august foreign personage and to the soaring of my stock for the brief glorious moment: I happened to write a particularly enthusiastic notice in Punch of a certain small but brilliant revue. It had, appearing a week late, 'put up business with a bang', as sometimes queerly happens. The manager tactfully wrote to thank me and to put at my disposal at any time the principal box for myself and my friends. I did, in fact, take my wife, and having had at the time a piece of financial good luck, I had invited the cast to supper.

"During the performance (he continues) the manager came to my box to explain a difficulty that had arisen. The August Person—in the opposite box—had invited one of the principals to supper. She had very sportingly begged to be excused because of her previous acceptance of our invitation and didn't want to break up the party. The manager thought that if I extended my invitation to the A. P. and his equerry the gesture would be appreciated. I sent a message to the effect that my wife and I (not being the millionaires or social leaders we naturally appeared for the moment) were not accustomed to entertaining august personages, but if His —— would come as any ordinary private gentleman we should, we need hardly say, be much honoured by his company.

"HE came and was entirely charming; my wife, much too sensible a person to be overawed by exceptional occasions, made him talk freely of his adventures and air his very intelligent views, and the whole thing was in stage jargon, a 'riot'. Wistful eyes were cast at our lengthy table decorated with miniature hunting scenes and I could have borrowed a thousand pounds on the morrow, I feel sure, from the manager of the hotel. Never have the foreheads of head waiters bowed so low for me—except once at Ciro's in Paris when I made a (for me) bad mistake in the distribution of largesse from a new issue of notes, and once again knew what it felt like to be taken for a Very Rich Man."

THE importance of Ralph Waldo Emerson's recognition of Whitman, on the publication of "Leaves of Grass" is stressed by Henry Seidel Canby in his biography, 'Walt Whitman'.

"One of the first reactions to the 'Leaves'," he writes, "was such a letter as many a young author has dreamed of receiving about his first wouldbe masterpiece. It is impossible to overrate the importance to Whitman of Emerson's letter, addressed to Mr. Walter Whitman only two and a half weeks after the publication of the 1855 book. Emerson was at the height of his reputation, he was the acknowledged custodian of the idealism of America, and its premier man-of-letters. But that was not all. His religious and moral individualism had been one of the chief influences upon Whitman's thinking. 'I simmered, simmered,' he said later, 'Emerson brought me to a boil.'

NO subsequent statements that he did not read him till after he wrote the 'Leaves' (Whitman's memory was bad, his later vanity great) could subtract from that admission, whose substantial truth must be evident to any reader of the two men's works. Even more important, Emerson stood for high-standarded, ethically obsessed New England; and he was as empatically the good man of America as he was the defender of its spiritual expansiveness. For him to give the radical, revolutionary 'Leaves', with its emphasis upon the infinite importance of secuality, a blanket approval was as if, being published in England, the Archbishop of Canterbury had blessed it. Here is the famous letter:

DEAR Sir, I am not blind to the worth of the wonderful gift of 'Leaves of Grass'. I find it the most extraordinary piece of wit and wisdom that America has yet contributed. I am very happy in reading it, as great power makes us happy. It meets the demand I am always making of what seems the sterile and stingy Nature, as if too much handiwork, or too much lymph in the temperament were making our Western wits fat and mean. I give you joy of your free and brave thought. I have great joy in it. I find incomparable things said incomparably well, as they must be. I find the courage of treatment that so delights us and which large perception only can inspire.

'I greet you at the beginning of a great career, which yet must have had a long foreground somewhere, for such a start. I rubbed my eyes a little to see if this sunbeam were no illusion; but the solid sense of the book is a sober certainty. It has the best merits, namely of fortifying and encouraging.

'I did not know, until I last night saw the book advertised in a newspaper, that I could trust the name as real and available for a post-office.

'I wish to see my benefactor, and have felt much like striking my tasks and visiting New York to pay you my respects.'

R. W. Emerson".

OLEOLYMPICS

Making A Joke Of It

(MONTREAL STAR)

AS always, following an election here, charges against a lot of people for offences under the Election Act are being dropped as fast as they come up, for the good reason that there is never anybody in court to prosecute them.

The thing is a farce which has grown to the proportions of a scandal. The Election Act sets forth the procedure to be followed against those who break its provisions and specifies the penalties which follow conviction. There are returning officers and deputy returning officers upon whom responsibility rests and who have wide authority to cause arrests on the spot and otherwise uphold the law.

Up to that point the law is satisfactorily specific. There is not, however, any provision under it by which the person ordering an arrest, for example on a charge of personation, is required to follow his action by an appearance in court to press the charge. Naturally, in the absence of any such further action, the presiding judge or magistrate has no option but to dismiss the case. Again and again they have protested against this cavalier treatment of their courts, apparently without effect.

Personation and allied offences against honest elections are serious matters and should be considered as such. Arrests should be made only upon what appears to be strong evidence and, once made, the case should be proceeded with at once. Far too often innocent persons have been the victims of excessive zeal in these arrests and have not been able to clear themselves as they had every right to do. On the other hand, the person who deliberately indulges in dishonest tricks has little to fear under the present loose system. A night in a police station is about the worst that will happen unless he can secure the not too exacting bail usually required. With the failure of anyone to turn up in court against him the next day, that is the end of it. He is released or his bail returned.

These periodic "wash-outs" simply put a premium on corrupt practices. A more rigorous application of the law with the provided penalties enforced would do much to stop personation and other too familiar crookedness, as much perhaps as all the elaborate card systems and other safeguards put together.

On Putting Vice To Work

Those of us who indulge in what is, of course called "browsing" through Hansard are occasionally well rewarded. It is true that one may, metaphorically speaking, plow the sand most of the time, but every now and then a nugget is unearthed.

For instance, just the other day what did we light upon but a flat declaration by an hon. member that Canada was top-heavy with monuments to virtue in all her varied forms, but had none to the life of sin,—an arresting thought indeed. Applying his thesis practically, he wanted the government to restore an old dance-hall in Dawson, famous in the gold-rush days, as an attraction to tourists who would, he thought, go miles to see this relic of a more liberal and tolerant age.

The problem is a delicate one, susceptible of argument both for and against. Had the would-be preserver of this memorable building—as we assume it was—proposed that it be slicked up and set going again we can conceive of objection in Dawson. Moreover, had the purpose of the proposed restoration been to provide something to mourn over and to desire back, in other words a loss to the social life of the city, there again there might have been cause for the lifting of eyebrows.

But look at it another way: suppose this place was restored and maintained as a horrible example, like the professional drunkard on the temperance platform of olden days. Might it not then serve a useful purpose, a monument to vice surviving to serve the ends of virtue? Might not the tourist, gazing upon it, be thankful that such man-traps no longer existed, while being glad, at the same time, that he had seen one?

In that sense, and in that sense only, can we see any chance for the survival of the Dawson dance-hall and the acceptance, by an elective legislature of the idea advanced by the daring young man from Skeena. He ought to explain.—Montreal Star.

Bag-pipes and Ukeleie

Forty-two pipers and men of the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada will go to Hawaii in November as guests of the U.S. Army. There they will take part in the army motor snow [illegible] displays. What interests us is that a pipe band is included in the detail, notes the London Free Press. Without knowing whether it will be the first time the bagpipes have been heard over Honolulu and Lion's Head it would be a nice exercise in the theory of composition to speculate on a pibroch or a strathspey in the Gaelic, a piobareachd, on the ukulele. We are ardent advocates of the spirit of world unity and international harmony and we shall believe that it has come a step nearer when a Highlander and an Islander get together on their respective instruments on the Road to the Isles. — Sydney Post-Record.

Whiff Apologies

Question for Will Shakespeare: Would a newspaper by any other name than the Daily Oklahoman smell as sweet? Doubtless it would if it tried to be as accommodating to a perfume advertiser.

The Daily Oklahoman mixed a certain perfume with its ink when printing an "ad" of said smellifluous fluid. The idea was to catch the nose along with the eye, to make the printed word more eloquent, or smelloquent, than it had yet aspired to be.

As intended, the edition carrying the advertisement wafted scent through streetcars, around news vendors' counters, and in thousands of living rooms. Women readers considered lining the bureau drawers with the now Dainty Oklahoman instead of stuffing little bags of lavender among the contents, and of carrying its exquisite pages about with them instead of perfumed handkerchiefs.

New fields, both for scent and newspapers, seemed opening for conquet. And that may yet be. But for the moment it is more probable that readers of America's most flagrantly fragrant newspaper will get enough even of such a good thing as the advertised perfume. For, alas! the pressman mixed the perfume with the main supply of the paper's ink, and the subsequent issues are all something to be sniffed at. It is said that in Oklahoma these days they are singing Ben Jonson with a new wrinkle—around the nose:

I scent thee late a rosy wreath....
But thou ther'on did's't only breathe
And scentsed it back to me.
Scents when it grows and smells, I swear,
More of the Daily Oklahoman than thee.

After All, Camilien!

Now we've heard everything! Speaking at Loretteville, Quebec, in support of the Union Nationale Government of Premier Maurice Duplessis, Mayor Camilien Houde of Montreal is quoted as having charged Prime Minister Mackenzie King with being responsible for the Second World War!

"He went to Berlin after the Imperial Conference of 1937 and provoked Hitler", Mayor Houde explained.

Well, Mr. King has been blamed for just about everything, although Premier Drew did have to take the rap for causing all those forest fires in Ontario! But it is doubtful whether Mr. King is (or, even after the Imperial Conference, was) of the style and temperament to provoke the Nazi Fuehrer to such a pitch of frenzy as that.

Mr. King can be provoking all right—about such things as refusing to let in margarine, reduce income taxes, abolish Abbott's austerities, or tell the date of his own retirement. But provoke a supreme and confident dictator to murder, mayhem and global war? In the words of the heroine in Bernard Shaw's theatre masterpiece, "Pygmalion", "Not bloody likely!"

Indeed, if Mr. Houde believes that, he will believe anything. And anyone knowing Montreal's genial but extremely shrewd Chief Magistrate will not accuse him of believing anything that is not extremely logical and abundantly likely. Of course, he may have hoped to persuade his audience into believing it. But that, as Rudyard Kipling used to say, is another story.—Brantford Expositor.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Hezekiah prayed before the Lord, and said, O Lord God of Israel, which dwellest between the cherubims, thou art the God, even thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth; thou hast made heaven and earth. (II Kings 19: 15.)

Unconsidered Trifles

The police inspector was aware that the village innkeeper was, in sporting parlance, "making a book".

Being too well known himself to lay the offender by the heels, he sent for two detectives from a neighbouring town and explained matters to them.

The detectives visited the inn and, after calling for drinks, inquired the odds for a certain race, and were told five to one bar three.

"Now," they thought, gleefully, "we have him."

"What three do you bar?" was the next inquiry.

The innkeeper smiled pleasantly as he answered: "You two and the inspector."

"No, no. I was curious to know if there was any income she couldn't live beyond."

Planning Movie About World In Year 1960

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3 (AP).—What will the world look like in 1960—if there is a world ?

That speculation is the quest of Producer Lester Cowan, who plans a movie about America of the future. Some time ago, he assigned Ann Ronell, his wife and a composer ("Who's Afraid of the Big, Bad Wolf?") to sound out savants and planners on an optimistic view of the world two decades hence? She has just compiled her findings with the following predictions:

"There will be much more adult education. It will be comparatively painless, at home through educational films on television. This kind of evening will replace bridge.

"Your home will be furnished with mood-color buttons. Press the button and the color scheme of your home will be re-lighted to something more in keeping with your momentary mood.

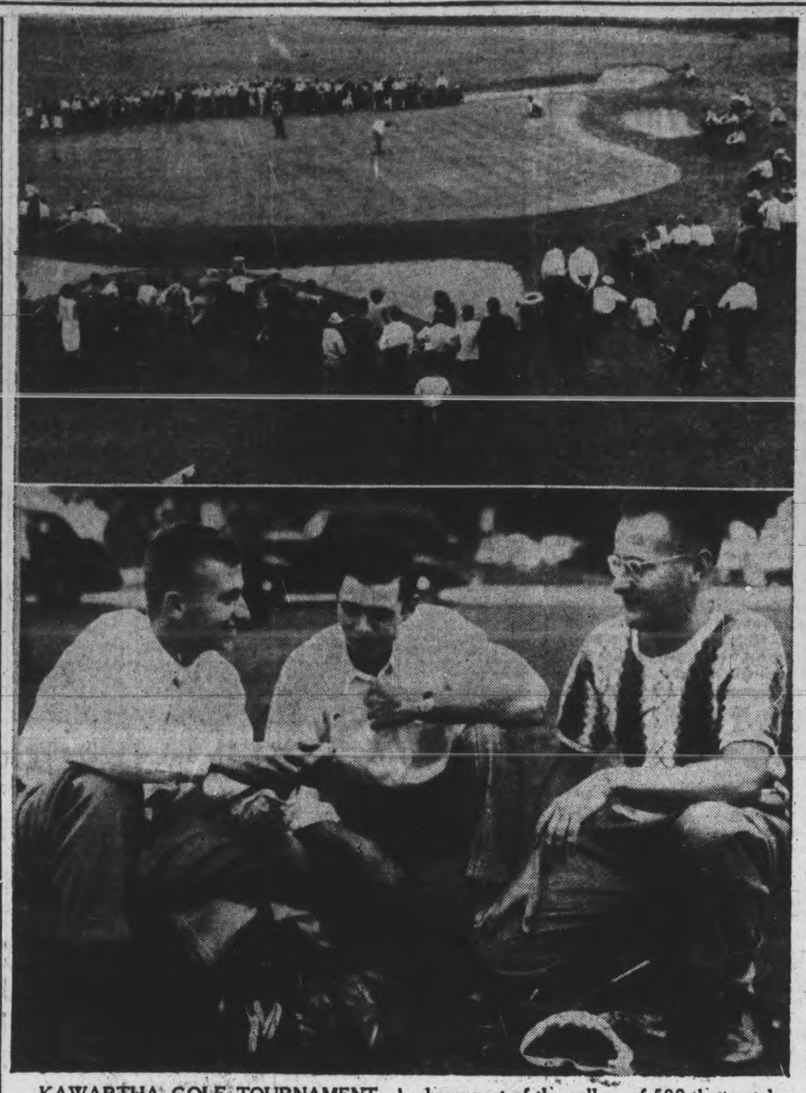
As for women, Miss Ranell, currently scoring "One Touch of Venus," and "Blondes Up," remarked: "Women are so progressive that you can't possibly predict the progress they will make by 1960." An ominous note, if I ever heard one.

She encountered pessimism among some interviewers, particularly on physicist who accusd her of impertinence. "Why?," she asked.

"In assuming there will be a world in 1960."

Horne Captures Millar Trophy For Second Time

ISLINGTON, Aug. 3 (CP). — Stan Horne, Montreal Elesmere Golf Club pro, Saturday captured the Millar Trophy, emblematic of the Canadian professional match play championship, for the second time in three years when he edged little Rudolph Huot of Quebec City by a one-up margin in the final over the Toronto Islington Club course.



A string of three straight birdies on the back nine turned the tide in Horne's favor. Horne won the title here in 1946 with a 3 and 2 victory over Elmer Blower, professional at the Toronto Weston Club.

In winning the title from a record field of 74 of the leading professionals of Ontario and Quebec, Horne grabbed a total of $565 first money and Huot picked up $365 for his effort.

Huot won his way to the final with a one up decision over Dick Borthwick of the Hamilton Club, Ancaster, in the semi-final Saturday morning, while Horne gained a similar verdict over Gerry Proulx of Montreal.

In the consolation final, Gordon Brydson of Toronto Mississauga Club edged Lou Cumming, Toronto club veteran, one up.

Brydson and Cumming were comedalists in the qualifying round on Thursday with five-under-par 68s, but both went out in first round match place action for the title.

KAWARTHA GOLF TOURNAMENT, at the Club's third annual amateur invitation tournament was won yesterday by Gerald Kesselring, 19, of the Kitchener Rockaway Club; he won the Hiram Walker trophy with the lowest score of 69-1—68. 19-year-old Kitchener Youth Shoots Two Under Par To Top Kawartha Tourney

Gerald (Gerry) Kesselring, twice junior Canadian amateur champion, shot a two-under-par 69 at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club's third annual amateur invitation tournament on Monday. In doing so the slim, 19-year-old member of the Kitchener Rockaway Club set a new course record for amateur play and won the Hiram Walker Trophy for lowest gross score of the tournament.

Kesselring was given a handicap of one, which made his net score stand at 68. He was the only player to break par (71) on a gross tally. Runner-up was Howard Jones of the Hamilton Chedoke Club, who carded a 73.

The Chedoke Club defeated other competitors with a 72-hole total of 312 to win the Schneider Trophy. The Mountain City foursome, consisting of G. Provias 78, G. Snell 79, H. Jones 73 and C. Pollock 82, knocked seven strokes from the score set last year by St. George's.

President Frank Buckland said it was the most successful tournament yet held. More than 500 people are estimated to have watched the 225 entries fight for places on the large prize list. The first golfers teed off at 6:35 a.m., and successive groups continued until the last player sank his final putt at 7:30 p.m.

No local player was among the top prize-winners. Best was Geo. Ruttle who was credited with first low net, a 63, after a handicap of 30. Howard McLean with an 82-15—67 and Howard Woodcock with an 83-15—68 came fourth and fifth respectively in the second flight low net. J. Patte of Oshawa had the lowest score of the day, 81-19—62.

Kesselring, who was Ontario junior champion in 1945-1946 and Dominion junior champion 1946-1947, showed his mastery over the rest of the field with long, well-placed drives and almost mechanically perfect putting.

Commenting on the youthful Kesselring's amazing score of 69 on the Kawartha course, Mr. Buckland said that few professionals had beaten it "and certainly no amateur ever approached it." After he had been presented with the trophy and a silver set, the winner was called up for a speech. The large attendance at the presentation ceremony pressed forward to hear him explain the day's success.

"I was very lucky," he said.

Most exciting round of the day was when E. Nerlick, R. Fair and Gerry Kesselring were teamed up. None of them had more than four for a handicap. Nearly 300 galleryites watched Kesselring do the first nine holes in 36 and the remainder in a clever 33. The one hole handicap netted him 68. Nerlick and Fair fought it out to a tie, 79-4—75 and 78-3—75 respectively.

Mr. Buckland announced that the club hoped to have another 54-hole tournament next year. The new chairman will be Les Reid, succeeding Arnold (Sandy) Sanderson.

Together with President Buckland club secretary Gord White there was a committee of six under Chairman Sanderson who worked hard for the success of the tournament: Lionel Brown, Steve Csmurik, Les Reid, Leo Ackford, R. Buchanan and Gerold Seabrooke.

A windbreaker draw prize was won by Art Jones, Kawartha Club.

Among the prizes to the winning golfers were a silver set, pocket watch, wrist watch, "travelarm" clock, community plate, blanket, radios, shoes, duffle bags, shirt, razor and pen-and-pencil set.

Prize winners were:

Flight One (Handicap 1-9)

1st low gross— Gerry Kesselring, Kitchener 69, 2nd low gross, Howard Jones, Chedoke 73; 1st low net—B. Moore, Cedar Brae 75-7-68, 2nd low net—D. McKellar, Oakville 74-5-69.

Flight Two (Handicap 10-20)

1st low gross—K. Smylie, London 79, 2nd low gross, J. Willis, Barrie 80; 1st low net—J. Patte, Oshawa 81-19-62, 2nd low net—D. Johnson, Rouge Hills 83-18-65; 3rd low net—E. Kennedy, Elms 80-14-66; 4th low net—Howard McLean, Kawartha 82-15-67; 5th low net—Howard Woodcock 83-15-68.

Flight Three (Handicap 21-32)

1st low gross — H. Finegan, Rouge Hills 88, 2nd low gross—R. S. Jones, Brampton 89; 1st low net—G. Ruttle, Kawartha 93-30-63; 2nd low net—C. M. Baker, Hastings 90-26-64.

Schneider Trophy (Team Prize)

Hamilton Chedoke Club, consisting of G. Provias 78, G. Snell 79, H. Jones 75 and C. Pollock 82—(312).

Work Seven Hours a Day At Summer Skating School

By KEN BOTWRIGHT

SCHUMACHER, Aug. 3 (CP). —Sweater-clad youngsters toting ice skates under a mid-summer sun startle sweltering visitors to this Northern Ontario mining town.

But the kids aren't crazy with the heat. They attend the continent's largest summer figure skating school in the ultra-modern, $478,000 McIntyre Community Building where there's ice the year around. The school is a mile from Timmins.

Now there are some 200 skaters from all Canada and the United States training here for amateur and professional careers. This is the school's eighth season.

On the "Mac's" expansive arena ice surface, Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott prepped before winning the Olympic and Women's World Figure Skating crowns. She trained here in the summers of 1946 and 1947.

School Director and Building Manager H. M. (Bob) Crosby said the star had planned to come back this year if she hadn't turned professional.

Top Star

Top-ranking ice star at the McIntyre this summer is willowy Yvonne Sherman of Jackson Heights, N.Y. The 19-year-old brunette is rated as a good bet for the next Olympic title. Studying to be a concert pianist, she placed fifth in Olmpic competition in Switzerland last winter.

One of the school's six top-ranking instructors is Sheldon Galbraith who coached Miss Scott to the pinnacle of figure-skating fame.

Others are: Freddy Mesot, New York Figure Skating Club pro and former Toronto Granite Club teacher; Alex Fulton, Oshawa; Peggie Currie, Edmonton; Doreen Dutton, Calgary, and Barbara Taplin, New York City.

Most students—from five-year-olds to 65-year-olds—are on the school's three rinks seven hours a day. During rest periods they can dine in a swank coffee shop, relax in easy chairs or chesterfields in a spacious lounge, and write letters home, without taking their skates off. In the building's roomy gymnasium Galbraith and Mrs. G. B. Lane of Timmins teach ballet to put grace into figure skating movements.

Every Thursday the school stages a carnival of fancy skating and hundreds of district residents attend.

Royal Homers Down Bears

By The Associated Press

Monday night was "homer night" in the International League. With nearly everybody but the bat boy getting into the act, baseball's oldest minor league registered 22 home runs in seven games last night with six of them breaking up ball games.

Montreal Royals used the four-base wallop to down the Newark Bears twice 11-9 and 6-5.

Five homers were hit in the opener, with John Simmons' three-run belt proving the deciding blow for Montreal.

Bob Morgan also homered for the Royals as did Lou Novikiff, Bobby Heslet and Jackie Phillips for the Bears.

The two teams waged a 5-5 battle for 13 innings before Lou Welaj's round-tripper broke it up in the 14th.

Chuck Diering's grand-slam homer in the eighth inning gave Rochester a split with Syracuse. The Wings won the nightcap 5-4 after the Chiefs had copped the opener 5-3.

Decides Game

Clyde Vollmer's three-run homer decided the first game. Vollmer and Austin Knickerbocker also homered for the Chiefs in the second game. Diering had two homers, one in each game.

Toronto and Baltimore divided a double-header, the Maple Leafs winning the opener 7-6 and losing the second game 6-3. Hank Biasatti's homer proved the difference in the opener. He drove in four runs for the victors.

Two home runs by Howie Moss and one by Ed Levy gave Baltimore the winning margin in the second game. Lew Riggs hit two circuit clouts for Baltimore in the opener and Ed Sanicki got one for Toronto in the nightcap.

Jersey City Little Giants upset the dope by defeating Buffalo 7-6, although the Bisons clouted the only home run of the game. They were by Coaker Triplett and Bill Serena.

Senior Petes Retain Lead Trim Oshawa 8-6 Whitehill Goes the Route

Senior Petes continued their winning ways Saturday, at Riverside, as they defeated Oshawa 8-6 in a close game, to hold their lead in the C.O.B.L. race.

Ed Gunner Whitehill went the route for the locals, struck out eight, gave only two extra-base hits and issued no walks. He scattered 14 hits and was at his best with runners aboard. Eddie Starr caught and turned in a fine effort, in a game where coach Murphy had but ten men available for duty.

Oshawa scored one in the first on Tyson's triple and Hanna's single. Peterborough scored three in their half as McRae reached second on Brisbois' error and scored on Starr's single, the latter himself scoring as Foley walked, Michael pitched wildly and Mackness flied to centre. Crowe's double scored Foley.

In the fifth, hits by Garvey and McRae, a walk to Starr and an error of omission by Tyson who failed to cover third on a throw, enabled Garvey to score. A walk to Foley filled the bases again and after Mackness forced McRae at the plate, Crowe cleaned the bases with his second double. Oshawa scored two in their half, as Michael's single scored Tyson and Fair who were on by virtue of a single and fielder's choice respectively. Petes scored their eighth run in the sixth as Whitehill was hit by Michael, advanced on McRae's single and scored on Starr's single. Michael's homer scored Tyson in Oshawa's half of the seventh while Hanna drove in Fair in the eighth, for the final tally.

Aside from Whitehill and Starr, Crowe starred at bat, driving in four runs. McRae also played a fine game, getting three solid hits to lead the local sluggers and he fielded perfectly. Fred Garvey had two for five and scored one, while the fielding of Mackness in centre was a treat. For the visitors Michael, Tyson, Hanna and Bidgood were best in defeat both at bat and afield.

Canada's Girl Sprinters Win Five Of Dominion's Six Points

By JACK SULLIVAN

WEMBLEY, England, Aug. 3.—(CP).—Canada's girl sprinters have accounted for five of Canada's six points in the unofficial Olympic standing. Viola Myers, 21-year-old Toronto track star and her teammate Pat Jones, 17, of New Westminster, B.C., earned the points in Monday's competition. The men thus far have won only one point—the sixth place registered by Art Jackes of Toronto in the high jump Friday.

Miss Myers and the New Westminster girl ran fourth and fifth respectively in the final of the 100-metre sprint.

Tall Fanny Blankerr Koen of the Netherlands won the "fastest woman" title in 11.9 seconds.

The blonde sprinter from Toronto held four spot all the way, running in a light drizzle which forced the 84,000 spectators to huddle under umbrellas. She finished only a metre—about four yards — behind the Netherlands champion, who is the mother of two children.

It was the first time in 16 years that Canadians advanced to the finals of the 100-metre race. The last to reach the finals was Hilda Strike of Montreal in 1932.

Three Records Shattered.

Although no world records were broken Monday, three Olympic records were shattered, and 16 champions crowned.

Lieut. Emil Zatopek, the Iron Czech, stole the show even though he didn't win.

Last Friday Zatopek won the coveted 10,000-metre run. Monday he failed to capture the 5,000-metre event which went to Belgium's Baston Reiff.

Covered with mud from the puddles that dotted the red-brick track, the Czech put on a stirring stretch attempt to capure he 60-yard deficit.

He failed by only six feet to catch up with the Belgian, whose 14 minutes 17.6 seconds trimmed 4.6 from a record set at the last Games in Berlin, in 1936.

In another record-breaking event, Mal Whitfield, a United States army sergeant, beat out Arthur Wint of Jamaica, the world title holder, in the 800-metre run. Whitfield's time was 49.2 seconds.

He clipped 6-10th of a second off the previous record set by Britain's Tom Hapson at Los Angeles, Calif., in 1932.

Breaks Two Records

Adolpho Consolini, Italian discus hurler, twice broke Olympic records. His fined mark of 173 feet 2 inches was 7 feet 6½ inches beyond the record of Ken Carpenter of the United States at the Berlin Games.

An Olympic champion crowned who did not break any records, was Owen Guinn of the United in the pole vault with a leap of 14 feet 1⅛ inches.

The French men's foils team in team play and Ilona Elek of Hungary in the women's individual foils captured the fencing events.

Greta Andersen of Denmark won the 100-metre free-style swimming title in 1 minute 6.3 seconds.

In the shooting competition, E. Vasquez Cam of Peru won the 50-metre free pistol shoot.

Wrestling Crowns

Free style wrestling crowns went to: George Bobis, Hungary, heavyweight; V. L. Viitala, Finland, flyweight; Nassuh Akkan, Turkey, bantamweight; Gazanfer Bilge, Turkey, feathrwight; Glenn Brand, United States, middleweight; Celal Atik, Turkey, lightweight; and Yasar Dogu, of Turkey, welterweight.

Ted Haggis of London, Ont., who had come safely through the first qualifying round of the 200-metre dash, was eliminated in the second round when he placed fourth. Only two could qualify.

An off-form Canadian basketball team bowed to an unexpectedly powerful Hungarian quintette 37-36, in the closest game of the elimination so far.

It was a heart-breaking defeat for the Canadian boys after easily defeating Britain and Italy last week. A field goal in the final play of the game gave Hungary the edge.

Canadian chances of getting in the finals now are gloomy. Next the Canadian five meet the tough Brazilian squad which holds a 45-41 decision over Hungary. If the Canadians fail to defeat the Brazilians they will be eliminated.

The last of the Canadian wrestling contingent of six was eliminated from competition. Heavyweight Fernand Payette of Montreal was defeated in both his free-style bouts Monday.

Canada's young quartette of swimmers finished sixth in the men's 800-metre relay preliminaries and failed to qualify. The boys, whose average age is 17, were clocked in 9 minutes 43.2 seconds.

Canada's only discus throw entry, Eric Coy of Winnipeg, did not qualify.

Marines Takes Second Win From Oshawa

OSHAWA, Aug. 3.—(CP). — Peterborough Marines took their second straight Central Ontario Baseball League win from Oshawa Merchants, when they defeated the locals 10-6 here Monday afternoon. Gunner Whitehill was the winner on the Petes mound, giving up 10 Oshawa hits for their six runs.

Fred Bidgood, usually a first baseman for Oshawa, went to the hill and was doing all right till a double play fizzled with the bases loaded and allowed the Petes to break a 5-5 tie and got on to win in handy fashion.

Errors played a major part in the game. The Marines bobbled four times while Oshawa committed six miscues.

Whitehill, Mackness and Garvey were top men at the plate for the winners from Whitehill doing some great clutch hitting to Al Menzies, young Peterborough catcher played heads-up ball all the way for the winners.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The members of our club had a great time bowling over the long week-end. They were bowling here and everywhere.

Down at Oshawa Saturday afternoon, there were six pairs from our club playing in the men's doubles tournament. B. Jeffries and R. Whalen took nd place, losing the cup by only one poit. C. Renaud and F. Mowry took fourth place.

On our own greens Saturday night R. Downey and G. Soulby were the winning skips.

And then on the holiday, again on our greens, with twelve mixed rinks, three ten-end games were played under ideal weather conditions. E. Wall, C. Lawrence and G. Soulby were the winners.

Down at Belleville on Civic Holiday, we had six men's rinks entered. Tommy Doughty's rink won their three games and it looked, at a late hour, as if Geo. Gimblett's rink might be high for two wins. The rest of the boys report having a good time. The rinks were:

M. Fletcher, L. Bearne, Judge S. Smoke, T Doughty, skip.

E. Pritchard, K. Shadgett, W. Kay, G. Gimblett, skip.

We have no report on the mixed rinks that played in Oshawa yesterday.

Now, getting back to our own green, Groups No. 1 and No. 2 play their postponed games of July 12.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Jackie (Pops) Cooper, of Kansas City, Mo., 74-year-old holder of a world's speedboat record, suffered severe injuries Monday when his racing boat, Blue Blazes, overturned during the sixth running of the Picton Regatta.

He went to hospital with a fractured skull, broken arms and leg injuries. Doctors said there was "little hope" for his recovery.

Cooper, pitting his 135 class Blue Blazes against larger 225 class hydroplanes, was roaring down the home stretch in the first lap of a heat, when his craft suddely shot into the air and turned a somersault before 10,000 spectators. Cooper was hurled clear but the boat crashed down on him as he struggled in the water.

Bantam Ben Hogan Monday added the western open golf championship to his national open and P.G.A. crowns — the first man ever to hold the three titles in the same season.

And he did it in an 18-hole play-off with Seattle's Ed (Porky) Oliver in such an impressive style that he had his pudgy opponent rooting for him at the finish. Hogan stroked 69 to Oliver's 73.

Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals slipped a little in the National League individual batting championship race, but he's still well ahead of his pursuers. He slipped from .400 to .391. Second was rookie Alvin Dark of Boston who passed Chicago's Andy Pafko last week with .330. Pafko is third with .328.

Olympic Games officials at London Monday considered possible action to stop the sale of tickets by foreign visitors trying to evade currency regulations. One Frenchman was reported to have openly admitted trafficking in tickets as a means of getting more sterling because he could not cover his expenses with his currency allowance.

Canadians won trophies in two of five classes Saturday at Hamilton's first annual international power boat regatta. Percy Buddell of Waterloo took the Class D runabouts event and Harold Arthur of Port Perry, came first in the Class D service runabouts race.

Pitchers put the brakes on the American League's top hitters last week, but Boston's Ted Williams still headed the stick parade despite a six-point slump to .385. He's 42 points above runner-up Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's manager-shortstop. Al Zarilla of St. Louis was third with .336.

Murray Billings of Brockville, Monday won the $1,000 Gold Cup in the 46th annual regatta at nearby Rideau Ferry.

Billings won the Harry F. McLean Trophy in the 2.25 cubic inch displacement class in a program which featured races of the American Power Boat Association. Crowds were estimated at 8,000.

Mack Discovers A's Well-Wisher

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 — (AP). — Baseball managers sometimes have to move into hotel rooms in the wake of the departing last occupant.

That has happened a number of times to Connie Mack, owner-manager of Philadelphia Athletics, and it happened to him again Monday.

It is not very often, however, that Mack finds a note on the bureau from the guy who just checked out.

The note Connie discovered in his hotel room Monday read as follows:

"Dear Mr. Mack—Congratulations on taking over first place. Please keep the race close. (Signed Bucky Harris."

And there was a postscript—"if you decide to get rid of Joe Coleman, let me know right away."

Manager Bucky Harris' New York Yankees are currently playing third fiddle to the Athletics in the American league pennant race. Much of the credit for the A's exalted position has been given to pitcher Coleman.

The A's open a series against the Chicago White Sox tonight, hoping to retain the four percentage point lead they hold over the second place Cleveland Indians.

Cards Humiliate Giants In 21-5 Baseball Massacre

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Major league baseball fans, goggle-eyed over the closest race in American league history, finally have begun to realize that the National is having a whizzer of its own.

Although the older circuit does not boast a one-game difference among the first four clubs as does the American, every indication points to a real battle-royal in the final two months of the season.

Slowly but surely, New York Giants, St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers are creeping up on the pace-setting Boston Braves whose eight-game spread of two weeks ago has dwindled to five games.

Monday it was the Cardinals' turn to gain ground on the leaders. The Redbirds teed off on five New York pitchers for 20 hits to humiliate the Giants 21-5.

The Cards not only prevented the second place Giants from reducing Boston's five-game margin, but ended their seven--game winning streak. It marked the first loss suffered by the Giants at home under Leo Durocher. They had won six.

Tie For Third

The victory enabled the Cards to virtually tie for third place with the losing Dodgers, who own a slim one percentage point bulge over the Redbirds. Both are only a game behind the Giants and six off the pace.

Stan Musial, White Kurowski, Marty Marion and Erv Dusak hit home runs.

The lowly Cincinnati Reds handed the Braves their third loss in their last four games, 3-1, as southpaw Johnny Vander Meer bested rookie righthander Vern Bickford in a pitching duel under the lights in Boston.

Rookie first baseman Ted Kluszewski paced the Redlegs' attack with a double and a single, driving in one run and scoring another. Boston's lone marker came in the seventh on Al Dark's double and Bob Elliott's single.

Powerful Jinx

Exercising one of the most powerful jinxes in the National league, Johnny Schmitz outpitched four Brooklyn hurlers to give Chicago Cubs an 11-inning 4-2 victory over the Dodgers.

The Cubs snapped a 2-2 in the 11th when Roy Smalley was safe on Tommy Brown's error, Hank Schenz single, Ed Waitkus doubled and Andy Pafko hit a run-scoring fly.

In the only American league game, played at night, the St. Louis Browns got off to an early 7-0 lead, then staved off a late rally by Washington to defeat the Senators 7-5. The victory gave the Browns the series, three games to two.

Set New Records At Picton Races

PICTON, Aug. 3 — (CP). — World and Canadian records were set Monday at the sixth annual Picton Gold Cup regatta.

Roaring over a sanctioned mile course, Harold Wilson of Ingersoll smashed the existing gold cup record held by orchestra leader Guy Lombardo by nearly two miles an hour.

Wilson, driving his "Miss Canada III," raced over the course at dawn at 119.009 m.p.h. It was the first gold cup record established on Canadian waters.

"Sagana VIII," driven by Mrs. Mildred Foulke of Essex, Md., shattered its own world record for class D racing runabouts at a speed of 62.828 m.p.h. It was the 27th world record in C. ad D. classes for Frank Foulke and his wife. Mrs. Foulke holds right of them.

A Canadian competitive course record for Denesen 225 hydroplanes was established and again broken. "Mr. Dockit" driven by Dr. Walter Robinson, Alexandria Bay, N.Y., ripped over the course at 67.289 to better the Jackie (Pops) Cooper mark of 66.02 set two years ago. Later in the race Sid Street, Kansas City, Mo., cracked the Robinson mark at a speed of 68.053 m.p.h.

Young Liberals Pointing To Red Menace

OTTAWA, Aug. 3. — (CP). — Young Liberals in convention here for the first time Wednesday will consider the menace of Communism in resolutions to be presented to the parent Liberal convention Friday.

Five committees to help prepare the Young Liberals' resolutions—to represent the views of the Canadian University Liberal Federation — already have been formed, J. H. Potts, vice-chairman of the CULF convention organization, announced today.

Students from the following universities are represented on the committees: University of Alberta, Bishop's University, University of British Columbia, Carleton College, Dalhousie University, Laval University, University of Manitoba, McGill University, University of Montreal, Osgoode Hall, Queen's University, St. Francis Xavier University, University of Saskatchewan, University of Toronto and University of Western Ontario.

The CULF said that the five committees will comprise one-twentieth of the national Liberal convention voting strength.

They will draft resolutions on a host of principles, including social legislation and Canadian internal problems.

The problem of striking a proper balance between the state and the freedom of the individual and the preservation of democratic institutions will form the discussion basis on Liberal philosophy.

Their resolutions on international relations will consist of consideration of Canada's position with regard to the United Nations, the British Commonwealth, the United States and the menace of Communism.

Find Smuggling Very Costly To Great Britain

LONDON, Aug. 3.—(CP). — Smuggling is costing Britain thousands of pounds a year.

British customs officials say little more than 10 per cent. of the offenders are caught, though the annual revenue of the treasury from confiscations alone is estimated at £1,125,000.

This revenue before the war was less than £15,000 annually and the number of smuggling seizures at all the seaports of Britain and Ireland averaged only 20 a day.

The increase is attributed by customs officials to the introduction of new import controls and the rigid limitation of travel allowances for Britons abroad. The loss to Britain is serious.

Smugglers are usually cunning in the complexities of modern travel.

Raid Cabin

When a liner docked at Southampton recently, customs men raided the cabin of a woman traveller just as she was opening three boxes of flowers. In each box was a card and a greetings envelope. In each envelope was a wad of dollar bills.

More cash was uncovered from the linings of her hats, while her husband was relieved of dollars sewn into the linings of his coats, pants and vests.

Both were professional smugglers of long standing.

Customs men blame staff shortage and the increasing range of dutiable articles for the fact that so many smugglers slip through their fingers. But they have their triumphs.

A girl from Switzerland was caught with 30 gold watches under her slip; a cook aboard the Queen Elizabeth with 40 fountain pens tied to his arms and legs, plus 12 in his shirt and 10 in each pocket.

Then there was the Belgian cargo skipper who feigned virtuous indignation when questioned. He had 1,500 watches wrapped in a cargo of rabbit skins.

THE BERTRAND HOTEL at Shawbridge, Que., is shown, at the height of a blaze which destroyed the building recently, with a loss of $18,000, as local firemen were helpless to stem the fire when their pumper failed.

Forfeit Clause To Be Discussed

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3 — (ENS). — Despite the holiday, there were only two members of council missing at the regular monthly meeting Monday night. Councillors Kingston and Palliser were both out of town.

Present in addition to the members of council, was J. E. Ayrhart, former Mayor, who addressed the members regarding his lot on Front Street, which was originally part of the old town parking lot.

The matter of its disposal had been brought before the council at its last regular meeting, and the legal and property committee chairman had been instructed to look into the matter in conjunction with town solicitor N. Alex McColl.

At the previous meeting, some members of council felt that in view of the fact that Mr. Ayrhart had not erected the building for which the lot was purchased, his company (now defunct) should forfeit the lot and the purchase price. Others felt that this would not be fair, as the forfeiture caluse, at the time it was introduced by Mr. Ayrhart, the then Mayor, was intended to apply to dwelling houses and not commercial property.

Addressing the council on Monday, Mr. Ayrhart said that he had heard that the council was in some doubt on the matter, and had requested legal advice. He had also consulted a firm of lawyers and was advised that the best way out of the difficulty would be for council to cancel the existing agreement with himself, then repossess the lot and refund the money.

His advisers had told him that the forfeiture clause under which he would forfeit the land and the money, would be of doubtful stature in a court of law, and they doubted that any court would authorize council to sell land which had already been bought and paid for in cash, as well as retaining the money paid for it by the original purchaser.

Mr. Ayrhart stressed that he had himself introduced the contentious clause into sale agreements for town lots in order to prevent "land-grabbing" in connection with the building boom. It was not intended that this should be applied to commercial property, and he felt that in view of his efforts to better the town, it would be unfair for him to be penalized by a clause which was introduced to protect the little fellow.

Mayor Donald remarked that that the matter was one requiring the presence of all members. He requested that other members state their opinions on that question.

Councillor Burgess said that he did not feel that part of the council should take responsibility for a decision one way or the other.

It was agreed that the matter will be taken up at the meeting to be held Aug. 4, Mr. Ayrhart to be notified of this.

V. C. DAVIS, Director of Loblaw Groceterias, Toronto, who was killed in tornado at Cameron, near Lindsay, Saturday. His Toronto home is at 286 Indian Rd.

Ayrhart Airport Offered For Sale

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3. — (ENS) — Campbellford airport, one of the Ayrhart enterprises, is to be offered for sale, it was announced here following a meeting of the company's shareholders.

The airport, located three miles from Campbellford on the Campbellford-Havelock road is more than 100 acres in area, and in addition to two concrete hangars, also has a well-equipped workshop on the property.

Following the shareholders' meeting, the following statement was issued by Carl J. Maier, secretary-treasurer of the company:

"At a meetin g of the shareholders of the Trent Valley Airport Limited (Campbellford Airport), held on Saturday evening, July 31, at the office of J. F. R. Douglas, it was decided that the airport would be offered for sale immediately. Traveller Tells Of English Trip

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3. — (ENS)—Carman Runions was back in town this week following his return from a business trip to England, where he spent the last 13 months.

Now a resident of Kingston, Mr. Runions travelled all over the Old Country, in connection with concrete road expansion joints, and was enabled to get a good overall picture of conditions there.

He told The Examiner that while the people have a lot to put up with over there, they take it with a good grace. They are chiefly worried over the international situation and the possibility of further hostilities.

As far as rationing is concerned, he says, things have eased somewhat recently, with the number of coupons required for children's clothes and shoes being reduced to a more reasonable level.

Food, he found, is in much better variety than it was during a previous trip, more than two years ago, although there are many things that are still hard to get, and in some cases unobtainable.

The German prisoners who worked in the Old Country are now nearly all gone. Many of them wanted to stay in England, but were compelled to go back to Germany, apparently in connection with the laws governing the return of prisoners. Mr. Runions understood, however, that those who wished to come back could do so by making application in the same manner as any other immigrant.

He was very much impressed by the return trip, which he made by air in a Trans-Canada airliner from Northolt irport to Montreal, a distance of 3,200 miles, in 19 hours, including a short stop-over at Iceland.

Cattle At Large

Everett Moore, South Burleigh, was fined $15 and $8.50 costs in police court today when he was found guilty of allowing cattle to run at large. A witness, George Kelly, said that Moore's cattle caused about $200 damage to his two-and-one-half acre vegetable garden.

500 Attend Annual Regatta Live Duck Race Is Feature

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3 (ENS)—Despite threatening skies and a hint of rainstorms to come, the Trent River regatta, held under the auspices of the Trent River Community Club, attracted a crowd of more than 500 people on Monday afternoon.

The bank of the river at the picnic grounds was crowded with people, as was the bridge over the river. This last was, unfortunately, out of reach of the ticket sellers, and more than a hundred people on the bridge witnessed the regatta without contributing anything to the funds of the club.

Staged by the club as part of a drive to obtain funds for the erection of a community hall, the regatta was a financial success, and from the entertainment point of view it more than achieved its objective.

There was all the fun of the fair, with hot dogs and pop, pony rides for the kiddies, exhibitions of surf-board riding and water skiing, and a duck race, a mad swimming race after a wildly careening duck, which was captured by Herman Wight of Paudash lake.

The duck, donated by George Wannamaker of Trent River, was the prize in this race, and following its capture subsided quietly into the arms of its new owner.

"Toots" Blair directed the continuity from the mike, and Reeve Mel Wight, who is also president of the community club, and Mrs. H. Mann, secretary, were in charge of the events.

The special prize given for the oldest person on the grounds was taken easily by Tom Cavanagh, formerly of Norwood, now of Detroit, who admitted being 87 years old. He received a potted plant.

The admission ticket stubs were drawn by the reeve for a lucky gate prize, giving Charles Lester of Peterborough a smoking stand, and Afton Vaness of Trent River five pounds of cheese.

Catherine Machlan of Toronto won the swimming contest for girls 12 years and under by default, when she was the only contestant.

The judges were Charles Calver, Campbellford, Percy Warner, Toronto, and Myron Burns, Akron, Ohio.

The following is the list of prize-winners:

2000 LUMBERJACKS ATTEND MAMMOTH CLOYNE SPORTS PROGRAM

Twin Babies Take 1st Prize Miss Canada, Miss CNE Take Over As Baby Judges

By NICK NICKELS

CLOYNE, Aug. 3.—Cookhouse triangles and sawmill whistles sounded Saturday morning with merrier notes in Frontenac County's ten summer logging camps and mills. It was a holiday, the highlight of the year for the district's 2,000 lumbermen. Bush workers downed their sharp axes and canthooks, filers left their benches, mill hands brushed the sawdust from their overalls and snorting tractors were strangely silent.

Store-bought clothes and jaunty felt hats came out of cupboards, the women curled their hair and scrubbed their offspring till they shone. By trucks and cars from all directions they headed for Cloyne, a hamlet of 60 people and scene of the District Lumbermen's Association's third annual picnic.

By parade time at 2 p.m., 12,000 mushmen and their families, merchants and tourists galore jammed the "Main Street." St. Andrew's Girl Pipe Band from Toronto skirled ahead of the procession, their Stuart tartan kilts billowing in the strong afternoon wind. Bright wagons, carrying beautiful Misses Margaret Marshall and Toby Robins bowled along and stopped alongside an immense spruce platform. The two young women made short speeches into the booming mike to the thunder of applause, and wolf whistles. The Big Show was on.

Here was the Canadian lumberjack in his element, performing everyday feats before discerning workmen and gaping onlookers where agility, bull strength and a natural flare for showmanship marked all events as something special indeed.

Modern Logging Devices

In a pine-encircled field west of the highway, lumbering trucks with mechanical loading arms flipped heavy logs to their racks like toothpicks as teams of "senders" heaved, jammed and spun timbers into place. With yells of "Give her snoose" and equivalent urgings in French, there was many a spill as logs shot out of the load beds. There were other equally exciting demonstrations of loading by horse and lines; there were crack softball girls' clubs playing fast games and lunging bush teams pulling several times their own weight which was registred on a mechanical device mounted on a heavy truck.

At least half of the milling, sweating crowd surged to the barriers of the platform to watch champion log choppers who flailed their donkey butted axes between outspread feet as chips the size of $2 steaks bounced on to the boards. Sweating teams of crosscut sawyers jerked to and fro in a frenzied race against time, and batteries of whining power saws buzzed through logs in less than a minute.

Miss Margaret Marshall, "Miss Canada" and Miss Toby Robins, "Miss CNE," viewed the performances with delight and were in turn oggled by the crowd and pressed for autographs. Both girls were called on to judge the prettiest baby and the most winsome local gal in the crowd, and for their effort were crowned "Queens of the Lumberjacks" by Harvey Spencer, "Mayor" of Cloyne.

Douglas Aikenbrack emceed the show admirably with downright professional ad-libbing, and Hugh Wilson, Melvin Ostman and Wallace Johnston seemed to be everywhere at once directing each event.

Plenty of Frills

Nor were the elderly people forgotten; there was a prize for the oldest couple. The Girls' Pipe Band performed intricate Highland dances, as three RCAF Harvards stunted just above the tree line in roaring aerial acrobatics.

Prize winners were as follows:

Oldest man on grounds—R. W. Kimmerley, Napanee, 92.

Log Loading. — Billie O'Brien and Jack Kerr, loaders; Ernie Jackson, driver, of Sawyer Stoll, 74½ secs. Harry Daly and Allen Brickwald, Eady and Graham, 76 secs. Herb Wienecke and J. Black, Fred Duquette, driver, T. A. Wilson Lumber Co., 78 secs.

Log Sawing.—Art Lefee and Bernard Inwood, Cloyne, 13 1/5 secs; K. Cousins and Harry Hayes, Parham, 14 secs; Jack Kerr, Chas. Thompson, Northbrooke, 15 2/5 secs.

Baby Show.—1st and 2nd. Vera and Verna Spicer, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Monte Spiver, Cloyne; Michael Kennedy, Tichborne; Wayne Reid, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Reid, Napanee; Gerald Barnes, parents Mr. and Mrs. Russell Barnes, Cloyne.

Log Choppers.—Jack Kerr, Cloyne, 1 min, 12 4/5 secs; Ernest Godfrey, Henderson, 1 minu, 28 secs; Wildred Woods, Northbrook, 2 mins. 10 secs; Walter Schraeder, Cloyne, 2 mins. 20 secs.

Power Sawing.—Nick Cuddy, Harlowe; Lloyd Malcolm, Denbigh; William Mountney, Cloyne; Wilfred Haggart, Cloyne.

Beauty Contest.—Marion Northey, Tamworth; Mary MacDonald, Niagara Falls, N.Y.; Bernice Ryan, Stirling; Betty Hunt, Napanee; Jean Thompson, Northbrook.

Horse Drawing.—T. A. Wilson Lumber Co; Vernon Marr, driver. Leo Fry, Campbellford; self. Sawyer Stoll Ltd.; Oscar Fenwick, driver. T. A. Wilson Lumber Co.; Russel Aide, driver. John Doyle, Marmora; self. Abel Vanness. Northbrook; self.

Shadows were lengthening before the large crowd gave thought to supper and started drifting away. Association executives and their ladies drove the "Queens" north to Bill Maloney's Hermitage on beautiful Lake Mazinaw where Mine Host Bill provided one of his renowned meals. W. J. Le Claire, secretary of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, spoke after the meal and commended Association members on the success of their picnic.

"In a world dangerously becoming filled with isms," said he, "it is such a demonstration of good clean rivalry in one of Canada's most important basic industries that makes for contented workmen and general good health for the industry as a whole. It is the largest and most unique affair ast of the Rockies. May it grow in popularity."

Back in Cloyne, the pincnickers had revived and lumberjacks swung their girls to "Turkey In The Straw," under the winking stars and the bright band of Northern Lights. As the beat of the music died away down the road one could imagine the ghost of Paul Bunyan beating out time with an immense foot from his perch on top of Bon Echo Road wearing a grin at least two axe handles wide.

PAUL BUNYAN'S PICNIC at Cloyne, North Frontenac County, drew 12,000 people to witness and take part in the third annual District Lumbermen's Association picnic, the most unique event of its kind East of the Rockies. Mechanical and manual bush demonstrations of skill, beauty contests, old-time fiddling and dancing, kept the large crowd on its toes till well into the night. TOP PHOTO, Left, Jack Black of Harlow, Left, and Fred Duquette, Northbrook, pause happily between the log sending event. TOP RIGHT, Walter and Mervin Schruder, race against time in log sawing; they could not beat the winners who took only 13 seconds to win. LOWER LEFT, the power saw competitors had a much easier time of it, made a terrific noise; Wilfred Haggart, at the log, was fourth. LOWER RIGHT, lumberjack Harry Daley, centre, poses between two pretty Kiltie pin-ups, Piper Pat Clarke, left, and Drummer June Stoker, of Toronto's St. Andrew's Girl Pipe Band. —Examiner Staff Photos

Burma Commander Now Chief Sleuth

LONDON, Aug. 3 (CP).—Gen. Sir William Slim, commander of the 14th Army in Burma during the war, leads a new campaign to defeat thieves who "lift" silk stockings, cigarets, foodstuffs and innumerable other articles from British railways.

Slim, who rose from the ranks as a soldier in two wars, is a member of the nationally-owned railways executive with special responsibility for public relations, stores and estates.

In 1947, claims against the railways, mostly due to thefts, totalled £2,671,000 ($10,684,000), about 1 5times the pre-war total.

Slim has a staff of 3,600. His campaign weapons will include a new railway police school where detectives will be coached by Scotland Yard experts; increased numbers of automobiles and motorcycles; better lights for railway yards; greater use of sealed railcars and increased employment of police dogs to trace thieves.

Mental Care Debt Hangs Over Alberta

EDMONTON, August 3 (CP).—C.C.F. Leader Elmer Roper said Friday night in a campaign speech that $15,000,000 "hangs like a weight over the heads of thousands" of Albertans because they owe it to the provincial government in fees for the care of their mentally-ill relatives.

He was speaking in a free-time CBC broadcast in the campaign for the Aug. 17 provincial general elections. The Social Credit government seeks its fourth successive term in office, and voters will fill 57 legislature seats.

Mr. Roper said that his party's platform includes free hospital care; air ambulance service, and care for the mentally-ill.

"There is $15,000,000 owing to the Alberta government by relatives of mental patients. Most of it will never be paid, but it hangs like a weight over the heads of thousands of poor people. It is in itself a contributor to mental distress and illness."

Owen R. Browne, public relations director for the Alberta Liberal Association, said the provincial government's treasury branches were "loaning money in a big way," and had caused "staggering losses" to the taxpayers.

Treasury branches are holding mortgages that "could not be upheld in any court of the land".

Find Weatherman Glad July Over

HALIFAX, August 3 — (CP). — Maritime weather oracles today heaved a sigh of relief, now that July is ending.

Dominion public weather office officials here said because of thunderstorms they are "quite handicapped in trying to prepare a summary of July's weather—thunderstorms are notoriously hit-and-miss in character and in the amount of rain they bring."

At Halifax, the rainfall smashed all previous records while at Yarmouth, N.S., the month's rainfall was well below normal.

Rains were well spaced. Northern New Brunswick had rain on 16 days, preventing forest fires, while in Prince Edward Island there were 10 days of abnormally heavy rains.

Ninety degree temperatures were not experienced, although the average temperature was above normal despite a batch of shivery days early in the month.

Decide Bludgeoning Caused Calgary Death

CALGARY, August 3 (CP).—Thomas Charles Hall, 66-year-old Calgary teamster-broker whose well-preserved body was found July 10 under his cottage here, was bludgeoned to death early in 1929, an inquest decided Friday.

The coroner's jury, deliberating about half an hour, concluded that Hall "came to his death as the result of blows on the left side of the skull by some person or persons unknown."

Dr. Lola McLatchie, pathologist, said his injuriese would be caused "mostly likely by one or more blows on the side of the head with any heavy, solid object applied with considerable force." X-ray examination of Hall's skull failed to reveal any piece of metal like a bullet.

FREAK CUCUMBER GROWN

Henry Orde, 962 Monaghan Rd., enjoys growing vegetables in his back garden. Strange - shaped vegetables are no novelty to him but today he showed the Examiner one he considers to be really a freak. It is a pick-a-back cucumber: a large cucumber with a smaller one, also perfectly shaped, attached to it.

TWO SMALL FIRES

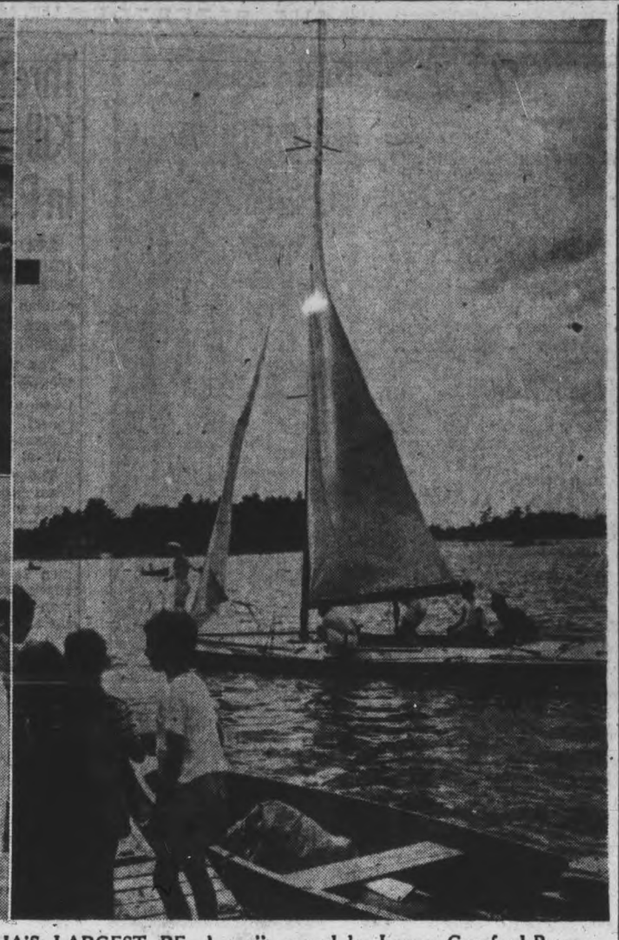
Firemen had a quiet time over the Civic Holiday. At 10:17 a.m. on Saturday a grass fire, believed to have been caused by a misplaced cigarette butt, was reported at the rear of 654 St. Mary's St. The property is a vacant lot owned by Central Mortgage and Housing. And shortly after 10 a.m. on Monday a chimney fire caused an alarm to be sent in from the home of Mrs. M. Whitnell, 356 Stewart St. There was no damage to either property.

CARS MEET HEAD-ON

About $500 damage was done to two cars which met head-on on the Wilberforce-Tory Hill road. More than $200 damage was done to the McKay car and about $300 to the Allen auto. Provincial Constable Bert Howden investigated, and said that no one was injured.

WHISTLES BLOW AGAIN

Peterborough's industrial holiday ended this morning with the familiar chorus of whistles sounding the recall to work. Those who get three weeks instead of the more general two were still on vacation until next Monday. Some others had set back their third week until the fall. Here and there were those who had spent their idle weeks working at home, had caught upon all the odd jobs and were quite content with their rest from the job of production.



CLAIM EGGS COSTLY

A number of shoppers were complaining about the high cost of eggs at the market on Saturday. One irate lady left with her shopping bag still empty saying "They want more for their eggs than in the stores—and they have no overhead to pay." Prices ranged from 60 to 75 cents a dozen. Both chickens and eggs were scarce. In addition there was a large quantity of home-grown vegetables as well as raspberries and huckleberries. Some excellent gladioli were also reported for sale.

7 Sail Boats Overturn At Juniper Island Regatta

A Toronto man, Lyman Crawford Brown, cleaned up in the boat races at Stony Lake regatta held over Civic Holiday weekend at Juniper Island. On Sunday, Mr. Brown won the Gillespie Trophy sailing the Kestrel, a bilgeboard scow, in the annual handicap sailing race. Late Monday afternoon, Mr. Brown captured the Stony Lake power boat championship in his Falcon, averaging 63.2 miles an hour on the straightaway. Attendance and entries at the regatta far exceeded those of 1947.

The power boat races were held at Viamede on Saturday and were witnessed by more than 200 people. The feature race however was postponed until Monday due to difficulties with one of the 225 class hydroplanes which sank at its moorings. The Gillespie Trophy sailing race was held Sunday in a rather heavy breeze, 29 craft competed with 7 boats capsizing. This is the largest number of entries for this race for 15 years. The trophy was presented by its donor Mr. Frank Gillespie.

The aquatic events were run off Monday afternoon with over 200 entrants and a large crowd of spectators.

An exhibition of ornamental and precision swimming was put on by the Kawartha Ornamental Swimming Club of Peterborough under the guidance of Mr. Fred Jennings, the members participating were Lillian Wood, Norma Delaney, Mabel Barnes, Grace Marshall, Joyce Thomas.

A Fast Craft

The Stony Lake Power Boat championship race was held late in the afternoon and was won by Lyman Crawford Brown in Falcon. This boat has 160 h.p. engine and is the 3 point suspension 225 class type. It was clocked at 63.2 m.p.h. in the straightaway. Dr. Stanley Braund driving the Eight Ball was second. He had a severe handicap due to several reasons. Firstly his boat sank at her moorings and secondly his motor, a new 175 h.p. monster was only installed a few days prior to the race and was not tuned up. Ken McCannan, the third entrant, had to drop out in the first lap due to engine failure.

The prizes were presented by Mrs. Keith Russell of Toronto who was graciously thanked on behalf of entrants and spectators by Miss Nora Cameron. Mr. Crawford Brown, as chairman of the regatta committee, spoke briefly before the presentation. He said that special thanks were due to the members of the regatta committee, Leo Dorfman and Dr. Stanley Braund and the two judges, Robert Willoughby and Harold Knapman.

Later in the evening a draw for a canoe was made by Miss Hadji Malik, daughter of the Sirdhan H. S. Malik, High Commissioner from India for Canada, and was won by Mrs. Lawrence W. Reid of Buffalo, N.Y. The second prize, a bushel basket of groceries was won by Mrs. G. L. MacDonald of Toronto.

Several Traffic Accidents But No Injuries Reported

There were no highway fatalities during the long holiday week-end, but motor accidents kept city and provincial police on the go for the full period.

An accident about noon Saturday caused about $135 damage to two cars involved. They were those of Arnold R. Nelson, RR 1, Keene, and Joseph Frederick of Okron, Ohio. It happened two miles east of Keene on the Hastings Road. Damage to the American's car is estimated at $100; about $35 is set for Nelson's damages. Consider 3rd Pipeline To Ashburnham

Estimated Cost $50,000; Needed To Boost Water Pressure

Cost of a third water pipe line across the river to boost the pressure at Western Clock Co. has been estimated at $50,000 by Ross L. Dobbin, manager, in a preliminary report to the Utilities Commission.

Two eight-inch mains are now laid to Ashburnham, one crossing the river in the vicinity of the Auburn dam, and the other just north of the Hunter St. bridge. The proposed third pipe line will probably be 12-inch, to be laid in the river bed at Inverlea Park.

The first step in obtaining accurate information of cost and route was taken last week by Mr. Dobbin, as reported to the Commission, in bringing to Peterborough a specialist in that type of work.

A more detailed examination of the optional crossing routes will be made in the near future.

At the meeting of the Commission last week, a letter from the city council enclosed correspondence from John H. Vernor, vice-president of Western Clock, reporting concern about the pressure tests made by the fire department in June. For the last four years the pressure at the hydrant near the Big Ben plant was: 38 lbs. per sq. ft.; 44 lbs. and this year 28 pounds.

Mr. Vernor's opening paragraph to Mayor Ovens was: "When we built our new plant in Peterborough in 1922 we were assured by the city council that we would have an adequate water supply both for domestic use and fire protection. The fact is that the city has failed to provide such service." Then followed the pressure figures of the last four years as already quoted. The 38-pound pressure was found in June 1945, and the 28-pounds to the square inch, two months ago.

Promises to Western Clock were made by the council, and the responsibility of increasing the pressure is turned over to the Utilities Commission. The Vernor letter indicated uneasiness in the office of Western Clock about the continuing low pressure at the top of east Hunter St. hill.

The following are excerpts from Mr. Dobbin's report to the Commission: "The factory is completely equipped with automatic sprinklers fed by an elevate tank. This tank is filled by the water pressure in our mains.

Hill Makes Difference

"We have been aware for some time that water pressure in Ashburnham is not satisfactory at times, particularly in the summer at the time of lawn watering.

"The company's factory being placed in one of the highest spots in the city is the first to be affected by low water pressure. The ground around the factory is 60 feet higher than at our Aylmer Street office.

"Since 1940, nearly 1,000 new consumers have been added in Ashburnham, and this, with the added consumers in the balance of the city, has tended to reduce pressures all over.

"On June 23, 1948, the pumpage was 4,600,000 gallons;; on the corresponding date in 1940 the pumpage was 2,114,000 gallons. We enclose a sheet showing the records of pressure and flow on Saturday, July 10, when the total pumpage was 5,462,000 gallons. It will be noted there is a loss in pressure of 57 pounds per sq. inch with a rate of flow of 7.9 million gallons a day.

"From these records it is apparent that there should be another feed main across the river, and we suggest that a 12-inch main be laid on Parkhill Road from Water Street to Armour Road and down Armour Road to Hunter Street. We have at present two 12-inch mains and one 18-inch main located near the starting point of this proposed main. This main would be 6,000 feet, and would cost aproximately $50,000. We have made inquiries about delivery of the 12-inch pipe, and find that we could get it toward the end of October. If it were constructed, such a main would relieve the situation considerably.

"However, because of the height of ground, the company will always experience water-pressures from 20 to 30 pounds per square inch less than the other parts of the locality.

When the 24-inch force main is constructd to the western part of the city, there should be a great improvement in pressure generally over the system, but it will still be necessary to increase the capacity for Ashburnham.

"We are contacting a firm experienced in laying large mains under water, and when we get their report and estimate, we shall have something more definite as the cost and probably time of construction. We suggest that the underwater part of the main might be done this fall, leaving the other part to be done during the winter."

Copies of Mr. Dobbin's report were to be sent to the Council and to Mr. Vernor.

Trucks Aplenty, Few Floats In Legion Parade; Track Events Held At Oval

"There's too many trucks," was the general comment among the crowd of several thousand people who gathered on Monday to watch the parade which opened the third annual Canadian Legion veterans' picnic.

Roy Thompson, parade marshal, headed the procession on horseback. He was followed by three riders representing John Bull, Jack Canuck and Uncle Sam. Then came a detachment from the Canadian Legion marching to the Peterborough Pipe Band, a detachment from the fire department with hooters blowing, two trucks from the Legion, the second representing the grave of the Unknown Soldier, and the Peterborough Citizens' Band.

Trucks of the Quaker Oats Company, which won the Fraser Trophy, given by Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., for the best industrial float in the Civic Holiday parade, lead the long line of commercial vehicles. Other firms represented were Wonder Bakeries, Armstrong Lumber, Toronto-Peterborough Transport, Capitol Taxi Cartage and Transport, Herb Payne, Campbell's Dairy, Hamilton - Peterborough Transport, R. N. Wilson, Cope Transport, Reo Safety School Bus, Wright's Refrigeration and Russelle's Road Service. A horse and buggy provided a spot of variety in the middle of this procession.

Deposit Wreath

At the end of the parade came two decorated floats, one representing the Lions Club playground and wading pool project at Riverside Park and the other containing two clowns and marked Sanitation Department. They were followed by a cart from Kelly's Fuel and Transfer, a dozen or so boys on gaily decorated bicycles, and riders and a float from Paddy Preston's Diamond P Ranch. It was the end of the parade, and especially the horses, which met with the approval of the children. A couple of clowns accompanying the procession were also highly popular.

The parade stopped at Confederation Square, where a wreath was laid on the War Memorial by Ted Evans, president of the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion. "Last Post" and "Reveille" was played by a bugler of the Peterborough Citizens Band.

At Nicholls Oval, the Fire Department gave a demonstration of the many uses of its new aerial ladder, then followed races for the children, a football game and band concert. In the evening, a large crowd watched a vaudeville show by local talent.

507 Bush Fires Destroy 664,000 Acres

NORTH BAY, Aug. 3 — (CP). — A total of 507 forest fires had burned through more than 664,000 acres of the central region of northern Ontario up until July 29 of the current fire season, regional forester E. L. Ward said today. Largest fires were the 250,000acre conflagrations in Chapleau and Mississagi areas, both of which burned out of control for more than a month. Both are now being patrolled.

The central regional comprises five districts, Chapleau, Gogama, North Bay, Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury. The latter experienced the greatest number of bush fires to date — exactly 200, burning over 19,800 acres. Sault district was next with 161 fires, covering 264,762 acres; North Bay placed third with 100 blazes sweeping through 1,843 acres; Chapleau had only 27 fires which covered the greatest number of acres — 322,819. Gogama district experienced the least number of forest fires to date, only 19.

Mr. Waid admitted that at the present time it was impossible to pin down the exact causes of the fires in their various catagories. However, he said that most, "at least 75 per cent," were caused by "human agency."

Police Escort Dentist To U.S. Second Time

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 — (CP) — Pennsylvanal police will escort Dr. Louis J. Connor, 50-year-old dentist, back to his Dushore, Pa., home in a second attempt to keep him from the hands of Ottawa and district police.

Dushore Police Chief Hubert Schelmheimer wired Ontario Provincial Police here Monday night, asking that Dr. Connor be held until protective custody arrives.

Connor, who was arrested at nearby Uplands airport Sunday after he tried to hire a plane which he intended piloting himself, has been booked on a nominal charge of vagrancy.

When found by police near the airport, he was without credentials or money. He could not remember where he had parked the car which brought him from Dushore.

Police still have failed to locate the vehicle which a week ago Sunday gave them a wild 90-miles-per-hour chase over the highways near here. The chase ended after Connor slammed into four automobiles and halted when a police revolver was pointed at him.

He was fined $150.80 and escorted back to Dushore by friends. But the fine and the previous brush with police did not deter him from driving to Canada again.

Connor has agreed to undergo mental examnation.

FROM PLATFORM EXACTLY on the border between Canada and the U.S., Lt.-Gov. Joseph Hanley of New York State is seen speaking during 100th anniversary ceremony yesterday at middle of the Whirlpool Rapids Bridge, Niagara Falls. At right are RCMP and New York State police. Traffic was halted for the first time in the bridge's history.

Join Hands Across Border In Pledge of Friendship

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Aug. 3—(CP)—Canada and the United States joined hands across the border Monday in pledge of eternal friendship and the defence of liberty.

On the massive, century-old Whirlpool Rapids bridge joining the two nations, Premier Drew of Ontario and Lieut.-Gov. Joseph R. Hanley of New York state joined two strands of ribbon reaching from either side of the Niagara gorge as a symbol of 100 years of friendship between the United States and Canada.

As the two ribbons were joined, Premier Drew expressed the wish that the bridge would serve as an example of international friendship.

Responding, Mr. Hanley said: We and other nations have learned to stand together against a common foe and from this has grown the hope and the attempt for nations to stand united for the common good.

Traffic on the bridge was halted for the first time in 100 years while the ceremony was carried out.

Following the joining of the ribbons, Premier Drew and Mr. Hanley unveiled a bronze plaque commemorating the birthday of the first bridge between the two countries. The inscription on the plaque states that in the 100 years the bridge has been in existence, Canada and the United States have lived side by side as good neighbors.

Earlier Joseph Lawler, third assistant United States postmaster-general, sold the first of a new U.S. three-cent stamp issue commemorating a century of friendship. The first stamps went to Premier Drew, Lieut.-Gov. Hanley, Mayor W. R. Lupton of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Mayor William L. Houck of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Meat Makes Housewife Wince But Vegetables Coming Down

By The Canadian Press

The inch-thick, sizzling T-bone steak is an infrequent visitor to Canadian dinner tables these days of soaring meat prices.

A Canadian Press survey shows sausages, shoulder roasts and other cheaper meats are appearing more often on Canadian menus. The average Canadian dinner consists of second grade meat cuts, two vegetables, potatoes and dessert.

In most sections of the Dominion there are plenty of fresh vegetables at reasonable prices. Potatoes, too, are cheap and plentiful since the season opened this year two weeks earlier than usual. Most provinces report ample supplies of fresh fruits, except those coming under the austerity import ban, such as pineapple, watermelon, canteloupes, Washington peaches and apricots.

In the Maritimes, as elsewhere, meat prices are high but supplies were ample of string beans, peas, cabbage and lettuce. Potatoes which sold recently at $1 a peck are now to 75 cents. The Annapolis Valley apple crop was smaller this year.

Montreal residents report a lack of fresh fruit. Only cherries are available in sufficient quantities. Best beef cuts sell at 75 cents a pound.

Vegetables At Peak

In Ontario the fresh vegetable season is at its peak and those which recently were scarce and expensive are becoming more available. Least expensive are carrots, marrow, cauliflower, beans, cabbage, beets and lettuce. Green peas and spinach are still dear. The strawberries are finished but raspberries are still being harvested.

On the Prairies, high meat prices are the housewife's biggest headache. There are lots of vegetables available in Manitoba and Saskatchewan and Alberta's local garden produce is beginning to trickle in to distributing centres.

In British Columbia new field and tree crops assure West Coast housewives of attractive desserts. Raspberries dropped from 25 to 20 cents a basket. California oranges sell at 19-24 cents a dozen. Green beans which sold at $1.25 a pound late in June are selling at 37 cents. Meat prices fluctuate two or three cents daily. If housewives hope to replace meat dishes with British Columbia's famous red spring salmon they'll have to pay 53 cents a pound.

Two Ring Ceremony Unites Norma Cain, Ernest Cooke

In a double ring wedding ceremony in St. James' United Church Saturday afternoon, performed by the Rev. F. W. Craik, Norma Mary Victoria Cain and Ernest Albert Cooke pledged nuptial vows and exchanged rings. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Cain of Pontypool, and the groom a son of Mrs. Albert H. Cooke and the late Mr. Cooke of Peterborough.

Tall standards of white gladioli and baskets of mixed summer flowers formed a charming background and Cecil Lapp at the organ played traditional wedding music. During the signing of the register, the bride's aunt, Mrs. George Vaughan of Toronto sang "O Promise Me."

A gown of white slipper satin with bed trim on the bodice was the bride's choice. The neckline yoke was outlined with a fold of satin which came to a deep point in the back that was repeated in the long torso waist line and the full gathered skirt fell in a sweeping train. She wore a full-length veil caught to a halo of braided white satin and trimmed with orange blossoms and carried a cascade of red roses. Mr. Cain gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Ora Cain as her sister's bridesmaid was frocked in pink embossed nylon with slight train on the full skirt. The long-sleeved bodice was trimmed with a gathered fold edging the sheer yoke. Her crownless hat was of pink net with blue flowers caught underneath the wide brim and she carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Burritt Montgomery. Ushers were Ernest M. Gregson and Gerald Anderson.

At the reception in Hooper's Palm Rooms, the bride's mother received with the bridal party, gowned in blue figured silk jersey with hat and gloves of black and wearing pink carnations at her shoulder. The groom's mother was in a black and white figured dress and wore black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Later the bride changed to a two-piece dress of natural linen trimmed with tan and matching accessories and wore a corsage of red roses. After their motor trip through Northern Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Cooke will live at 193 Westcott St.

Ask Pre-Marriage Fertility Tests

CAMBRIDGE, England, Aug. 3-(AP)—Dr. Bethel Solomons, Dublin gynaecologist, recommends fertility tests for couples before marriage.

He made his recommendation to a meeting of 200 doctors and experts on child-bearing during a debate on the problem of childless marriages.

"There are more men and women miserable from the lack of children than from most other complaints," he said. "I have found this misery so acute that, if at all possible, I would like to see a test of fertility before marriage."

Dr. Solomons opposed "donor insemination" which, he said, "involves too many principles."

He also advised newly-married couples to avoid using contraceptives because they might cause sterility.

Dr. Oswald Lloyd of Cambridge recommended "baby borrowing" as a means of curing sterility. He said:

"The matter of a wife adopting a baby and then becoming pregnant is too real to be a coincidence. The tension of wanting a baby is sometimes so great that it may cause sterility in a woman.

"When she adopts a baby the tension relaxes."

HONOR A. SULLIVAN

DOWNEYVILLE, Aug. 3 — (ENS) A large number of friends and neighbors gathered at Mr. T. J. Morrissey's house Friday for a presentation to Mr. Albert Sullivan who is getting married in the near future. An address was read and at midnight a lunch was served by the ladies followed by dancing to the music of Charlie Lucas, Bert Lucas, violins, and Martin Herlihey, guitar.

Mr. Sullivan thanked the friends and hoped to see all of them at his home after he is married.

Cloche of the 20's Is Reintroduced

PARIS, Aug. 3.—(AP).— Remember that hat the flappers used to wear back in the 1920's—the one that looked like a tight-fitting pot? They called it a cloche. Remember?

Well, it's coming back for the woman of 1948 if Paris milliners have their way.

Two of the top-ranking millinery houses in Paris, are re-introducing it. Other houses have shown the same trend, but most of them have blended the cloche with the beret or bonnet style, the result being a strictly 1948 silhouette.

But Albouy's fall hats show nothing of this cross breeding. They hug the back of the head and hide the ears, just like the ones of two decades ago. They differ in only one respect from those of the flapper era. The finish just beyond the crown of the head instead of nearly reaching the forehead. The result generally is more becoming.

Simone Cange has dubbed her basic silhouette the "lampshade cloche." She injects the 1948 touch by putting her models to the side front of the head, instead of the back.

Both use bird trimming profusely and other decoraions too.

Cange used many colors for her collection— petunia, sage green, champagne, pale oyster and light and dark greys. Albouy stuck mainly to buack and velvet. Practically the only departure from the cloche silhouette was in Albouy's collection. She put big poppies on a toque, which is a small, round, brimless affair.

Champion Tells How To Iron Shirt

NORTH BAY, Aug. 3—(CP)—Make every turn of your shirt count and use a hot iron, is Mrs. Mary Stevens' advice if you aspire to her record of ironing and folding a shirt in three minutes and three seconds.

The North Bay woman who averaged 18 shirts to the hour, challenges anyone to beat her in the special shirt ironing competition at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Only nine turns of the shirt are required in her self-developed technique. First she irons both sides of the collar and the shoulders, each step making one turn. The sleeves require two turns and the body of the shirt five.

To fold the shirt Mrs. Stevens fastens every second button down the front, folds the shirt towards the back on each side, and flips the sleeves and body in three folds.

Mrs. Steven's ironing experience goes back to 1912 when she began working in a Vancouver laundry. She also ironed in a North Bay laundry for a short time, but left there when she married.

Following her husband's death 15 years ago, she went back to work to support her three children.

However now her only interest in ironing is to get through the Monday wash—and compete in the C.N.E. contest of course.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Jealousy of First Wife Often Mars Second Marriage

One of the wisest and wittiest who ever lived said that a second marriage was the final triumph of hope over experience. Be that as it may, it is undeniably true that whether a marriage is successful or not there is something about it that seems to unfit men and women for the single life.

Dorothy Dix

This is particularly the case with men, for while the average husband does not go about boasting of his conjugal felicity and telling how he adores his dear Marie, if he loses her, he is a lost soul. Even if a man's marriage has been unhappy, if his wife dies he has a sort of post-mortem romance in which he glorifies her and looks forward to remarriage as to Paradise regained.

So it is no wonder that the bereaved widower is confused and bewildered and lonesome and doesn't know what to do with himself. Hence he remarries and generally he has sense enough to marry in his own age class some woman with whom he is well acquainted and who is a good cook. This makes a second marriage a preferred risk, for even the dumbest of us learn by experience, and the man who has dealt with a first wife's peculiarities knows how to walk high, wide and handsome around Number Two's litle ways. Likewise the woman who has dealt with a grouchy husband has the technique of how to butter up his successor and make him eat out of her hand.

Husband Often Tactless

Although second husbands are apt to be improvements on first ones, there is one place in which some lamentably fall down. Even the most intelligent men often do not sense how wife Number 2 feels about her predecessor.

Even a congenitial idiot, one would think, would have enough brains to realize that a second wife always feels that she is sitting at the second table and eating the scraps, and that he would not always be throwing his former wife in the present one's teeth. But men do it. It is a common thing for a remarried man to make his first wife his theme song and to spend his time holding up Number 1's charms as a model for Number 2 to go by.

Plenty of men, who must have hides as thick as rhinoceroses, make their second wives live in the houses thta were built for Number 1, and use Number 1's silver and linen and furniture, and look up on walls that are covered with pictures of Number 1. And the men who commit these crimes don't even know that they are torturing their wives by keeping them boiling over with jealousy of a first wife, and that there isn't a woman who wouldnt rather live in a shack and eat off of a plank than in a palace that was the first wife's leavings.

To this column come innumerable tear-soaked letter from second wives whose husbands idealize their first wives and are never weary of singing their praises, but who treat the second wives as if they were mere household conveniences. They are not even commonly polite to them. One of these letters says: "Two years ago I married a widower, as I thought, but I found my marriage empty, because my husband's heart is still with his departed wife, I always contented myself with the fact that I would have no competition from a woman no longer living, but I am worse off than if she were."

All of which I commend to the prayerful consideration of men and women who have made second marriages.

For Wednesday, August 4

The presage is for a very active and lively state of affairs, with change, travel, fresh efforts and plans of most lively and probably pleasant relations. However, there is a sign that indicates rather curious or strange developments, involving definite and aggressive attack, or doubtful, crafty or tricky situations of an occult or subtle base, in which it is required that direct and forthright handling are imperative. Sign contracts and make verbal agreements with precaution, precision.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may encounter a year in which irregular, unique or intriguing adventures may point up very lively and surprising situations. Change, travel, new plans and curious contacts should prove exciting and eventful, with romance and strange personalities in the foreground. Letters, writings, publicity and all youthful interests should thrive as well as intrigue, in which there may be public interest. Read all commitments with an eye to hidden factors or queer strategies.

A child born on this day will possess much versatility, talent, and adaptability, with force and special insight into the unusual, unique and curious. Its career may have strange lures and enjoyments.

THERE WAS PLENTY OF EXCITEMENT recently in Mrs. Mary Maheu's little white cottage on a dust-covered road outside the village of St. Philomene, near Chateauguay, Que. Inside the spotless frame home there was a birthday party in progress. But it wasn't just an ordinary birthday celebration. Mary was celebrating No. 104. The kindly grey-haired lady got out of bed to receive the congratulations of relatives and friends and she cheered them by telling them it wasn't going to be her last birthday celebration. Not by a long shot. Her hearing is not so good these days but Mary, who has been widowed for years, still gets around without glasses and up until recently she attended the little flower garden that surrounds the house. The party was held less than 25 feet from where Mary was born. Except for a few visits into the village she has never been away from the spotless farm.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

QUESTION.—I received your lovely letter and the sodium bisulphite, which I did appreciate much more than I can ever tell you, because I wanted to get them done so we could leave for our holidays which we spend in Haliburton.

I have just finished canning the maraschino cherries, and they look beautiful and just like the ones you buy. Of course, they still have to stand 2 weeks, but from what I could taste they are going to be lovely.

Here is a little hint for icing for cakes, it is lovely for chocolate cakes too. Use raspberries with your icing sugar instead of water; it takes very few to moisten your cing sugar. Start with 1 cup icing sugar, 1 tablespoon mashed raspberries, and dash of salt, small spoon butter and a little vanilla. Add berries to sugar using your own judgment—this make a lovely icing; strawberries the same way. Strawberry icing is especially nice for a banana cake. Perhaps this will give some a lift along for a nice icing and a change.

Many thanks to you again and perhaps there will be something I can do for you some time—H.L.G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER.—You already have done something for me — in letting me know the maraschino cherries turned out well — for it is a very exacting process. Thanks for the raspberry and strawberry icing hint — it is lovely — I tried raspberry icing yesterday and a plain white cake. Write again whenever I can help.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION.—Please print two or three easy recipes for frozen desserts — not using too much cream. I have some pineapple leftover from last year's canning — so if you have a recipe for pineapple sherbet I would like that.—Patty.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Pineapple Sherbet

Chill one 1-lb. tin evaporated milk. Mix with 1 tin (2 cups) crushed pineapple and juice, ½ cup sugar, 1/3 cup water, shake of salt and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Add this slowly to the milk stirring, and freeze, beating 2 or 3 times during the process. Heavy cream may be used in place of evaporated milk.

Angel Parfait

Boil together 2/3 cup sugar and ½ cup water until syrup spins a thread when dropped from tip of spoon. Pour over 4 beaten egg whites while beating until mixture is light and fluffy. Chill, stirring occasionally. Beat heavy cream (from ¼ to 1 pint) until stiff and add 1½ teaspoon vanilla to it, then fold in the chilled egg mix. Freeze without stirring.

Maple Parfait

Make same as Angel Parfait — but substitute 1 cup maple syrup boiling hot, for the sugar and water syrup.

Orange Fluff

Three - quarters cup sugar, grated rind 2 oranges, 1 cup orange juice, ½ teaspoon gelatine, 2 cups whipping cream. Cook sugar in 2/3 cup cold water until a little mixture dropped from spoon into cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from heat and add orange rind and ¼ cup orange juice. Soak the gelatine in 1 tablespoon cold water then dissolve it in the hot liquid. Mix well and chill. Meanwhile whip the cream until stiff and add to chilled mixture. Put remainder or orange juice in freezing tray. Pour cream mixture over. Freeze without stirring.

Alberta Grits Buck Tradition

EDMONTON, Aug. 3 (CP). — The Liberal party in making a bid for power in the August 17 Alberta general elections are seeking to upset a tradition in the province's politics.

Alberta voters have a record for keeping the same party in pwoer for at least three terms, but whenever defeated, none has ever formed a government again.

The Liberals formed the governments from 1905 when the province was established until 1921. For the next 14 years Alberta's affairs were handled by administrations made up of United Farmers of Alberta.

Then in 1935 another new party — Social Credit — took over and has been in power ever since. After a landslide victory in 1935, the Social Crediters saw their majority in the Legislature reduced in the 1940 voting. In 1944 they came back as strong as ever, winning 51 of the legislature's 57 seats.

The province's premiers and their party affiliations:

Alex Rutherford, Liberal, 1905-1910.

A. L. Sifton, Liberal, 1910-1917.

Charles Stewart, Liberal, 1917-1921.

Herbert Greenfield, UFA, 1921-1925.

John Edward Brownlee, UFA, 1925-1934.

Richard Gavin Reid, UFA, 1934-1935.

William Aberhart, Social Credit, 1935-1943.

Ernest C. Manning, Social Credit, 1943 to present.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

LEAD TOWARD TENACES

"TENACE" IS an important word in the bridge language. It is based on the Latin verb "tenere," meaning to hold. In bridge a tenace is something a player should hold while leading toward it from the opposite hand or else hoping the opponents will lead up to it. The ace-queen of a suit is usually called the "major tenace," the king-jack the "minor tenace," the ace-queen-ten the "double tenace," the ace-jack and similar combinations "imperfect tenaces," and such set-ups as a guarded ace opposite a guarded queen as a "combination tenace." And guarded single honors lower than an ace are said to be in "tenace position." All of these are usually better when led toward than from.

That bidding was by the players at a table where North-South used the Vanderbilt club convention, 1-Club meaning a generally strong hand without indicating anything about the club suit, so that 2-Clubs would show the suit but perhaps in a hand of shaded honor strength. Natural bidding, however, resulted in the same final contract at most tables, the spades being doubled in most cases.

Every 4-Spades declarer failed to make his contract. Some, however, were set two tricks and and others only one. The difference was due chiefly to play of the club suit. Note how it was botched by one West. He won the heart K lead and laid down the club A, after which he gave up a club to the defenders. His idea was to ruff his third club, which he later did. But by this form of play he lost one trick in each side suit, one to the spade K and one to an over-ruff of the third diamond when he led it toward his own hand.

Another declarer, after winning the heart lead, led to the diamond A and brought a club forth from the dummy, letting the Q win. After losing a heart, he ruffed the next and gave a trump to the spade K. He lost a diamond then, ruffed the next, took two trumps in dummy, finessed the club J, scored the spade A to strip North, and the rest of the tricks were his, without ever using a dummy trump for ruffing a club.

Britain Offers $400,000 To Aid Arabs

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Aug. 3.—(CP).—Britain today offered £100,000 (400,000) toward an international fund to aid Arab refugees from the Holy Land war.

Britain's delegate, Sir Alexander Cadogan, told the United Nations Security Council thta solution of the Palestine problem is tied up with the fate of the displaced Jews of Europe and the Arab refugees in Palestine and surrounding countries.

There are 65,000 refugees in Trans-Jordan, about the same number in Lebanon and some 70,000 in Syria, Sir Alexander said. About 5,000 Arab women and children are expected soon in Iraq.

Jacob A. Malik of Russia, council president for August, said the question of refugees was not on the agenda and could not be discussed now.

He suggested that further information be sought from the United Nations mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte, to whom he would send Sir Alexander's proposal.

He suggested that the International Red Cross might be the best organization to study the problem of Arab refugees and make recommendations. It was assumed other countries would make contributions.

Sir Alexander said there now are some 200,000 displaced Jews in Europe and not less than 280,000 displaced Arabs as a result of the Palestine conflict. The Israeli Government has declared it is unwilling to take back the Arab refugees at present because they would threaten the security of the new state.

Ayrhart Lot Issue Unsettled

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3 — (ENS). — Council held its regular meeting of the month on what had been presumed by the general public to be a legal holiday.

According to Town Clerk McGregor, however, while everyone took the day off, from the legal point of view there was no holiday in Campbellford, for council did not authorize it, and there was not any proclamation issued.

The town was closed for the day, holiday or not, and most people appeared to have left early for wherever they went, for Front Street was deserted all day.

Catches Big Muskie In The Small Hours

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3 — (ENS). — Ernie Allen confounded the local fishing authorities Monday morning, when he got out of bed at 5 a.m. and caught a 20-pound maskinonge right in the heart of town.

Ernie had been watching the big fish for several days, when it went feeding in the aqueduct that runs into the Trent between the homes of Ed Stanbury and Hylton Beattie on Grand Road, and decided that the Civic holiday was as good as any.

He caught the big fellow at the entrance to the aqueduct, and after a short struggle brought it onto the bank of the river, without any assistance, and without anyone being the wiser for several hours afterward.

France Wins Race

TORQUAY, Devonshire, England, Aug. 3—(Reuters)—France today won the first race of the Olympic yachting program when J. Herbulot won in the firefly class for 12-foot dinghies. He sailed the course of approximately six miles in one hour, 30 minutes and 49 seconds. Second was Ralph L. Evans, Jr., of Bay Shore, N. Y. in 1:31:05. P. Van Der Haeghen of Belgium was third.

U.S. Basketball Team Rallies

LONDON, Aug. 3. (CP)—The United States Basketball team was forced to stage a last-half rally to turn back a tough Argentine club in the Olympic preliminaries today, 39 to 37.

The Argentines led 33 to 26, at intermission and the United States team had to uncork a strong finish to keep their record clean.

Canada does not compete today and will meet Brazil tomorrow. The Canadians suffered their first setback Monday at the hands of Hungary, 37-36, after defeating Britain and Italy.

Chile today clinched a berth in the finals by defeating the Philippines, 68-39 and Peru defeated Switzerland 49-19.

Discuss More Police For Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3. — (ENS).—Campbellford police received a pat on the back from the chairman of the police committee (Councillor F. W. Burgess) during a discussion Monday night of police vacations.

Mr. Brugess brought the matter up when he mentioned that the police officers are entitled to a two week vacation period each, and asked whether the council would consider the engagement of another constable for that period.

Council gave the matter considerable thought, with some thinking that the town should "take a chance" and let one officer go while the other policed the town, others felt that as the tourist season is still on, the police vacation should be delayed. There was the matter of fall fairs coming up shortly, one member remarking that there is usually "a crop of suspicious characters" hanging around when the fairs are on, and thought the vacations should be left until after September.

Councillor Burgess reminded the members that the staff had been reduced when Constable White had left, and that the two present officers were carrying on the duties previously performed by three men, without any increase in salary being requested, and felt that they should be able to take a vacation at the time he hey wish, like any oher person.

The matter was left to Mr. Burgess, members agreeing that when one officer is away, the other could do night duty, and in case of any serious accidents or similar calls, he would be available at home.

Police Docket Heavy

The police court docket was heavy today as several liquor and traffic cases came before Magistrate E. A. Gee, K.C.

Joseph McMahon and Bernard McMahon of Maniece Ave.; Ambrose Blodgett, Lundy's Lane; Edward Weese, 584 Water St.: were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs when they pleaded guilty to being drunk in public.

Alberta Robinson, Bellevue Ave., was fined $50 and $2.50 when she pleaded guilty to a second offence of being drunk in public.

Fred Loech, Toronto; T. Williams, C. Schofield, Peterborough, pleaded guilty to illegally having liquor and were each fined $10 and $2.50.

J. S. Olaveson, 11 Maria St., was fined $25 and $2.50 when he pleaded guilty to not filing an income tax return.

Edward Hummell, 52 Robinson St., was fined $10 and $2.50 costs when he pleaded guilty to causing wilful damage to a telephone at his home.

Transport Plans Badly Muddled

WEMBLEY, England, Aug. 3.—(Reuters).—Urgent and delicate moves were taking place behind the Olympic scene today to preserve diplomatic peace.

A British cabinet minister had to intervene — unofficial — after a stream of complaints about transport arrangements.

Earlier in the games the Pakistan wrestling team was disqualified because it was late for the weigh-in through a transport muddle.

Competitors protested the games' buses did not arrive to take them back to their camps for meals. Officials complained that when they asked for cars there were none.

A number of dismissals have followed allegations of petty pilfering at Olympic games camps. An official said that there were hundreds of tons of varied foodstuffs at the camps, some of which had never before been seen in this country.

Cassidy Family Honors Centenarian

TWEED, August 3 — Over 200 members of the Cassidy family, from all parts of Hastings Co., assembled at the farm of James Trudeau on Sunday afternoon to honor John Cassidy, who celebrated his 100th birthday. He was the recipient of gifts and good wishes and among the tributes were letters from Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Premier George Drew.

Born in Hungerford Township, a few miles from Tweed, Mr. Cossidy has lived in this community all his life. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cassidy, came from County Wicklow in Ireland and settled near Stoco, where he was born a year after their arrival.

His direct descendants include 10 children, 69 grandchildren, and 155 great-grandchildren, all of whom were in atendance at the birthday party to-day. Fifteen great-grandchildren were born during the past year. A large chart indicating the family tree started by Mr. Cassidy with the birth of his first son was presented to him.

Sons and daughters are: Thomas, John, William, and Peter Cassidy of Stoco; Michel of Bogart and George with whom he lives, and Mrs. James Trudeau, Mrs. Andrew Doran, Mrs. John Murphy, and Mrs. Charles Akey, all of Tweed. Another daughter, Mrs. James Whalen, died five years ago, and his wife, the former Elizabeth McGrath, died in 1888.

One of the pioneers of Hungerford Township, Mr. Casidy was in a reminiscent mood and told of the trials that beset those who hewed for themselves homes from the virgin bush a century ago. He said oxen were employed in work on the tiny farms since there were few horses available. He had the first lumber wagon in the neighborhood and recalled that he took his bride to the little Stoco Roman Catholic Church for their marriage onp one of the first trips in the conveyance of which he was extremely proud.

A lumberjack in the winter, he walked to Maynooth, a distance of over 65 miles where he received the princely sum of $13.50 for a month's work. Mr. Cassidy told his great-grandchildren who had come on Sunday with their parents in shining limousines that he frequently made his way on foot to Belleville, Napanee and Tweed —the chief trading centre 85 years ago.

The 1949 convention will be held in Port Colborne.

Seal Control Of Danube, Soviet Plan

Red-Dominated States Given Exclusive Rights Over River

BELGRADE, Aug. 4 — (AP). — The Russians today presented their draft plan which would give Communist-ruled states of eastern Europe exclusive control over the Danube.

Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky presented the proposal to the Danube conference, where the United States and France seven Russian bloc outvotes Britain, the to three.

He demanded what he called "protection" of the sovereign rights of the Danubian states over the 1,800 mile waterway, the major one in central Europe. Each participating country would have immediate control of the waters of its own borders.

Vishinsky explained the Soviet draft point by point. He asserted it would do away with the privileged position" given non-Danubian states by the 1921 Paris convention for control of the river's shopping.

Safeguard Rights

He asserted the Russian plan would "fully satisfy the requirements of justice, safeguard sovereign rights and withhold unjustified privileges for non-Danubian states."

The word "sovereignty" has been a keynote of Russian policy and the policy of her satellites in most international negotiations since the war. Eastern insistence of sovereignty might well nullify the power of any international commission which might be created to regulate free shipping on Central Europe's main waterway.

First hint of this came the opening day of the conference when the eastern block defined its idea of free navigation as "the Danube to Danube countries." In taking that stand, the bloc indicated it felt that Danube shipping could reach other lands only through individual agreements with various Danube countries.

Bullet Misses CNR Conductor

MILTON, Aug. 4 (CP)—Robert R. Storey, of Hamilton, was cut about the face last night when a bullet passed through a window inches away from his head on the train of which he is conductor.

The train, a Canadian National Railways freight, was passing over a high-level bridge near Stewarttown, 10 miles north of Milton, when the shooting took place.

Storey told police he had received his clearance orders from Georgetown and, after he had finished reading them at his desk in the caboose, he stood up to place them on a hook overhead. As he rose, a bullet crashed through a window, missing his head by inches and spraying him with flying bits of jagged glass. The bullet, later found to be of .22 calibre, imbedded itself in the far wall of the caboose.

Provincial Constable Al Lemon said today that he has found two 15-year-old Stewarttown boys, who admitted that they had been shooting birds at the time of the accident.

Queen Elizabeth, 48 Spends Day At Palace

LONDON, Aug. 4 — (CP). — The Queen today spent her 48th birthday at home in Buckingham Palace.

No official visit has been planned and the Queen has no public engagements. She decided to spend the day quietly with the King and Princess Elizabeth and Margaret.

Court officials said the Royal Family would have a small family dinner at Buckingham Palace to celebration.

Congratulatory messages began to come in Tuesday and continued in greater volume today. Flowers and needlework were among the birthday gifts, but the family's presents were kept secret.

Gurkhas Aided By Planes Plunge To Red Stronghold

SINGAPORE, Aug. 4—(CP)—Gurkhas, experienced jungle fighters of the Burma campaign, and detachments of the Malay regiment advancing under RAF Spitfire cover, reached Pulai, Malayan Communist stronghold today, despite Insurgent resistance. The force had advanced nine miles south from British-held Guamusang testing Insurgent strength in the south Kelantan area, reported to be the centre of Communist resistance.

Another military force, following up Spitfire attacks Tuesday on Insurgent camps in the lower Perak area, captured 38 prisoners and seized a considerable quantity of arms and ammunition. Sixteen of the prisoners were later released.

Insurgents who Tuesday ambushed a military column with machine-gun and rifle fire three miles north of Pulai, in South Kelantan, have killed one Gurkha, according to official reports reaching Kuala Lumpur.

Trying to Form State

This is the area where the Insurgents are believed to be trying to gain enough territory to hoist the red flag and proclaim the first Communist republican "state" in Malaya.

Two Chinese women, wounded by a rocket which was accidentally fired from a Spitfire as it took off from an airfield here, died in hospital, bringing the death toll in two such accidents in the last four days to four, all women.

Britain Studies New Royal Home

LONDON, Aug. 4 — (CP). — British sources are interested in reports that the Ottawa Board of Control has under study a proposal to set aside a 50-acre park there for a Royal residence. But they could not speculate as to when the King and Queen would be able to spend a yearly period in the Canadian capital

Ever since Prime Minister Mackenzie King said he looked forward to their Majesties residing in Ottawa part of each year, sources here have reiterated that this is a logical expectation. When it will be possible is another matter.

The Royal program is arranged far ahead and present emphasis is on the Royal visit to the Antipodes next year.

This change from the tradition of Royal residence in the United Kingdom involves weighty consideration. There are limitations on the amount of travel the King and Queen can endure even with the aid of aircraft, and it probably would have to be understood that annual residence in Canada would not involve strenuous yearly coast-to-coast tours.

Italy Ready To Surrender Her Sovereignty For Union

ROME, Aug. 4 — (AP). — Italy is ready to take the lead in surrendering national sovereignty to bring about European union, foreign minister County Carlo Sforza said today.

The bearded, 74-year-old statesman urged union now as the only cure for the continent's post-war economic and political ills and the sole hope for peace.

To bring it about and to do away with "archaic frontiers and archaic customs duties," he declared in an interview, Italy is ready to "accept curtailment of its political sovereignty, even in the most unexpected aspects."

There was but one condition: "That others do the same."

A long-time advocate of unity, Count Sforza had his hand strengthened last week when the senate, in approving the European recovery program accords, urged their early idevelopment into effective union.

Only Communists and fellow-travelling Socialists demurred.

The question of national sovereignty has been and is one of the primary stumbling blocks in the way of a united Europe.

"To say that European countries ought to federate," the foreign minister said, "is to say that they must restrain in thei reconomic life useless competition and divergent efforts.

"It means renouncing progressive areas of sovereignty, customs barriers, financial restrictions, anti-economic distribution of tasks and functions.

It is necessary, therefore, "to reopen Europe to the (free) circulation of goods, of labor and of ideas." Italy knows that this is the only way to arrive at that economic co-operation "which is the basis and end of the generous assistance lent" through the Marshall plan.

Haliburton Ogopogo?

LINDSAY, Aug. 4—(CP) Lake Kashagawigamog has a sea monster all of its own. Passengers on the "Queen Mary", a small yacht, said today the 10-foot animal frisked about the Haliburton Highlands summer resort lake as if it were playing tag. They described it as about six feet long with a four-foot tail, the head of a turtle and a fin protuding from the centre of its back. The Kashagawigamog monster held up the boat's schedule for one hour while passengers ogled.

Fraserville Farm Home Razed In $6,000 Fire

FRASERVILLE, Aug. 4.—(Special).—Two hundred neighbors of this community worked for more than an hour to try to save the farm home of Mrs. Stewart Hogg, which burned to the ground Tuesday night, with an estimated loss of $6,000. A two-storey white frame house a mile northeast of Fraserville on the road leading to Crawford's Grove, the building was a total loss. The fire broke out about seven o'clock and lasted for more than an hour.

Efforts of the volunteer firefighters of the district saved most of the home's contents. An engine from the Peterborough fire department arrived in time to save the barn nearby. It had been in serious danger of being taken by the flames which scorched shingles on the barn roof.

The owner of the house, Mrs Stewart Hogg, and a hired man, Richard Waugh, were in the barn milking when the fire started from unknown causes. Edward Hogg, a son, was returning to the house and noticed smoke pouring from the back kitchen. He notified the other two, who started to summon nearby residents for assistance.

Ladder Afire

In the meantime, the son began to carry water from the well. Mr. Waugh had placed a ladder against the back-shed and was on the roof, trying to attack the fire at its source. The flames spread so quickly that the ladder caught fire and the hired man was forced to jump from the low roof to make his escape.

Neighbors shuttled back and forth from the house in a chain, taking to safety most of the household effects, including some of the food stored in the cellar.

The loss is only partially met by insurance.

Mrs. Hogg was taken to the home of another son, Elmer, near Millbrook, for the night.

Mr. Forrestal is expected to confer with the defence committee of the cabinet and the chiefs of staff. The mutual problems could embrace such subjects as standardization of arms, provision of arms for Europe's western union and northern defence.

The plane picked up AB Stanley Stark of Petrolia, Ont., who was suffering from acute stomach pains, possibly appendicitis. After preliminary examination in hospital here his condition was described as "good."

The Magnificent was near the end of the Strait of Canso on a 10-day shakedown cruise.

Fires Shots At Police During Chase

Cornered In Shed Would-Be Bandit Takes Own Life

MONTREAL, Aug. 4 —(CP)— Cornered in a north-end building as several hundred citizens dodged a fusillade of bullets a 25-year-old gunman fatally shot himself today after a gunfight with police.

The man was unidentified.

He took his own life a few minutes after police, following him after an attempted holdup, surrounded him in a Berri Street building and sent out a call to headquarters for tear gas.

Police said the man entered a restaurant-grocery store owned by Damien Bertrand on Foucher Street and brandished a .38 calibre revolver. He told Bertrand to "hand over your money."

Instead Bertrand moved around the counter, kicked the gunman in the stomach. The gunman fired a shot which missed Bertrand and then ran from the store with Bertrand's son, Francois, in pursuit.

Francois saw Capt. Gerard Brodeur of the city police traffic department on a motorcycle, and told him the bandit had attempted to rob his father.

Brodeur followed the man; shouted to him "Stop, I want to talk to you."

Instead, the bandit again pulled his revolver, and told Brodeur "If you want to play, we'll play."

"I saw him facing me with his gun," Brodeur said. "I pulled mine and fired a shot."

Shoots Back

The gunman shot back, and then ran into a lane.

Brodeur fired a second shot and the gunman dodged and climbed the stairs of a building to the third floor, and with his gun still in his hand, broke into the home of Mrs. Edouard Paquin.

"I was frightened," Mrs. Paquin said. "More for my 16-months-old baby than for myself. I told him to please leave us alone and slammed the door in his face."

Shut out in the shed again, the gunman tried to make his getaway and Brodeur fired another shot. In the meantime, he shouted to citizens to call more police.

Brodeur then began climbing the stairs towards the gunman, still dodging the bandit's bullets. The desperado tried to reach the roof, and Brodeur told him:

"If you go any higher I'll shoot." The gunman's answer: "That's what I want."

The gunman took refuge behind a door and fired two shots towards a surging group of policemen.

The shooting died down for a few moments, and then another shot pierced the silence. Policement closed in from every side, with drawn guns, and found the gunman lying in a pool of blood, a bullet through his temple.

50 Men In Jail After Race Riot

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Aug. 4. — (AP).—With police patrolling in impressive strength, an uneasy quiet prevailed today at the south end of this port city, where race riots occurred during the last three days.

"All resources of the police will be used to stamp out this ugly business," Chief Constable C. C. Martin said.

About 50 men, many of them West African Negroes, are being held in jails for trial next week on a variety of charges. Police have a collection of iron bars, swords and knives used in several fights which took place in a square-mile area near the docks where many hundred Negroes live.

Several women who took part in the brawling are free under bail. Investigators said white women who associate with Negroes in clubs and on the streets are responsible for some of the fights.

Many of the Negroes involved reached Liverpool by stowing away in ships coming from West African ports. They are British subjects, so they may not be sent back against their will.

TORONTO, Aug. 4—(CP) A charge of murder against 17-year-old May Hill was withdrawn today and she was remanded to Aug. 10 on a charge of attempted shopbreaking. Bail was set at $3,000. Her boy friend, Fred Aldred, 21, will be arraigned on a murder charge on the same date for slaying of William D. Cowan, 57, in Cowan's country grocery store at Malvern last Sunday.

Denies Spying Against U.S.; Silent On Reds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP). —Nathan Gregory Silvermaster swore to-day he never was a spy for any foreign country, but admitted that naval intelligence authorities once sought his removal from government service.

In the witness chair of the House of Representatives Un-American Activities Committee, Silvermaster also refused to answer questions as to whether he ever had been a Communist. His refusal was on grounds he might incriminate himself.

While he refused to answer questions about any affiliation with the Communists, Silvermaster read a statement saying he had been cleared after investigation by various agencies, including the Chief of the United States Secret Service and War Secretary Robert Patterson.

He said Nova Scotia-born Lauchlin Currie had gone to see Patterson on his behalf, and that his boss, C. G. Baldwin, likewise had intervened.

That, he said, was after Naval Intelligence had said he should not be trusted. Silvermaster said that this "was unjustified, a smear letter."

Currie, who once lived at Bridgewater, NS, was an administrative assistant to the late President Roosevelt. His name came into the current hearings earlier.

Missing Plane Sends SOS

PARIS, Aug. 4 — (AP). — Air France said today it has received reports that an SOS has been picked up from its giant flying boat, missing since Sunday with 32 persons aboard. The company said all it had was a bare report from one of the ships searching the South Atlantic that it had heard the distress signal. There were no further details. Ships and planes were rushed toward the spot where the signal was believed to have originated.

Hint Agreement Reached Between Big Four; Expect Another Meeting

Berlin Blockade May Be Lifted Soon When Date Arranged; Race To Get First Post-War Constitution

MOSCOW, Aug. 4—(AP)—An informed source said today some sort of agreement may result from the talks of Western Power envoys with Prime Minister Stalin and Foreign Minister Molotov. The informant would not specify the nature of such an agreement. Another meeting of the envoys with Stalin, Molotov or both may be requested soon.

The three envoys—Walter Bedell Smith of the United States, Yves Chataigneau of France and Frank Roberts, principal secretary to Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain—were reported to have received instructions from Washington, Paris and London.

There was some doubt that any meeting of the three with the Russian leaders would take place to-day, but this possibility was not ruled out. The Western representatives are standing by and waiting.

It is not yet possible to determine just how long the present negotiations will continue. It would appear, however, that Roberts, only non-resident among the three envoys, may be in Moscow the remainder of this week or until next week-end.

May Lift Blockade

BERLIN, Aug. 4 — (AP). — Communists in Eastern Germany raced to beat the west today in producing the country's first post-war constitution. Both groups have set September target dates.

Berliners, meantime, voiced hope that this week's western-power talks with Prime Minister Stalin in Moscow would result in an east-west compromise and

Canada Loses Chance At Basketball Title

HARRINGAY ARENA, London, Aug. 4 —(CP)—Canada lost a chance for the Olympic basketball championship today when the strong Brazil team defeated the Canadians 57-35.

It was the second reverse for the Canadians, who dropped a 37-36 decision to Hungary last Monday. They won their first two games against Britain and Italy.

Uruguay is the next opponent but a victory would not put the Canadians in either of the top two places of their bracket.

Explosion Kills Youth 22 At Nickel Plant

SUDBURY, Aug. 4 — (CP) — David Van Norman, 22, a sampler helper at the International Nickel Company, was fatally injured Tuesday in an explosion of a molten matte in the convertor building of the company's smelter at Copper Cliff. Van Norman died shortly after his arrival at the Copper Cliff hospital.

James A. Marrifield, aged 19, another sampler helper, was severely burned about the legs, arms and body. Convertor puncher Vincenzo Meandro, aged 25, suffered facial and other injuries.

Several other workmen suffered minor burns and contusions. Marrifield and Meandro are in hospital.

The blast occurred when a ladle of bessemer matte tipped on its side as a crane crew were preparing to move it away from a convertor. As the molten matte spilled on the floor it exploded.

Van Norman was thrown against a steel column support by the force of the explosion and suffered fatal head and body injuries. A son of William E. Van Norman, manager of the Sudbury branch of the Bank of Toronto, he had worked for Inco since August 13, 1947.

Royal Romance Rumors Flying

LONDON, Aug. 4.—(AP). — London society is talking about a possible new royal romance. It links Princess Margaret with the handsome Marquess of Blandford, 22-year-old cousin of Winston Churchill.

Princess Margaret has said she wants to marry "when I meet the right man," palace sources report. She will celebrate her 18th birthday Aug. 21 and become officially of age.

Palace sources say Lord Blandford, a lieutenant in the Life Guards, ranks "ace high" with Princess Margaret right now. Others mentioned in the past include Lord Porchester, young Lord Ogilvy, Lord Milford Haven and other peers. They have been her escorts many times.

Lord Blandford, who returned recently from service in the Middl East, is a son of the 10th Duke and Duchess of Marlborough. Their estate, Blenheim Palace, is said to be the largest private home in England.

Can Company Strike No Threat To Fruit

TORONTO, Aug. 4 (CP)—Robert M. Allen, manager of the suburban New Toronto plant of the Continental Can Company said today the strike which started there Tuesday "will not jeopardize Ontario's fruit crop in any way."

Agriculture experts said Tuesday night they feared the province's canning crop would suffer if the strike were prolonged and a shortage of cans developed.

Mr. Allen said today that, if necessary, cans would be brought from the United States to meet any shortage.

"Since the New Toronto plant is a subsidiary of an American company, the import of cans would not involve expenditure of U.S. funds," he said.

Liberals Geared For Big Opening Of Convention

OTTAWA, Aug. 4 (CP)—They gave the national Liberal convention its final touch of spit and polish today.

Late-comer delegates arrived from the far reaches of the country, convention organization committees held a dozen and one "final" meetings to clean up odds and ends, workmen finished their labors in the convention hall and there was a last round of gossip and speculation in lobby-filled hotel rooms.

With that, all was ready for the big opening tomorrow in the Coliseum of Ottawa's city-owned Lansdowne Park.

There, at precisely 10:30 a.m., EDT, Prime Minister Mackenzie King will deliver an address and formally open a three-day party get-together at which party organization will be discussed, a new party platform whipped into shape and a new leader selected in a final round of balloting Saturday afternoon.

Third Convention

It will be the third annual convention in the party's history and the second since Mr. King himself was chosen as leader over four other candidates in this capital in 1919.

More than 4,000 party supporters from across the country, including 1,299 voting delegates and 840 alternates, will attend the sessions.

While organization and the new platform are equally big items on the convention agenda, the question of the leadership balloting looms largest in convention gossip and speculation and promises to remain so until the issue is put to a vote at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Three main candidates already are in the running, with the possibility that the names of others may be put forward when nominations are formally closed at 6 p.m. Friday.

Smuggle B.C. Cattle By Hundreds to U.S.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 4.—(CP). —A Seattle customs official today said British Columbia cattle have been smuggled "by the hundreds" across the United States boundary in the past few months to beat the Canadian embargo on beef exports.

Howard MacGowan, chief customs officer for Washington territory, said high prices on United States markets inspired the traffic.

Three Canadians and two Americans will be charged with smuggling a United States customs official said.

He said there were many points along the boundary where smugglers need only open an unguarded gate to cross the border.

Grandmother Praises 'Gentleman' Thief

TORONTO, Aug. 4 —(CP)—A grandmother who caught a man in her home and held him until police arrived described the housebreaking suspect as a "perfect gentleman."

Mrs. Lucie Driscoll was sitting on the verandah with her married daughter Tuesday when she went into the house to investigate a noise.

"I found a man standing in the dining room and on a nearby chair was my purse," she said. "He turned and fled towards the rear door, but I managed to catch up with him and throw my arms about his neck."

She held the man while her daughter called police. Clayton Webber, 35, was charged with housebreaking.

Fertilizer Inquiry Under Way

OTTAWA, Aug. 4 — (CP). — The Prices Committee was scheduled to complete its examination of one of the country's main suppliers of fertilizers, Canadian Industries Limited, to-day.

The company, represented by H. Greville Smith, executive vice-president and a witness before the Commons Prices Committee when it investigated nylon prices, Tuesday presented figures showing that its operations in the fertilizer field were less profitable than before the war.

Although sales had risen from $4,287,000 in 1939 to $11,082,000 in 1947, the firm's profits from this branch of its activities dropped from $210,000 to $201,000. Its capital investment in fertilizers rose from $4,066,000 to $8,219,000 —roughly double—and the yield on capital dropped to exactly half, from 5 to 2½ per cent.

Supplies a Lot

CIL supplies about one-third of the fertilizers used in Canada, Mr. Smith said in an eight-page brief which he read to Prof. C. A. Curtis, chairman of the commission, and H. C. Bois and Mrs. T. W. Sutherland, its other members.

Prof. Curtis said Tuesday night that the commission, which normally will hold public hearings three or four times a week, will probably not meet on Thursday because of the Liberal convention. The Liberal gathering has made it impossible to get hotel accommodation in the city for witnesses.

Commission counsel H. A. Dyde said as Tuesday's meeting closed that he had had to assure Mr. Smith that his examination would be completed to-day since he could not stay on in his hotel to-night.

early lifting of the Berlin deadlock.

There was no official comment in Berlin on the Moscow negotiations, but it is known British and United States occupation commanders are being kept advised of developments by Washington and London. Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British commander, flies to London today for talks at the foreign office.

In the Soviet capital itself American diplomatic sources maintained silence on the negotiations. The lid also is on tight in Washington, London and Paris.

It is the general belief in Berlin that no final agreements were reached at the Moscow meeting, but that enough of an exchange of views had been made with Stalin to indicate a compromise could be worked out.

Relief Soon

It is expected the blockade will be lifted when the four powers agree on a date for a new big-four meeting, which most observers feel sure will be held.

At the moment, interest centred on the race to proluce rival German governments.

The Communist-controlled people's council, after discussing the draft for a "German democratic republic" Tuesday, ordered its constitution committee to complete the document by the middle of September. It will then be laid before the Communist people's congress for approval.

The constitutional assembly as proposed by the western powers is tentatively scheduled in western Germany for early September.

The Communist constitution will be drawn up to include all Germany. The communists insist the people's council represents all political viewpoints in Germany, although it is not recognized outsiidei the Soviet zone and the Soviet sector of Berlin.

There were indications of a compromise solution to Berlin's currency snarl.

The German city magistrate and the Soviet-dominated eastern economic commission have proposed to the west a compromise in which Soviet currency would be designated as the only legal tender for taxes while permitting western currency to circulate in the western sectors.

Travel Bureau Head Held On 5 Counts

HAMILTON, Aug. 4 — (CP). — Harold Park, 40, operator of a local travel bureau appeared before Magistrate H. A. Burbridge this morning on five conversion counts.

The persons who laid the charges were among the 17 left sitting in the bus terminal last Monday when a trip to New York for which they had each paid $65 failed to materialize. After waiting from 8.30 o'clock until after three in the afternoon for the bus and the man who had sold them the tickets they were told the trip was off. Police were called to investigate.

Park was brought back from Toronto Tuesday night. He had been found wandering around Sunnyside amusement park and was believed to be suffering from amnesia. Bail was set at $1,000 and the case will be heard on Aug. 11.

Bob McFarlane Qualifies In 400-Metre

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, Aug. 4 — (CP). — Bob McFarlane of London, Ont., qualified today for the semi-finals of the Olympic 400-metre run. McFarlane finished third in the second preliminary heat he ran today.

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, Aug. 4 — (CP). — Bob McFarlane of London, Ont., qualified in today's preliminary heats of the Olympic 400-metre run, finishing second in his heat to H. Kunnen of Belgium.

Bob's brother Don and Ernie McCullough of Calgary were eliminated in their heats, both finishing third.

Only two qualified in each heat.

Bob McFarlane, running with a bandaged knee, was clocked in 50 seconds flat, slow time for the big fellow.

He was on the outside lane and moved into the lead after the start.

On the last bend before the straight-away Kunnen shot into the lead.

McFarlane glanced over his shoulder as he neared the tape to being beaten out for a qualifying make sure he was in no danger of place.

Don had to contend with Mal Whitfield, the American star who has already won the Olympic 800-metre run in record time.

Don set the pace for 200 metres but was caught on the final bend and passed by Whitfield and Bill Roberts of Britain.

Although eliminated, Don ran the distance in 48.3 seconds, faster than Bob.

When Kunnen finished he was about five yards ahead of Bob. The Canadian, who has been nursing a muscle injury suffered in training in Canada, appeared content with making a qualifying spot.

McCullough, off to a slow start, picked up ground on L. C. Lewis of Britain and B. Vade of Norway. At one time he drew even with Vade, who finished second behind Lewis, but dropped back in the last 25 metres. McCullough's time was 48.9.

Wedding Saves Young Man From Jail Term

OSHAWA, Aug. 4 — Rona Laport 20, was saved from jail only because he was on his honeymoon. Instead he was fined $50 and costs when he appeared in court Tuesday on a charge of dangerous driving.

Magistrate Russell P. Locke, who has a soft spot for honeymoon couples, told Laport his 80-mile-an-hour jaunt through the city's streets was "ghastly." Were it not for the fact that he was married July 24, he would impose a jail term, the court told the defendant, who pleaded guilty.

Two policemen in a cruiser car fired three shots into Laport's machine during the wild chase. The pursuit started on Simcoe St., constinued along the new highway, back onto Simcoe St., and ended on Olive St.

One bullet passed through the left rear fender, another hit the trunk and the third passed through the car body. Constable Ted Ferguson said he fired because he was sure the car was a stolen one. The cruiser's siren was in action throughout the chase, Ferguson and Constable Harry King testified.

Laport, who hails from La Salle, Essex County, claimed he did not hear the siren.

"I just thought someone was following me, and since I had a lot of clothes and things in the car, I tried to get away," he said.

"You'll have to learn that you can't endanger lives by driving at such a speed in the city," Magistrate Locke said.

"ALL-CANADIAN"

TODAY FOR the first time the label "All-Canadian" can be applied to a growing diversity of products — from kitchen and garden chairs to modern aircraft. Increasing use of original Canadian design is one more indication of Canada's continuing advance — with ever-widening areas of opportunity awaiting the enterprise of young Canadians. Canada has become one of the world's great manufacturing nations; and not only are we producing more; now our designers are applying new processes and new materials to the development of distinctively Canadian products.

NEW TYPES of upholstered furniture, laminated plywood chairs, kitchen ranges, lighting equipment, canoes, toys . . . are some of the modern products created by the imagination and technical knowledge of Canadian designers.

LOCOMOTIVES and tractors are being designed . . . new features applied to ship construction . . . a distinctive West Coast architecture developed . . . Typical of Canadian achievements in metal design is modern railway coach equipment.

IN FASHION, too, there's a "New Canadian Look", as new patterns and fabrics are developed and Canadian dress designers win increasing recognition in world style centres. Today Canada's fashion industry has become big business.

Obituary

GEORGE T. WOODLEY

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 4.—(CP).—Stricken Sunday at his summer home at Grimsby Beach, George T. Woodley, Belleville, died Monday evening in Hamilton General Hospital. He was a well-known fur merchant in this city. Born 76 years ago, Mr. Woodley had lived in this city all his life. He entered business early and 44 years ago opened a fur store which he had since occupied. He served for many years on the boards of education and was a member of the Belleville Lodge No. 123, Masonic Order. He was an ardent lawn bowler. New Equipment Increases Power

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 4. — (ENS) — Campbellford citizens can expect to have the electric lights off on several more occasions, according to P. C. Denyes, manager of the Public Utilities Commission.

The lights were off this morning from 1:15 to 4 o'clock and on Monday morning from 1:30 to 2:30 to enable the commission's staff to change over to a new bank of transformers at the town power house.

The new equipment is expected to give much better service than has been the case formerly, and will be able to carry a much heavier peak load. The old equipment will still be in reserve in case of trouble.

The changing over to this new bank of transformers means almost the end of a long and complicated struggle on the part of Mr. Denyes to get the necessary equipment, which was authorized by the commissioners about two years ago.

Shortages and strikes made it almost impossible to get anything at all for the work at the powerhouse, and officials had doubts for some time that sufficient equipment could be obtained in time to take care of expected increases in power consumption.

At the last meeting of the Public Utilities Commission, members agreed that they will visit the power house in a body to inspect the completed job.

One of the commissioners who has already viewed the job, said that as far as they had gone, it was one of the finest jobs of its kind that he had yet seen, and he had seen many.

The early hours of the morning were chosen as the best time for the light stoppage in order to not interfere with regular users of power any more than absolutely necessary.

The Balance Sheet For Newfoundland's Accession

What will be the cost to Canada and to Newfoundland when the colony becomes our tenth province? Under the terms proposed to the Newfoundland convention last October, Newfoundland will receive annually some 27 million dollars ($6.8 million—tax agreement; $2.6 million—old age pensions; $8.3 million—family allowance; $9.4 million—departmental expenditure). There will be in addition a transitional grant of $25.8 million, payable over three years. The Dominion will absorb the public debt of Newfoundland, which totals $71.9 million, but includes a sinking fund of $8.3 million. It will take over the costly Newfoundland railway, the harbours, wharves, military and naval stores, the telegraph system, the Newfoundland Broadcasting System, the post office, war pensions and various welfare services. Newfoundland, for its part, will give up $20 million in income, but retain its wartime surplus of $30 million.

* * *

The Dominion's terms are generous, and it would seem that Newfoundland has the best of the bargain. Its standard of living will be raised, its services improved; as part of Canada its economy will be strengthened. But, as the Winnipeg Free Press points out, the bargain is not all one-sided:

> "Canada also stands to gain. Her population is increased by 350,000 English-speaking stock; vast natural resources are ready for development; the natural geographical picture of the Dominion is completed. Strategically, Newfoundland is a key to the Atlantic and the natural guardian of the St. Lawrence, whose value has been enhanced rather than diminished by the air warfare."

* * *

There is much which remains to be settled. There are large matters like the fate of the American bases in Newfoundland and elections for Newfoundland provincial and federal seats. (It is entitled to six senators and seven members in the House of Commons.) There are thousands of small matters—the details of the general agreements and the intricacies of the transition period. It will be many months before union can be consummated.

* * *

The completion of the federation of British North America will be an historic event. Today's children will say importantly in old age, "I remember when Newfoundland joined Canada". Present costs, great as they may be, are inconsequential when compared with the fiduciary benefits which Canadian and Newfoundland nation-makers—the whole people from the Grand Banks to the Straits of Juan de Fuca—are now creating for the future.

Our Beverage Rooms

The Ontario Hotel Association has petitioned for permission to raise the price of bottled beer in Ontario beverage rooms and to decrease the legal size of glasses for draught beer from nine to eight ounces. This follows upon the slight increases in prices which the brewers have been authorized to charge. We think that higher prices for beer in hotels and beverage rooms are neither desirable nor necessary.

It is true that the wholesale costs to the retailer have risen, as also have the costs of handling—waiters' wages, furniture, glasses and bottles. These higher costs should be met with not by higher retail prices in the beverage rooms but by internal economies and reduction of wastage. These economies could be effected by the patrons themselves. People use beverage rooms in even worse fashion than they do the rest of the hotel's accommodation. They are almost wilfully careless in handling their glasses—and the breakages add to the operators' costs. They track mud into a new carpet which has been put down so that the place will be less depressing, and never bother to wipe their feet on a mat at the door. They expectorate on the floors and rums and grind cigarette butts into them, as if the beverage room were a sawdust-covered wild-west bar of the last century.

The official attitude about beverage rooms encourages boorish behaviour. Beverage rooms are designed by law to be tawdry, uninviting and even sordid. There are blinds on the windows, or no windows, so that "good" outside people cannot see the devilry that goes on inside. There is no music, little decoration, nothing but tables and chairs and nothing to do but to sit dully and imbibe. The patron sits and sits, hat on head, no food to cushion the drink, no dart game or checkers to take his mind off the full or empty glass. The law says that a man must sit at a table when he has his beer, though a man who is sitting tends to drink more than a man who is standing. A person who goes to the bar for his drinks quickly realizes on the way if he has had as much as his legs will stand, but the law says that he must not be served at a counter; he must be served by a waiter (a costly method). The number of licenses granted is limited, so that beverage rooms grow noisier and more barn-like. They are not small and quiet and the patrons are not under the friendly eye of one barman. In Ontario the beverage room regulations make for not only high costs but also boorish behaviour and insobriety.

Since we have beverage rooms, let them be decent places, not dens enveloped by stupid regulation, gloom and a sense of sin. People react to their environment, even in beverage rooms. If society expects a man to act like a depraved outcast the moment he enters a beverage room, the man has a tendency to live up to the expectations. The beverage rooms reflect the expectations and encourage uncivil behaviour.

Candidates For The Liberal Leadership:
Rt. Hon. L. S. St. Laurent

Although last on the alphabetical list of candidates for leadership of the national Liberal party, Rt. Hon. Louis Stephen St. Laurent, K.C., LL.D., is regarded as one of the most likely to be chosen by the convention opening in Ottawa today. Mr. St. Laurent is actively in the campaign to succeed Mr. Mackenzie King; he re-affirmed his candidacy after the Quebec election result, which was considered by many an emphatic indication of the need for a strong and able French-Canadian political leader at this time.

Mr. St. Laurent is a comparative newcomer to political life. He gave up a lucrative law practice when Prime Minister King asked him to take the post of Minister of Justice in the Federal Cabinet, made vacant by the death of Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe. That was in 1941; the nation was at war, and Mr. St. Laurent considered it his duty as a Canadian to serve as he was asked. Shortly after accepting the post he sought a seat in the House of Commons as member for Quebec East. He won by an impressive majority and repeated his victory with an even greater majority in the general election of 1945.

From the beginning of his service in the Federal Cabinet, Mr. St. Laurent revealed the qualities that have made him an outstanding contender for the Liberal leadership. Long recognized as one of the most brilliant lawyers in Canada, he showed equal talent as an administrator and diplomat, and his promotion to the important portfolio of External Affairs was widely acclaimed. And as Canada's Foreign Minister, Mr. St. Laurent has won international recognition as a statesman; he is credited by authoritative observers in Washington, D.C., with having initiated two of the most important moves toward closer union among the Western Powers.

Suave and almost perfectly bilingual, Mr. St. Laurent is one of the ablest speakers in the Commons. His lack of experience as a politician is balanced by his remarkable flair for statesmanship, and by the qualities of leadership he has so amply demonstrated since taking public office. And he is an ardent believer in closer union between the two great racial groups of Canadians; he has been a practical exponent of that belief all his life. He combines both groups in his person, for his father was a French-Canadian and his mother's parents came from Galway, Ireland. He is married, the father of four children; he is a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

Although sixty-six, Mr. St. Laurent's spare, erect figure and brisk movements would grace many men far younger in years. If he is chosen as the successor to Mr. King, the Liberal party will be led by the Canadian with the greatest reputation in international affairs next to the retiring Prime Minister himself.

The other evening we saw the ultimate evidence that women have become completely emancipated. A motor-bike was whooshing along the Port Hope highway. A woman was sitting in the driver's saddle. The man was behind her, riding the pillion.

Consolations Of Senility

By OLIVE HESELTINE
(In Manchester Guardian)

NOT long ago I was given a piece of advice. "You must give up all attempt to do anything for anyone else: your duty now is simply to take care of yourself."

❖ ❖ ❖

SLIGHTLY shocked, I surveyed the collapse of my moral character. In common with most people, I like to feel good; and goodness, I believe, consists in effort, endurance, self-sacrifice; in doing what you dislike for people you don't care about. Now I was ordered to abstain from effort, to practise self-indulgence, and to ignore the troubles of my fellow. How could I adjust myself to the change? Most members of large families have early affixed to them labels such as the Clever One, the Pretty One, the Good One, the Naughty One. Throughout early youth my label had been the last. I had agreed with Thoreau that "doing good is one of the professions that are closed"; like him, "I had given the matter careful consideration and found that it did not agree with my disposition." In the meantime two global wars had driven me, together with other indifferent characters, into virtuous courses; but now I wondered if the old label could be used again? "Naughty" seemed scarcely applicable to a non-drinking, non-smoking, non-betting septuagenarian living alone in reduced circumstances miles from the nearest town. "Worthless" seemed more appropriate. I fixed it on.

SUBTLY my expression began to change. The noble earnestness of the patriotic volunteer gave place to the furtive insouciance of the unemployable. Duties slipped from my shoulders like water. I resigned from the Women's Institute, the District Nursing Association, the Anti-Litter League. I abandoned potato-lifting, child-minding, animal welfare, washing up dishes at the school canteen. I absconded from virtue; I accepted senility. More, I accepted it with relief.

I was now a butterfly, an eel, a drone. In Russia I should have my rations cut and be compelled to earn a pittance by standing in queues. In humaner England I was granted an extra half-ounce of tea and two ounces of cheap tobacco; and although I could not employ anyone to work for me I was not obliged to work for anyone else.

❖ ❖ ❖

THUS relieved, I gave my attention to the old body of whom I had been left in charge. The prospect of being left alone with her all the year round was not at first alluring, for I do not like old bodies and I knew this one too well. She was rambling, repetitive, egotistical. She recounted her dreams, exaggerated her symptoms, and told the same story too often. However, she gave little trouble. Her appetite was excellent and she loved food. Any kind of food. When her spirits flagged I would venture, "How about lunch?" Instantly she would brighten up and demand the menu. "A herring?" I suggested. It appeared that she adored herrings. For supper I feared there would be only porridge. Porridge, she assured me, was her favourite dish. Unique among British cottage-dwellers, she rejected supplementary cups of tea.

❖ ❖ ❖

MY old friend—for we had been forced into a kind of friendship—had however, her defects. She was lazy over housework and slovenly in dress. Once she said wistfully that she would rather like to be a Sweet Old Lady. I laughed, pointing to her soiled overall and broken shoes. The Sweet Old Lady, I reminded her, wears a rich black silk dress, some family jewels, and old lace; her hair is neat, her hands manicured, her gloves and shoes beyond reproach. She sighed, counting over her clothing coupons, and together we recalled the Sweet Old Ladies of our youth.

❖ ❖ ❖

THEY passed in dignified procession: wheeled in Bath chairs, driven in barouches, pottering about the garden with an ebony stick, an elderly daughter on the lead. Or recumbent on regal sofas, attended by majestic butlers and trim French maids in all the pomp of the Victorian invalid. With what state and dignity the Sweet Old Ladies of the past had held their sway! One in particular I remember well. My parents were giving a golden wedding party, and into the large drawing-room, on the arm of my venerable father, swept a radiant, a resplendent presence. Dressed in white velvet, with rosebuds in her bonnet, she was hung with lace and pearls. Who is she? people asked. Can it be the Duchess of Dorchester, or the Marquise de Pate de Perigord? But no; it was merely old Cousin Fanny, who had been unremarkable as a girl, retiring as a wife, but now as a widow of seventy-three had determined to make her debut as a Beauty.

❖ ❖ ❖

WHAT sort of figure would Cousin Fanny cut today? I could easily guess. A sackcloth tied round her for an apron, she would be on her knees with a bucket and swab.

❖ ❖ ❖

IS it not folly, then, in this commonwealth of penury, to trouble about appearances? Who sees you? I asked myself. Who cares? Make the most of your late-won freedom, misnamed loneliness. Enjoy impersonal pleasures—books, music, fine weather, flowers, birds; relish your permitted luxuries—the occasional egg and orange, the Old-age Pension tea—and bid a light farewell to nagging human cares. The heart, which burned so feverishly in youth, has achieved a civilized coolness; indifference and irresponsibility are the comfortable garments of old age. Linger luxuriously in that blessed abode the Bed, hugging your faithful hot-water bottle in an embrace sweeter than love's. Nestle between patched but lavender-scented sheets and in the oblivion of dreamless sleep foretaste the final consolation of all our lives—the promise of imperishable peace.

UNCONSIDERED TRIFLE

"Just look at old Phillips over there—thoroughly enjoying himself! And I've always thought that he was a woman-hater."

"So he is but she's not with him tonight."

NEW GROWTH

When Men With Umbrellas Were Hooted

THERE are a number of men today who refuse to carry umbrellas on the ground that to do so is effeminate. As strange as this viewpoint may seem to veteran umbrella-totters, there is historical basis for it. The umbrella was favoured by ancient Greek and Roman women—but not by the men. It is frequently to be found pictured as feminine frippery in antique vase paintings and on terra-cotta.

Among the few names on record in connection with the advance of the umbrella into the Western World is that of Jonas Hanway, an Englishman, who is credited with being—in the seventeen fifties—the first male to make a practice of walking about London carrying an umbrella. Mr. Hanway suffered as do many pioneers, for when he went forth in the rain with his large and gaily coloured umbrella he was followed by jeering crowds. These failed to shake him from his purpose, which was to keep dry, and in time his scoffers followed his sensible example. Today the Briton who does not own an umbrella is a very rare bird indeed.

Although in the early seventeen hundreds many readers of Defoe's "Robinson Crusoe" must have been struck by Crusoe's use of an umbrella, apparently this book aided little, if at all, in gaining masculine acceptance for umbrellas. Mr. Hanway was hooted at in the streets 30 years after the publication of "Robinson Crusoe".

All the while, however, women were making use of umbrellas as their disdainful menfolk were being rained on.

It is not certain when the first umbrella arrived in the United States. One historian asserts that the first was shipped from India to Baltimore in 1772. Another records that a year earlier efforts were being made in Philadelphia to induce people to use umbrellas in the summertime as protection from the sun. Quaker City physicians recommended their adoption to keep off "vertiges, epilepsies, sore eyes, fevers, etc." By the latter part of the 18th century umbrellas were not uncommon in this country, although used almost exclusively by women.

In 1776 an enterprising fellow, hoping, no doubt, to capitalize on Franklin's experiments with electricity, invented an umbrella with a lightning rod attached. The rod, extending from the top of the umbrella, was connected by a gilt cord to a metal ball which was trailed on the ground. Unfortunately, there is no record of the efficiency of this device.

Nowadays umbrellas are universally accepted, save by a few diehard gentlemen. As yet no one seems to have been able to figure out how to curb the umbrella's eye-poking proclivities. In the hands of a woman an umbrella can be a pretty dangerous weapon.

That concludes our runner's report on the umbrella, history of.—New York Times.

Important Discoveries

The disclosure by Reconstruction Minister Howe that new uranium fields have been discovered in the northern sections of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, arrests attention, according to The Kitchener-Waterloo Record. Evidently the Saskatchewan strike is by far the richest of the three and might prove to be another Eldorado.

It is the belief of some scientists that the country or group of countries which possesses the most radium holds the key to world peace. At the present time the Belgian Congo is the world's greatest producer of this vital ore.

The Eldorado mine in the Northwest Territories still is this country's main uranium deposit, but should the new ore deposits measure up to expectations the Saskatchewan area could out-produce Eldorado.

Canada ranks first in the production of nickel, asbestos, platinum and newsprint. The time may not be far off when radium can be included in this list of firsts.—St. Catharines Standard.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!....

He turneth the wilderness into a standing water, and dry ground into watersprings.

And there he maketh the hungry to dwell, that they may prepare a city for habitation; and sow the fields, and plant vineyards, which may yield fruits of increase....

The righteous shall see it, and rejoice: and all iniquity shall stop her mouth.

Whoso is wise, and will observe these things, even they shall understand the loving kindness of the Lord. (Ps. 107, 31, 35-37, 42, 43.)

Letter To The Editor

AGAINST PETERBOROUGH WINE STORE

Sir: I understand that Brights Wines Ltd. have an interest on a store property on Charlotte Street and propose to operate a wine store there. It is to be hoped for the good of the community that such a store should not be sanctioned.

Native wines are reputed to be a safe and slightly intoxicating beverage and for that reason the public may be easily misled. People ought to be informed that the wines sold in such stores are largely not pure native wines but are "fortified wines", that is they are native wines to which have been added spirits. This gives them an alcoholic content of from 15% to 30%. When you compare this to beer with an alcoholic content of from 8% to 10% and with spirits with an alcoholic content of from 40% to 50% it would be apparent that these wines are not the harmless beverages which they are popularly supposed to be.

Furthermore this type of beverage outlet seems to be one that is singularly free from legal supervision and many of them are accused of selling freely to children under the regular age limit and other irresponsible people which creates no small problem for the law enforcement agencies of the community.

In communities where they have had experience with wine stores it is said that one very great problem is with the people who have a few drinks in a beverage room and then decide to finish their bout by purchasing a bottle of wine, which is comparatively cheap, and consuming it in an alley way or in a park or in a parked car or some other equally unsuitable place. This is said to account for a great deal of drunkenness.

I hope such an institution will not be allowed in our city.

Yours sincerely,
M. J. AIKEN.

GILES IN UNITED STATES

"O.K.—so we never get a London policeman's uniform right: we didn't get the straw in 'Mrs. M[illegible]' right: we never make a picher that keeps to the book: anything else?"

Plan Greater Research In Agriculture

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 4 (CP).—Ontario Agriculture Minister Kennedy said to-day the Government will enterthe field of agricultural research "on a far greater scale" than heretofore.

He told hundreds of farmers at the opening of Woodstock's 1948 Grassland Day that the Department of Agriculture was seeking a man of high calibre to head research activities "so they can be of maximum benefit to our farmers."

The important part played by pasture and hay in soil conservation was emphasized. In this connection, he said, the Department of Agriculture will appoint a conservation specialist "to take this work closer to the individual farmer on his own farm."

Until now, most of the work has been done through the Soils Department at the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph.

"It is my hope that at the next session of the Ontario Legislature we will pass legislation which will place soil conservation work on the county level. By placing this on the shoulders of our counties we can get at the root of the trouble with our soils, and do something practical to build them up."

Pass UN Building Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP).—A bill to lend the United Nations $65,000,000 to build a permanent headquarters in New York City was approved Tuesday by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The measure is expected to go before the House for action to-day. The Senate already has passed it.

New Soldiers Not Biting At Old Jokes

In one sense the Army hasn't changed a bit since the end of the war. In another it has.

For instance, "regular" soldiers still like to send the raw recruit off on the same old fool's errand.

"Hey you!" they shout, "Go get me a yard of firing line." Or it's "paint to paint the last post," or sky hooks or left handed monkey wrenches they're wanting.

But that's all old stuff, and the boys are catching on fast.

Perhaps it's because the average recruit or Reservist is a pretty smart cookie; perhaps it's because the Old Sweats haven't come up with a new dodge in who knows how many years.

Anyway, the boys just aren't biting. In fact, a few are even attempting to pull the odd joke of their own at the Sergeant's expense. But that's all right, too. Today even the Sergeants are human.

Asks Rockcliffe Park For Royal Residence

OTTAWA, Aug. 4 (CP).—Controller Grenville Goodwin suggested today that one of Ottawa's beauty spots, 50-acre Rockcliffe Park, be given to the Crown as a site for a royal residence.

He presented to Board of Control a resolution expressing "complete agreement" with proposals to establish a Canadian residence for King George and Queen Elizabeth and urging transfer of the park for that purpose.

Controller Goodwin noted that Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the Commons recently the royal couple might someday spend part of every year in Canada.

The richly-wooded Park, on a point jutting into the Ottawa River in the southeast part of the Capital, was purchased by the city for $43,000. It now is leased to the Federal District Commission. Near it is an estate expropriated by the Federal Government as a prospective home for Canada's prime minsters.

Hydro Not Planning To Increase Rates

TORONTO, Aug. 4 (CP). — Chairman Robert H. Saunders of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission said today the Commission has no intention of increasing rates to either domestic or commercial users.

At present there are first and second rates for both domestic and commercial users, he explained.

"It was suggested to us that after so much power was consumed we have a third rate, and that if we hit at the pocket books of the consumers we would have more power during the shortage period." The Commission decided against the proposal.

Wrong Answer Costs Woman $18,000 Prize

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 — (AP). — A 22-year-old wife of an unemployed veteran walked up to a radio mike Tuesday night confident she would win $18,000 — and walked away five minutes later a stunned loser.

Mrs. Marilyn Appel of Mattapan, Mass., was sure she had the Jackpot" show's jackpot question — a "secret sentence" with sound effects clues.

Practically everyone else in the studio shared her confidence, from the studio audience up to the producers of the show.

For Mrs. Appel had had a whole week to work out the answer. She knew she would be the first contestant up Tuesday night, because she only missed a try at the jackpot last week when time ran out.

And her husband, Herbert, had been a signal corps cryptographer during the war.

As the show started, Mrs. Appel, mother of a five-months-old boy, was brought to the mike. She smiled confidently as the list of prizes was read — a car, a pleasure boat, furniture for the living room, bed-room and dining room, a trailer and a television set.

The clues to the "secret question" were played and Mrs. Appel was asked to identify it.

She said she thought it was "I'm looking over a four-leaf clover." Said the announcer: "I'm sorry, Mrs. Appel."

The Appels already have a refrigerator, a motorcycle, a home laundry and a home movie outfit — all worth $1,293 — from her right answers to last week's preliminary questions.

His time clipped a tenth of a second off the mark set in 1932 Olympics, but only equalled the brand-new mark set by Sweden's Rune Larsson in a previously run semi-final heat.

Bob Cunningham, shift halfback who performed with Toronto Balmy Beach last season, joined Montreal Alouettes' Big Four camp Tuesday and took part in the club's second full-dress workout.

A native of Port Credit, Cunningham was an outstanding athlete in his high school days. He developed fast with Balmy Beach last year and turned out to be one of the trickiest backfield men in the Ontario circuit and an excellent kicker.

BA Defeats K of C 11-8 Legion Edges Comstocks Before Near-Record Crowd

B-A defeated K. of C. 11-8 as Legion edged Comstock's 10-6 at the Bowl last night before a large crowd, as the teams renewed their struggle for playoff berths—following a week of inactivity. There will be another double-header Thursday night to wind up the regular schedule, prior to playoffs and it seems no team is mathematically out, yet. The largest crowd of the year attended.

Ron Akers went the route for B-A in the first tussle in which 13 errors in all were committed by the teams in a rather loosely played game. Wade hit a homer for K. of C. while Borland cracked four for five for B-A and Starr had three safeties. A neat twin-killing in the third by Willshaw, Sullivan and Condon was a fielding feature in this game.

Legion Wins 10-6

Bob Greenlaw twirled steady ball for Legion to shade Paddy Eakins in the nightcap 10-6. The game was tied at 6-all in fifth but a Legion rally for four runs in the sixth proved too much to overcome. A single by Dalton, a walk to Parsons followed by successive hits by Harrison and White and Scriver's fielder's choice, but the Dalton crew in the van.

Mackness belted a long homer in the second, while Courneyea and Anderson each had two safeties. For the Legion Harrison had three hits, while Dalton, Parnell and J. White each had two, the latter driving in three runs.

Ex-Ring Champion Tommy Ryan Dies

VAN NUYS, Calif., Aug. 4.—(AP).— Death has claimed another of the ring's old masters. Tommy Ryan, former welterweight and middleweight champion of the world.

Ryan, who fought through the rugged turn-of-the-century era when bouts went as long as 76 rounds, died of a heart ailment Tuesday. He was 78.

Ryan was born Joseph Youngs at Redwood, N.Y., March 31, 1870. He left home early, changing his name to Tommy Ryan, and headed for the Michigan lumber camps.

Soon he was fighting in Detroit, Chicago and other midwest cities. At the age of 21 he knocked out Danny Needham, welterweight title claimant, in the 76th round at Minneapolis, Feb. 16, 1891. It was his longest bout.

Ryan caught up with the 147-pound championship on July 26, 1894, when he outpointed mysterious Billy Smith in 20 rounds at Minneapolis.

He lost the crown March 2, 1896, when Kid McCoy knocked him out in 15 rounds. It was the only time, record books show, that Ryan was ever stopped in a career of nearly 20 fights.

CZECH WINNER — Highly-favored Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia runs true to form by winning the 10,000 metre race at the Olympic Games in London. Zatopek covered the distance in 29 minutes 59.6 seconds, which is 11.8 seconds better than the previous Olympic record.

Batawa Drubs Locos 8-5 In Free-Hitter

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 4 (CP). — Batawa Shoemen strengthened their hold on second place in the Central Ontario Baseball League here Tuesday night, defeating the cellar-dwelling Kingston Locos 8-5 in a free-hitting game.

Batawa grabbed a two-run lead in the first inning and were never headed, pounding two Kingston pitchers for 10 hits. Juby, Locos starting hurler, was badly injured in the face by a hard hit ball in the fifth inning after yielding five runs for eight hits. Stone replaced him and allowed two clouts for three runs.

Bowman and Peacock hurled for Shoemen the latter going in in the seventh. Bowman allowed nine hits for five runs.

Indians Regain Top Rung By Trouncing Senators 5-3

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The greatest of all pennant races in American league approached the two-thirds mark today in an unprecedented situation —a virtual four-way tie for first place among Cleveland, New York, Boston and Philadelphia. A mere .006 percentage points separated the four teams.

As a result of Tuesday night's games, Cleveland Indians regained the top rung by defeating Washington Senators 5-3 as Philadelphia Athletics dropped from first to fourth by losing to Chicago White Sox 2-1 in 10 innings. New York Yankees took over second place by trouncing Detroit Tigers 15-3 and Boston Red Sox advanced a notch into third by outslugging St. Louis Browns 15-8.

Cleveland has a .596 percentage, New York .594, Boston .592 and Philadelphia .590.

The National league race also tightened when the leading Boston Braves were beaten 5-4 by Cincinnati while the rest of the first division — New York Giants, Brooklyn, and St. Louis Cards—were rained out. In picking up half a game, the Giants advanced to within 4½ games of the Braves, and the Dodgers and Cardinals to within 5½.

Another Honor

Old Satchel Paige, making his first major league start, before 72,434 fans, largest night crowd in Cleveland history, gained the honor of pitching the Tribe back into first place. The 44-year-old Negro right-hander hurled seven innings, allowing the Senators seven hits before he was taken out for a pinch-hitter.

Dick Fowler of the Athletics had thte White Sox shut out 1-0 on only one hit going into Chicago's half of the ninth. Taft Wright cracked a pinch-hit single, advanced to third on a bunt single and a sacrifice, and scored the tying run on Pat Seerey's long fly. With one out in the last of the 10th, Fowler surrendered his fourth and fifth walks to Dave Philley and Cass Michaels. Jack Wallaesa singled to right, scoring Philley with the winning run.

The Yankees clubbed four Tiger pitchers for 12 hits including home runs by George McQuinn, Tommy Henrich and Yogi Berra.

Collecting a dozen hits against six pitchers and using 10 bases on balls to advantage, the Red Sox routed the Browns to keep pace with the Yankees and Indians. Stan Spence and Ted Williams banged home runs.

Rookie first baseman Red Kluszewski drove in three runs with a triple and double to give Cincinnati Reds their second straight triumph over the Braves in the only National league game of the night.

It was the third successive loss for the Braves.

EARLY ATOMIC RESEARCH

The first atom was split by man in 1919 when Rutherford changed a small amount of nitrogen in oxygen.

FIGHTING FOR HIS life in a Syracuse, N.Y., hospital is 74-year-old Jack (Pops) Cooper of Kansas City, Mo., veteran speedboat driver and holder of a world's record. He was flown to Syracuse after a crackup Monday during a regatta at Picton, in which his boat somersaulted, threw him out, then landed on top of him. He has a fractured skull, broken arms and leg injuries. Specialists were called in at the Syracuse hospital yesterday.

Wembley Records Continuing To Tumble In Olympic Games

By JACK SULLIVAN

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, Aug. 4.—(CP).—Records continue to fall in the Olympic games but Canadians so far have produced little in the way of glory.

At the close of the fourth day of competition in the 14th games Tuesday, five marks had been shattered. One of them—the shot put — had been surpassed nine times.

Canada's hopefuls had little to show for Tuesday's efforts. Eric Coy of Winnipeg, failed to qualify in the shot-put and Joyce Court, Montreal swimmer, couldn't make it in the 100-metre back stroke.

First-round individual foils matches proved disastrous to three Montreal fencers and all were eliminated. Georges Pouliot, Roland Asselin and Alf Horn were the losing swordsmen.

In yachting competition at Torquay, Devon, three Ontario yachtsmen continued in competition after the first day's sailing. John Robertson of Hamilton, finished seventh in his heat, Paul McLaughlin of Toronto, wound up in fifth in his and Bill Gooderham of Toronto was ninth

In the record-breaking department, Bill Thompson of Los Angeles, Calif., broke the shot-put record five times while two of his team-mates broke it four times between them as they waged a ding-dong battle to break the former mark.

Faster Time

In the 10,000-metre walk, a Dane, two Britons, a Frenchman and an Italian made faster time than the previous record of 46 minutes, 28.4 seconds set by George Goulding of Toronto in the 1912 games at Stockholm.

A 12-year record in the 100-metre back stroke swimming event was broken by a Dane and an Australian, with the Danish girl covering the distance in 1:15.6 to win.

A United States team captured the men's 800-metre relay swim championship in 8:46, a world record. The previous mark of 8:51.5 was made by Japan in the 1936 Berlin games.

Fanny Blankers-Koen of the Netherlands, a 30-year-old mother of two who Monday won the 100-metre dash, equalled her own world record and set an Olympic mark for the 80-metre women's hurdles in a preliminary heat. The time was 11.3 seconds.

Mrs. Victoria Manalo Draves of Pasadena, Calif., took the women's springboard diving championship.

Capt. W. O. G. Grut of Sweden, was assured of winning the five-event modern Pentathlon by a victory in his third consecutive event.

Wins Breaststroke

Nel Van Vliet of Holland won the women's 200-metre breaststroke swimming final in 2:57.8, just under the Olympic record.

Mel Patton of the United States won the final of the 200-metre dash. In the hop-step-and-jump event, A. Ahman of Sweden, was the victor.

In basketball, the United States defeated Argentina 59-57 while Chile clinches a berth in the finals by defeating the Philippines 68-39. Peru defeated Switzerland 49-19, Belgium defeated Iraq 98-20 and Mexico defeated France 56-42.

Canada, who has won two games and lost one, meets Brazil today.

In the Canadian fencing event Horn, Canada's duelling sword champion, was the only fencer to win a bout, defeating a Turkish opponent 5-4. But he dropped his six other contests.

In the shot-put event, Coy's best of three throws was 46 feet, five inches, a mark he has consistenly beaten at home by three feet or more.

The American had no such trouble. Nine times the old standard fell before Thompson clinched the title with a heave of 56 feet two inches.

Thompson cracked the record five times and fouled on the sixth attempt as he nosed out Jim Delaney, a high school teacher in San Francisco, who achieved 54 feet 8½ inches, and Jim Fuchs, a Yale football played, who did 53 feet 10½ inches.

In the yachting, McLaughlin, the dinghy expert, skippered his firefly-class craft to fifth place in a six-mile race while Hamilton's shallow-class entry, over a 10-mile course, finished seventh. Gooderham was ninth with his star-class boat in his 10-mile event.

Guldahl Rips Greens Apart

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 — (AP). — A high-powered field in the $50,000 All-American golf tournament today tried to catch up with an explosive comeback swinger, stoop-shouldered Ralph Guldahl, 1937-38 United States open champion.

Guldahl ripped Tam O'Shanter's rolling greens apart Tuesday with a 64, a record-beraking eight under par. Ralph, who tumbled from the headlines after winning the 1939 Masters' open, held a two-stroke lead over runner-up Dick Metz in the rich 72-hole medal play test.

Metz with 33-33—66 was a stroke ahead of a brace of 67-shooters, Chandler Harper and Elmer Reed.

In the women's open favored Babe Didrikson Zaharias tapped a 72 to grab the lead.

Plan No Drive Against Resorts Working Sunday

TORONTO, Aug. 4 — (CP) — Deputy Commission W. C. Killing of the provincial police said Tuesday night no "campagn" is planned against beaches and resorts operating on Sundays in Ontario.

"Things are going to be tightened up a little, that's all," he said.

No continuous campaign is planned but the Lord's Day Alliance Act—"No different from what it's always been"—will be more strictly enforced.

The deputy commissioner was answering questions following police action in closing some beach amusement last Sunday by direction of the attorney-general's department. Only refreshments booths were allowed to remain open.

Bitterest complaints came from Port Stanley, on Lake Erie. Amusement operators and vendors there claimed discrimination, saying their places were being closed while paid entertainment was permitted on Sundays at other lake and resort concessions.

Commissioner Killing said police action was prompted by the fact that some of the Sunday resorts were "cutting loose." He said only the ordinary law enforcement methods were being used, and no single operator or district was being singled out.

NEARLY 200 MARKSMEN assembled at the Long Branch rifle ranges for the annual competition of the Ontario Rifle Association. The match started Monday and will run through Thursday. Some of the contestants are seen here as they lined up on the range for yesterday's shoot.

Hamilton Man Gets 5-Pounder

James Kirkwood, Hamilton, has been fishing in Kawartha waters for about eight years now and one reason why he keeps coming back was demonstrated on Friday. He landed a plump 5 lb. 2 oz. large mouthed bass in the weed beds near shore on Clear Lake.

The bass put up a "nice battle" and broke water several times before it was finally landed. Mr. Kirkwood was fishing with a surface plug.

He has given ample proof that this example of fishing prowess is no fluke, having caught four large bass previously. On Thursday night he pulled in a 4 lb 10½ black bass, also in Clear Lake. Kirkwood is staying at Tom Curvin's camp.

Paper Criticizes Espionage Trial

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—(CP)—The New York Times today criticizes the way Communist activities are being investigated in Washington and says Canada set an example of proper procedure in breaking the Soviet spy case.

The Times says the same evidence that Elizabeth Bentley, a confessed former spy, gave the Committee on Unamerican Activities in Washington had previously been given a grad jury in New York. The Grand Jury returned no indictments against the persons named by Miss Bentley in the Washington hearings.

"There undoubtedly were, and still are, agents of the Soviet Government...seeking information on military matters...They should be sought out, brought to trial and punished, if they are found guilty," the Times says.

"There are legal ways of doing that, such as the Royal Commission used in Canada in investigating the leakage of information on atomic research. It conducted its hearing in private, weighed the evidence and only then made public the charges."

Says Heavy Hydro Savings Needed This Fall, Winter

TORONTO, Aug. 4—(Special) —It will be necessary to save 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy every day during the coming fall and winter in Southern Ontario in order to maintain maximum employment.

This fact was strongly emphasized by Robert H. Saunders, CBE, KC, chairman of The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario to a meeting of representatives of Toronto and surrounding municipalities. He appealed for close co-operation on the part of municipal authorities, industries and individual Hydro consumers in helping save power.

The chairman expressed the hope that it might be possible for certain industries to work Saturday afternoons or Sunday and close down on Monday forenoons. Such an arrangement would be helpful to the Commission in its efforts to distribute available power on an equitable basis, he declared.

Mr. Saunders intimated that there would be restrictions this fall and winter and that they would become effective either on Sept. 15 or Oct. 1. While this was bad news, he said, it was the best news for the province for the reason that if they did not have to put restrictions into effect then they would be in the midst of a depression.

"The fact that we must put on restrictions," re-iterated the chairman, "is concrete evidence that Ontario is going ahead and that we are going in just the opposite direction from a depression."

Must Cut Waste

Mr. Saunders also pointed out that Hydro was not in the same position as a private company which could turn down orders. Hydro, he said, had to accept all new consumers and the Commission had to divide the available power resources as equitably as possible. It was, therefore, imperative to cut down on the wastage of power in the province. At the same time, he directed attention to the fact that the rainfall in Quebec had been very light this year and that it had not been possible to fill the reservoirs in that province. Under these circumstances, he said, if Hydro were able to obtain the power called for by actual contracts this year from Quebec companies it would be extremely lucky.

The Hydro chairman also took time to point out that between 1937 and 1947 the demand for power had doubled and that since last fall that demand had increased by over another 100,000 horsepower. He explained that power becoming available from new plants would take care of the increased demand but it would not meet the difference between the demand and the available power last year nor would it take care of the drop in the rainfall and water storage.

Bearing these facts in mind, the chairman stated, it was obvious why the Commission had to enlist the wholehearted co-operation of all classes of consumers of Hydro power in order that employment might be maintained at its present high level.

Can Detect Cracks Deep In Concrete

TORONTO, Aug. 4 — (CP) — Thanks to a newly developed ultrasonic eye, Ontario Hydro officials can examine the interior of a 60-foot concrete block for cracks.

When concrete is poured in huge masses, chemical reaction may raise the temperature to 140 degrees. During the three years that may elapse before the concrete cools, cracks often occur as a result of shrinkage.

To detect these cracks, three Hydro research engineers—Jack R. Leslie, Keith H. Kidd, and W. J. Chessman — have worked on the new apparatus since 1945.

The crack detector works on the principle that sound vibrations beyond the limit of the human ear are reflected back when the waves meet a void in a solid body.

The new $11,000,000 Hydro-electric project at Stewarville, Ont., 45 miles west of Ottawa, now is being checked. Its 80,000 horsepower plant is scheduled to open in September.

May Search Cars

CHATHAM, Aug. 4 (CP). — Provincial Police said yesterday they may be forced to search all automobiles entering the nearby Moraviantown Indian Reservation to halt illegal drinking parties. Gilbert Stonefish suffered a broken arm when wounded in a knife fight on the reservation during the week-end. Eight charges were laid last week and two Indians were taken to hospital as a result of fights. Five charges were dropped when Indians refused to testify.

ELOPEMENT: "My prospective husband and I want to slip away and get quietly married next month. May we go across the border for the ceremony? What papers do we need? Will the marriage necessarily be registered in Canada?"

There is nothing to prevent your being married in the United States, and the wedding will not likely be registered in Canada. However, you must be 18 (in some States 21), and your prospective husband also 21. You should take your Birth Certificate to your nearest U.S. immigration office for entry. In most States you must be able to show a residence of 72 hours before marriage. You must also have record of a Wasserman Test.

BLUEBERRIES FOR PIES: "We go north the month of August, and can have all the blueberries we want for the picking. How can I preserve them for winter pies?"

It's the easiest process in the world, and do the fresh blueberries make grand pies! Pick them over and wash them. To clean the berries easily pour from one saucepan to another pouring from a height. To 4 quarts berries add 1½ cups water and ½ teaspoon salt. Cover; simmer gently for 5 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 4 cups sugar; let simmer 3 minutes. Fill sterile jars to overflowing. This makes seven pints pie fruit.

BAREFOOT GIRL: "My daughter, 12, and should know better, kicks off her shoes and goes barefoot around the house. I tell her she will ruin her feet, but would like a little support. Please print this letter."

We have printed your letter as you requested. Now we have to print what the Doctor says — that the barefoot practise strengthens the feet, particularly when the foot muscles are exercised. It's bad for discipline, isn't it, when we must side with daughter against her mother?

HEALTHY WOMEN: "Is it true that there are four widows in Canada to one widower?"

Quite true. Women live longer than men by approximately five years.

Labor Council Makes Plans For Labor Day

During the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Allied Labor Council on Tuesday night the controversial by-law on the closing of service stations was discussed.

Alfred Barber, president, said: "Some of the bigger stations didn't want to see the little man get ahead. I don't think it's any of their business if Johnny Russelle and others want to stay open."

Donald Rosenburgh was critical of City Council's action with regard to the by-law. "First they voted down the by-law at one meeting; next time they passed it. That's the kind of people we have running this city."

Another view was presented by William Triggs: "As union men we should know who is right and who is wrong. If I asked my boss to work 12 hours a day I'd be called a scab."

William Whibbs: "We have labor laws saying we can't work more than 48 hours a week. As long as this is observed if they want to stay open that's their business. I expect that behind all this you'll find a few big oil companies."

William Cambers: "To me it seems like a direct negation of free enterprise. It is possible for service stations to stay open 24 hours on a three-shift-eight-hour basis. A few individuals for their own benefit wish to restrict hours to suit themselves."

This was denied by Mr. Triggs who pointed out that "it wasn't a few individuals; it was the vast majority of the service station operators."

Mr. Rosenburgh: "Don't forget it's a slap in the face for the tourist trade."

Mr. Cambers: "The important thing is that we don't want longer hours for the workers; but if an individual wants to stay open he should be able to do so.

On a motion by Mr. Rosenburgh and Mr. Beggs it was decided that no statement outlining the position of the Allied Labor Council should be made at the present time; nor until the Council was approached by one of the operators protesting the by-law.

Council agreed to support the Canadian Seamen's Union by sponsoring advertising giving the point of view of the seamen in the present CSU-CSL dispute.

The largest part of the evening was spent in discussing plans for the annual Labor Day celebration to be held on September 6.

Customs Receipts Up

Figures for the first seven months of this year show that customs receipts are up more than a million dollars over the comparable period last year. In 1947 receipts were $2,540,722.75 compared to $3,660,084.53 in 1948. This July shows the upward trend, $513,287.61; a year ago the amount was $399,645.69.

Miss Perdue is to be married in September and Miss Puffer in October.

Hamilton Judge Quashes Early Closing Bylaw

HAMILTON, Aug. 4. — (Special). — Judge William F. Schwenger has ruled that Hamilton City Council early closing bylaw for drug stores was beyond the jurisdiction of the city to enforce.

In a ruling handed down yesterday Judge Schwenger has upheld a decision of Magistrate Harry Burville. Two Hamilton druggists — Joseph Finkleman of Westdale and George Down of the Mountain were charged with violating the early closing bylaw. Magistrate Burville dismissed the charges last February.

The city of Hamilton appealed the ruling of the magistrate and the appeal was heard by Judge Schwenger, who reserved judgment.

Judge Schwenger's ruling said: "I do not find that a drug store can be defined as a shop within the definition and provisions of the factory, shop and office building act—and further that because of this reason I find in favor of the defendants."

This is the second early closing bylaw to have been quashed by the courts in recent weeks. Earlier the Supreme Court of Ontario handed down a ruling that the early closing bylaw for gas stations could not be enforced.

This week at Hamilton City Council, City Solicitor John Polson warned the City Council that future restrictive bylaws would probably be fought upon the common law rights of citizens. These rights say that no restrictive rules can be laid down which interfere with a man's right to earn a living, Mr. Polson said.

New Buildings Near Completion

Work on the two buildings on George St. just below King St. at present under construction, is forging ahead during the sunny weather. The foreman in charge of the Hayward-Reilly Construction job said "things are coming along nicely."

To date they have not been plagued with a shortage of building materials. The roofing is now complete and plastering will begin at the end of next week. Heating and plumbing will start at the beginning of the week after the workmen finish their present holidays. Electricians are already on the job and the basement floor is being levelled at the rear part of the building before being paved.

"Part of it should be occupied by October," he said.

Work has begun on the foundations for the Cherney Bros. main store building. A permit is expected to be taken out within the next few days and in the meanwhile excavation work is proceeding.

The new structure will be joined to the building rapidly nearing completion to the south. When it is finished the building to the south will be for a rental store or stores with office space above.

Asked about shortages, the foreman said the situation was always "tight," but cement and steel were most difficult to procure.

Engineer Visits Sewage Plant; Report Coming

"The municipal problems facing Peterborough are certainly not the fault of the present council," said Bruce Johnston, clerk of North Monaghan council, in a comment today on the city's growth.

The announcement Tuesday of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission's plans for a big substation out at Lily Lake in Smith township might be another straw pointing to the continuing expansion of this city.

"We read some of the intimations of an increase in tax next year," Mr. Johnston remarked. "And the tendency will be to blame the existing council. That does not seem fair. The blame points to the past, not to the present, as least the most of it.

"For years the citizens, including those who had large blocks of property, were quite happy to keep the tax rate low, and that meant a minimum of expenditure. They were getting the benefit of low taxes. Even during the depression years the city could have got concrete results from the money it gave out in relief by launching some of the works which now cannot be put off any longer."

Mr. Johnston said the older citizens knew his comment was true. He was inquiring about the latest development, if any, about the sewage disposal plant, and suggested that possibly it might be better for Peterborough if the plant were farther down the river, that sewer capacity was larger and generally that this entire system of disposal were geared to the city of ten or fifteen years from now.

Mr. Johnston was expressing only an opinion as a North Monaghan observer of the city's growth.

Ald. Hurrell Dodds briefly reported to the council last night that a representative of Gore and Storrie, consulting engineers and architects on sewage disposal works was in Peterborough recently. He spent a day in going over the sewage disposal plant and sewerage problems, and was preparing a preliminary report which should be forthcoming in the near future.

Ald. Dodds said the architects, Gore and Storrie, believed they could get a firm bid for the completion of the disposal plant if the city could undertake to obtain necessary supplies of steel and concrete.

$75,000 'Short Cut' Storm Sewer Planned To Lessen Flooding Menace In Lindsay

LINDSAY, Aug. 4 (ENS)— A plan to build a "short-cut" storm sewer to alleviate flooding in the south ward, was suggested in council Tuesday night following requests of three residents as to what action has been taken to remedy the situation.

Lorraine Courtemanche, T. H. Appleton and E. C. Pitts, who claimed to have suffered great losses because of flood damage, addressed council and pressed for immediate action.

Mayor Charles Lamb outlined a plan to run a 30-inch sewer from Durham St. to Wellington with branches on Albert, Glenelg and Russell Sts.

"This would mean an expenditure of $60,000 to $75,000 and it is not something which can be done overnight."

It was decided to meet with C. R. Redfern of Toronto and Oliver Smith, local surveyor, to discuss plans for the proposed sewer.

Following an address by R. I. Moore, chairman of the finance committee, of the Lindsay recreation committee, it was decided to meet with the LRC to discuss their request for a further grant of $1,200 to carry out the recreation program for the remainder of the year.

The Garage Operators Association presented a schedule of open nights to council regarding the early closing bylaw. The council approved it as the schedule be included in the by-law before the law goes into effect in full.

New Building $1,382,482 Since January 1

Peterborough's building permits for seven months amounted to $1,382,482 as compared with $2,971,664 to the end of July 1947.

Permits last month were as follows: 11 garages $2,530; 21 houses, $104,700; 91 miscellaneous permits $61,761. Total $168,991.

Permits in July last year were: 6 garages $1,070; 13 houses $68,850; 63 miscellaneous permits $181,051. Total $250,971.

Boy 11 Battles 5-Pound Bass

A slight, fair-haired lad walked into the Examiner News Room on Tuesday morning with an ear-to-ear smile and a big fish. He was Wayne Shaughnessy, 11, of Haggart St.

Wayne, accompanied by his brother Glen, 16, and Paul Gagnon, 15, Lansdowne Ave., decided to do some fishing on Sunday and chose the rock pile near the west side of Bensfort Bridge as their casting site.

Wayne chose a "lucky strike" plug and his decision was a wise one. His catch was a 5¼-pound green bass that fought hard for freedom before being landed. It was the biggest fish he had ever caught and he entered it in the Examiner Fish Contest.

Citizens Oppose Re-opening Of Wine Store; Letters Sent City Council

Opposition to a Bright Company retail wine shop at 170 Charlotte St. was directed in a series of letters to the Council Tuesday night.

Acting for a group of interested business men, Hon. G. N. Gordon wrote that their objection was based primarily on the fact that Peterborough had enough liquor outlets, and the Bright product could be bought at any time at the local liquor store.

Some of the other protests were from Rev. M. J. Aiken, head of the Ministerial Association; Major C. Watt of the Salvation Army; John Barnes, 729 Frank St.; Rev. Henry G. Douglas, minister of Knox United Church; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Potter, 220 King St.; Edward Potter; Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield Northey, 180 Perry St.; Mrs. F. D. Armstrong; Emma, Clara, Mary and Maud Collins, and others.

"A retail store would only be another means of influencing our young folk in the taking of liquor," Mr. W. R. Potter wrote.

T. G. Bright and Co., Niagara Falls, describe themselves on their letterheads as the largest winery in Canada. They have applied to the Liquor Control Board for permission to operate a retail store in Peterborough at 170 Charlotte St.

Their letter included this observation: "We understand because of a previous unsatisfactory experience it is possible there may be some objection on your part."

Continuing their letter to the council they said their policy was to employ only persons of good character, to refuse business from unlicensed trade, not knowingly to cater to persons of intemperate habits, and not to make sales indiscriminately. They have stores in Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton, London, Windsor and Sudbury. Estimated cost of renovating the premises at 170 Charlotte St. is $20,000.

A representatives of the company will probably meet the finance committee next week.

Coroner Writes City Council Re Drowning

Comment by Dr. Harry G. Carleton, coroner, on the inquest into the drowning of Gerald Harran, July 5 at Inverlea Park, and on the jury's report, was received by the council last night.

"The evidence showed that at the time this child was drowned the beach was sadly lacking in equipment," Dr. Carleton wrote. "There was no rowboat, no rafts no pike poles, or any life preservers present, and the telephone was safely locked up so no one could use it until the key was found. From the evidence it appeared that there was some doubt as to whose duty it was to have seen this safety equipment was ready before the beach was opened to the public July 1."

"The evidence, especially of Constable Leo Murphy, Armar Butcher and John Dane, was most impressive. I would suggest that the park committee could do well to read that evidence, and consider the advice and suggestions."

Dr. Carleton's letter was referred to the parks committee of which Dr. Herbert Young is chairman.

Slight damage was done to a car and a truck on Tuesday morning when they collided at the corner of Downie and London streets. According to police, W. R. Lalonde, Toronto, was driving his car south on Downie and was halfway across the intersection when the collision happened. Ralph Van Allen, 556 Armour Rd. was driver of the truck.

Damage to the Lalonde car consisted of a dented right front fender and a slight dent in the panel between that fender and the right front door. The left front fender of the truck was crumpled and the front bumper bent. P.C. Claire McGillen investigated.

He Won First Prize

Richard Hosker, aged 7, of 16 Wallace Drive, won first prize for the best decorated bicycle in the Veterans' Civic Holiday parade. It was a streamer job with rack and plenty of balloons. That part was OK, so was the prize, but Richard has a bone to pick with whoever got his name wrong, he they Legion officials or The Examiner reporter. After all, the other contestants were "big guys". So let's hope this squib will set everybody right.

Burnham's Pt. Young People Organize

Want City Council Aid In Converting Old Building For Recreation Uses

Burnham's Point residents signified in a letter to the council Monday night that they wish to convert to recreational purposes in their community the warehouse building and the land around it which was formerly part of the plant of Peterborough Lumber Co.

Their recent proposal that the building be made available for community uses was met by the council's suggestion that there should be some organization of the residents to assume responsibility for it. Since then teenage young people of the Point interviewed all the residents and obtained their signatures to an application expressing their interest in the project. It is understood that they are prepared to organize and to proceed according to the council's wishes.

Their petition was referred to the finance committee, and Ald. Swanston, chairman, said it would be dealt with next Monday. Ald. Dodds said certain repairs would be required. More than 80 windows are broken.

The recreational plan of the Burnham's Point community was outlined to the council as follows:

"Last summer, at a meeting attended by Mayor Ovens, Aldermen Dodds and Swanston, the president and vice-president of Peterborough Lumber Company and residents of Burnham's Point, it was clearly understood that the building used by Wartime Housing in the Point community was eventually to become available forrecreational purposes. This building is at present not in use and is rapidly falling into disrepair.

It is also shown on the plan of the area that the land near the building has been deeded to the public.

Alderman Dodds was over to see the location last Thursday night, and he met and talked with a group of the citizens. He suggested that the city could bring it into a state of repair, and that a committee of three be appointed to approach the city.

Friday night a meeting of the residents of Burnham's Point was held, and the undersigned were appointed to consult you about arranging for a recreation centre. Riverside Park is close to Burnham's Point, but it is rather far the young tots who, therefore, are at present playing on the road and hindering traffic.

One of the projects of the recreational centre would be to provide a playground for young children, including a sandpit, swings, teeter-totter and a slide. There would be no lack of supervision because if the city could not provide supervisors, the mothers would be glad to do the supervising, and have stated this.

The playground could come under the city Recreation Commission, but the building would probably have ot be turned over to the citizens committee to be formed at the Point. This building could be used not only by residents of the Point, but by people living on adjoining streets, such as Maria, Engleburn, Burnham, Charles and Birdsall. Also, we suggest that the building should be put in condition for winter, so that it could be used throughout the entire year.

Would it be permitted to have a canteen in the recreation building? This would greatly aid the future finances of the hall. We are attachiing names of residents who are interested in the development of this recreation project. These signatures were collected by several teenagers of the Point.

We strongly request that action be taken immediately to get the building into a state where it can be used by Teenagers and grown-ups for their recreation, and that the land surrounding the building be turned into a playground for the youngsters."

This request was signed by Thomas H. McQuigge, Joseph Coss and Stan Purser.

Mr. Purser attended the council meeting Monday night, but had nothing to add to the text of the letter of which he was one of those signing it.

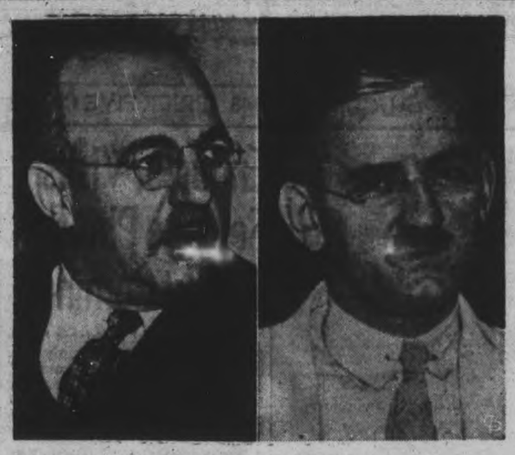
English Doctors Not Opposing New Health Plan

Majority of the doctors in Great Britain are not opposed to the new national health scheme is the opinion of Dr. J. M. McCulloch, of 312 Charlotte St., who has just returned from one month's tour of the British Isles.

Dr. McCulloch said, however, in an interview, that his impression was that the medical profession has accepted the plan unwillingly, and that many doctors joined the scheme because they feared what might happen to their practices if they did not.



"The British Medical Association," he said, "protested against certain features of the original bill, particularly the clause preventing the sale of practices. The government afterwards relaxed that clause and certain other features of the original bill, which made it more acceptable."

He said he considered the plan an ideal scheme in its object to bring medical care to every individual, but he was afraid that it would stultify all initiative and convert the medical profession into part of the civil service.

Dr. McCulloch was extremely impressed with the road courtesy shown in Britain, both by driver to driver and driver to pedestrian, and he described it as being perfect. "In the busy traffic of London and narrow winding highways of the countries," he said, "I never saw one scratched fender."

Another feature which impressed him was the appearance of the people. "The ordinary citizen is beginning to look frayed in his dress and there is a certain degree of listlessness."

In spite of their present economic troubles, he said, the people of Britain have a firm belief in their country and are convinced that prosperity will return. He mentioned a conversation with a railway engineer and fireman. When asked where they would like to live if they had their choice, they instantly replied, "Right here."

FORMER ASSISTANT SECRETARY of the U.S. treasury Harry D. White (left), and Lauchlin Currie, one of the late President Roosevelt's aides, head the list of wartime government workers named for a Congressional committee in Washington by Soviet spy queen, Elizabeth Bentley. She charged they gave her data about America's war effort for transmission to Russia. Both of the former New Deal executives vigorously denied the charges, stating they had never known a red agent.

Masons Shocked At Actions Of Fans In U.S.

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4 (AP).—This may come as a shock to you, but James Mason isn't the James Mason type.

I mean that Mason in real life doesn't much resemble the arrogant, dame-slugging character in which his public identifies him. When I took tea with him, he seemed soft-spoken, solicitous of his wife's condition (pregnant), and generally as normal as a movie star can be.

The Masons live in the plushier district of Beverly Hills. Upon entering the place, you encounter a variety of the famed Mason cats. When the tea was brewed and the cats cleared out, I asked the actor if he were put out at being pegged as the "James Mason type."

"It really does not bother me," began Mason. "Actually, I have played only four such parts in some 30-odd pictures.

"There is a type of fan who conceives of a player in a standard type of cliche. I am not interested in that type of fan. I don't care if the so-called fans see me in something different and say, 'Nyah, he stinks.' I have always figured I would be able to find some kind of acting work."

The Masons said they were appalled by the conduct of the New York fans, the extremely vocal and active pack of celebrity chasers.

"They are terrible," exclaimed Mrs. Mason, the red-headed actress-author, Pamela Kellino. "They have no appreciation of good films."

The long-range Mason plan is to make films on both continents. He will make "The King's General" here after the Enterprise film.

Power Potential Unlimited At Grand Falls, Labrador

By DAVE McINTOSH.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 4 — (CP). — There is still plenty of room in the bottle, if you want to go to Grand Falls, Labrador.

Instead of adding a stone to a cairn, raising a flag, or carving your initials, you scribble your name on a piece of paper and place it in a bottle near the Falls. To date there are only about 30 names in it.

George Henry Desbarats, power engineer for the Newfoundland Natural Resources Board, came out of the Labrador bush and back to St. John's last week after his second year of surveying on one of the biggest potential power sites in the world.

Grand Falls is 200 miles up the Hamilton River from Goose Bay, Labrador, and lies in that area to which both Newfoundland and Quebec lay claim.

In the spring, as much water pour over Grand Falls as thunders over Niagara. The Falls has a potential of about 10,000,000 horse-power, enough to supply all Canada.

Statistics on this unleashed power are about complete. Some say it may be used to drive the drills that will bite out iron in the Labrador-Quebec deposits, not far away. It would also drive the ore-carrying trains from Central Labrador to Seven Islands on the north shore of the St. Lawrence.

Others claim it could become another Arvida, centre of the aluminum industry which mushroomed in Quebec's Lake St. John district during the war.

Still others say that with new development in transferring power it could be carried on lines into Central Canada.

Grand Falls was first discovered about 1890. The few persons who have seen it have been mostly Americans looking for something new. Three or four of them have been women.

Steel Buyers Turn To New Transportation

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP).—The Iron Age, metal working trade weekly, reported today that American "steel buyers" are turning in drove from rail to other forms of transportation wherever they can."

Fabricators facing higher charges all along the line are finding this a fruitful field for cutting costs, the publication said.

"Using trucks to dodge high rail rates sounds good but has its bad points," said the Iron Age. 'Many steel mills can't move more than 20 per cent of their output by truck."

Water and truck transport are being used in some cases. Detroit buyers were said to be finding they could obtain shipments from Chicago for about the same price as those from a local mill.

Operations of the steel industry this week were placed by the Iron Age as 93.5 per cent of rated capacity, up slightly from the previous week.

Mrs. Helen Wilson Buried At Havelock

HAVELOCK, Aug. 4—(ENS)—The funeral took place here Tuesday on the arrival of the CPR noon train of Mrs. Helen Frances Wilson, widow of the late Rev. Matthew E. Wilson, formerly of Havelock.

Mrs. Wilson's death occurred in Regina, Sask., where she moved from here some years ago following her husband's death. Mr Wilson was superannuated while minister on the Belmont circuit of the United Church.

Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery and Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh officiated.

Residents of the area recently held memorial services for the 180 known dead in the blast and resulting fire which swept the area July 28. The initial explosion originated in a building just in front of the shattered smokestack in the centre of the area. Continuing blasts and fire resulted in the large death and injury toll.

There was some discussion as to whether the shoe came from a horse or a donkey but at any rate the senator promised his running mate a four-leaf clover in return.

Farm Production Cheer Commons

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Aug. 4 — (CP). — Lean, curly-haired agriculture minister Tom Williams, who favors high stiff collars and is more noted for industry than humor, has brought cheer into the halls of parliament.

Although the tag-end of the session was dogged with anxiety over Berlin and relations with Russia; although economic troubles and trade uncertainties disturb Britain's peace, Williams has been able to report all well with the land.

And the land to Britain is more important than ever before. Every extra bushel of wheat grown on home farms, every egg found in the chicken house, means a saving in dollars and cents.

Members of all parties are cheered when Williams passes on the word that reports indicate the national harvest will be up to expectations if good weather continues. If the crops are safely gathered, Britons in general should feel benefits in more bacon and eggs to go with their unrestricted bread supply.

These benefits will not come at once, for it takes time to build up depleted flocks and herds. Farmers will be allowed to keep one-fifth of their wheat and barley production for feed and this will permit them to plan further ahead.

This year crops have ripened at an extraordinary speed during the late July spell of hot weather. British farmers who now count themselves among the most highly-mechanized producers in the world, are being helped by the thousands of volunteer laborers, many from the cities.

If potatoes escape the blight, they will be the crop of the year and Britain with luck should avoid repetition of the potato rationing imposed last winter.

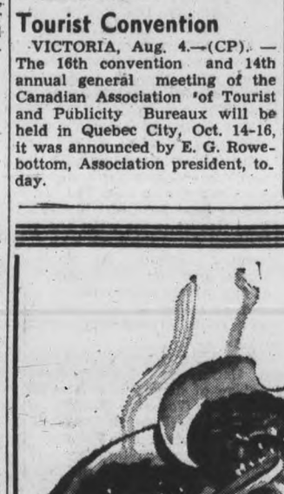
Fear Typhoid To Strike Arabs

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Aug. 4.—(AP).—United Nations and Red Cross officials took measures today to fight a typhoid epidemic they fear may strike among Arab refugees from the Palestine war.

Sir Rafael Cilento, an Australian who represents the refugee division of the Social Affairs Department of the U.N., said Tuesday night there was grave danger of such an epidemic. He said the refugees are homeless and eye infection is widespread.

The Red Cross has prepared a large quantity of typhoid vaccine and doctors have innoculated more than 20,000 against the disease in Ramallah. The number of Arab refugees is estimated to be between 250,000 and 350,000.

Count Folke Bernadotte, U.N. Palestine mediator, arrived in Alexandria by plane Tuesday.



A press officer on his staff said both Jewish and Arab leaders had agreed in principle to the demilitarization of the Holy City, but there were many problems. Most soldiers who have been fighting in Jerusalem have their homes there. The announced Jewish ambition to incorportae Jerusalem into Israel, and Arab fears tha Irgun Zvai Leumi and Stern dissidents are preparing to attack Arab quarters in the city, also were described as obstacles.

Sweden Sure Norway Neutral

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 4 (AP)—Working hard for the neutralization of Scandinavia, Sweden is optimistic she will win Norway over to her course in any war between east and west.

While Norway has been eager to keep her doors open to military co-operation with the western powers, Sweden has repeatedly proclaimed her intention to maintain "armed neutrality" in any third world war.

Across this dividing line of neutrality a tug-of-war has been going on for some time between the two governments.

Discussions for a Scandinavian defence alliance, initiated by Sweden, have been in process since May.

The western powers are understood to have repeatedly, although informally, expressed their concern to Sweden over her attempts to win Norway for neutrality. The Russian press and radio have kept singularly quiet.

Swedish sources say Foreign Secretary Bevin told the Swedish ambassador to London, Eric Boheman, on June 21, that Scandinavia's chances of remaining neutral in a new war were slight.

Women To Toss Plenty of Weight At Liberal Rally

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Aug. 4 — (CP) — There's no doubt about it — the "weaker" sex will toss plenty of weight around at the national Liberal convention opening here tomorrow.

From as far west as Dawson Creek, B.C., and as far east as Charlottetown, more than 200 women will attend as delegates and alternates.

And this doesn't even count the several hundred wives who will accompany their husbands to the scene of the first national Liberal convention since 1919.

Noting that the number of women attending officially is nearly four times number present at the convention 29 years ago, Mrs. S. C. Tweed of Ottawa, assistant director of the National Liberal Federation, said the increase was evidence of the growing interest of Canadian women in the affairs of their country.

50 Delegates

More than 50 women nominated from federal constituencies will attend as full delegates on equal status and in open competition with men. And from at least one of the western constituencies two of the three delegates will be women.

But while women were gradually stepping into positions of leadership, there was still much to be done in "arousing women from their apathy regarding politics."

"If you join your constituency organization, you have a vote and the ballots are not marked male and female," said Mrs. Tweed. "That's the key that opens the door for women into guiding the affairs of their country."

Officials of women's provincial Liberal associations attending the convention are Mrs. Gwen Morris, Vancouver; Mrs. Harry Perry, Regina; Mrs. J. W. Cadwell, Winnipeg; Mrs. Lorne Lee, Aurora, Ont.; Mme. Tancrede Jodoin, Montreal; Mrs. R. K. Kelley, Halifax; Mrs. D. J. Riley, Charlottetown.

Doreen Sullivan Bride Of Mark Kennedy

In St. Martin's Roman Catholic Church, Ennismore, on Tuesday morning the Rev. V. J. Gillogly said the nuptial mass uniting in marriage Catherine Doreen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sullivan, Ennismore and Mark, son of Mr. Daniel Kennedy, and the late Mrs. Kennedy.

Wedding music was played by Miss Kathleen Young and during the signing of the register the choir sang "Ave Marie."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a wedding gown of white slipper satin fashioned with long sleeves and sweetheart neckline on the moulded bodice and a full graceful skirt. Her veil of embroidered net fell in a train from a coronet of orange blossoms and she was carrying a cascade of red roses. Miss Teresa Sullivan was bridesmaid for her sister wearing a frock of robin's egg blue taffeta with gathered overskirt of net. She had mittens to match and a flower trimmed bandeau of blue which held her shoulder veil, and nosegay was of yellow roses.

The groom's brother, Mr. Max Kennedy, was his attendants. The ushers were Ray Sullivan and Jack Kennedy, brothers of the bride and groom.

The reception after the ceremony was in the Empress Hotel, Peterborough. The bride's mother was receiving gowned in blue voille with white hat and wore a corsage of red roses. The groom's sister, Mrs. Walter Lalonde of Toronto also received, attired in grey crepe with white hat and wearing red roses.

On return from their wedding trip to Toronto, St. Catharines and Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy will live at 510 Water St. When going away the bride was wearing a grey crepe dress with black accessories and carried a black topcoat.

DOROTHY DIX

Husband Refuses Money To Aid Needy In-Laws

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am married to a good man who gives me every luxury, but no cash. I have a sister who is married, but whose husband barely makes a living, and I would like so much to be able to help them out once in a while. However, my husband feels no responsibility for my sister and her family and he will do nothing for them, and as I have no money of my own my hands are tied.

Dorothy Dix

My parents are down on me and think I am utterly selfish and heartless, but what can I do? Don't you think it is my husband's duty to help my sister a little?

WORRIED SISTER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Unless your sister is in absolute need, for her to depend on your husband to help support her and her children would probably weaken her husband's morale and cause him to quit working at all to provide for his familly. Nothing is easier to acquire than the habit of dependence and nothing is more demoralizing. Probably poverty and the desire for things they want and haven't got will turn your sister's husband and children into go-getters.

Complicated

I don't think any situation in the world is more complicated, or has more angles than the one in which you find yourself. You would like to help your sister and would be willing to make many sacrifices to do so. You would be willing to live in a simple way in order to give her a little money every month, but as long as your husband keeps a Yale lock on his pocketbook there is nothing you can do about it.

The question of how much a brother-in-law should do for a sister-in-law becomes solely one of generosity when they are not in dire need, but when the wolf howls at the door it is his DUTY then to feed them.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My son is about to be married to a very nice girl. I have never told him that the man he thinks is his Dad is not his real father. Do you think that I should tell him now as the arrangements for the wedding are going on, or should I continue to keep the secret that I have kept for thirty years? I am a nervous wreck trying to decide what to do.

MRS. M. B. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think you would do a very wrong thing and one that would make a great deal of unhappiness for several innocent people if you told your story. You have been a good mother to this boy. You have rearer him to be a fine man and no worthy purpose could be served by revelations that would only harm.

Let bygones be bygones. That is only the wise thing, but the the kind thing to do.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have two darling girls and a fine husband. He is everything a wife could want, kind, considerate, and wonderful to the children and me, but at times I am very unhappy. Before I met my husband I was engaged to a young man. He still comes between my thoughts of home, husband and children. I can't get him off of my mind and I am always thinking of how much I would like to see him just once more. Then I think of my husband and children and I know it isn't right to give this fellow even a thought.

What can I do to make myself true in thought to my husband, as well as deed?

PERPLEXED

ANSWER: There is one remedy that I can recommend that will straighten out your thinking if you will apply it, and that is to use some common sense. You were not in love with the former boy friend, nor apparently was he in love with you, so why do you keep yourself worked up all the time trying to conjure up a romance that never really existed? You may not realize it' but you are making a lot of trouble for yourself, for any woman who will get busy on the job can imagine herself in love to such an extned that it will kill her affection for her good husband.

As for your pining to see your former sweetheart, my earnest advice to you is to hunt him up and take a good, long lingering look at him. There is nothing more disillusioning than an old sweetheart seen after an interval of years.

Records Conceal Stigma of Babies Born Behind Bars

By WILLIAM J CONWAY

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 — (AP). — Hundreds of children have been born in a strange, obscure world.

They are the infants of women prisoners in penal and correctional institutions.

This has been a virtually unknown chapter in the story of life behind the bars. But now the information has been gathered by the John Howard Association, a private agency that seeks to rehabilitate released prisoners, improve prisons and prevent crime.

Questionnaires were sent out to get the answers to such questions as these: How many such babies are born? How long can the mother keep them? Can mothers, when freed, regain their little ones?

The survey, made in the U.S., covered 65 state penitentiaries, women's reformatories and girls' training schools in 39 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii.

The study showed 326 babies were born last year to prisoners of 31 institutions. The women were pregnant when they were imprisoned. Some had husbands. Some were single.

The babies were delivered in prison hospitals in only eight of the institutions. In the other cases the births were in state, county, city or private hospitals.

Officials use a variety of means to avoid leaving a blot on the child's formal record in reporting the place and circumstances of his birth. In most cases the birth certificate just lists the name of the hospital and city, or only the name of the city or county.

Indicate Illegitimacy

But illegitimate youngsters don't have such a good chance to escape a stigma. The birth certificates bear a stamp of "Illegitimate" in a dozen states.

At training schools, the prisoners are minor girls. In seven places they can keep their babies as long as they are in the hospital. The period ranges from two weeks to three months. In one school the mother never sees the child. In two others the babies are taken away at birth if they are to be adopted.

Adult women in reformatories and penitentiaries can keep their youngsters longer. Mothers in two prisons can keep their children two years. In all places, babies remain with the mother until weaned.

Relatives have first call on babies sent out into the free world, and they get most of them. The bulk of the others go to adoption or foster homes. But in eight places hey can end up in orphanages.

Are any arra. gements made for the mother to be reunited with her child after her release if she so desires?

Three institutions replied "no". The answers from the others were "yes"—in cases where the mother is able, fit and willing and has not signed away her rights through adoption.

Newark Edges Royals In 4-3 Tussle

By The Associated Press

Bob Porterfield's brilliant pitching might cost the rookie right-hander of Newark Bears a chance to land a mound berth with the parent New York Yankees this season.

George Weiss, New York general manager, has informed Yankee manager Bucky Harris that he would not allow Harris to recall Porterfield as long as Newark has a chance to win the International league pennant.

Thus, Porterfield is confronted with a strange situation. If he continues pitch winning ball for the Bears he won't get a chance at a major league berth until next year. If the Bears hit a snag, which Porterfield certainly doesn't hope for, he will be called up by the Yanks, who are engaged in a torrid race for the American league pennant.

Tuesday night, Porterfield hurled the Bears to within 7½ games of the league-leading Montreal Royals by beating the Royals 4-3. The victory was his 15th of the year.

Lou Novikoff's homer and Jerry Coleman's two-run single broke up the game.

Syracuse snapped its third-place tie with Rochester Red Wings by taking both ends of a twin bill from the Wings, 9-6 and 8-5.

Tom Hughes went the route for the Chiefs in the opener and the veteran Dixie Howell did likewise in the second tilt.

The twin setbacks dumped the Wings into a fourth-place tie with Toronto Maple Leafs, who were beaten 3-2 by the last-place Baltimore Orioles.

A two-run four-bagger by Moss and one with the bases empty by Ed Levy spelled doom to the Leafs.

Jersey City Giants and the Buffalo Bisons divided a twin bill, the Giants winning the opener 7-2 and the Bisons the nightcap, 5-4.

Heffernan Stars In Lacrosse

American Hotel defeated McGillis Hotel in a midget lacrosse match Tuesday night, 12-4. Jim Heffernan starred for the winners, accounting for six goals and two assists, while Farley, Rogers and Tobin were best for the losers. McGillis were handicapped by a lack of players. A record of player attendance has been kept, and those who have not played a specified number of games will be requested to turn in their sweaters.

A practice is called for Thursday night at the Miller Bowl for midget lacrose players, and the following should attend: McIlmoyle, McConnachie, Kimball, Cooke, Jones, W. Berwick, Armstrong, Tobin, Killen, Goolie, Rogers, Nichols, Kelly, Scriver, Hope, Doris, Galley, Brennan, Buott, T. Brown, B. Curtis, Collins, Daniels, McKenzie, Bickford, B. Robinson, O'Donnell, Carravaggie, Mullen, Fontaine.

The teams:

American Hotel—Collins, McIlmoyle, McConnachie, White, Cooke, Kimball, Smith, Heffernan, Odette.

McGillis Hotel—Kelly, Rogers, Farley, English, Bertrand, Nichols, Dewar, Armstrong, Tobin.

Sudbury Man Fails In Javelin Throw

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, Aug. 4.—(CP).—Leo Roininen of Sudbury failed to qualify today in the preliminary round of the Olympic javelin throw.

The qualifying distance was 209 feet, 11¾ inches, and only four tossers made it. Eight others with best marks were allowed to enter the final.

Martin Biles, University of California instructor, paced the qualifying field with a toss of 222 feet, ½ inch.

Remember When...

Ralph Buldahl, putting on one of his famous "stretch" finishes, won the $5,000 Milwaukee Open golf championship with a 72-hole total of 268 strokes eight years ago today. The Chicagoan's total was 16 under par for the North Hills course.

Sisson Rated High By Argos

Jack Sisson, former PCVS rugby star, is one of the hopefuls at the Argonauts' football camp in Toronto. Johnny Metras, coach of the University of Western Ontario Mustangs, thinks Jack has a great future as a passer. For several years he has quarterbacked the PCVS senior team and has shown well as a broken field runner as well as a passer.

A Globe and Mail report of the Argo camp says that Sisson is light, weighing only about 150 pounds. Fred Doty and Billy Myers don't weigh much more than that, but the competition in the Argo camp will be tough for passers, with Krol, Copeland and former Roughrider Frankie Dunlap around.

Trap Beavers With Perfume

DENVER, Aug. 4 —(AP)—The Colorado Game and Fish Department has discovered what makes a beaver eager. It's perfume. Like lots of two-legged animals, he's a sucker for a scent.

That makes the department's beaver-trapping program a cinch. The department traps beavers because they damage irrigation projects.

Herman Wilson, a trapper, noticed at a stock show that whenever a heavily-perfumed woman passed the cages the beavers dropped whatever they were doing and started sniffing.

Another time, a beaver wandered into downtown Denver and was captured by rangers. He wouldn't have anything to do with the men around the department but when cologne-wearing Georgia Diana, a secretary, came around he snuggled up in her arms.

That gave Wilson a slick idea for beaver trapping.

When Wilson started sprinkling perfume on his traps the beavers came running.

Wilson won't give out the department's recipe for beaver perfume, he's afraid poachers would swipe the idea.

East City Team Takes Lead In Playoffs

East City bantams whipped the West End outfit last night 13-5 in the first game of the three-out-of-five baseball playoffs. Halliday, pitching for the west enders, struck out 15, but loose play afield allowed East City to pick up 11 hits. Scriver starred in centre field for East City, and got four hits for four times at bat.

Cunningham started on the mound for East City, but tired at the end for the fifth when West End picked up two runs. McGrath took over in the sixth, allowing no hits and no runs for the next two innings.

The score:

East City	311 302 01—13	11
West End	000 220 1x— 5	5

The teams:

East City—Pammet, c; McCormick, 2b; Withers, lf and 1b; Scriver, cf; Spencer, 1b; Clapper, lf (5th); Ferguson, ss; McCarthy, 3b; Byrne, rf; Cunningham, p; McGrath, p (6th).

Hamilton Crew In Second Place

TORQUAY, Devovnshire, England, Aug. 4 — (CP). — John Robertson of Hamilton, and Dick Townsend, his crew, sailed their Swallow class yacht into second place today in their second race of the Olympic competition.

The British entry was first. Robertson finished seventh in the opening race Tuesday.

Seven races will be sailed in each of the five Olympic classes and the skipper with the best average time in any six of the seven races will be winner of his class.

The Swedish entry in the Firefly class finished first today, followed by Uruguay, United States, Britain and Holland. The Swedish boat's time was one hour and 28 minutes for the course of approximately six miles.

The United States won the Star class in 1:52:12, with Bill Gooderham of Toronto and Gerry Fairhead, his crew, back in 15th place. Britain was second, Italy third and Australia fourth.

Robertson's time in the Swallow class was 1:58:10 against the British boat's winning time of 1:56:54.

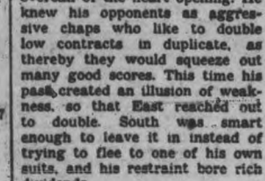
PASS CAN WIN POINTS

IT IS TRUE that a particular bid in a particular situation will show your partner, and the opponents too, that you hold about a certain amount of strength of one kind or another. But there is no rule that compels you to make that bid just because you have the strength for it. At certain times and against certain opponents, it is well to pass when holding enough strength to bid. The illusion of weakness conveyed thereby can bring you an occasional gift of very welcome points.

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)



East	South	West	North
1 ♥	2 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	Pass	3 ♣	3 ♠
2 ♥ Dbl.	Pass	2 ♠	2 ♠

At both of those tables in a tournament, East led his singleton diamond, and consequently later ruffed a trick with the spade 6, besides taking two with his top trumps and having West take one with his club A. So the contract at Table 1 was made right on the head, for a score of 90 in tricks plus 50 bonus for making a part-score contract, or a total of 140. At Table 2, though, where the declarer was doubled in a lower contract, an extra trick was made to produce 180 in doubled tricks, 300 for game bonus, 100 for the extra trick and 50 bonus for a doubled contract, a total of 570.

All of that difference resulted from South's pass on his first turn, while holding enough to make a sound not-vulnerable overcall of the heart opening. He knew his opponents as aggressive chaps who like to double low contracts in duplicate, as thereby they would squeeze out many good scores. This time his pass created an illusion of weakness, so that East reached out to double. South was smart enough to leave it in instead of trying to flee to one of his own suits, and his restraint bore rich dividends.

Liberal Students Planning Torchlight March

By GEORGE RONALD

OTTAWA, Aug. 4 — (CP). — One hundred students, members of the Canadian University Liberal Federation, met today to plan their part in the Liberal party's national convention, which starts tomorrow.

They will draft a series of resolutions to be presented to the party gathering. Some of the proposals deal with Communism, social security and Canada's role in world affairs. But details will not be made known until the resolutions are read.

Today's meeting is the first national convention held by the C.U.L.F. since it was organized last September. It now has about 1,000 members, more than half of whom are veterans. There are C.U.L.F. clubs in 18 universities and colleges; each has three delegates at the C.U.L.F. convention.

One delegate from each university club also will have a vote in the party convention's election of a successor to Prime Minister Mackenzie King as Liberal leader. That vote takes place Saturday.

At the close of today's meeting the delegates will choose a new president to succeed Marcel Joyal of McGill University, Montreal.

Plan Parade

Defence Minister Claxton will speak tonight at a C.U.L.F. dinner, which will be followed by a torchlight parade to Parliament Hill.

The students, with some 50 members of young Liberal federations, will form up at the University of Ottawa Football Stadium and march to Laurier House, home of Mr. King.

He will light three torches, symbolic of the convention's theme — unity, security, freedom. The torches will be carried through downtown Ottawa for a dedication ceremony at the statue of Sir Wilfred Laurier on Parliament Hill.

Jack Cooper Suffers Relapse At Hospital

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Aug. 4 (AP). — Condition of speedboat racer Jack (Pops) Cooper of Kansas City, Mo., injured when he was spilled from his high-powered boat on Lake Ontario, was reported improved but still serious today after a relapse.

The neuro-surgical specialist attending Cooper said his condition became worse during the night, and that a blood clot was removed from the left side of Cooper's brain beneath a depressed skull fracture.

The surgeon, who declines use of his name, advised that Cooper's condition improved following the delicate operation.

The doctor also reported that further examination of the 68-year-old veteran racer disclosed a fracture of the left hip.

Cooper was racing near Picton Monday when his boat, travelling about 65 miles an hour, soared out of the water and flipped over, landing on top of him.

Search For Jet Plane Temporarily Halted

OSHAWA, Aug. 4.— (CP). — Search for a Vampire jet aircraft which crashed last June 16 into Lake Ontario near Bowmanville, has been temporarily halted.

The plane carried Sqdn.-Ldr. S. Y. Broadbent of St. Thomas, Ont., to his death.

A navy Fairmile and a tug which have been conducting dragging operations have been withdrawn and the search will be continued by Number Six Repair Depot of the RCAF at near-by Trenton.

So far only a wheel and a wing of the aircraft have been brought to the surface.

Dutch Woman Scores Second Victory

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, Aug. 4 (CP)—Fanny Blankers-Koen, the Netherlands' one-woman track team, scored her second victory of the 14th Olympics today, smashing world and Olympic records in the process.

Canada's Bob McFarlane of London, Ont., qualified for the second-round of the 400 metres, placing second in his qualifying heat. Two other Canadians were eliminated.

Mrs. Blankers-Koen streaked over the 80-metre hurdles in 11.2 seconds to trim one-tenth of a second from the world mark she shared with Claudia Testoni of Italy, and from the previous Olympic mark she herself established in a preliminary heat Tuesday.

Maurine Gardner of Britain came second. Only inches behind, she was clocked in the same time as the Netherlander who started her Olympics winning streak Monday in the 100-metre dash.

First "double" of these games, 30-year-old Mrs. Blankers-Koen, mother of two small children, also is entered in the high jump and relay, giving her a chance to win two more gold medals before the games end.

In another final, Kaj Rautavaara of Finland won the men's javelin-throwing title. Canada's Leo Roininen of Sudbury, failed to pass the qualifying round.

Pentathlon Champion

Capt. W. O. G. Grut, versatile Swedish artillery captain, became Olympic pentathlon champion with a record score of 16 points in the five events. The Swedish team took the combined championship in this event.

Four Danish swimmers smashed the Olympic 40-metre relay record of 4:36, held by the Netherlands, by winning their preliminary heat in 4:33.5—only to have the Netherlands take it back again in 4:31.3.

The Canadian team was sixth and failed to qualify.

Bill Porter of the United States equalled the Olympic record for the 110-metre hurdles, being timed in 14.1 seconds as he won the second preliminary heat. The mark was set by Forrest Towns of the United States in 1936.

Hold Kingston Doctor In Narcotics Case

KINGSTON, Aug. 4 — (CP). — Dr. R. J. Livesey, 33, was arrested Tuesday evening at his home here by Constable G. L. Newman of the R.C.M.P. drug squad, Ottawa. He was brought before Magistrate James B. Garvin in special court and charged shortly after with selling narcotics illegally.

He was remanded until Aug. 10 and released on $6,000 property bail.

Dr. Livesey is the former partner of Dr. G. W. Blenkinsop, who is also charged with selling drugs illegally. The latter was committed for trial at a preliminary hearing July 6.

More Electricity For Farms, Manning Pledge

EDMONTON, Aug. 4 (CP). — Premier Manning told Alberta electors Tuesday night the Alberta Government Power Commission would "produce and distribute electricity at the lowest possible cost" if entrusted with the province's rural electrification.

In an election campaign broadcast, the Social Credit Premier weighed rural power development under private and public owned systems. If returned to power in the August 17 Alberta general election, his government would be guided by the electorate's answer to the rural electrification plebiscite posed at the same time, Premier Manning said.

Terms of the plebiscite were announced earlier in the day.

In other speeches on Tuesday night, Liberal Leader J. Harper Prowse offered a plan for more home building under the National Housing Act and CCF Leader Elmer E. Roper said the election offered a choice between the CCF and the Social Credit Government.

Mr. Manning contrasted his government's record against farm electrification in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

He said that under private power companies in Alberta almost five farms have been electrified to every one that has been electrified by the CCF Government Power Commission in Saskatchewan, while the Manitoba Power Commission has electrified almost seven farms to every one served by the CCF Power Commission in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Prowse said the Liberals planned to reduce "by more than one-half" the down payment required of persons building their own homes under the National Housing Act 30-year loans of up to $1,250.

Lakefield Man Hurt In Crash

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 4.—James Brown, partner in the proprietorship of Sailcraft Company, Limited, was today expected to return to his home here before the end of the week from a Peterborough hospital, where he was recovering from injuries in an automobile accident last Thursday night at midnight. The accident occurred on the Dummer Rd. near Norwood. They had turned off No. 7 Highway at Norwood, taking advantage of the short cut to Lakefield. It was reported the car rolled over in loose gravel. Mr. Cooke escaped injury.

Given Wallet

During the evening Mr. Roche was presented with a wallet containing a substantial sum of money by H. J. Humphrey and A. Bracken. Mrs. Roche was presented with a bouquet of roses. In expressing his thanks Mr. Roche said that he had been taken completely by surprise.

Others present from distant points were W. Goddard, Windsor; P. Pincombe, Port McNichol, former locomotive foreman at Havelock; J. F. Banson, West Toronto.

Bag Brush Wolf In Rawdon Twp.

MARMORA, Aug. 4—(ENS)—Charles Gordenier of Bonarlaw shot a medium-sized wolf on Sunday afternoon on the farm of Al Morrison at the northern end of Rawdon township.

He had called on James L. Hewitt and the pair decided to inspect the new road which leads to Callahan's Rapids on Crowe River.

Crossing the 12-acre field on Morrison's farm they sighted the wolf, who also saw them and ran into the brush.

Gordenier thought the wolf would remain in the brush long enough for him to go to his home —three miles distant—in his car to get his .22 rifle. This he did and on returning to the place, Hewitt ventured into the brush. In a short time the wolf emerged from the brush where it had gone in. It made an excellent target for Gordenier's gun.

It is reported that three or four wolves have been seen together in the district recently.

Gaelic Churches Refuse To Unite

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Aug. 4 (CP). — The determined Highlanders of Edinburgh's two Gaelic speaking churches were told to unite, but the first "united" service revealed their old feud still lives.

The Church of Scotland General Assembly decided in May that the congregations of St. Oran's and St. Columba's should become one, and a Sunday in July was appointed for the consummation service.

But only three of St. Oran's congregation attended the service held in St. Columba's and the 106-year-old division continues. It began in 1842 when St. Columba's Meckenzies, MacLeods and MacDonalds, drawn from Ross and Cromarty and part of Inverness-shire, walked out on St. Oran's Campbells, MacDougalls and Shaws, most of whom came from Argyllshire.

J. Boag Thomson, session clerk at St. Oran's has repeatedly said his congregation would not link up with St. Columba's.

Auto Makers Hope To Top 1947 Output In Current Year

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, Aug. 4 (AP)—The United States automobile industry expects to build 2,500,000 cars and trucks in the last six months of 1948.

This program is not just a hope. It should be realized, barring a major work stoppage in one of the "big three" companies of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, or several of the smaller concerns.

The industry came through the year's first six months with an output of more than 2,500,00 vehicles. It achieved this volume despite a 17-day shutdown of Chrysler plants, stoppages in all General Motors plants of two weeks or more, and the halting of Ford operations for model change-overs.

The car manufacturers, of course, do not expect any more serious stoppages, although an increased production tempo probably would make it possible to absorb some minor suspensions. But they are, as usual, concerned about their steel supply.

A number of strikes in supplier plants also contribute to the automobile makers' worriers. These worries however have been present ever since the end of the war and production has been mounting steadily.

Last year the factories turned out approximately 4,800,000 cars and trucks and they appear certain to reach 5,000,000 this year.

Yet the backlog of unfilled orders still is higher than at any time since the war. The figure 6,000,000 now is most commonly used in appraising the total of untilled new car orders. But even if the figure is a bit high, the factories are far behind their demand and the dealers generally have more orders on their book than they can fill for many months.

New Nash In October

Latest word regarding new models is that the new 1949 Nash line will appear some time in October. The Nash plants probably will close late in August for the change-over. Best guesses are that the switch will take from three to four weeks.

One or two of the General Motors divisions probably also will be in 1949 model work by October.

Kaiser-Frazer also is doing some new model preliminary work. It is understood to be planning a new hard-top convertible for presentation later this year.

Paper work on virtually all the 1949 mbodels was completed long ago. In many instances the tools and dies are nearly ready. The scheduled production of current models, however, is yet to be attained.

The car makers did produce a large volume of vehicles during the first six months of the year but the proportion of passenger cars was not as large as had been expected. So there will be some delay in bringing out 1949 cars until current model output catches up with the parts and sub-assemblise the industry has ordered from its suppliers.

The 2,500,000 vehicles turned out between Jan. 1 and July 1 this year included about 1,800,000 passenger cars. About 125,000 of these were shipped to foreign markets.

Tribute Paid Jas. B. Holland

Tribute to the late James B. Holland of Port Hope, formerly of Peterborough, has been expressed by J. L. Holloway of Chicago, president of the Crane Manufacturing Co. of which the Port Hope Sanitary Manufacturing Co. is a subsidiary.

A brother of the late Ald. Daniel J. Holland of this city, Mr. Holland was killed instantly in a motor accident near Newcastle last April. He was general superintendent of the Port Hope company.

The following are references quoted from the company's resolution a copy of which, beautifully executed in blue, red and gold has been received by Mrs. Holland.

"With great regret this Board records the untimely death at the age of 62 years of Mr. J. B. Holland, general superintendent of the "Port Hope Manufacturing Co. . . . We record our high opinion of him as a friend and business associate, and extend to Mrs. Holland our heart-felt sympathy. We order that this memorial to Mr. Holland be entered in the minutes of this meeting and that it be engrossed in permanent form and presented to her."

The resolution outlines Mr. Holland's career in a few appreciative paragraphs.

Servicemen's Seats Dropped In Alberta

EDMONTON, Aug. 4—(CP)—Armed services' representation in the Alberta Legislature came to an end with the dissolution of the Assembly July 16. Three seats given representatives of the navy, army and air force after the last election have been discontinued and in the general election, Aug. 17, the number of seats at stake will be 57, the same as in pre-war days.

The number of members rose from 25 when the province was formed in 1905 to 63 in 1930. But the Social Credit Government during its first term enacted a redistribution that cut seats from 63 o 57 for the 1940 vote.

Members will be elected from 47 single member constituencies and the multiple ridings of Calgary and Edmonton which each return five members.

THIEVES GET $3,000 FROM BALA RESORT

LEADING RACE FOR the leadership of the Liberal party is Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, Minister of External Affairs. Reports from the three-day party convention at Ottawa indicate that the brilliant Montreal lawyer is leading other contenders for the position being vacated by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

St. Laurent Gaining Ground In Liberal Leadership Race

By SENATOR W. R. DAVIES

OTTAWA, Aug. 5—If present indications are accurate Louis St. Laurent will undoubtedly be the next leader of the Liberal party. I attended two social functions last evening, at which there were many delegates including on both occasions nearly all the Cabinet ministers, the leaders of Liberal thought in the provinces, such as Angus Macdonald of Nova Scotia and "Boss" Johnson of British Columbia, and many others, I talked to dozens of delegates in fact I talked to so many, that at bedtime I felt very much like the man in the 1921 elections campaign in South Renfrew, whom the chairman introduced by saying "Mm—well now say a few words because he's got a sore throat."

Most of the Cabinet ministers are for St. Laurent. I am told by those who should know that St. Laurent will get an almost solid Quebec. He will also poll a big vote in the Maritimes, in Manitoba and in B.C. Strangely enough I ran across two Ontario delegates last night, members of parliament, who had been quoted in the press as definitely again St. Laurent. Both of them told me—volunteered the information that they were voting for the minister of external affairs. One Cabinet minister form Ontario told me St. Laurent would get 65 per cent of the votes on the first ballot.

On Warpath

That was last night.

Today the situation might change. Agriculture Minister Gardiner is on the warpath and he has Brigadier Colin Campbell working hard for him. The Citizen last night carried a front page picture of "Jimmy" Gardiner washing his hands, coat off, sleeves rolled up, arm bands all complete, and "Collie" Campbell standing up holding the towel Yesterday noon Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner entertained 150 delegates from Saskatchewan to lunch, and the well-filled luncheon table in the three-room Gardiner headquarters on the first floor of the Chateau, had a welcome sign on it for all in the evening.

Brigadier Campbell gives his favorite "Jimmy" Gardiner, 40 to 50 per cent of the Ontario votes.

Explain Voting For New Leader

OTTAWA, Aug. 5 —(CP)—The 1,299 delegates to the national Liberal convention which opened here today will vote individually in the balloting on the party leadership Saturday afternoon.

After registration, each delegate is given a booklet containing 10 ballot slips. The secrecy of the ballot will be preserved and there will be no way of telling how each delegate or province votes.

When the leadership voting begins at 2 p.m. Saturday, folded ballots will be collected in boxes by scrutineers and turned over to the tellers for tallying. When the result of each ballot is announced, it will be by the total vote, not by provinces.

The winner will be declared on the basis of a clear majority over all other candidates. Candidates dropping out of the running will be allowed to announce their withdrawal but will not be allowed to make any remarks in favor of swinging their supporters to any other candidate.

If, after the fourth ballot, no candidate has a clear majority, then on the fifth and subsequent ballots the candidate with the lowest total will automatically be eliminated.

Premier King Gives Liberals Big Welcome

Some Of Delegates Of 1919 Parley At Ottawa Convention

OTTAWA, Aug. 5 — (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King today extended a "cordial" welcome to delegates attending the national Liberal convention called to choose his successor.

In an address formally opening the convention, Mr. King said if the convention was held next week he would be in his 30th year as leader of the party.

He said the convention is being held in the same week, the same month, and on the same days as the 1919 convention which selected him as leader.

Some of the delegates at the present convention, he said, were also present at the 1919 convention. One of them, Thomas McKercher, 81, of Olds, Alta., also was at the 1893 convention which chose Sir Wilfrid Laurier as leader.

Mr. King said he wished to pay particular tribute to Sir Alan Aylesworth, 93, head of the list of Privy Councillors in Canada. Sir Alan, he said, heeded the advice of his physician and did not attend the convention.

Sir Alan was the delegate who nominated Mr. King at the 1919 convention.

Behind Papers

Mr. King walked to the platform behind two pipers. He was followed by his cabinet. Hon. C. G. Power, former air minister, and a candidate for the leadership, was in the line between the cabinet ministers and the provincial premiers.

Before starting his speech, Mr. King solemnly read the Lord's Prayer.

Mr. King said he wanted to thank the officers of the Liberal Federation and the convention committees for their work in bringing the convention into being at his request.

He expressed his appreciation as well to the provincial and party members across the country.

He said he was particularly pleased to see so many women and young people at the convention. One of its primary purposes would be to promote conditions which would keep the home "secure" and enable young people to establish a home without fear of the future.

Then, smiling broadly, he said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I now formally declare the proceedings of the convention open."

Joint Chairmen

The Prime Minister moved that J. Gordon Fogo, K.C., the Federation president, and J. A. Blanchette, K.C., vice-president and member of parliament for Compton, Que., be appointed joint chairmen. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Fogo and Mr. Blanchette thanked the delegates briefly and the selection of vice-chairmen and other convention officers began.

Mr. King said the fact that the convention is being held on the same day of the same week of the same month as the 1919 gathering is not, as you might suppose, a matter of deliberate pre-arrangement."

Convention officials had met "difficulties" in the way of accommodation "as regards either an earlier or a later date."

'We must thank the calendar for so deciding matters as to

Floating Houses In Arctic

Not Trick Of Northern Lights, Beat Frost

WINNIPEG, Aug. 5 — (CP).—If a visitor to the Canadian Arctic should find himself shadowed by a house while trekking across the tundra it wouldn't be a trick of the Northern Lights.

"Floating" buildings are one of the latest of many devices used in the Arctic to combat the vagaries of the North.

A Montreal construction engineer, George Jacobsen, described the buildings in an interview before proceeding to the 80th Parallel, north of Cornwallis Island. There he will construct one in a chain of weather stations springing up across the Arctic as part of a meteorological program by the Canadian and American governments.

"Floating" houses, he said, is man's reply to permafrost—permanently frozen ground—which presents one of the greatest problems involved in northern construction work.

Permafrost varies from 5 to 200 feet in depth, with the top layer becoming muddy, and sloppy during the short Arctic summer.

"However, 'floating' houses are our answer to this problem. The buildings are designed on the same principle as a boat, they are not anchored to the ground, but float with any movement of the earth's surface."

Jews Invite Arabs To Peace Conference

TEL AVIV, Aug. 5—(Reuters)—The Israeli government has invited the Arab governments to peace negotiations in Palestine, it was announced officially here tonight.

At the end of a three-hour talk today with Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator, Moshe Shertok, Israeli foreign minister, told the mediator:

"I approach on behalf of the Israeli provisional government with the request that you transmit to the belligerent powers an invitation to meet the provisional government for peace negotiations."

It indicated the Russians might be willing to compromise on the east-west currency war, which the Russians assigned as a reason for imposing a land blockade on the strife-torn city.

Red Spy Ring In Washington Mundt Charges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—(AP).—Karl Mundt, Republican member of the House of Representatives from South Dakota, said today there is "good reason to believe a Communist spy ring is operating in Washington right now."

"We are investigating," the acting chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee told reporters.

So far, committee hearings have dealt only with testimony that a Red espionage system was at work in the United States Government during the war, and that a Communist "underground" operated here before the war.

However, the Senate Investigating Committee which is looking into more recent happenings has turned up evidence that 38 workers have been fired as disloyal since the Government's loyalty program was set up 16 months ago.

That came out while the Senate group was trying anew, and still in vain, late Wednesday to get more background information on William W. Remington, suspended $9,975-a-year Commerce Department official.

Remington came under scrutiny of the Senate committee after Miss Elizabeth T. Bentley named him as one of her sources of information when she, by her own account, was a courier for the wartime Soviet spy ring.

The un-American activities committee planned to day to give Alger Hiss, former state department official active in the founding of the United Nations, the chance he asked to deny officially that he was part of the pre-war Communist underground here. Hiss now heads the Carnegie Foundation for international peace in New York.

Whittaker Chambers, a self-described former Communist who said he, too, was a courier for the underground, has testified that Hiss and others were part of it. Chambers, now with Time Magazine, said he tried to get Hiss to break away from the reds and that Hiss refused, giving "party-line" reasons.

After her testimony about Remington before the Senate committee last Friday, Miss Bentley moved over to the House committee the next day. There she said she got secret wartime information from two groups of government officials and a number of others independently and sent it on the way to Soviet agents.

Air Officials Deny French Plane Found

Paris Rumors Say 52 Passengers And Aircraft Safe

PARIS, Aug. 5 — (CP). — An Air France offical tonight categorically denied reports that the French flying boat missing since Sunday with 52 persons aboard had been found in the South Atlantic.

"The search centre at Dakar have informed us that they never received a message giving news of its discovery," he said.

The six-engined aircraft was en route from Martinique to French West Africa.

During the day reports spread through Paris that the plane had been found.

The semi-official Agence France-Presse quoted Air France officers in Marseilles as saying plane has been found, with all the 40 passengers and 12 crew members aboard safe. The plane was reported down 120 miles from where it last had been heard from four days ago. Later the agency said the report "lacked precision."

Earlier Air France said new messages, believed to be from the plane, had been picked up today in the Canary Islands.

Halifax Report

(At Halifax the RCAF said they too had received the French report that the plane had been found and all survivors rescued but they said a check was being made with the search operations centre for confirmation.)

Twenty planes belonging to French, American and Portuguese civil and military air fleets have been scouring the South Atlantic for the missing plane.

First reported messages were picked up late Wednesday by a French frigate and by a United States Flying Fortress.

A spokesman at Air France said "we have no fresh news beyond this for the time being, but we are still hopeful."

The search planes early today were converging on the Cape Verde area.

Among the searchers for the missing plane, a Latecoere 631, which disappeared off the coast of French West Africa, is the Fortress which Wednesday picked up one of the faint SOS messages.

Liquor War Flares Again In Campbellford As Writ Charges Polling Irregularities

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5.—(ENS).—The liquor war is not yet over in Campbellford, it was revealed at Wednesday's meeting of the town council.

Town Clerk J. F. McGregor announced that he had been served with a writ in his capacity of municipal clerk.

The writ was served at the instance of William A. Hogle, nurseryman, and informed tre clerk that at Cobourg on August 24, a judge will determine whether or not the June liquor election should be set aside, and listing a number of allegations that irregularites had occurred during the taking of the referendum.

In Ward 2, it is alleged, the pencil in the polling booth was broken, and voters had to mark the ballots in ink. In Ward 4, it said that there was no pencil, and in the same ward, four persons who were not residents are alleged to have voted without the right to do so.

In Ward 3, the writ alleges that the stub of a ballot was found among the refuse, and in Ward 1 it is charged that a returning officer told a number of duly registered voters that they were not entitled to vote. The same returning officer allegedly left his post and called Toronto for further instructions.

Also in Ward 4, according to the charges, voters were told that one ballot was for a liquor store and one for a beer parlor, whereas the matter of a beer parlor was not being voted upon, and as there is much opposition in town to such places, the writ alleges that this misleading information caused many to cast a negative vote.

The final charge is that representatives of the negative side hung around the polling places and asked questions of the inside scrutineers.

The question of whether or not Campbellford should have a liquor and beer store has long been a touchy matter here, and since the end of the war has become more and more prominent.

The clergy have received a large share of the blame for the Nova Scotia's Angus Macdonald Will Stand As Candidate For Leadership Of Liberal Party

Robertson Davies, editor of the Examiner, telephoned from Ottawa today to say that there appears to be only two serious contenders for the leadership of the Liberal party—the Right Hon. Louis S. St. Laurent, Secretary of State for External Affairs, and the Right Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture. The general opinion seems to be that St. Laurent has an edge on Gardiner as the likely successor to the Right Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, present Prime Minister and Liberal leader.

In the opinion of many observers Gardiner is too much of a western man and represents only a section of Canada. On the the other hand St. Laurent has shown himself a man of strong international interests and sympathies. His stature has grown since he succeeded to his present cabinet post and represented Canada at the United Nations Organization.

The feeling seems to be that St. Laurent is a ready-made leader and that very few people outside of Canada have ever heard of Gardiner. As Canada is now playing an increasingly active part in world affairs through UNO this is likely to be strong factor in making the ultimate choice.

Nova Scotia delegates have been urging Premier Angus Macdonald to let his name stand and present indications are that he will do so.

Heavy RCMP Guard Takes Minille Back To Prison

FORT ERIE, Aug. 5—(AP)—Nichoas Minille, 30-year-old convict, was turned over to the RCMP today for return to Kingston Penitentiary. United States immigration authorities handed Minille over to a three-man Mountie detail at 11 a.m. EDT. The RCMP were travelling by automobile.

Cpl. M. A. Hicks, a member of the detail, warned the Ottawa desperado that anything he might say would be used as evidence against him.

Minille remained glum and silent.

The Ottawa desperado arrived in Buffalo late Wednesday in custody of United States immigration officials. They had brought him by train from Cleveland, where he had arrived earlier by plane from California.

Minille, serving a 17-year term for kidnapping and robbing an Ottawa taxi-driver, made good a break from Kingston Penitentiary last August with Ulysse Lauzon, Windsor, and Donald (Mickey) McDonald of Toronto.

He spent Wednesday night in the Erie County Jail here. RCMP officers arrived at Fort Erie from Ottawa to escort him back to Kingston but the Federal Bureau of Investigation here said the "Mounties were "too tired" to take custody of the prisoner Wednesday night. They requested that the American authorities hold on to him till morning.

Take No Chances

OTTAWA, Aug. 5 (CP)—RCMP Wednesday night said they were taking no chances that Nicholas (Nick) Minille, 30-year-old Ottawa kidnapper and thief, will break lose again.

Police said the convict captured outside an Oakland drugstore May 10 will be conveyed from Buffalo to his old home at Portsmouth in an RCMP automobile under heavy guard.

'Met' Cancels 1948 Season Over Higher Pay

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—(AP)—The world-renowned Metropolitan Opera Wednesday cancelled its 1948-49 season because, it said, demands for unions wage increases could not be met. If the cancellation stands, it will be the first time in 50 years that the "Met" has failed to present a season of opera.

The Opera Association said its decision was caused by "failure" to reach agreements with all of the 12 unions representing the employees."

Shortly after the announcement, Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians (AFL) said it had reluctantly withdrawn demands for a wage boost in an effort to reach a settlement with the opera. The union said the only point it had continued to insist on was establishment of unemployment insurance and old-age benefits.

However, a spokesman for the opera indicated the decision not to open was final.

"This business of long drawn-out negotiations with the unions has been going on every year," he said. "The directors think it is time to meet the issue."

No Contracts Signed

The opera's stars had not yet signed contracts for the next season. A spokesman for the Met said this was one matter which was held up by the wage disputes.

However, most of the soloists who sang last winter were expected to be engaged again. Among them were Lily Pons, Helen Traubel, Lauritz Melchior, Jan Peerce, Lawrence Tibbett, Bidu Sayao, Ferrucio Tagliavini and Leonard Warren.

If there is no opera this season, New York will be deprived of one of its most glittering social events—the November opening night—and also one of its most popular entertainments.

The opera, of which Edward Johnson, formerly of Guelph, is general manager, also had built up a big following throughout the United States and Canada with its

Won't Allow Africa In Trusteeship System

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 5—(CP)—The United Nations Trusteeship Council last night rejected a Russian move to bring southwest Africa into the world agency's trusteeship system.

Thrown out after being deadlocked twice on a 6 to 6 vote, the resolution followed days of debate over the former German colony which has been under the union of South Africa's administration.

South Africa was given control of the territory after the First World War under a League of Nations mandate. It is the only mandated territory which has not been brought under U.N. supervision.

The Union Government has refused the council request that the territory be brought into the U.N. system.

Toronto Gang Blamed By Policemen

Robbers Get Money Under Nose Of Hotel Proprietor

TORONTO, Aug. 5 (CP)—The Bala Bay Hotel was robbed early today of $3,000, gross take of a busy week-end at the Muskoka district resort.

Provincial and Toronto police investigated and believe the robbery was committed by members of a Toronto gang who had been seen loitering around the hotel. Three homes in Toronto were raided but no arrests made.

The bandits escaped in an automobile and a witness to the robbery obtained a license number which proved to be that of a Toronto vehicle. The owner was checked but police said he had "an alibi" and that it was not the car involved.

Charles (Chuck) Davey, proprietor, said the loot was the gross receipts of the holiday week-end. It was removed from a drawer in his office a few hours before he intended transferring it to bank account.

Police say Mr. and Mrs. Davey must have been sitting in the lodge lobby when a thief or thieves walked into the nearby office and stole the entire week-end receipts. Mr. Davey had checked the money 45 minutes before 1.30 a.m. when the robbery is believed to have taken place.

He had intended taking it to the Gravenhurst bank the next day, but when he stepped into his office to pick it up for safekeeping in his bedroom overnight the cash box had disappeared.

Identify Body Found In Trunk

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 5 — (AP). — The tortured body of a man found stuffed in the trunk of an automobile was identified today as that of George A. (Red) Smyth, 28, member of the "Tunnel Gang" of currency exchange robbers.

The body was discovered by John Williams of Lockport, Ill., about 30 miles southwest of Chicago. It was stuffed in the trunk of a 1948 Lincoln convertible. Identification was made through photographs and fingerprints on file in the Chicago Police Department.

Smyth had been shot three times through the head. A loop of rope encircled his neck. Aeross his mouth, from ear to ear, were marks of adhesive tape.

Coroner E A. Kingston said the victim apparently had withstood torture evidenced by numerous bruises, but died of the bullet wounds.

Goes Down Firing At Terrorist Gang

SINGAPORE, Aug. 5—(Reuters)—John Ian Ogilvie, 57-year-old general manager of the Meru tin mine emptied his revolver at Malaya Terrorists before being riddled by a volley of Sten gun bullets near Ipoh early today.

Ogilvie was found dead under his car about 5½ miles north of Ipoh with 12 bullet wounds, one through the heart. Nearby were 18 used Sten cartridges and an empty revolver.

Deny Brazil Bans Canadian Wheat Flour

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 5. — (CP). — Canadian Embassy officials denied Wednesday reports that Brazil had embargoed wheat flour shipments from Canada.

Authorities said Brazil, however, has returned wheat flour to the import licence list.

The Government recently abolished import restrictions because of a wheat shortage felt here since 1946.

Unions Walk Out On TLC

Meeting Called To Discuss Shipping Strike

OTTAWA, Aug. 5—(CP)—Officials of several international unions today refused to participate in a labor meeting organized by the trades and labor congress to discuss the lake shipping strike.

The union officials involved refused to attend the meeting when delegates from Canadian congress of labor unions and a large number of rank and file members of the Canadian Seamen's union were admitted to it.

Prominent among the union officials who withdrew from the meeting was Rank Hall, vice-president of the brotherhood of railway and steamship clerks and chairman of the railway unions' negotiating committee during the recent wage dispute.

Percy Bengough, president of the T.L.C., organized a second meeting to be held this afternoon with only officials of the T.L.C. and its affiliated bodies attending. The original meeting will continue under the chairmanship of Harry Davis, president of the C.S.U.

Among the C.C.L. members present at this morning's meeting were representatives of various locals of the united automobile workers and the union of electrical workers. A large number of seamen attended.

Allies Step Up Air Lift Of Berlin Goods

BERLIN, Aug. 5.— (AP). — Britain and the United States stepped up their air lift to Berlin today as they awaited results of western power conferences with Russia which they hope will break the Soviet blockade of this city.

The Americans smashed their own record again Wednesday, carrying in 2,104 tons of supplies in 303 flights. The RAF made 242 flights in the same 24-hour period, carrying an estimated 1,000 tons.

British, American and French envoys conferred for three hours in Moscow Wednesday night on their next step in negotiations with Russia.

Frank Roberts, the special British envoy, received United States Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith and French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau at the British Embassy.

Informants said the three may have discussed whether to seek another appointment with Prime Minister Stalin in order to inform him of the view of their home governments.

Eleven new C-54 Skymasters capable of carrying 7½ tons arrived at the Rhein-Main airfield at Frankfurt Wednesday. The Skymasters have replaced all the smaller C-47 transports at the field. The C47's still are operating from Weisbaden. They plan to speed up the shuttle.

British authorities charged the Russians constantly violated "all the agreed rules of flight" during July by not notifying the four-power Berlin air safety centre of the departure of Russian planes from Berlin.

Churchill Ready To Open Navigation

CHURCHILL, Man., Aug. 5 — (CP). — Seaport officials at this northern Manitoba town on the rim of Hudson Bay said today everything is in readiness for opening of the navigation season with the first ship from England expected to arrive Aug. 9.

The officials added indications suggest this summer will be the busiest shipping season Churchill has yet seen, from both export and import standards.

In the export field members of the Hudson Bay Route Association — pledged to support the northern sea lane — hope that a minimum of 10,000,000 bushels of wheat will be shipping overseas this summer. Slightly less than half that quantity was moved last year.

dry state of the town, and there is no doubt that they were active during the recent campaign, but others tend to put the blame on the large number of elderly people, mainly retired, who comprise the majority of the town's population.

There have been several previous attempts to get a petition signed in town, but the one which resulted in the June vote was the first successful one for some years.

One member of council said two years ago that thousands of dollars were being spent annually in other towns by Campbellford people who went to Trenton, Peterborough or Cobourg to get liquid supplies and did the rest of their shopping in these wet spots.

Both sides are expected to get busy at once in preparation for a further vote following the trial on August 24, in order that in the case of a vote there will be a more clean-cut decision than the one in June, which resulted in a win for the negative side of the question, when the wets failed to obtain the necessary 60 per cent vote by 8.2 for the beer store, and 2.6 for the liquor store.

ASTHMA RELIEF

FOR ASTHMA & HAY FEVER

Says Better Hay Means Cash To Farm People

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 5 (CP).— Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario told 2,000 farmers Wednesday at the second southwestern Ontario Grassland Day "you must make up your minds and organize yourselves to have better and more pasture and hay to feed your cattle cheaper."

A good pasture, he said, will provide the cheapest kind of nutritious feed for livestock and will enable the farmer who has it to produce milk and beef more cheaply than by any other method.

Mr. Kennedy formally opened the Grassland Day held on the George Innes farm two miles south of here and then called for an all out effort by farmers to adapt themselves to the new machinery and equipment that was being made available to them.

He said it was only through advancing with "the best mechanical brains of the country" that cheaper feed and therefore cheaper milk and beef could be made available.

Lost Money On Cows

Many farmers in this province are losing money every day they milk their cows, Mr. Kennedy declared. In Ontario it costs a farmer from $60 to $160 a year to keep a cow. How can a man make money if it is costing him $160 to keep his cow?

"Hay isn't just hay any more," said Mr. Kennedy. "It is a valuable source of income and as the scientists have shown us it is a valuable feed for cattle."

He said it was only a matter of dollars and cents. "I am looking at men here who have let their children go to the cities, just for that reason," he charged.

Mr. Kennedy said every effort should be made to cut down labor and feed costs on the farm, because of an urgent need "in this province to improve our financial relations on the farm."

St. Laurent

Brig. Campbell and other Gardiner supporters claim the bulk of the votes from PEI, Saskatchewan, BC and Alberta. In Alberta they are counting, so I am told on the whole 110 votes.

Walter Tucker, who is by no means to be discounted, as Premier Douglas recently discovered, is also working hard for Gardiner. So is his son Wilfrid, who is connected with Kingston by marriage, as every one knows.

Power Not Serious Threat

No one seems to be taking "Chubby" Power's campaign seriously. Apparently it is the result solely of a one-man clamor. However, "Chubby" was again in therotunda of the Chateau last night shaking hands and patting backs. But so was "Jimmy" Gardiner and the dignified Louis St Laurent, who seemed a little out of his element. So far as I can find out, no one has ever accused Louis of being a mixer but everybody admires his brains. If he is chosen it will not in my opinion be because he is a French Canadian but because the majority of the delegates feel that we need him tot guide Canadian affairs during these critical times in Europe. They feel he is the one man who "really knows the score."

Hon. Angus Macdonald has not committed himself to any one. My guess is that he will be nominated and will then retire from the race. If he runs, I am told, by a warm friend of his from Halifax that he will get nearly 300 votes on the first ballot.

Keen Interest

The Conservatives are taking a keen interest in the convention. Karl Homuth of Waterloo South, is established in the Chateau and is watching the fight from the sidelines. Arthur Ford, editor of the London Free Press, and ex-president of the Ontario Conservative Association, is also here "looking on", and also keeping his paper informed.

Last night I met Gordon Bradly, K.C., of St. John's, Nfld., one of the two leaders of the "Join Canada" group in recent plebiscite. I hope to meet other leader Joe Smallwood today. Messrs. Bradley and Smallwood are here as observers.

They are both well pleased with the results of the plebiscite and are looking forward to becoming the tenth province of this Dominion.

ALGER HISS (above), former key official of the U.S. state department, was named in testimony before the House Un-American Activities committee, as a member of the "underground" Communist ring that operated in Washington about a decade ago. Mr. Hiss at the time was in the U.S. state department, served as a U.S. staff member of the international conferences at Dumbarton Oakes, San Francisco and Yalta.

Planning Bill To Prevent U.S. Filibustering

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—(CP). —Filibustering Southern senators have won their battle to defeat the will of the majority—and it may be the last filibuster on Capitol Hill.

After nearly a week of constant Southern oratory designed to prevent the Senate taking up the anti-poll tax bill—a section of the civil rights program—Republican policy committee members yielded Wednesday.

They hope to go on with some small measures of anti-inflation legislation and adjourn early next week. They will leave untouched the great bulk of the business for which President Truman called them back from their planned six-month holiday.

The Republican policy committee yielded because it was obvious the score of Southern-state senators were prepared to talk till Christmas if necessary to prevent any progress on the civil rights measures.

The Republican party leaders knew this would happen when they moved for consideration of the anti-poll tax measure, one of the least important of the long list of urgent matters laid before them by the president.

Republican leadership announced that the first business when Congress resumes next year will be a bill to end all filibusters.

If the Republican threat is carried cut, an institution long familiar to United States legislators will pass from the scene.

However, there is nothing apparent at the moment to prevent the filibusterers from filibustering the proposed bill to end filibusters.

Retired Police Officer Praises Syntona Highly

Was Veteran of World War I. Returned With Bad Stomach Troubles. Took Many Treatments Without Relief. Tells His Experience.

"HARRY GARVIN," well-known former C.N.R. Constable who resides at 227 Ray Street, Hamilton, Ontario, thinks every sufferer of stomach trouble should be able to profit by the experience he had over a long period of years.

MR. HARRY GARVIN

"For over 20 years I suffered with stomach trouble originated during my overseas service in World War I. First it was fried foods and rich pastries that gave me trouble, but as time went on, I got so bad I could hardly eat a thing without having awful attacks of gas, acid rising, heartburn, cramps and bloating. I was subject to dizzy spells, had many restless and sleepless nights, and no ambition to do my work. I took every medicine I heard of, went on special diets, was many weeks in hospitals and all in all spent a small fortune in search of relief. Nothing seemed to do me any good.

"One day I read in the paper about Syntona being good for stomach trouble and decided to try it. From the very first bottle I got noticable relief. Then, following directions carefully, I kept on taking it until I was able to eat anything without fear of suffering afterwards. My appetite returned and I got so that I could sleep the whole night through.

"That was some time ago and since then I've had no stomach troubles and am enjoying the best of health."

Many, many people like Mr. Garvin have benefitted immeasureably by taking a short treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound. You, too, can obtain the same good results.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, NOW a senior editor of "Time Magazine," is shown (left) chatting with representative Karl Mundt of South Dakota, acting chairman of the House Un-American Activities committee, as Chambers appeared before that body in Washington to tell what he knows of Communist infiltration into important government agencies. A former Communist official hmself, Chambers testified that the Communist party exists in the U.S. for a specific purpose—"overthrowing the government at the opportune time, by any and all means . . . each of its members dedicated to that purpose." He named Alger Hiss, former state department official, as a member of the Communist "underground" ring in Washington and said that Nathan Witt, former attorney for the national labor relations board, head the red ring which functioned in the capital ten years ago.

Make Gun Regulations Tougher Jury Urges After Fatal Shooting

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug 5 — (ENS)—A strong recommendation that the law regarding the carrying of firearms by juveniles be strictly enforced was brought in at Brighton Wednesday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Joseph Thomas Dutton Jr., Allen's Mills youth who was fatally shot on July 23.

The jury found that the youth "came to his death on July 23 . . . due to a bullet wound in the right temple carelessly fired from a .22 rifle in the hands of Eric Holden, Jr."

The Coroner, Dr. F. M. Dure, concurred in the verdict and the rider.

The father of the dead boy, Joseph Thomas Dutton, Sr., questioned by Harry Daymen for the Crown, said that his boy would have been 17 years of age next Feb. 4.

On July 23 the boy left home about 7.30 p.m. to go fishing. He next saw him at about 9.30 p.m. lying on the road near the bridge. Mr. Holden, Mr. Barrett and Mr. and Mrs. Allen were there and there was a towel around the boy's head. A bicycle had been lifted off the boy.

He asked who did this and Mr. Holden said, "My boy did it". The boy was taken in Mr. Allen's car toward Campbellford and they met Dr. W. W. Baker about two miles out, and taking his advice, continued to Campbellford Hospital.

From there he was taken to Belleville General Hospital, but died between Foxboro and Belleville.

Dr. W. Ward Baker, Campbellford, confirmed his meeting the car with the boy, and said that on arrival at Campbellford and after his examination, he felt that there was nothing anyone could do. At the wish of the parents he arranged for young Dutton to be taken to Belleville. As it would have taken too long to summon an ambulance, Dr. Baker used his own car.

He could not say where the boy died, but he was alive at the county line. The coroner remarked, "If I had been in your shoes I would have done exactly as you did, full speed ahead".

Bullet In Skull

Dr. J. B. Mackay, member of the staff of Belleville General and of the Medico-Legal Division of the Attorney-General's Department gave evidence regarding the post-mortem examination, and detailed the finding of the fatal bullet in the skull. There were no powder marks on the skin.

The course of the bullet had been backwards and to the left side. In answer to a question from Mr. Daymen, he agreed that the shot had been fired from a point in front and to the side.

Gerald Dallas told the court that he had been fishing with Dutton at Allen's Mills and on the way back the two boys had stopped at the gate of the Simpson farm, when Eric and Ross Holden and Floyd Finch came along. He and Dutton got down in the weeds to see who it was, and shortly afterward a shot was fired in their direction. The boys mounted their bicycles and rode toward the Holdens and Finch and when they were about 75 feet away, he saw Eric Holden lift the rifle and fire. Tom fell over the handlebars of the bicycle and Holden said "Oh, I've shot Tom. What have I done?"

Floyd Finch said that when he and the Holden's had seen Dutton and Dallas approaching, he had said "Let's scare them" and had fired a shot into the air.

When Eric Holden had the rifle up to his shoulder later on, he (Finch) had said "Don't shoot" a moment before the shot was fired. Under questioning from the coroner he was very definite that he had given this warning.

Eric Holden Junior told the court that he had had the rifle since June 22 and used it with his father.

His father had instructed him in safety precautions and he had fired shotguns before he got this rifle.

Before the shooting occurred and after Finch had fired a shot into the air, he had reloaded the rifle and had then worked the bolt two or three times. He did not see the live shell ejected and although he looked for it could not find it.

The rifle had never failed to eject in the 50 or 60 times he had fired it.

Mr. Daymen then loaded a shell into the rifle and demonstrated that the ejector worked perfectly.

Did Not Hear Warning

Holden said that he had not heard Finch give his warning as he put the rifle to his shoulder and pulled the trigger.

He said that he saw the boys before he fired and knew that it was Dutton and Dallas.

Eric Holden Sr., said that he had given his boy instruction in the proper use of the firearm, and had made it a rule that the boys must ask his permission before using it. On the night of the fatality, he had arrived at his cottage later than usual, and was at supper when the boy asked for the rifle to go hunting groundhogs and he had given consent. This was the first time, to his knowledge, that the lad had the rifle without the presence of an adult.

The Coroner interposed to Mr. Holden that "It has reached my ears that when you applied for a license for your son to shoot woodchucks, you were informed that he was too young". Mr. Holden admitted that this was true.

In his remarks to the jury, the coroner said that these tragedies are becoming far too frequent. Most of them are caused through the use of a .22 calibre rifle. "I feel" he said, "that if we can do something to stop these pot-shots and carelessness with .22 rifles in this province, we will have done something."

The jury were 20 minutes arriving at a verdict.

Sidewalk Levels Unsatisfactory GovernmentSays

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5 — (ENS). — When council resumed its deliberations on Wednesday evening, following the adjournment of Monday's regular meeting, there was plenty of business, apart from the three-year-old question of the parking lot.

The government representative at the Wartime Housing project has found the town's sidewalk levels unsatisfactory, according to information received from Councillor Macmillan and disputed those given by Mr. Tatham, consulting engineer acting for the town.

Council agreed to give the chairman of the roads and bridges committee, (Councillor Macmillan) power to act in the matter, after he had expressed his complete confidence in the findings of Mr. Tatham, and also authorized him to spend up to the amount of $50 to compensate the sidewalks contractor (Wilfred Spencer) for extra work not foreseen in the original tender.

Members agreed to grant a permit to Keith Bound to remove a portion of his Bridge Street building to a location out of town for the purpose of converting it into a dwelling. As the building is to be moved on skids, he is to be responsible for any damage that might occur to town pavements.

Referring to the Haig lot on Market Street, Mayor Donald said that he believed that part of town should be cleaned up by selling portion of the old railroad right-of-way to adjoining property owners to straighten up the lots where they are traversed by the embankment left after removal of the railroad.

Council did not agree, and voted to retain a right-of-way from Market Street to Booth Street.

Reeve Anderson and Deputy-reeve Locke reported that they had visited the property for which a bid had been received from the Little brothers, and were of the opinion that if Mr. Kellogg purchases the stripes he requires, there would be about 40 feet left, which would be unsatisfactory to the Littles. It was agreed that nothing could be done until Mr. Kellogg states his intentions in the matter on or before August 15 and the matter was left there.

Albert Drinkwater is to be informed that there will be no refund on the taxi license which he purchased in June, and which he cannot use due to his removal to Belleville. Reeve Anderson took the matter up with the town solicitor (N. Alex McColl) and there is no provision in the by-law for a refund on any license.

Many Activities Planned By Club Girls

COBOURG, Aug. 5 (ENS). — This past week Miss Marian Hart asisted by Miss Ann Kernaleguen has been inspecting the Northumberland County girls' gardens. In spite of dry weather the gardens are in good shape, it is reported by Ralph Banbury, county agricultural representative.

Among the best gardens seen were Seymour West Club, Florence Brown and Dorothy Fairman; Wooler Club, Aldythe Arthur and Doreen Dorland; Wicklow,-Vernonville Club, Edith Winley and Doris Bilcox.

The next event for the club girls will be the junior program at the fall fairs. A large number of Nortnumberland County girls are planning to judge and put on skits and demonstrations at the Belleville Fair on August 17. On the 26th of August is Peterborough Fair, and teams from this county to attend that fair consist of Seymour West girls, Florence Brown, Iona Bright, Gwendolyn McCulloch, Freda McCulloch and Dorothy Fairman, Marie Judd of Vernonville Club. Girls will also be judging at Peterborough Fair. On September 8, at the junior program at the CNE, Mattie Bull, Aldythe Arthur, and Betty Walker will represent Northumberland County on this day. The girls with county honors (six projects) eligible to judge at the CNE are Mary Cainan, Ruth Deviney, Patricia Harnden, Kathryn Judd, Helen Kernaghan, Muriel Todd, Kathleen Judd, and Aldythe Arthur. This fall the Women's Institute Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, is sponsoring another project, "Sleeping Garments." Mr. Banbury expresses the hope that a number of new clubs will be formed.

Disease Lowest Yet In United Counties

COBOURG, Aug. 5.—(ENS).—Only seven new cases of communicable disease were reported for the week ending July 31, the lowest for any week this year, it was revealed by the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. Bowmanville had one case of chickenpox and Hamilton township one case of mumps. Two cases of whooping cough were recorded, one in Bowmanville and one in Cavan township. However there were three new cases of tuberculosis of which one was in Alnwick township, one in Cobourg and one in Hamilton township.

The Liberals Convene

Today the large and important National Liberal Convention began its sittings in Ottawa. It is important to all Canadians, for the Liberal Party is a major national party, the present Government is Liberal and policies adopted at the convention will inform Government policy, and the leader chosen at the convention will shortly become our new Prime Minister.

* * *

The most spectacular duty of the delegates is to choose a new leader. Not less important is the duty to reformulate the principles of Canadian liberalism for the future. Party principles are more than party platforms; the platform is the superstructure erected for specific needs at specific times (like elections). They must, however, be founded on solid ground, on principles. The principles of Liberalism are sorely in need of statement and restatement in these years and not merely because of diverging opinions within the party itself. The war, international post-war conditions, new social concepts, new parties, and foreign political philosophies force both Conservatives and Liberals to examine their fundamental tenets.

* * *

A man is conservative or liberal because of temperament. Some men, in Macaulay's phrase, are drawn by the charm of habit and others by the charm of novelty. That is the difference and the seed of political Conservatism or Liberalism. Has the Liberal Party of today become conservative, as many C.C.F. adherents think? Has it lost the crusading spirit of early Gladstonian Liberalism, the working-man's party? Or even of Laurier's Liberalism? When Laurier gave his great speech on the Liberal philosophy to the Club Canadien in 1877 he said: "There is always room for the perfecting of our nature and for the attainment by a larger number of an easier way of life. . . . I hate revolution and detest all attempts to win the triumph of opinions by violence, but I am less inclined to throw the responsibility on those who make them than on those who provoke them by their blind obstinacy".

* * *

Has today's Liberalism become anti-liberal as the Conservative Toronto Globe and Mail and several prominent Liberals have said? Has it become Socialistic through its trade restrictions, its social service policies, its extension of bureaucratic government? When Mr. Mackenzie King speaks and writes about "Humanity" is he unmindful of individual liberties? "In any civilized community private rights should cease when they become public wrongs". (Mr. King wrote that in 1906). "Industry must be thought of not primarily as an arena of competition for material rewards, but as a form of social service. Its problems must be dealt with from the point of view of sacredness of human life and personality, rather than from that of the mere accumulation of wealth. In other words, industry must be made to serve humanity; humanity must no longer be sacrificed to the demands of industry". (He wrote that in 1947.)

* * *

Today's Liberal Party has a Right Wing and a Left Wing. Is either or both inconsistent with Liberalism? What is Liberalism in this mid-Twentieth Century? It is the task of the convention to answer this question.

Western Wheat And Meat

Western farmers whose grievances are ably nursed by the Winnipeg Free Press have been howling for the last two years about the alleged favouritism being shown eastern Canadian farmers and consumers at the expense of the prairie producers. They say that they have been losing millions ($300 million is one figure) because of the Government's policy of pegging the price of wheat to Britain—forgetful in these prosperous times that the Government has guaranteed them markets and prices in bad times; forgetful that they are insured against crop failures and any return to wheat at 50 cents a bushel. The Winnipeg Free Press now says that "up to the end of last February the Dominion Treasury bonused eastern livestock farmers to the total of $101,337,000. This is the cost of the free freight policy whereby prairies feed grains are shipped at the taxpayers' expense to Eastern Canadian and British Columbia feeders". In the same breath the westerners complain about the freight rates!

It is difficult to understand the western farmers' point of view. Indeed the problems are complex; perhaps only a westerner has the breadth of vision to separate the wheat from the chaff. He objects to having his wheat transported free of charge. He objects to increased freight rates which affect his cattle shipments and the price of Eastern goods which he buys in Winnipeg or Saskatoon. We bashfully put forward the suggestion that the western farmer, as well as the eastern consumer, benefits when prairie wheat can be sold at the same price in Peterborough and Montreal as in Winnipeg. We are sure that Eastern Canadian manufacturers would be mightily pleased if they could ship cars and electric stoves to the West free of charge—or rather, at the taxpayers' expense. Probably the western farmer would like to be able to ship his meat rather than his wheat free of charge. That may be the nub of the grievance.

The western farmer is getting a good if not the top world price for his wheat. Hard wheat is again subsidized, though the new two dollar price does not affect the initial price to the western farmer. Sheep and lambs may now be shipped to the United States without export permits. It is likely that the Government will soon lift the embargo on shipping cattle to the U.S., which will give the western farmer in particular a handsome bonus, although it will raise the price of beef to Ontario consumers.

Hard of heart as we Eastern Canadians seem to be, we must admit that the westerners have a case—which is being exhaustively and cleverly presented by the Winnipeg Free Press. We mildly suggest that it is time for easterners to secure equally able counsel, lest the East be sold down the Red River to the more voluble West.

Power For Peterborough

The five million dollar Hydro-Electric Power Commission's transformer station which will be built in Smith Township is not merely another Hydro installation like the power lines which run through this district and do not serve it. It is being built to give power to Peterborough, Lindsay and the entire area.

Up to the present all the power for Peterborough comes from its own river Otonabee and chiefly from Healy Falls, near Norwood. The four great power lines across the Port Hope Highway south of the city and the fifth soon to be in operation bring power from the Ottawa River to Leaside. They bring none to Peterborough. They by-pass us completely, even when our radios are feeble for lack of power. Their frequency is 25-cycle, quite unpalatable to Peterborough's 60-cycle digestion.

A new age dawns with R. H. Saunders' announcement that the large transformer is to be built here. It means that Peterborough is to profit from the mammoth Hydro developments along the Ottawa. The new transformer station is not being set up to transform 25-cycle frequency to 60-cycle frequency. The power which will come in over the new line being constructed north of Peterborough will already have 60-cycle frequency. The purpose of the station is to step down the voltage from the 110,000 volts with which the power leaves the Ottawa (Chenaux Falls) to 44,000 volts for our consumption. There will be three lines into Peterborough; two of them are already laid to our Auburn station.

The new line north of the city and the new transformer station will not help us a whit this coming autumn and winter when there will almost certainly be a power shortage as aggravating as last year's. The entire project will not be completed for many moons, but when it is in operation, we shall not be powerless ever again, we hope.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Liberals are having band ban trouble. The American Federation of Musicians—Petrillo's union—frowned on the Liberal attempt to engage the R.C.M.P. band for Thursday evening's convention garden party. The R.C.M.P. are not unionized. The Canadian University Liberal Federation, who also tried to engage the same band for a parade on Wednesday, bowed to Petrillo's ban and employed the unionized band of the Governor-General's Foot Guards. Strange that the band of a Canadian military unit like the G.G.F.G. should be members of an American union or any union.

A Letter From Belgium

By J. D. CAMBRIDGE

OF all the former belligerents in Europe, Belgium is claimed to be the one most nearly restored to normal in the every day life of her people. It is a bold claim, but from what can be seen by the casual onlooker, a true one. The stores are filled with every article that could be found in Canada and a few besides,—the streets swarm with post-war model cars of American, British, French, Italian, German, and Czechoslovakian make, and at night the towns glow with Neon signs. In Brussels I would think there are more Neon signs that in any other city in the world, barring New York. Some foods are still rationed, but they are few, much less in number and greater in quantity than in Britain.

And the reasons? They are many, partly good luck and partly good management. In 1940 the Germans quickly over-ran the country with slight damage to industries, and the liberation of Belgium was effected even more quickly. Antwerp, the great Allied supply port, was badly damaged in the final phases of the war by German V1s and V2s, and the sparsely settled eastern regions of the country were ravaged by the Battle of the Bulge, but with surprising little dislocation of industry in a country more industrialized than any other of Europe. Secondly, the Belgian Congo is a prime supplier of the all-important uranium to the U.S., a very ready export indeed, and a prime supplier of scarce dollars. These factors, with a government that took prompt and drastic action to sop up the inflated money issued in the German occupation, and a skilled and hard-working population, all add up to a bright spot in the general bleakness of European economics.

BUT life is not all peaches and cream in Belgium. The old familiar complaint of ever-rising prices comes up whenever you talk to a Belgian, and the cost of living is very high, even by Canadian standards. The heavy imports from the U.S. must be drastically cut soon; last year Belgium exported $50 millions' worth of goods to the U.S., but imported ten times that amount from her. Other countries offer ready markets for Belgian products, but can give little in exchange. Russia is a constant worry in the backs of the minds of Belgians. In case of war they reason,—probably quite rightly,—that no matter who eventually wins, the first result would be the early arrival of the Russian army, and occupation of the country. And this is a fear felt all over Western Europe, and not in Belgium alone.

❖ ❖ ❖

IN spite of these worries, Brussels is still a gay place. Many Canadians are familiar with the city from short leaves spent there during and after the war, when Brussels was the great leave centre for all the 21 Army Group. The number of cafes is astounding. In central Brussels, every second building appears to be a cafe, and this is not much of an exaggeration. They are attractive places, usually with tables out on the sidewalks in front of the cafe so the patrons can keep cool, and watch the life on the streets. Frequently they have a small orchestra or perhaps just a piano and accordion combination. They rather combine the function of a beverage room and restaurant. Drinks of all kinds are served with or without meals, or afternoon tea, or just a dish of ice cream. Everything is on very leisurely lines. Newspapers and magazines are kept on a special rack for the convenience of the patrons, and there is no charge for the use of them for as long a period as you desire. No sense of rush or any show of impatience, no matter how long you linger or how little you buy. Meals are served with a style and flourish in even the most humble cafe. Regular patrons have a little pigeonhole rack where they keep their serviettes. The food is delicious everywhere, and like Switzerland, one can be assured of a good meal anywhere that food is served.

THE stores are filled with lovely things of all sorts, but particularly attractive to the tourist is the crystal and lace, traditional Belgian specialities. For obvious reasons, crystal glassware is scarcely a practical proposition for a tourist, but the lace is particularly good. Some shops specialize in lace and nothing else, all the many varieties, such as Princess, Bruge, Brussels, Rose point, to mention a few. Very fine presents can be had at trifling cost compared with similar articles at home.

Like Canada, Belgium is officially bilingual,—French and Flemish, the latter very similar to Dutch. Unlike Canada, the majority of the people seem to understand both languages, and frequently English as well.

❖ ❖ ❖

THERE are many fascinating things to see in Brussels, although the architecture in general is undistinguished, excepting for the very fine "Grand Plaats", the old market centre with its early Flemish buildings. Just outside of town is Waterloo, the site of the famous battle, and if you are interested, a street car will take you to it. At the moment a fascinating sight is the railway locomotives. The tenders are covered with slogans, part of the government campaign to keep down prices, "Buy at the lowest price", etc.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE people of Brussels have pleasant memories of Canadians, and on being identified as a Canadian ex-serviceman I was bombarded with questions of a "Do you know . . . ." nature. The high regard for Canada and things Canadian is general all over Europe. The people recall not only our soldiers, but also Canadian aid to U.N.R.R.A. and other relief bodies. To the British, the French, the Belgians, and the Dutch, Canadians are always the brave and the generous, and it is a proud reputation to bear.

PLAIN WASTE

As two flies were enjoying a promenade on the ceiling, one said:

"Aren't those human things silly?"

"How do you mean?" asked the other.

"Well," said the first, "they spent a lot of money building a beautiful ceiling like this, then they go and walk on the floor."

CAPTIVE BALLOON

Cricket Centenary

(NEW STATESMAN AND NATION, LONDON)

1848 the year of revolutions, was also the year in which W. G. Grace was born. More Englishmen are interested in this portentous event than in the Communist Manifesto. When Grace came to cricket, it was only a mildly popular game, played for amusement, though, like cards, often for high stakes as well. By the time he had finished with it, cricket was an Empire binder and a grim, serious matter. A hundred years after his birth a record attendance of 133,000 watched the Test Match at Old Trafford. Even on the fourth day of absolute ram, 20,000 came into the ground, and there were never less than 10,000 sitting doggedly, patiently through the downpour.

Grace put cricket on the map, first by being inordinately good at it, and secondly by never growing up. If he had been a better "sportsman" cricket would have remained a pastime. Instead his tempers, his concentration, his overwhelming delight at winning and his vexation at losing invested the cricket field with a new atmosphere. His unpredictable antics drew crowds to the scenes of his performances. An art and a science were developed and once created they stayed and spread their influence. Today Indian boys practise on arid patches, and East End boys chalk three stumps on a wall.

Grace's superb lack of inhibitions, which might have persuaded the British that here was one legitimate sphere in which they could throw off their reserve and behave unashamedly as relentless schoolboys, has been conveniently forgotten. Now the bad-tempered old gentleman is held up to schoolboy's as a model. No rebuke is so severe as the charge of not playing cricket.

Trans-Canada Highway

(MONTREAL STAR)

ACCORDING to a report in the Fort William Times-Journal the Ontario government is preparing to build a section of road in the neighborhood of Sault Ste. Marie which will form a part of the great highway which will eventually skirt the north shore of Lake Superior, and connect with the existing road from Fort William to Winnipeg. Although the section now planned is only a small part of the whole, the news that Ontario has the bigger project seriously in mind (otherwise the Ste. Marie project would hardly have been planned) will, as the Times-Journal says "quicken the pulse" of northwestern Ontario.

It will be encouraging news to the whole of Canada, for the matter of that particularly to the provinces which may be expected to make the most use of it. A transcontinental highway has been a hope (if not only a dream) for many, many years. Bits of it have been built but the linking up of the parts already constructed has been the most formidable part of the whole great undertaking, since it is these links which have presented the greatest difficulties of construction and consequently have called for the heaviest expenditure. One notable exception to this has been the completion of the Rocky Mountain section, now open from Calgary to Vancouver. Much of the prairie portion remains to be built even to all-weather summer standards. Governments of Alberta and Saskatchewan have not felt that they could meet the cost of the many hundreds of miles involved. When the long and difficult Lake Superior road is built it will provide a scenic highway unrivalled in Canada, save in the Rockies themselves.

Meantime the increasingly large number of Canadian cars which seek to move across Canada are unable to do so, and must make the journey largely through the United States. The importance of such a through highway is not only the facility it provides for the quick and free movement of motor-driven traffic but the encouragement it offers to settlement in hitherto inaccessible regions, in the vicinity of the main road and through the secondary roads which are quickly built to tap it. Initial costs of the type of road necessary to carry modern traffic is high, and anything else is false economy. But the increasing demand for the building of a trans-Canada highway suggests that the return, over a period of years, would be reasonably sure.

Not Russia But The Soviet

Igor Gouzenko, the Soviet cipher clerk whose disclosures led to the Canadian spy trials, tells in his book "This Was My Choice" how, when things were going badly for the Russians during the war, the official propaganda line was quickly changed from emphasis on Communism and the Communist party to Russia, patriotism and familiar if old fashioned appeals to defend the Motherland.

It is significant that this policy has now been reversed. In Berlin, the Russians do not like to be called Russians. They wish to be called Soviets. The Russian army has stated officially that it is not the Russian army or the Red army but the Soviet army. The Russian controlled press, the official Soviet news bureau and the Russian controlled German news agency never speak about the Russian military government or the Russian occupation army. It is always the Soviet occupation zone, the Soviet military administration, and so on.

This attempt to remove the Russian label from Communism is as old as the Soviet state. The Russian revolution was to be the prelude to world revolution. Communism was to inaugurate the world brotherhood of man. For a time this policy was abandoned to create in Russia the first socialist state. It was abandoned again in the war when the need to sell the Russian people on a more concrete objective became obvious. Now it has been revived.

As the quarrel between Tito and the Cominform has shown, the world project is on again.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Wasted Money

Ian MacKenzie's folly, as the half-finished Veterans' Convalescent Hospital project at Kirkland Park has been dubbed, is the poorest kind of advertising for Greater Winnipeg. Ottawa should have long ago made up its mind what to do with this monument to reckless government spending. The 11 skeleton buildings which have already cost the public more than $300,000 stand unpainted and with unshingled roofs, rapidly becoming an eyesore.—Winnipeg Tribune.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then cometh he to a city of Samaria, which is called Sychar, near to the parcel of ground that Jacob gave to his son Joseph. Now Jacob's well was there. Jesus therefore, being wearied with his journey, sat thus on the well: and it was about the sixth hour. There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water: Jesus saith unto her, Give me to drink.... Then saith the woman of Samaria unto him, How is it that thou, being a Jew, askest drink of me, which am a woman of Samaria? for the Jews have no dealings with the Samaritans.

Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water....The woman saith unto him, Sir, give me this water, that I thirst not, neither come hither to draw....Our fathers worshipped in this mountain; and ye say, that in Jerusalem is the place where men ought to worship.

Jesus saith unto her, Woman, believe me, the hour cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountain, nor yet at Jerusalem, worship the Father....But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him. (John 4: 5-7, 9, 10, 15, 20, 21, 23.)

❖ ❖ ❖

And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into they closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly.

But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking. (Matt. 6: 5-7.)

Corpus Delicti

The other day in this place we noted with admiration the fine use to which the British people put their parliament in both its branches when some point comes up requiring final judgment, beyond, one must assume, even the capacity of any court to decide. We were, as we remember, equally impressed by the extraordinary willingness, not to say zest, with which both Commons and Lords alike stick out their united necks in these abstruse matters.

That time it was a matter of a tight-rope walker who fell off his rope into a den of lions and was threatened in damages for having scared the life out of the lions. This time the House of Lords will have to decide when a homing pigeon is thinking about going home and whether, having such intention in mind, but not having as yet implemented it by starting homeward, the owner of a peapatch being devastated by said pigeons may legally seize a fire-arm and slay the pigeons.

The problem is a pretty one and susceptible of much nice argument, based upon established jurisprudence. Ownership of a dovecote in the olden days was a high privilege, confined to the nobility, the gentry and such yeomen as held a certain acreage in fee simple. The number of pigeons depended on the number of acres, the theory being that a pigeon must get his sustenance off his owner's land exclusively, a wholly mistaken theory, considering the voracity of pigeons.

We shall not attempt to advise their Lordships. Any man who can tell what a pigeon is thinking about is forever entitled to exercise the right of the high justice, the middle and the low and retain all his prerogatives. But, with the utmost deference, why not the simple expedient of putting the burden of proof on the pigeon? No homing pigeon on his way home should stop for refreshment, even free. If he does, let him take the consequences. He'd get them too, if they were our peas, Lords or no Lords.—Montreal Star.

Headaches For Doctors

Doctors have their troubles these days, and now they are threatened with a new and intriguing variety of lawsuit. An American, formerly resident in Britain, is suing two British physicians because, he claims, they told him, without justification, that he was incurably ill and had only a few months to live.

No one can say, of course, how the British courts will dispose of the action. But if the plaintiff recovers damages and the case becomes a precedent, the medical profession will be facing a new peril. They will never know when a patient, sorrowfully going home to die, will rise from his death-bed with blood in his eyes and a pocketful of writs.—Edmonton Journal.

Ashby's Trim Woollens In Opener 16-1

Ashby's jumped on Woollens last night in the first game of the girls' double-header for 16 runs and 12 hits, while Woollens could only scrape together six hits for one run. D. McFadden replaced B. Read on the mound in the seventh, after she had struck out 11 Woollens batters, and allowed only five hits. E. Humphries and B. Hall with three for five were best for Ashby's, while J. Dunk and G. Dracup starred for the losers.

Westclox whipped Lindsay in the second game, 14-6, with the help of 14 hits, and 12 opposition errors. Hardy and Vass each hit homers for Westclox, the former teeing off on a grand slam model in the third to drive in four runs. M. Chase and D. Hunter shone for Lindsay.

Ontario Has Scored Third Cricket Win

VANCOUVER, Aug. 5.—(CP). —Ontario, winners of their first three starts, will be out to make it four straight today when they meet Manitoba in the Canadian cricket championship tournament here. British Columbia, with only one loss, will face Alberta.

In gaining their third victory, Ontario Wednesday scored 169 runs, then dismissed the previously-unbeaten British Columbia eleven for 103. Alberta broke into the win column by handing Manitoba its third straight loss, 187 runs to 122.

A costly miscue by Pete Hobson of B.C. on Jim Cameron's opening hit to mid-off, enabled Cameron to continue and finally run up a solid 40 runs before being bowled by Noel Buckley. Steady batting by Alan Percival (21) and Lou Gunn (17) contributed to the easterners' total, which stood at 100 for only four wickets when stumps were drawn at lunch. However, the lower portion of Ontario's batting list failed to cope with the B.C. bowling aggregation.

Sgt. Oshe Leading In Ont. Rifle Match

LONG BRANCH, Ont., Aug. 5. (CP)—Sgt. Ashe of Victoria, led the qualifying round for the Lieutenant-governor's match at the Ontario Rifle Association meet Wednesday with a score of 99 of a possible hundred.

Firing 10 rounds at each of 300 and 600 yard ranges, the Canadian Scottish sergeant overcame tricky cross-winds to post his near-perfect score. Tied for second place with scores of 98 were Tr. P. Savage of Calgary and Cpl. L. N. Walker of Toronto.

Among the qualifiers are:

Capt. D. G. Kirk, Listowel, Ont., 96; Capt. F. F. Morwick, Guelph, 96; Cpl. M. Beatty, Kingston, 95; WOM G. Collins, Kingston, 95.

Netherlands Housewife Certain To Be Top Athlete At Olympics

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON, Aug. 5 — (CP). — Flaxen-haired, long-legged Fanny Blankers - Koen. 30 - year - old housewife from The Netherlands, will be the outstanding individual athlete of the Olympic games — that's a certainty.

This modern mother of two has overshadowed the Dillards, Pattons, Wints and McKenleys and Fanny's name can be linked with that of the immortal Jesse Owens, who won three individual titles at Berlin in 1936 and ran on the victorious United States relay team.

The experts and the 80,000-odd fans who flock to Wembley Stadium each day figure they can't be wrong about Fanny. They think she will at least equal the American negro's feat.

Wednesday, Fanny smashed more world and Olympic records. She streaked over the 80-metre hurdles in 11.2 seconds to knock 1-10th of a second from the world record she previously shared with Claudia Testoni of Italy and from the Olympic mark she herself established Tuesday in a heat.

Makes a Double

This made it a double for the Dutch mother. On Monday she took the women's 100-metre dash. Her chance for a triple will come in the high-jump finals and the final of the 200 metres.

A sensational series of heats in the 400-metre and 1,500-metre runs and the final of the 200 metres shared the spotlight with Mrs. Blankers-Koen's performance in Wednesday's events.

In the 400, Bob McFarlane of London, Ont., kept Canada in the running, qualifying in two heats to enter today's semi-final. In the first heat he needed second place to qualify. He made it. Next time out third place was needed. He just made it.

Others who qualified in 400-metre heats were Jamaica's two great sprinters, Herb McKenley, holder of the world quarter-mile record who is running for Britain, and Arthur Wint. Americans qualifying were Mal Whitfield, already victor in the 800-metre event, and Dave Bolen, who took first place in McFarlane's second heat.

Two Eliminated

Two Canadians were eliminated in the event as were the Dominion's three entrants in the 1,500-metre run. A Canadian team finished sixth in the women's 400-metre relay swim and did not qualify.

Dr. George Athans of Vancouver was placed 16th in the high-diving competition at the end of four compulsory dives. The contest will be completed today with four optional dives.

Elaine Silburn of Vancouver failed to qualify in the preliminary of the women's broad jump while Eric Jubb of Victoria and Peter Mingie of Montreal were eliminated from the 100-metre back stroke swimming, placing fifth in their respective heats. Leo Roininen of Sudbury, couldn't pass the qualifying round of the men's javelin throw.

Bob McFarlane's time in first heat was 50 seconds flat, a slow time for the big Londoner who ran with a bandaged knee to protect an injured muscle.

McFarlane led until the last bend when H. Kunnen of Belgium spurted ahead and remained in front until he broke the tape. Bob's brother, Don, and Ernie McCullough of Calgary finished third in their respective heats and were eliminated.

In the second heat, Bolen's time was a flat 48 seconds and McFarlane's 48.4. Bob took the lead for 200 metres but rounding the final turn he was passed by Bolen and J. Reardon of Eire. He dropped back to fourth place but a burst of speed carried him back into third place, two feet behind Reardon.

Fails to Qualify

In the 1,500-metre run, Jack Hutchins of Vancouver failed to qualify after placing fifth in his preliminary heat and Cliff Salmond of Victoria also was eliminated when he finished ninth in his preliminary event.

Bill Parnell of Vancouver withdrew during his preliminary heat. He knelt at the side of the track, apparently in pain.

Hutchins ran in sixth spot for two laps and then moved up to fifth but he appeared to have held off his final sprint too long and was unable to overtake the leaders. Salmond set the pace early in his race but soon started to drop back.

All Canada's yachtsmen, meanwhile, continued in competition at Torquay, Devon. John Robertson and Dick Townsend of Hamilton, placed second in their Swallow-class contest, Paul McLaughlin of Toronto finished ninth in the Firefly class and Bill Gooderham and Gerry Fairhead of Toronto wound up 15th in Star-class competition.

Canada's basketball team lost a 57-35 decision to a strong Brazil squad and blew its chance for the Olympic basketball championship.

The dominion, after winning opening games against Britain and Italy, dropped a 37-36 decision to Hungary Monday. The team next meets a squad from Uruguay but a victory would not put the Canadian team in either of the two top places in its bracket.

Paces Scorers

Pat McGeer of Vancouver paced the Canadian scorers with eight points. Bill Bell and Reid Mitchell of Vancouver had five each.

In other games, Italy defeated Britain 49-28, Iran defeated Eire 49-22, Belgium defeated Chile 38-26, Uruguay defeated Hungary 49-31, Korea defeated Iraq 120-20 and the United States defeated Egypt 66-28.

Among the day's event winners, Bill Porter of the United States won the 110-metre high hurdles in 13.9 seconds for an Olympic record. The previous mark was 14.1, set at Berlin in 1936 by another American, Forrest Towns.

Raj Routavaar, of Finland, captured the men's javelin throw with a toss of 228 feet, 9½ inches. Roininen's best distance was only 173 feet.

Capt. W. O. G. Grut of Sweden, finished eighth in the cross-country run to win the pentathlon.

Karen Karup of Denmark, won the 100-metre backstroke semi-final in the Olympic record time of one minute, 15.5 seconds.

Kawartha Golf News

By JERRY SEABROOK

After viewing Jerry Kesserling displaying his wares out at the club last Monday, suppose you lads will go back at the game with renewed vim and vigor. Wish some of the lads who are holding up a few of the club competitions would display a bit of the same and bring their matches up to date. The handicap committee is very anxious to have all the competitions brought back under ther respective match deadlines by this week-end. This is going to mean a lot of golf and if need be a little scratching.

The Midland League will be operating in Port Hope this coming Saturday, August 7. A good time is always enjoyed in Port Hope. They have a very tricky course and are a grand gang to play with. Don't forget to get your name up on Leo Ackford's list before Saturday.

Juvenile Petes Defeated By Huntsville

Huntsville outclassed Petes last night in an exhibition juvenile lacrosse tilt, winning 19-7. Ward with four goals and four assists was outstanding for Huntsville, and McDonald and Payne went well with four and five points respectively. The Petes were covered too well and this, added to the superior passing of the visitors, made the Huntsville win.

For the Petes, Mike Crowley, Jim Heffernan and Hank Russelle showed up well, Crowley scoring three goals and Heffernan two. The homesters started well, but Ward upset them with two fast goals at the start of the first period. At the end of the first half, Huntsville led 9-2, and increased their lead to 15-4 in the third, winding up in the last frame with four more to make it 19-7.

Scoring summary:

Sports Fans Favor Swing Skirt Uniform

Sports fans are most strong in their likes and dislikes. Proof of this was given again recently in Toronto when the famed Sunday Morning Class Girls' Softball team made their appearance at a game in other than their customary "swing skirt" uniforms.

This team is known as "the swing skirt girls", a costume which has gained the fancy of fans throughout Canada and the United States; in fact wherever the team has played. The Toronto sport fans vigorously protested the change in garb, and on their last appearance the team was again "the swing skirt" girls.

Sunday Morning Class will be wearing their swing skirts here at Riverside Bowl on Friday evening when they play Erin-Brews of Cleveland, Ohio, in an International Major League game. Both the Canadian and the American team will have their full roster of stars for this game which assures fans that it will be a memorable contest. The Rotary Club of Peterborough is sponsoring the game and the revenue will go for the Club's community service projects.

Stewart Direct Wins

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—(CP)—Stewart Direct, with Clint Hodgins driving, won the Cleveland classified race, the $2,000 feature on the grand circuit program at the Roosevelt raceway in Westbury, N.Y., Thursday. The victor scored by a length over Fred B. Greenly's So Long. Stewart Direct is owned by Hugh Stewart of Peterborough.

Sports Menu

Men's softball in the Bowl tonight can provide a tangle if Legion and Knights both turn in a win. The race has been close all year, and wins by the two above teams will mean two-way ties for first and second spots. Wins by BA and Comstocks would drop the basement-sitting Knights out of the picture altogether.

The lacrosse Petes travel to Orillia tonight, and may run into trouble, as Orillia defeated Oshawa the other night. No game in the Miller Bowl on Friday night, since it would conflict with the exhibition softball match between Sunday Morning Class and the Erin-Brews. Huntsville come here Saturday night for another boxla game.

Lucky Horses

NEWMARKET, England (CP). —A motor trailer on view here has leather and chromium fittings, with fluorescent lighting and air conditioning. It is a "horsebox," built for transporting Lord Derby's race horses and can carry six yearlings.

Cards Turning On Heat Whip Giants In Twin Bill

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

An aroused St. Louis Cardinal team, concerned over the future of its manager, amiable Eddie Dyer, is out to make his position as secure as possible in the only way it knows how—winning ball games.

Persistent rumors thtat only a National League flag would insure Dyer's return as St. Louis skipper next year have been gaining momentum despite denials from all concerned.

Since the nightmarish series in Brooklyn where they dropped three straight and sunk to fourth place, the Red Birds have made amazing strides. Wednesday they whipped New York Giants twice in an afternoon-night doubleheader, 7-2 and 3-0, to give them a string of five victories in their last six games.

The twin triumph, coupled with Boston Braves' 4-2 defeat by Cincinnati Reds, advanced the Cards into second place, only four lengths back of Boston.

Lose 3 Straight

The Giants, who now have lost three straight following their seven game winning streak, skidded from second to fourth place, half a game behind Brooklyn Dodgers and one full game back of the Cards.

Red Munger and Harry (The Cat) Brecheen of the Cards each went the route Wednesday to rack up their fifth and 12th victories, respectively. Brecheen allowed only two hits in scoring the shutout win.

Danny Litwhiler, a former Brave, gained revenge on his former mates, knocking in the winnings runs with a two-run homer for the Reds. His blow came in the eighth inning against loser Bill Voiselle. It was the Braves' fourth straight defeat, three at the hands of the Reds.

Bruce Edwards' single with two out in the last of the ninth scored Gene Hermanski from second with the run that enabled the Dodgers to defeat the Cubs, 5-4.

Boston Red Sox lost a golden opportunity to take over undisputed possession of first place in the hectic pennant race in the American League when they were beaten by the lowly Browns in a night game in St. Louis, 9-8. Instead of going to the top by .002 of a percentage point over Cleveland, they dropped into fourth place, half a game off the pace.

Serena Helps Bisons Trounce Giants Twice

By The Associated Press

Bill Serena, rookie outfielder recently purchased by Buffalo Bisons from Dallas of the Texas league, is demonstrating the power that netted him 70 home runs last year.

Since he joined the International league team two weeks ago, Serena has slammed six home runs and has proven himself a definite threat at the plate.

Serena was an important factor in Buffalo's twin triumph over Jersey City Wednesday night which boosted the Bisons past the Little Giants into sixth place. Serena cracked out a hit in two official times at bat and drove in a run in Buffalo's 6-3 victory in the opener. He really got hot in the 15-1 second-game triumph, smacking a home run, triple and single in three official times at bat, driving in three runs. He also scored three times.

Montreal nosed out Newark 4-3, when relief pitcher Frank Lamanna walked John Simmons with the bases loaded in the ninth to force in the winning run. Don Newcombe went the route for the Royals to gain his 11th victory. The triumph increased Montreal's first-place lead to 8½ games over Newark.

Toronto moved into fourth place by defeating Baltimore 5-2. Lou Possehl spaced seven hits for his ninth victory. Ed Sanicki collected three of Toronto's 12 hits to pace the winners' attack against loser Johnny Podgajny.

Syracuse gained a split with Rochester by winning the second game 2-1, after the Birds had won the opened of the doubleheader, 7-3.

Barron Leads Tam o' Shanter

CHICAGO, Aug. 5. (AP)—Herman Barron of Whiteplains, NY, 1946 champion, today leads the Tam o'Shanter pro field into the third round of the $5,000 scramble for first prize after posting a pair of 68's for 136 eight under par.

Barron, competing in his fifth big tournament of the year, surged into the lead Wednesday with a 33-35—68.

One stroke behind was the first-round leader, big Ralph Guldhahl of Chicago who required a 36-37—73 for a half-way total of 137.

Bobby Locke of South Africa blew in with a 33-34—67 for 138 and third place.

The women's side of the three-ring circus was topped by Patty Berg of Minneapolis with a pair of 40's for 80 and a 36-hole total of 156. Babe Zaharias, first-round leader, skidded to an 85 for 157.

Harold Brin, Grand Rapids, Mich., cruised into the amateur lead by adding a 71 to 69 for a 140. Frank Stranahan, the favorite, blew to a 77 for 149.

Here And There In Sports . . .

BY CANADIAN PRESS

Baseball has speeded up the professional hockey career of Harry Psutka of Kitchener.

He signed a two-year contract Wednesday with Toronto Maple Leafs and it's possible he'll play left defence in October when the world champions open the 1948-49 NHL season.

Two weeks ago, Psutka, Kitchener Legion Panthers' ace catcher and batter, turned down an offer to play pro ball with St. Louis Cardinals because he wanted a chance to play hockey with Leafs. This week Detroit Tigers offered him an even better contract.

The senior Intercounty Baseball League star got in touch with Conny Smythe, president of the Leafs, and Smythe signed him up.

Psutka played hockey last season with Toronto Marlboro seniors and tried out several times with Leafs.

Vancouver may nose Toronto out in the bid for the 1950 British Empire games, Robert Somers, secretary of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, said Wednesday in Toronto. "They have more representatives at the Olympic games to lobby the British Empire Games Association," he told Toronto and Hamilton sportsmen.

Heavy rains put a crimp in the United States junior and boys tennis championships Wednesday at Kalamazoo, Mich., by washing out scheduled fourth-round singles tests in the junior division and third-round boys' matches. Lorne Main of Vancouver, fifth seeded in the junior division, went into the fourth round Thursday.

Bill Parnell's tummy acted up Wednesday—it must have been the fish—and he was forced to drop out of the Olympic 1,500-metre preliminary heat at Wembley.

The Vancouver boy tried to finish but have to give up because of the pains that suddenly gripped him. He doubled up at the side of the track and was helped to the dressing room.

At least 17 persons were reported injured Wednesday night when a midget auto racer hurtled off a race track and into a crowd of spectators at Owosso, Mich.

Nearly 1,500 spectators at Owosso speedway saw the accident as the vehicle landed in the stands and rolled over three times.

The racer, driven by William Stone of Howell, was travelling between 60 and 70 miles an hour when the mishap occurred. The auto was running last in the fourth race at the midget auto speedway.

Complaints by French and Swiss Olympic girls about bad cooking and allegations of lack of discipline in the French team led to action by the Olympic organizers today.

After a conference on camp discipline between British and French officials, it was agreed to tighten up the discipline of the French team at Uxbridge and to "curb their natural exuberance."

This exuberance" has led, it is reported, to French girls throwing pies at one another in the cafeteria.

A. R. Longford, secretary of district No. 2 of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association, announced Wednesday at London, Ont., that British Columbia bowlers would not tour Ontario this year as expected. He said the British Columbians have asked that their tour be postponed until 1949.

Accumulating a total of 107 points Montreal police athletes Wednesday won the Montreal Police Amateur Athletic Association's 51st annual track and field meet, with a 30-point margin over their opponents from Toronto. Main point-getter for Montreal was Ian Hunt, whose best event was the pole vault.

Take A Chance Capra Urges Film Bigwigs

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 5 (AP).—Frank Capra has this advice for Hollywood in its time of stress—"Take chances."

The successful producer-director observed that movie bigwigs have never complained so much about poor theatre business.

"The only solution to slow business is to take chances," he declared. "If you try something new, it might turn out a turnip; but it also stands a chance of making a lot of money."

Capra said the current Hollywood trend is unfortunately toward the standard pictures which are surer at the box office. Paramount has nixed his long-planned "The Flying Yorkshireman," because it is a fantasy. He is still looking for his next production.

Sir Ralph of Red Gulch

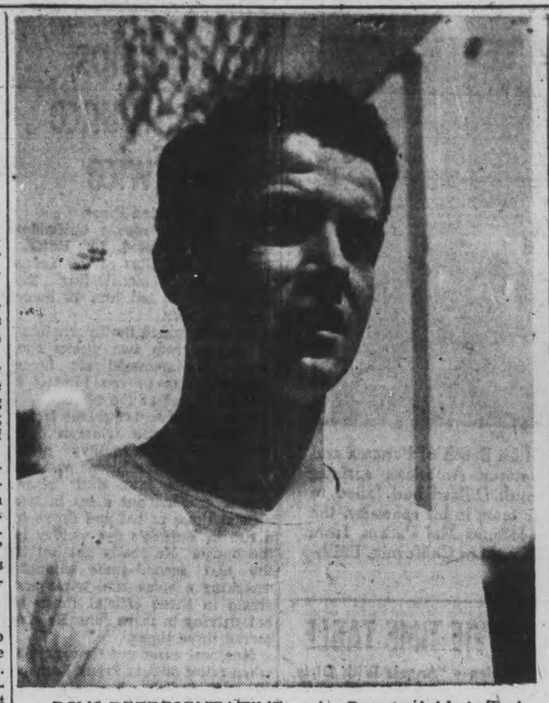
Sir Ralph Richardson wants to do a Western. That's what he told me on "The Heiress" set. However, his horse opera ambitions will have to wait until next year. He will have to return to England after his current film because he works here on an expense account and gets his pay in England.

Paramount Picks Up

Things are picking up at Paramount. Next month will see both Hope and Crosby back at work. Bob starts "Easy Does It" with Rhonda Fleming, and Bing does "Diamond in the Haystack" with Barry Fitzgerald.

Frank Sinatra as a caveman. Of course, it is all a dream which will take place in "Take Me Out to the Ball Game." The sequence will end with Frankie (in a bear skin) over Betty Garrett's shoulder. . . .

Humphery Bogart told Columbia he would be able to save $5,000 on his first Independent film, "Knock on Any Door." How? No practical jokes, answered Bogie, who has participated in many a costly gag.



Ray Miland is being chided for taking a suspension at Paramount for refusing a role. After viewing some of the pictures he had to do after "The Lost Weekend," one wonders why he did not stage a sitdown sooner.

Taken To Hospital

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 5.—(AP).—Charley Zack, 152, New York, was taken to the Scranton State Hospital Wednesday night after a technical knockout at the hands of Billy Kilroy, 157, Paterson, N.J., at 2:50 of the ninth round of their scheduled 10-rounder at the Scranton Baseball Stadium. Dr. Leonard Freda, Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission physician, said Zack's condition is serious. He suffered a partial paralysis of the face, Freda said, but appeared to improve after reaching the hospital.

OF PERSIAN ORIGIN

Paradise is a Persian word, meaning a royal park or enclosed pleasure garden.

PCVS REPRESENTATIVE at the Ontario Athletic Training Camp at Longford, Ontario, is 16-year-old Henry Dinsdale son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Dinsdale, 354 Park St. Camp officials say he is one of the best athletes they have had in some time. A member last year of the Ontario Basketball Association midget champions, he was a member of the OATC team during his two-week stay there.

Henry Dinsdale At Camp Compiles Enviable Record

O.A.T. CAMP, Lake Couchiching, Aug. 5. (Special)—A second group of 80 high school athletes compiled an enviable record of achievement here recently during its two-week stay which has just concluded. Foremost among the performances was the one turned in by Henry Dinsdale, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Dinsdale of 354 Park St. North, Peterborough.

Coach Bev Goulding's representative for the Ontario Athletic Training Camp was almost a sure bet for the camp basketball team after his first day's performance in the class work in which he was elected captain of his class section. Although he had been accustomed to playing a zone defensive type of game for the Peterborough midget OBA winners last season, he had no trouble at all changing over to the man-to-man style used by the campers. In all three games he held his opponent in check quite easily and still found time to score three or four baskets himself. To get these he used either a one handed push shot or a two handed set from the side of the court.

Next to basketball Dinsdale probably had the most success with his swimming achievements. He was successful in passing the Red Cross Senior swimmer test and also in obtaining the Royal Life Saving bronze medallion. During the regatta he competed in the 50-yard backstroke and was a member of his cabin boxball team. He was also selected as the leader of his cabin.

Henry Dinsdale is 16 years old. He has obtained five first class honors and three seconds in his Junior Matriculation subjects. He was chosen to attend the Ontario Athletic Training Camp because his qualities as a leader would enable him to bring back valuable ideas and help to promote them at Peterborough C.V.I. He gained experience as an official in track and field by acting as a recorder for the running high jump. At the collegiate he was also manager of the Senior COSSA rugby champions last fall. He also displayed a talent for the stage by acting the part of an inebriated gentleman in the skit put on by his cabin during the campfire talent quest. He reached the quarter finals of the horse shoe contest, played second base for his cabin softball team and was a member of the cabin team which won the sport quizz contest. He made a poor showing in only one sport, tennis, when he was eliminated in the first round.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

What more could one ask, than to take three chaps, go to your own "old home town," enter as a rink in the men's open rink tournament, renew old acquaintances, then go on from there to win all your games and end up finally by winning first prize and "the Gold Trophy."

This is what His Honor Judge S. Smoke did up in Paris yesterday.

The boys left Peterborough late Tuesday, motored to Paris, played three 15-end games on Wednesday and for their efforts won the highest honors of the tournament. The good news was relayed by telephone around 10 o'clock last night.

We have no doubt that it was a popular win inasmuch as it was Judge Smoke's former home town. We haven't received all of the details as yet, but we will be able in a day or two to give a more complete account.

We join with all the members in congratulating the winning rink of—Judge S. Smoke, Harold Freeman, James Cullen, Cecil Williamson.

Tonight it will be Groups No. 1 and No. 2 playing their postponed game of Monday, July 6th.

PART OF THE STONE front of a Montreal house fell loose recently and this is what happened. A small section of thte front broke away, as workmen were repairing the upper part of the three-storey building, comprising several houses, and fell to the ground. The stone tore away the top balcony, badly damaged the second storey gallery and twisted the outside staircases. No one was injured, but workmen and an unidentified woman who happened to be coming out of one of the flats at the time had a narrow escape.

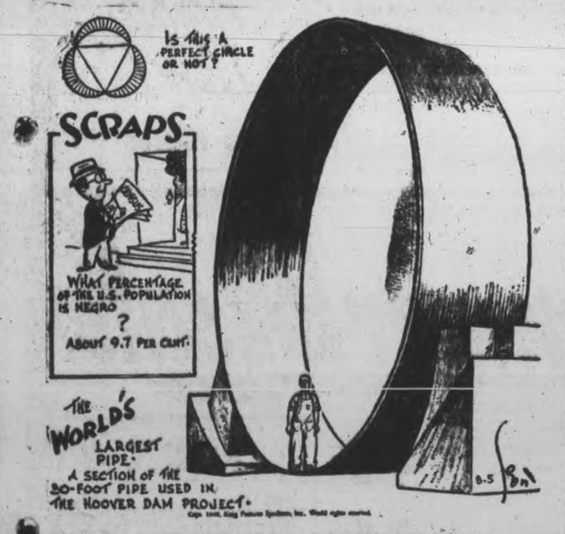
Russians Build Spy System Like Gestapo

BERLIN, Aug. 5 — (AP). — The Russians have built up a German spy system in Eastern Germany rivalling the Nazi gestapo, says the Neue Zeitung, official German language newspaper of the United States military government.

A political police section has been established in the criminal police headquarters of each of the five states of the Soviet-occupied zone the newspaper asserts. The purpose it adds, is to watch over democratic reconstruction and the execution of Soviet orders.

This development parallels German reports of a tightening control of the telephones and mail in the Soviet occupation area since the Soviet military administration seared off its zone.



Germans say their mail coming from the Soviet zone frequently bears a Russian censorship stamp.

The French-licensed newspaper Kurier reported all telephone operators in the headquarters of the Soviet zone's German economic commission were dismissed by order of the Soviet military administration. They were replaced by operators regarded as reliable members of the Communist dominated Socialist Unity Party (SED).

This same Russian feeling of insecurity is reflected through purge of the Soviet zone police and the Russian-sponsored SED, Allied sources said, with the objective of ridding the organizations of unreliable elements.

Neue Zeitung said the German political police set-up works close with the Russian secret police and carries out the latter's directions.

Cafe Society Tricked In Gambling Den

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—(AP)—Cafe society—playgirls and playboys, press agents, tycoons and models—trooped into the district attorney's office Wednesday for an investigation of a gambling bazaar in a Park Avenue apartment-last week.

Heading the parade was Beverly Paterno, wealthy blond divorcee, who told reporters she attended the party supposedly for charity.

District Attorney Frank Hogan is trying to find the real promoters who allegedly gypped socially-prominent persons of thousands of dollars in the name of charity.

Maxie Rosenbloom, former boxer, who also was questioned by Hogan, said he attended the party last Wednesday and that at one table he saw a crowd standing around what "looked like a crap game."

Rosenbloom said he went at the invitation of Jorge Sanchez and was a member of a group which included cartoonist Gladys Parker and Dorothy Day, wife of actor Dean Murphy.

Asked if he had been told a professional gambler would be at the party, Rosenbloom told reporters: "Do you think I would take my tuxedo out of mothballs to visit a couple of crumb bums?"

Tuesday Chic Farmer, former night club publicity man, said he arranged for use of an apartment owned by Mrs. Vivienne Wooley-Hart after he had been asked by William Buckner for help in finding a place to swing the charity affair. Mrs. Woolley-Hart has said she though the party was for charity.

Farmer said that Buckner, who is being sought for questioning, had shown him a letterhead of the Surgical and Medcial Relief, Incorporated. Farmer said he himself had been "taken for a ride."

Buckner once served a prison term for fraud in the manipulation of worthless Philippine railway bonds.

"Fake" Story Said Clue In Murder Case

CALGARY, Aug. 5—(CP)—An alleged "fake" newspaper story remained an elusive clue today in the 19-year-old murder of Calgary teamster-broker Thomas Charles Hall.

Hall's body was found in a mummified state under the bedroom floor of a "spook-ridden" cottage here July 10. Police believe he was bludgeoned to death in the ramshackle cottage in March, 1929.

Latest information concerning the newspaper story was given to police this week by William J. Gibbs of Grand Forks, B.C., and close friend of the dead man.

Gibbs said he saw a story in a Calgary newspaper in 1929 or 1930 which told of the death of Hall and one of his three sons in a motor accident in North Dakota.

Police believe the story may have originated from the slayer, to stop any possible investigation of his whereabouts following his disappearance in March 1929. However repeated checks through the files of both Calgary newspapers have failed to uncover any trace of the story.

Police said both the newspaper story and the matter of what happened to Hall's furniture and clothing have important bearing on the murder case.

To date authorities are stumped. They can't find the story and two men believed to have information about the murdered man's property now are dead.

A FRENCH FLYING BOAT of the type shown above, is missing on a flight between Martinique and French West Africa with 52 persons aboard, including 12 crewmen. The plane is a 73-ton six-engine Laticoere 631, the largest type of commercial plane built in France. It was last heard from 1,200 miles off Dakar. Ships and planes are conducting an intensive search of the South Atlantic for the missing craft. It is reported messages have now been received.

Can Hire A Horse Or A Boat On Sunday No Law Against It, LDA Secretary Says

TORONTO, Aug. 5.— (CP).— Dr. George C. Webber, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, said Wednesday night that hiring a horse, a boat or automobile on Sunday is permissble under the Lord's Day Act if it is for the personal use of the hirer and his family and is not intended for any purpose forbidden by the Act.

"The matter has been discussed by our lawyers and they recognize this clause as an exception from other activities not considered workers of necessity or mercy."

But commercial recreation is forbidden.

"Individual recreation is considered on a different basis than commercial recreation," said Dr. Webber. "Boating, for instance, is quiet and healthy and doesn't disturb other people.

"Riding for your own personal enjoyment is a healthy pastime."

Earlier, W. B. Common, director of public prosecutions in the Ontario Attorney-General's Department, said restrictions on Sunday renting of automobiles or horses would depend finally on judicial decision in various areas of the province.

"Should a Judge decide that riding rented horses from a school is amusement, then it may be prohibited," he said.

Private Funeral For Rev. M. R. Hunt

TORONTO, Aug. 5. — Private funeral services were held today at Lakefield for Rev. Maunsel Rupert Hunt, 29, rector of the Lakefield Anglican Church and chaplain of Grove Preparatory School.

Mr. Hunt died Tuesday night from polio at Riverdale Isolation Hospital. Mrs. Hunt, who was stricken with polio at the same time as her husband, is still a patient at the Riverdale Hospital, and her condition reported as good.

Mr. Hunt was born in Toronto, one of four brothers to enter the ministry. With his twin brother Desmond, he graduated from Wycliffe College in 1942. They were the first twins to graduate in theology in the history of Wycliffe. So-Creds Pledge Aid To Farmers

EDMONTON, Aug. 5.—(CP).— Alberta's Social Credit Government promises to extend rural electrification throughout the province if re-elected in the Aug. 17 provincial general election.

This is one of the main planks in the platform of the party seeking its fourth consecutive term in office.

Premier Manning has ordered a plebiscite on rural electrification in conjunction with the election and the development will be made along the lines favored by voters—by private enterprise or by public ownership.

The Social Crediters also promise to implement the recommendations of a commission which investigated provincial-municipal financial relations. The commission report recommended increased payments by the Provincial Government for education, municipal roads, relief, mother's allowance, child welfare and old-age and blind pensions.

Other planks in the Social Credit platform include:

1. Greatly expanded program for development of natural resources with the crown retaining ownership of such resources.

2. Expansion of public health and welfare program.

3. Improvement in the province's education system, but with reduced costs to land owners by larger provincial grants.

4. More and better roads.

5. Vigorous continuation of encouraging industry and immigrants to settle in Alberta.

6. Full Government co-operation with both industry and labor to make secure the just rights of both parties and uninterrupted production.

7. Continued allegiance to Social Credit monetary principles and continuation of the "fight for social justice, economic security and freedom."

BOORMAN'S BEVERAGES

Spot Vivid Green Oasis West of Port of Churchill

THE PAS, Man., Aug. 5 (CP). —Game officers of Manitoba and Saskatchewan are going to investigate a "tropical island" which lights the monotonous grey of the barren lands with the vivid green of grass and boasts towering timbers.

The island was discovered on an air trip west of the Hudson Bay Port of Churchill. It is in a lake about one mile long and its trees are reported to be so large they cannot be cut with the light camp axes carried by natives and the few white travellers in the region.

Pending investigation, actual location of the oasis is not being announced. But Harold Wells, supervisor of registered traplines for Manitoba, described it as being not far north of Manitoba's northern boundary.

This presumably would place it somewhere in the southern stretches of the district of Keewatin, North-west Territories.

Mr. Wells expressed the opinion a mineral spring or deposit must supply the vegetation with powerful fertilizer to permit such luxuriant growth in the shor Arctic summer—and on an ordinarily treeless waste.

Whether the timbered oasis ha attracted odd strains of anima or bird life is also to be investi gated.

Mr. Wells said the towerin pines and other trees on the is land differ from the normal. The have limbs which appear to sta at ground level, some as thick a a man's waist.

HELP HARVEST CANADA'S CROPS

Do you know that agriculture is Canada's biggest business? . . . that its effect on our economic life is so vital that we should all do what we can to develop and encourage farm production? One direct way is to help with the harvesting by spending your vacation "down on the farm"—by devoting Saturdays off to saving the fruit, vegetable and grain crops in your district. You'll find it a new, healthful outdoor experience, as well as a means of helping your fellow man. That's "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

SOLVING THE HOUSING SHORTAGE was a matter of planning and hard work for three youthful veterans whose homes at the east end of Carlisle Ave., in East City, are nearing completion. They are Jack Blewett, 23, a Western Clock Co. employee, Robert West, 21, an arc welder at CGE, and Murray Aker, 23, also a Western Clock Co. employee. Apart from some assistance lent by friends, and the installation of plumbing and electricity, the houses were erected by themselves. Shown top left are Mr. and Mrs. Blewett and son Jimmy. Four-months-old Donald is missing from the family group as he sleeps. Bottom left is a view of the two nearly-completed bungalows and the semi-bungalow. Solve Housing Problem Through Own Efforts Build On Carlisle Avenue

Recently a gallup poll, scientifically testing public opinion across the Dominion, found that Canadians regard housing as the country's No. 1 problem. Whenever two or three are gathered together these days the conversation almost invariably turns to the subject of empty apartments, houses for sale, or—apparently there still are some to be found—houses for rent. And conversationalists know by now that the subject generally leaves all participants in a mood of frustration.

Three young men, one working at CGE and the other two employed at the Western Clock Co., came to the conclusion that there was no use mooning over the housing shortage; it might last for years. So they decided to do what would have been quite common in grandfather's day, but is an exception today: that is, build their own homes.

All three of them, newly-married, young, ex-servicemen, were living in cramped quarters, and though none of them had ever done any building before, they felt it was not beyond their ingenuity to erect comfortable homes for their wives and families.

Lived In 2 Rooms

Jack Blewett, 23, 280 Carlisle Ave., with his wife and infant son Jimmy were living in two rooms in a Brock St. apartment building Also living in two rooms in the same building were Robert West, 21, and his wife who was shortly expecting a baby.

Mr. Blewett said they talked their plans over for some time. Neither of them had the cash to purchase homes at their present inflated cost, so they decided to strike out for themselves and erect the desired dwellings.

They went to one company and found ready-made blue-prints for various homes complete with instructions on how to build. Everything was included in the estimate from laying the foundations to the last coat of paint.

Both Mr. Blewett and Mr. West began digging out the foundations for their block-shaped homes situated on adjoining 50 by 116 ft. lots at the north end of Carlisle Ave. Mr. Blewett and a friend with a truck did the digging on his property while Mr. West got the help of a team of horses to complete his excavation.

Before the winter arrived the foundations had been laid, the frameworks were complete and the roofs were on. Neither house was wired, had heating or any plumbing, so moving in was suspended for the balance of the cold season.

Cellar Caved In

Murray Aker, 23, who owns the third house did not begin his excavation work until the fall and then left it during the winter. When spring came the thaw caused a partial cave-in and the foundations had to be dug out again.

Then Mr. Aker met with an unexpected handicap. After digging his foundations to conform to the specifications of the ready-cut buildings, similar to his two friends, he found this spring that the quota of ready-cut buildings had run out.

But Mr. Aker, now the father of a 4-month-old baby daughter, Diane, is not the man to quit after a temporary set-back. He drew up a rough draft of the home he wanted for his wife and family and had it approved and blue prints made.

His home differs from those of his two immediate neighbors as it is a semi-bungalow with an upstairs bedroom. The others are one-storey, square-shaped, clapboard bungalows with four rooms —two bedrooms, a spacious living room, and a modern well-designed kitchen.

The trio have lent each other a helping hand when required but mainly they have built their own dwellings single - handed. Mr. Blewett said that despite their inexperience the job was easy, as the parts came ready-cut and one needed only to follow the blueprints to fit the house together. A more difficult problem confronted Mr. Aker.

Two Sub-Contracts

Assistance was given in putting on the clapboard sections and the plumbing which was installed last week in the two bungalows was all done by the plumbers. And most of the wiring was done by electricians.

Work is not quite finished on the two bungalows. Furnaces must still be put in and the cellar floors have to be paved. When that is completed another coat of paint should finish the job. They believe heating should be economical because of the compact structure of the buildings and also because both places are well insulated. The roofing has asphalt shingles.

The Wests moved into their new home in May with their infant son Robert Jr. who was three months old at the time. They were followed in June by the Blewetts with their two children, Jimmy, aged two, and Donald who then was only a month old.

The Aker residence, most easterly of the Carlisle Ave. houses is far from complete though the framwork is up, and a roof on. Plumbing and wiring, two things that held up the completion of the other two residences have still to be installed. Nevertheless Mr. and Mrs. Aker and their baby daughter hope to move in within a month or so.

Both the Wests and the Blewetts are now looking forward to putting the finishing touches on their homesteads by getting started on lawns and gardens. "It's too late for a garden now," says Mr. Blewett, "but we'll have one next year."

All three of the men are ex-servicemen. Mr. Blewett was a bombadier in the RCAF and Mr. Aker and Mr. West were both in the RCN.

Those who doubt whether modern youth can come up to the old-timer's mark, or who are skeptical about the ability of veterans to help in their own rehabilitation should take a look at the homes these young men have built.

That's the answer to Canada's No. 1 problem.

Lard, Shortening And Soap Prices Upped

Pity the poor housekeeper! Up went prices on shortening and lard at the first of the week. Selling last week at about 25 cents a pound, lard jumped 10 cents; and shortening, about 30 cents a week ago, popped up 10 to 13 cents, too.

And that's not all. One grocer reports that his flour is selling at seven cents more for each seven-pound bag, but another says he has no increase, as he understands the government is to subsidize flour. However, he added that manufacturers believe the retail increase will be nearly 30 cents on a 24-pound bag.

It's going to cost more to keep clean, too. One grocer says his soap is selling for one cent more per average-sized bar. Three cents is closer to the expected increase, said another, though nothing is official yet.

Worra, worra, worra.

Jas. Hamilton Asks Council To Improve Monaghan Road

Concern for the improvement of Monaghan Road is a hangover with James Hamilton from his mayoral days.

From his own term as chairman of the Council comes an echo of an overhead viaduct at the CNR with an obvious complication of the effect of that airline on the junction of Edison Ave. That is as far as the Council has advanced in its thinking about streamlining Monaghan Road.

Mr. Hamilton was mayor when Nashua Paper Co. moved down to Braidwood Ave. where they have built one of the most attractive factories in Eastern Ontario. He made some promises to the company in the event of their transfer, and is now reminding the Council that the undertaking is still binding on the city.

Mr. Hamilton's letter to the council is in part as follows: "At the time Canadian Nashua Paper Company was looking for an industrial site, and, encouraged by the civic authorities, they located on their present 10-acre site at Monaghan Road and Braidwood Ave., the officials of the company were assured the city would make necessary improvements to Monaghan Road south from Lansdowne St. at the earliest opportunity.

Area Developing Fast

The city, therefore, through this assurance to Nashua Paper is obligated to make these improvements.

I should like to suggest that Monaghan Road, south of Lansdowne St., should be improved in any case since this immediate area is the fastest developing district in the city. I firmly believe that within a few years Monaghan Rd. will become one of the city's main north and south traffic arteries.

Some years ago during the time that R. H. Parsons was city engineer, a preliminary survey was made at the direction of the council to provide for the straightening of the road, and also to secure the reduction of the incline at the C.N.R. crossing. I hope the council will do this work soon, since the present condition creates a definite hazard to traffic and is only a discouragement to the area.

Another factor of great importance to Monaghan Road is the clearing up of the most unsightly conditions which prevail on both sides of the roadway at the intersection of Lansdowne St. I have been informed that certain conversations have taken place with the owners of those properties to have the necessary changes made. May I suggest that this matter should be pressed in order that early decision and action may result.

I am sending this letter to Mayor Ovens and the council only after considerable thought and feeling that I have a responsibility in this matter since I was Mayor at the time when certain promises were made."

Mr. Hamilton's letter was referred to the Board of Works. It was suggested at one time that the members of the council should go down Monaghan Road from Lansdowne St., especially to acquaint themselves of the aspects of the problem at the Edison Ave. corner.

Too Much Work Ahead

That has not yet been done mainly because the council had an accumulation of jobs on hand, and it was felt that Nashua Paper management would be patient. In the meantime the company has laid out its grounds and made a big contribution in appearance and realty values to that new section of the city. No complaints have been heard from the neighborhood, but there is not even a sidewalk on Braidwood Ave. between Park St. and Monaghan Rd. Nor is there a sidewalk on Monaghan Road. The industries that moved down there are manifestly content to wait until the council has caught up with the immediate necessities of housing.

Walking conditions on Braidwood Ave. are good. The surface is hard. Eventually there will be sidewalk accommodation, and it is just possible Nashua might have some suggestion to the council for harmony and utility between the plant's grounds and the improvement of the street.

Mr. Hamilton's reference to the corner of Lansdowne St. and Monaghan Road leans far toward understatement. Even in his own term as head of the council, Mr. Hamilton accomplished next to nothing at that "unsightly" corner.

A. Wander Company laid out Elmwood Park, converting that south side of Lansdowne St. into an expanse of beauty. The green sward at St. Peter's Cemetery has been a trim and restful appearance. Now Nashua Paper have effected an attractive change in their first year of lawn-making at Braidwood Ave. and Monaghan Road, but between times, the communities of Monaghan and the city have tolerated a tangle of tin immediately south of the cemetery, even onto the road allowance, that was long a discouragement to every person with any hope of community neatness and pleasantness.

Probably, the road allowance has been cleared, but Mr. Hamilton's observation remains. It should be examined in the light of the changes that have taken place and will continue in that southern section of the city. His patience with the shabbiness of two or three of the sectors at that corner of Lansdowne St. and Monaghan Road has run out. That often happens with administrators in retirement, their authority gone. It would be interesting and a stimulant to civic spirit if the reigning council exhausted its patience and put some sting and smack into their decision affecting that southwest entrance to the city.

Officer Nabs Young Man After Break-in

A four-hour vigil of a rookie policeman paid off this morning in what police claim as catching a break-and-enter artist redhanded with the goods.

PC Donald MacKay was patrolling his beat shortly after midnight when he noticed a man near the corner of Hunter and Queen Sts. whose actions were suspicious. The officer hid in the bushes of St. John's Anglican Church and watched the man who appeared to be interested in the grocery store of Peter Goselin at the Hunter-Queen corner. The policeman saw the man pass near the store several times, then disappear again.

This hide-and-seek game continued for some hours, as PC MacKay continued to patrol his beat and keep an eye on things around the Goselin store.

It was about 4.30 this morning that action developed. The man, said the officer, walked to a sidewalk grating on Queen St., lifted it and jumped down. Silently signalling PC Al Edmison, PC MacKay listened at the grating as he heard the intruder clump through a coal-bin on his way upstairs to the store proper.

PC Edmison went around to the back door to cover that escape, and PC MacKay walked to the front of the store. From there, he said he could hear the man as he moved through the store. One of these sounds was that of a cash register being opened.

When the luckless prowler opened the front door to saunter out, he literally walked into the arms of the waiting police. At the station, police report he was found with $22 cash, 177 one-cent stamps and a new jack-knife, all of which they believe to have been taken from the corner store.

In court this morning, 22-year-old William Holland of 394 George St., was remanded until Friday on a charge of breaking, entering and theft.

House Building Outstrips Sidewalk, Road Extensions

Occupation of recently completed houses in new sections of the city is outrunning extension of letter carrier service depending on road and sidewalk facilities which are required by the Federal Department to be provided by the city, Postmaster Charles Lacheur informed the council by letter Tuesday night.

Requests for carrier service have been received by the Department from residents of Howden and Arndon avenues, Mr. Lacheur wrote. He had a survey made recently of the circumstances in these new sublivisions, and submitted his finding to the council. It was refered to the board of works.

Mr. Lacheur's report indicates that public accommodation on those streets has not yet been completed by the city, particularly in the laying of sidewalks and finishing of road surfacing. His report follows:

Howden Avenue: There are 29 potential calls. The houses are not consecutively numbered. There are no proper walks from the houses to the road, no sidewalks and the road is very rough.

Arndon Avenue: There are 51 new houses; 35 are occupied. Houses are all numbered and concrete walks laid to all houses. No sidewalks. The road surface is very uneven, and for the last 80 yards entering Park St., the street is not open.

Monaghan Road: There are three new houses in this section. They are properly numbered. The road is quite rough with loose fill. No sidewalks.

St. Catharines St.: There are 16 houses; 14 occupied. Concrete walks lead from the houses to the edge of the road. No sidewalks. The road surface is soft, sandy soil; very uneven.

"I may point out that the regulations covering letter carrier delivery extension is as follows: It is necessary to have all houses properly numbered, streets opened, labelled at the main intersection points, with sidewalks laid throughout the entire district, or the roadways paved or asphalt mix; suitable walks laid from the road to the houses, storm drains, and the roads snow-plowed in winter; the walks kept clear of snow, and letter slots in each door or letter boxes locked.

West-end Request

In addition to the above, representations have been made for letter carrier extension to Grandview Ave., Kenneth Ave., High St., Third Ave., Clonsilla Ave., from Charlotte St. to Sherbrooke St.; and Sherbrooke St. from Monaghan Road to Clonsilla Ave.

There are no sidewalks or cinder paths approaching this area although there is a paved sidewalk on Grandview Ave., and on the east side of Kenneth.

There is also the Brookdale housing project; Wolsley St. (west end); Curtis Drive (approach via Swanston Ave.); Carlisle Ave. (east end); Beverley St., O'Connell St. project.

These districts will all be requesting letter carrier extension as soon as the houses are occupied.

I would, therefore, respectfully suggest that the regulations for letter carrier extension be taken into consideration so that this service may be granted when asked for.

The Post Office Department is quite anxious to extend letter carrier service when conditions warrant, and the regulations have been complied with."

July's Rainfall Below That Of '47

July's rainfall was 1.68 inches as compared with 4.41 inches in the seventh month last year as reported by James Armstrong of the filtration plant.

Maximum temperature last month was 90 degrees on the 10th and 11th, and minimum of 46 on the 2nd. Average mean was 65.3.

The thermal figures for July last year were: maximum 84 deg. on the 30th; minimum 52 on the 4th and average mean 67.4.

In spite of the difference in the rain register, Peterborough countryside was almost uniformly green throughout the month.

Rubber Company Rents New Store

Goodrich Tire and Rubber Company has leased one of the four stores in the block Hayward-Reilly Construction Ltd. are building on the west side of George St., north of Sherbrooke St. They are also taking an additional spacious section at the rear.

"The three other stores are not definitely leased yet," Mr. O. J. Hayward told the Examiner today, but we have a number of prospects that seem to be promising. I understand that their Peterborough store will be the headquarters of Goodrich Company between Toronto and Montreal.

We are putting in the first commercial radiant heating system in Peterborough. The second floor will be office accommodation.

CLEAN SWEEP

Last week at the corner of Sherbrooke and Reid Sts. a load of soft drink bottles on a truck became dislocated and dozens of the bottles tumbled to the pavement and smashed. The driver stopped and cleaned up the mess by hand. When he drove away the roadway was, however, still littered with hundreds of bits of sharp glass devil's teeth for tires. Yesterday afternoon the same sort of accident happened to a milk van in front of the Post Office, though only a couple of bottles broke. The driver borrowed a broom and there in the middle of the busy thoroughfare swept vigorously for three minutes until every last bit of glass was removed. Maybe the soft drink man had not learned in childhood that if a job is worth doing it is worth doing well—and the milkman had. Or maybe the milkman knew it was an offence under the Highway Traffic Act to leave glass on a highway.

Liberals Squeeze Witnesses Out Of Rooms

By WILLIAM WILSON.

OTTAWA, Aug. 5 — (CP). — A hotel jam created by a surging flow of delegates attending the Liberal convention has ruled out applications for rooms by Prices Commission witnesses.

The commission completed its examination of Canadian Industries Limited's fertilizer operations Wednesday after assuring H. Greville Smith, executive vice-president, that he could leave some time during the day. Mr. Smith's hotel room had been taken over by the convention.

The commission will resume is investigation next Tuesday. Fertilizers are expected to occupy it for three more days and according to the present schedule will be completed next week. After that Prof. C. A. Curtis, the head of the investigations, and his two colleagues, H. C. Bois and Mrs. T. W. Sutherland, will turn to hides, leather and footwear.

Up to Counsel

The present commission has left the questioning almost entirely in the hands of its counsel, H. A. Dyde, with only occasional interventions from the three commissioners.

The principle fact elicited from Mr. Smith's two-day appearance before the commission was that, although C.I.L.'s fertilizer sales are $7,000,000 greater than before the war, its profits from that branch of its operations have dropped $9,000 from $210,000 to $201,000.

Mr. Smith declared the establishment of inventory reserves had never led C.I.L. to seek higher profits to provide them. He defended the policy of freight rate refunds as essential if companies were to compet in areas closer to a competitor than to their own plants. Their abolition would lead to automatic zoning. He said the dealers' discounts were five per cent in Quebec and eight per cent in Ontario, and explained C.I.L. followed the pattern already established when it entered the business.

OLDEST DEFENCE

Hill-forts, or fortified hill-tops, are among the most ancient type of defence, and their remains numerous in the British Isles.

U.N. Condemns Mixed Marriage Rules

GENEVA, Aug. 5 —(AP)—The United Nations Economic and Social Council today condemned all legal measures against mixed marriages.

The council's committee on human rights approved 12 to 0, with six abstentions, a Canadian compromise between conflicting chilean and Soviet proposals.

Since the committee has the same membership as the council, later approval of the Canadian resolution by the council is considered certain.

The resolution said the council "deplored all legislative measu to prevent mixed marriages between persons of different color, nationality, race or religion."

Chile originally urged condemnation of legal measures against mixed marriages between persons of different nationality. The resolution ostensibly was aimed at Russia. The Soviet Union submitted a counter-proposal ostensibly directed at some state laws within the United States. It condemned laws against mixed marriages between persons of different color.

University Liberals Honor Mr. King On His Own Doorstep

By GEORGE RONALD

OTTAWA, Aug. 5.—(CP). — One hundred university students Wednesday night staged a tuneful, colorful political demonstration which staid old Ottawa won't forget for a long, long time.

Armed with college-name banners, they piled into three buses and went to the Universtiy of Ottawa campus, formed a strictly-out-of-step parade — and headed for Prime Minister Mackenzie King's doorstep.

Unexpected impetus came from a crowd of almost 1,000 men, women and children waiting outside Mr. King's residence, Laurier House. As the students swung up the front walk, the crowd surged in behind them, overflowed on to the neatly-kept lawns, accidentally trampled a few of the Prime Minister's flowers and shrubs.

Good-Natured Crowd

It was a good-natured crowd. As the students chanted their college yells, the crowd chimed in with an impatient cry of its own:

"We want Willie.'

And, when "Willie" appeared a few minutes after the wild push to his doorstep, students and non-students pulled out all stops.

The more formal part of the show of tribute was brief. Marcel Joyal of McGill University, Montreal, retiring Canadian University Liberal Federation president, read and presented to Mr. King a scroll recording thanks and good wishes to "our beloved leader and prime minister."

Mr. King, beaming happily on the crowded front porch, waved as the crowd roared its applause and photographers' flash-bulbs popped. He said "thanks with all my heart."

After a brief resume of Liberal party aims, he lighted three big four-foot torches representing the unity-security-freedom watchword of this week's Liberal party convention. Then, led by the torchbearers, the parade reformed and the crowd melted away from Laurier House.

List Resolutions

At their own convention Wednesday, the students gave no hint as to which candidate will receive greatest CULF support. But in a long series of resolutions, they made known the subjects they thing the party should discuss in drafting a new platform.

One resolution urges that the power to amend the British North America Act — Canada's Constitution — be vested in Parliament. Technically, any change now must be made by the United Kingdom Parliament.

Coupled with that suggestion is a proposal that two-thirds of the Senate be appointed by the provincial governments to protect the rights of the provinces and of minority groups.

The CULF also proposes:

1. Automatic retirement of Senators at 75.
2. Abolition of appeals to the Privy Council.
3. A distinctive Canadian flag "containing either the union jack or the fleur-de-lys."
4. "Moral and economic support" for Western Europe.

A surprise resolution — branded by one delegate as "endorsement of the current theme of the CCF" — advocates a full-scale anti-inflation program, using price, wage, credit and investment controls and rationing "where necessary". Another proposal is constant government support for any move to slash tariffs and other trade barriers.

Crippling Fog Lifts Along New England

BOSTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—A crippling fog that tied up shipping overnight along wide stretches of the New England coast line lifted today.

Described by the weather bureau as an ocean-generated peasouper, the blanket caused the grounding of a big coal collier in Boston harbor. Hundreds of small pleasure boats, including racing yachts at Marblehead, Mass., were trapped in the murk. Many rode out the night along the coastline. The United States Coast Guard directed the landings of others.

African Distrust Poisons Life On Gold Coast

LONDON, Aug. 5—(Reuters)—African distrust and suspicion of the European is poisoning life in the Gold Coast, the official commission inquirng into disturbances there in February and March this year has reported.

As a result of the disorders scattered throughout the country, 29 were killed and 237 injured.

"By far the most serious problem which the administration had to face in the Gold Coast is the suspicion which surrounds government activity of any sort," the report said.

Its origin, apart from political propaganda, was often obscure and it did not attach to individual persons in government service.

African soldiers returning from the war were disappointed at conditions on their return "either from specious promises made before demobilization or a general expectancy of a golden age for heroes."

Political Frustration

Among other "political" causes of unrest set out in the report were "a feeling of political frustration among the educated Africans, who saw no prospect of ever experiencing political power under existing conditions and who regarded the 1946 constitution as mere wndow-dressing designed t cover but not to advance their natural aspirations."

The report said another political cause was the government's failure to realize that with the spread of liberal ideas, increasing literocy, and a closer contact with political developments in other parts of the world, the star of rule through the chiefs was on the wane.

Among "fantastic and malicious stories" which the commission were told were circulating through the Cocoa Belt was:

"Britain intends to sell the Gold Coast to the United States, but wishes to ensure the death of the cocoa industry to avoid subsequent competition."

The commission exonerated the Gold Coast police for firing on an "ex-servicemen's" procession at Accra crossroads Feb. 28.

Lay Murder Charge

Edmonton, Aug. 5. (CP)—RCMP said Wednesday a murder charge had been laid against Ralph Flett in connection with the death of 50-year-old Sam Harboruk of Rycroft, Alta., July 28. The charge was laid after a coroner's jury Tuesday night named Flett as responsible for Harboruk's death by a broken neck. The dead man is alleged to have been knocked down and kicked during a melee in front of the Rycroft Hotel.

Higher Meat Prices

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 — (AP). — Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan said Wednesday that meat prices in the United States, already at record levels, will go higher through the summer "unless some positive action is taken." Meanwhile, a telephone crusade against high meat prices mounted with housewives in scattered parts of the United States telephoning another to stay out of butcher shops.

Find PC Spy In Chateau Homuth Has Ears Open

By DOUGLAS HOW.

OTTAWA, Aug. 5 — (CP). — They were getting their conventions crossed in Room 541 of the Chateau Laurier yesterday, but only there.

No. 541 is the headquarters of Karl Kenneth Homuth, politician, Sunday School teacher, and spy.

Although outnumbered 4,000 to one and hopelessly vulnerable to recognition—he is the antithesis of the tall, lean, silent type—the Progressive Conservative member for Waterloo South checked into the thick of the Liberal leadership convention during the day and set up business in political espionage.

Not even the mobile legions of Little Chicago—the Liberal pepper group that wages regular parliamentary war on him — could keep him away.

The boisterous Mr. Homuth confessed he was here to ponder convention conduct as a prelude to his own party's leadership tournament next month. He might even go so far as to attend the deliberations themselves, but mainly he will operate from the hotel with both ears open to the fury of gossip and intrigue.

People came and went from 541, some of them Tories, some tolerant Grits, some reporters. There was no formal collision with Little Chicago, but the conversation was taking screwy turns.

"Who do you like for the leadership?" a reporter asked.

"Diefenbaker," gravelled Mr. Homuth.

"No, no, that's next month."

"Well, I've told some of the Grits I'm another dark horsecandidate, but one of them told me, 'What a helluva compromise you would be.' All I can say is it's great to see them split two or three ways. Such dissension! It is wonderful."

"Like a Tory caucus," some cruel voice inserted.

"Pour the man a drink," Mr. Homuth said. "Or throw him out."

"How many do you think will run?" someone pursued.

"Well," the fat spy offered, "Drew hasn't said one way or the other. Now Diefenbaker...."

A reporter started out the door.

"Come on down to the lobby, Karl," he said. "We will find some of the Little Chicago boys around."

"Not on your life," roared Mr. Homuth. "Not without a gun."

Worry No Help In Avoiding Polio

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—If you are alarmed about polio outbreaks and its attacks on adults, take the advice of Ontario's Deputy Health Minister Dr. J. T. Phair: "Go about your business and don't worry about it."

Worrying will not save you or your children from polio, he says, and adds this word of advice: "If you have some unexplained illness during the poli season, go to bed for a week and do not get up until 48 hours after your temperature goes down.

"For 20 years now the polio trend has been away from youngsters and towards adults, and the death Tuesday night of Rev. Mansell R. Hunt of Lakefield at Toronto Isolation Hospital is evidence of this," he declared.

Dr. Phair says there is no acceptable reason for this trend. "There is not a solitary thing the medical world can do to ward off polio."

He drew attention to the recent international conference on polio at New York where only slight progress toward finding a cure and understanding the disease was reported. The source of polio is not known, nor do doctors know how it enters the body, how it is spread and how it causes paralysis.

One important step forward at the conference was the vaccination of a monkey, carried out by Dr. Isabel Morgan of John Hopkins Institute. She successfully vaccinated the animal against polio with live virus. But this virus is too dangerous to use on humans.

Economics and Dollars Dominate October Parley

BY JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, Aug. 5 (CP)—Economics and dollars, rather than the modern romance of commonwealth co-operation, are expected to dominate the dominion Prime Ministers' Conference with the British Government in October.

The pattern of consultation was indicated by the July visit of Prime Minitser Chifley of Australia, who may not return for the October meeting but send one of his Senior Ministers instead.

Australia's questions for the conference are similar to those of Canada, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan and Ceylon. Chifley showed he was interested in economic matters above all else.

He desired information on:

How Britain's participation in Western Europe Union and the development of the United States European-recovery program will affect commonwealth trade.

How the sterling area, led by Britain, hopes to continue its export and import program with the United States. Australia feels it might divert some of its export from sterling areas to the United States and earn dollars.

How Britain proposes to develop her emigration policy. He had to give would-be emigrants a warning of a radio broadcast that the shortage of ships and lack of housing in Australia must limit any movement of people.

How long-term contracts for supplies of food, already operative between Britain and the chief exporting dominions, have served and whether they will be continued and extended.

Electrical Lines Marked Down After 25 Per Cent Tax Cut

"What they give with one hand they take away with the other". That was the view expressed by one family man when he heard of the latest relaxations in the austerity program.

The biggest drop was in the price of cars—one firm recently announced reductions in the retail price ranging from $177 for the cheaper models to $363 for the more expensive. Among those items which will be immediately affected by the 25 per cent drop will be domestic radio receivers, vacuum cleaners, refrigerators and a wide variety of small appliances. Sporting weapons, motorcycles and outboard motors have been similarly slashed.

Most dealers have already remarked their price tags in line with the Civic Holiday announcement by Finance Minister Douglas Abbott. Those who were caught with large inventories stand to suffer the greatest loss.

When questioned by The Examiner one dealer in electrical appliances said that the 25 per cent cut would not boost his sales appreciably. He pointed out that the demand was greater than the supply for refrigerators even with the austerity tax.

"A large number of customers were unwilling to buy at the old price and said they would wait for a drop. They became more numerous after the rumor a month or so again that the tax would be dropped."

This particular dealers thought that the rescinded tax would simplify matters for the buying public. "People were confused over what was taxed and what was not taxed. For instance a number of them thought that electric stoves and washing machines were up 25 per cent."

An outboard motor dealer was delighted with the new cut. He said that many potential customers thought that he former price for an ouboard motor was beyond their pocket book and refused to buy. This dealer was doubly delighted because when the relaxation of austerity was announced he had a minimum of stock on hand, thus reducing his losses to a minimum. The change in price has already been passed along to the buyer.

Those families who are not looking for a new refrigerator or other electrical gadgets are more worried about the less publicized droppng of the $2,000,000-a-month fat and oil subsidy. The customer will now pay 10-12 cents more for a pound of shortening and this with the recent rise in the price of butter means that baking is more expensive.

Many families are now disregarding the more expensive cuts of meat and are buying cheaper cuts. For them news that the American market is now open for lamb and mutton exports is hardly likely to be welcomed as it will boost the price for domestic consumption.

Needs Machinery, Steel

JOHANNESBURG (CP)— Eric Louw, minister of economic development, said impediment placed in the way of the export to South Africa of capital goods, particularly machinery and steel, contributed to the housing shortage and must be removed as soon as possible.

Disappointed Seekers

AUCKLAND N.Z. (CP)—Fifty desperate homeseekers examined two old flying-boats here in the hope that they could be converted into houses. They are too large to be moved intact to a housing site, however, and it is probable that they will be broken up for scrap.

Area Pioneers Honored At Old Church

BETHANY, Aug. 5 (ENS). — McRae's United Church, which has been closed during the past year for lack of members, was re-opened on Sunday for a Remembrance and Decoration Day service, honoring the pioneers of Manvers Township who are buried in the adjoining cemetery.

This well-known landmark, built in 1882 by Methodists, stands at the Four Corners, two miles south of Pontypool, on No. 35 Highway, and served the surrounding farming community as its centre of activity.

The special service was in charge of Karl Monk, Peterborough, and was largely attended. The church was filled to capacity with residents of the community and friends and relatives from outside points of Toronto, Barrie, Bowmanville, Pontypool, Orono, Bethany, Peterborough, Nestleton, Millbrook, Blackstock, and Oshawa. Baskets of flowers decorated the church and the cemetery grounds. Mrs. Roy Cochrane presided at the organ and A. H. Monk, Bethany, gave the address. In his remarks preceding the sermon, Mr. Monk voiced the thanks of those present to the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cochrane, who were mainly responsible for organizing the service. He also mentioned regret at the absence of George White, who through illness was unable to attend, but who, in the past, had been one of the most active members of the church. It was decided to make this Remembrance Day service an annual event.

ROSE BY DETERMINATION

Stonewall Jackson, the famous Confederate general, had little education, but earned promotion by the doggedness that made him a great leader.

Break Will Leaving Fortune To Country

LONDON, Aug. 5 — (CP). — The will of a man who left the whole of his property to his country, directing that it should be used by the British Exchequer "for the secular good of England," was invalidated by the Provate Court.

The testator, John Selley Buckle of Blackpool, died in Decemebr, 1943. His will was dated December, 1921.

His nephews and nieces alleged that Buckle was not of sound mind, memory and understanding when the will was made. The court agreed. Counsel said Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross, who had intervened in the suit, was supporting the will as made by Buckle.

Buckle, it was said, was a teetotaller and non-smoker and left investments of about £15,000 ($60,000).

A Jealous Husband

TORONTO, Aug. 5 (CP)—Police said a jealous husband found his wife walking in a park with another man and threw acid at the suitor, causing severe burns to the man's face, chest, arms and shoulders. They arrested Joseph Peitrzyk, 44, on a charge of wounding. The victim, Mike Smutek, 40, was treated at hospital, where attendants said he was lucky to escape with his life.

Relief Parcels To England Shipped Free

OTTAWA, Aug. 5.—Four major concessions from the British government, which will facilitate and lessen the cost of Canadian relief shipments to Britain have been announced.

The principal concessions—which the British government have stated will only be applicable to shipments through the United Emergency Fund for Britain—are embodied in a letter received by the Fund from John Strachy, Minister of Food:

"We have been grateful beyond measure to the people of the Dominions for the help they have extended to the people of this country throughout the years of war. That this help should be continued through the difficult times that now face us, touches us very deeply. The very least I can do, therefore, is to promise our fullest co-operation in the task undertaken by the United Emergency Fund for Britain."

"The ways and means by which that co-operation can be made mose effective will need to be worked out between my officers and yours. Meantime, this letter will serve to assure you that His Majesty's government will gladly undertake "free ocean transportation on food sent by the United Emergency Fund for Britain, it being understood that distribution will be made on the advice of your Advisory Council to those most in need of this help, and that your Council will co-operate with the Ministry to ensure that there is no overlapping with the relief work already carried out by local authorities and other organizations. We will also provide warehousing space at some suiable point and will arrange for the food to be delivered to your warehouse free of charge and of customs and excise duties, dockage and other handling charges."

26-Pound Muskie Caught At Sturgeon

LINDSAY, Aug. 4—The largest lunge to be caught this season—a 26-pound fish, 46 inches long—was "played to a standstill" by Norman Wakeford of Port Perry, while Michael Rooney of Toronto manoeuvred by boat. The fish was caught off the shores of Sturgeon Lake, at the Beach Inn fishing grounds. It took three quarters of an hour to land the piscatorial beauty. Last night Rooney caught an 11-lb. fish near the same "hole."

More Haste, Less Speed

SWAFFHAM, Norfolk, England —(CP)— Mrs. G. Salter here received a letter six years after it was posted. It stated that it was "written in haste."

LIVING IN AMERICA since 1940, when he fled the Nazi putsch in Germany, Frederich Stampfer, ex-editor of the old Berlin Vorwaerts, prepares to return to the "old country." Shown with him in New York is his daughter, Marienne, 24, who will make the U.S. her permanent home. Sampfer, a former Reichstag member, was forced to flee because of his views on the "real causes" of the Reichstag fire.

Squid Takes Care of Self Throws Own Smokescreen

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 5 — (CP)—When you go squid-jiggin' don't look over the gunwales. You may get an eyeful of squid squirt.

Squid is the main source of bait for Newfoundland fishermen who trawl the banks for salt cod. And right now the jiggin' season is in full swing.

The squid, being a twig of the octopus family tree, is a pretty revolting creature. It is embarrassed about its looks itself, for it travels backwards.

The squid is about eight or 10 inches long. It has a bulbous head and from its neck protrude a bunch or tentacles with suction cups.

At its rear there is a sort of fin and rudder, this tail assembly rather resembles that of the old Wellington Bomber. One Newfoundland Army veteran said recently "every time I saw a Wimpy (Wellington) I'm after thinking of the squid."

Throws Up Smokescreen

When the squid is harassed it throws up a smokescreen from aft in the form of a brown-black liquid. It isn't poisonous but just the same a shot in the eye can be pretty uncomfortable.

Fishermen catch squid by hanging a prong over the side of the boat and pulling the line up and down. Thus the term jiggin'.

There are several barbs on the jigger but the squid as a rule isn't skewered or caught like a fish with its mouth open. It is attracted by the color of the prong and wraps its tentacles around it. The suction holds it until it's in the boat.

A veteran fisherman can handle three lines at a time.

A flick of the wrist detaches the squid from the jigger and it expires with a sound like air going out of a balloon. Later it is cut into strips for bait.

Squid travels in schools and when one boats finds the congregation the cry goes up squid-o! Then the rest of the boats cluster around for the catch.

Before the war quantities of squid were dried and shipped to China where it is regarded as a delicacy.

Climbing Birthrate Blow To NZ Housing

AUCKLAND, NZ, Aug. 5 (CP) The rapidly rising birth-rate in New Zealand is causing difficulties in the Dominion's state housing program. For the larger families which are becoming general to-day the many two-bedroom houses constructed some years ago are proving too small and state tenants are trying to exchange their homes for larger ones.

The birth-rate in New Zealand last year reached 25.84 per thousand of population, compared with 18.66 in 1940. The present rate is almost double what it was when the state housing program was devised at the end of the depression of the '30s.

When the housing program began the demand was for large numbers of small houses for the young married couples and a considerable proportion of the houses had only two bedrooms. Many of these couples now have three or more children and have had to install beds in the living-rooms.

U.S. Crew Wins Heat From British

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, Aug. 5.—(AP).—The United States four-oar crew from the University of Washington won its first heat from Great Britain today at the opening of the Olympic regatta on a mist-shrouded Thomas river.

Portugal beat Greece comfortably in another heat, Hungary beat Yugaslavia in a strong finish, Italy beat Australia, Austria beat Cuba and Denmark beat Norway.

The United States pair oar crew without coxswain from Yale University was defeated by Austria.

The Austrian pair had the best time of seven minutes, 19.3 seconds. Britain was closest with 7:20.3; the United States time was 7:20.4.

John B. Kelly, Jr., of Philadelphia, winner of the Diamond Sculls over the same course last year and also winner of the Canadian Henley singles, coasted home today in his heat of the single sculls over Swedish and Spanish contestants.

Kelly's time, seven minutes, 39.7 seconds, was slower than that of Mervyn Wood, of Australia, this year's Diamond Scull winner, who took his heat in seven minutes, 25.9 seconds.

Seek Child's Mother

TORONTO, Aug. 5. (CP)—Police today were trying to find the pretty, blond mother of a child named Candra, apparently abandoned a week ago. Mrs. Grace Newton, who has previously taken care of children for working mothers in the West Toronto district, said the girl was left at her home July 24. The mother did not return three days later as she had promised.

Housewife Needs Ingenuity For Meal Emergencies

By MARY MOORE

All afternoon we had been canning Montmorency cherries, — and while dinner time was drawing, what we would have for dinner was an unknown quantity; all I knew was that there was a vague hope we would have dinner. As a nucleus I had exactly four ears of fresh corn — one each . . .

. . . when in walked unexpected guests!

The kitchen floor was sticky with cherry juice, — fortunately the cherries were all in tins and sealed, but not yet processed. Marianne gave the floor a quick wipe-up, and my mind worked like mad.

I had sausages frozen in an ice tray; a basket of windfall apples my neighbor had left on our doorstep, — and the aforementioned corn.

I sent Marianne running off in all directions — to the garden for a cabbage and some tomatoes and parsley (yes, my very own); over to the neighbor's for an extra tray of ice — and I went to town).

The menu was:

Baked Sausages
Corn Cakes
Shredded Cabbage, Tomato and Parsley Salad with Lime Mayonnaise
Strained Green Applesauces
Toasted Buttered Crackers with Old Cheese
Iced Coffee

You can believe this or not but we were sitting down to that meaal in exactly forty-five minutes, — for Marianne had pushed the cooked apples through the sieve when she came back from the garden —and had buttered the crackers and set the table.

First I washed the apples, cut them in halves, pulled off stems and added enough boiling water to come halfway up pan. Covered and boiled about 6 or 8 minutes. When Marianne had strained them we added sugar and served them into their serving dishes to cool.

My second job was to put the sausages on the broiler pan and thaw them out and bake them, by placing some distance from a rather hot broiler.

Next I made probably the quickest salad in history. The mayonnaise I had made earlier in the week.

Corn Flakes

Two eggs, yolks and whites separated, 1½ ounces corn, either kernel corn or corn cut from the cob fresh (as we had it), 2/3 cup flour sifted with 1 teaspoon each baking powder and salt, and ¼ teaspoon paprika. Beat egg whites until stiff, add yolks and beat again. Add corn and sifted dry ingredients. Heat salad oil (about ½inch deep) in frying pan. When hot, drop mixture by tablespoons into the fat and cook until brown, first on one side and then on the other. Drain on soft paper and serve as quickly as possible.

If you want to make lime mayonaise you merely use my recipe for genuine mayonnaise, and substitute lime juice for lemon juice or vinegar. If you would like me to repeat this recipe, please write to me.

SPANISH TIES BROKEN

The independence movement began in Chile in 1910, with the ousting of the Spanish ruler Captain General Antonio Harcia Carrasco.

FAILLE, CRISP and tissue-light, is a winner on the fabric card this year. Right for late summer and for later on its this beautifully draped black tissue faille dress. New Playwright Developing In Nova Scotia

By JOSEPH KING

CHESTER ,N.S. ,Aug. 4 (CP).—A Canadian playwright gaining international recognition, H. Shirley Fowke, is engaged these days writing lyrics for a musical production and expanding a novelette into a full-length book.

Trim, 34-year-old Miss Fowke has had a writing career in mind ever since she was an eight-year-old schoolgirl in Oshawa, writing her first play.

Recently in Cleveland, O., she captured first plice in the Hermit Drama Club's annual play-writing competition. It was worth $500 to the Canadian writer who had two full-length plays among the five productions chosen for the finals.

Miss Fowke's studio is in a house overlooking the harbor of this picturesque Nova Scotia south shore village. There amid books and ship models she now is writing lyrics for a musical production of her play "Mister Job," a modernized version of the Book of Job.

One of America's top Negro theatrical groups, the Gilpen Players, already has given the play a successful two-weeks' run in Cleveland.

She is also expanding a novelette on privateering out of Shelburne, N.S., during the war of 1812.

She says her second Hermit Club play, "Star In The Night" is illustrative of that point of view with its plea for religious tolerance.

IF YOU DON'T feel like climbing aboard the satin band wagon how about a touch of the shining stuff on a dull sheer or crepe frock? It is very smart, especially when it is used as shown here. David Westheim is responsible for the dress, a nice summer-into-fall number. Of black crepe, the satin peplum is attractively gathered and breaks the otherwise straight, slim silhouette. In addition the rounded flap pockets are et into the peplum, two in front and one on either side for extra flare. The neckline is self-banded.

BUYS AND WHYS BY Barbara Brent
A weekly shopping and information service for today's woman

MONTREAL, August 5th—What a mistake it is to overlook the importance of well-groomed hands and how much a beautiful shade of nail polish can contribute to hand beauty! And when you wear lipstick to match . . . what a very "elegant" look it gives you! Do ask to see that gorgeous Fashion Pink set of Peggy Sage Nail Polish with Lipstick to match. You'll be delighted, as I am, with the versatility of Fashion Pink. It looks so very beautiful with the soft-spoken shades of summer — completely perfect with pastels! Miss Sage has chosen "Fashion Pink" to introduce her new "Sheer" polish. You'll simply have to see it to believe it . . . it's translucent, "sheer" flattery for your hands! So look for PEGGY SAGE'S "SHEER" Polish and matching "SHIMMER" Lipstick . . . in "FASHION PINK"!

Have you a Sink that stubbornly refuses to look white and gleaming? Scrub as you may, it still has that "tell-tale" yellow look. Chances are your drain is slow and sluggish . . . grease and sediment stay in the sink too long and sink-cleaning is twice as difficult — takes twice as long. Here's what to do about this sad state of affairs:—Make a weekly habit of cleaning out drains with GILLETT'S DRAIN CLEANER. Fast-acting and thorough, just two tablespoons a week of this magical cleaner keep drains clear and free from clogging sediment . . . save you time, trouble and plumber's bills. Just a few of the many good reasons why thousands of homemakers now use Gillett's Drain Cleaner!

Isn't it Lucky they taste so good? I mean Kellogg's Bran Flakes, for I can think of no pleasanter way to help keep you "regular"! In fact, Kellogg's Bran Flakes is one of the tastiest dishes I've encountered in many a moon! Actually, it's not luck — but good management that put the flavour, deliciousness and freshness, into Kellogg's Bran Flakes. They're an inspired breakfast food made by people who know what they're doing and how to do it! KELLOGG'S BRAN FLAKES are delicious and it's really true that "some of the people need Kellogg's Bran Flakes all of the time. All of the people need Kellogg's Bran Flakes some of the time." And how nice it is for us that they do taste so good!

Pickling Is Never Really a Picnic . . . but it can be a pleasant job if you pickle in smaller batches . . . with HEINZ WHITE VINEGAR. Don't try to be a one-day mass-producer — use only fresh young vegetables and fruits — be careful about your choice of spices, cooking kettles and containers . . . and be very, very careful about sealing. And, remember — quick-pickling with Heinz Distilled White Vinegar insures your canning success, makes it much, much easier! Crystal-clear Heinz vinegar safeguards the natural colours of your choice vegetables and fruits . . . its mellow, aged in wood pungency adds zest and piquancy to pickles. Reasons enough for stocking up on Heinz White Vinegar come pickling time!

Grand Cook-savers on a Summer day are "all-in-one" supper plates. My favorite is assorted sandwiches and fresh fruit tarts, along with a cool, shimmering mould of JELL-O — any of the seven famous "locked-in" flavors. Add fruits for a sweet mould . . . vegetables when that fits better into your menu. Here's a delicious recipe for those times when your taste runs to something savory — Fresh-Vegetable Mould: Dissolve Lemon Jell-O in 2 cups hot water; add 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt. When slightly thickened, add chopped raw spinach, carrots, celery, onions, pickles — about 2 cups in all. Chill until firm. Delicious! And like all Jell-O dishes, so economical.

When You're Buying Supplies for your country cottage . . . or summer holiday . . . do remember to take along one of the finest Summer playtime companions I know — Sno-Mist! This new-type powder spray deodorant is truly a "personal friend" when the August sun blazes down on you! For it's so easy to banish "perspiration gremlins", when you can slip into a dressing-room and spray your way to freshness in a matter of seconds . . . with Sno-Mist! It's absolutely harmless to clothing . . . and can be sprayed inside socks or shoes. So you can see why fastidious women make SNO-MIST their personal buy-word. Men like it, too. Neat and quick as a wink!

This Is "Be Kind To My Budget" Week . . . which is why I was so pleased with this tip from a friend about sewing-at-home. It certainly is a boon and a blessing to a shaky budget . . . particularly when you make the most of fine fabrics with CORTICELLI NYLON SEWING THREAD! There's real value for your money in this strong, durable thread. It's elastic, you see . . . so seams sewn with Corticelli have the necessary "give" to make them extra-long-wearing! And such a rainbow variety of colours to choose from! I know you'll like this wonderful thread. Make a note to yourself to look for it next time you're shopping . . . Corticelli Nylon Sewing Thread!

Enthusiastic Note from a Reader, who writes: "My husband demands a breakfast cereal that's smooth and creamy, so I made up my mind to switch to 'Cream of Wheat' after reading your column. You're right! It is smoo-oth!" Yes, and 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is so very easy to prepare . . . just five minutes of boiling make it completely digestible. And good! It's fairly brimming with blood-building Iron . . . and it provides extra Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. Women Liberal Delegates To Demand "Full Rights"

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Aug. 5 — (CP). — Women of the Liberal party have marshalled their forces for battle, and this national convention may turn into a pepper-pot should the resolutions committee try sidestepping their demands.

Gathered Wednesday night at a dinner-meeting of the National Federation of Liberal Women, the 200 women delegates and alternates approved six resolutions for presentation to the committee.

Speaking on a resolution on political recognition of women, Mrs. Lorne Lee of Aurora, said that in appointing as its delegates one man, one woman, and one delegate under 30, "the so-called reactionary party has taken a step that should make our party hang its head in shame."

More Women Senators

Mrs. Paul Ragan of Edmonton, vice-president of the provincial association, introduced a resolution that one-third of the Senators appointed in each province be women.

"Out of 96 Senate seats only two women are represented—and none from the West," she said.

Other resolutions the meeting approved included two introduced by Senator Cairine Wilson of Ottawa.

The first urged that the government appoint qualified women to the civil service commission, the unemployment commission, and the board of pensions commission.

The other urged the amendment of the Civil Service Act to permit persons over 35 to enter th civil service on a permanent basis.

Another proposal asked a system of federal grants to the provinces to provide funds for needy university students.

A sixth resolution urged establishment of Mackenzie King centres in such cities as Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, and Winnipeg, where students, professional persons and those in industry might meet and discuss topics of mutual interet.

Business Needs Sincere Women M. P. Hyndman KC

REGINA, Aug. 5—To advance toward the goal of improving the status of business and professional women "we must in our interest and for the purpose of making abstract arguments practically and factually unassailable improve the business and professional woman herself." This statement was made by Margaret P. Hyndman, K.C., national president of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, addressing the 11th biennial meeting of the federation at Regina this month.

"Primarily we are going to improve the status of women in the business and professional world. This is a great political job. For both jobs we need the strength and organization which we have. Then we need detailed plans and objectives, which we have too," said Miss Hyndman.

In her opinion improving the status of the business and professional woman herself was a harder if not larger, task than the political and public relations job.

"We have today more women in business and in professions than ever before and I must confess that I am daily more shocked at the attitude so many of them have to work," declared Miss Hyndman. "There must be hundreds and thousands of employers eagerly waiting for the day when they can discharge these feckless girls."

She said that such girls spend every minute they can in the washroom making up their faces or smoking or drinking coffee. Work for them was not a privilidge or a pleasure. It was a way of acquiring money for the least possible expenditure or effort made in the least possible time. This type of girl was having a serious effect on the status of business and professional women.

There were, on the other hand, fine young women in business to stay who did not want to be time servers but wanted to make themselves an interesting and useful and sucessful career. This was the kind of fine young woman being welcomed into Business and Professional Women's clubs throughout Canada.

About 200 delegates attending from Halifax to Victoria were welcomed to Saskatchewan by Lt.-Gov. J. M. Uhrich.

Mrs. Fred Bell moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Patton. Lunch was served by Mrs. Patton and the lunch committee.

Vincent-Curry Nuptials Held

HAVELOCK, Aug. 5—(ENS)—White roses decorated St. John's Anglican Church Wednesday afternoon when Pauline Onalee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Curry, Havelock, was united in marriage to Frederick Roy Vincent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vincent, Uxbridge. The Rev. P. A. Rickard officiated. Mrs. G. Rice of Blairton played the wedding music and Miss Jacqulyn Puffer sang "I'll Walk Beside You", during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white embroidered silk, with moulded bodice, long sleeves coming to points over the hands, rounded neckline and full skirt. Her full length embroidered net veil fell from a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried red roses.

The bride's attendants were Miss Evelyn Vincent of Toronto, sister of the groom, Mrs. Randal Ellis and Mrs. Jack McCurdy of Havelock. Miss Vincent was attired in yellow taffeta. Mrs. Ellis wore blue silk and Mrs. McCurdy blue net over silk. They wore shoulder net veils caught to coronet of matching gardenias, matching mittens of net, and carried nosegays of roses and gardenias.

Mervin Curry of Campbellford, brother of the bride, was groomsman and ushers were Charles Curry, brother of the bride and Randal Ellis of Havelock.

A reception was held in the church parlors where the bride's mother received wearing a dress of brown floral silk with matching accessories. The groom's mother assisted in a navy figured dress with black accessories.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent left on a motor trip, the bride travelling in a light blue silk jersey dress, blue coat and matching accessories. They will reside in Havelock.

Conveners Named For 1948-49 Term

Newly elected diocesan executive of the Catholic Women's League met at St. Mary's School to begin the 48-49 season. Miss Agnes Grant, president, opened with an address which brought the individuals of her audience into a group with one common purpose. She pictured the difficulties that lie ahead in an attempt to fulfil the league motto, "For God and Canada," but conveyed such personal spirit of hope and enthusiasm that the members accepted the challenge of hard work with a matching spirit.

After a discussion of diocesan finances, plans were drawn up for the year's activities, and the following conveners appointed: Education, Mrs. G. Torpey, Indian River; legislation, Miss M. R. Baker, Lindsay; press, Miss M. Grady, Peterborough; finance, Mrs. J. Smith, Campbellford; magazine, Mrs. G. Young, Bowmanville; organization, Mrs. F. J. Lynch, Peterborough; spiritual, Mrs. M. J. Healey, Douro; diocesan scholarship, Miss Anne Sullivan, Ennismore; (also scholarship applications and appointment of scholarship judges).

At the conclusion Miss Grant and Mrs. F. J. Lynch served refreshments, and a pleasant hour was enjoyed by representatives of 17 sub-divisions present.

Mrs. Anthony R. Lagano, a bride of August 2, is pictured on the LEFT. She is the former Connie Michaud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Michaud of Timmins. Photo on the RIGHT shows Mrs. Gerard O'Toole, the former Dorothy Emery, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Emery of Peterborough, who was married on Saturday, July 31. Both weddings were solemnized in St. Peter's Cathredal.

An old friend comes back to win new friends. At a recent showing, there was applause for a jumper dress of black crepe with a bow-necked lame blouse. The skirt is flared and has back-swept fullness.

The color card places emphasis on winter blue. This is a dark navy with a purplish cast that is most interesting. Then there is a run on real brown with black touches especially good in afternoon frocks and silk suits.

Husbands Insist Wives Always Talk Too Much

From time to time letters come to this column from husbands complaining that their wives' constant chatter gets on their nerves. They protest that they are practically talked to death and they long for silence.

Well, of course, one does get tired of the brook that babbles on and on forever without ever stopping, but better the one who talks too much than the one who doesn't talk at all. I wonder if these men ever have lived in the house with one of those silent, self-contained people who never start a conversation, or make an observation or a comment, or say a word that you don't have to drag out of them with a corkscrew?

Dorothy Dix

They are about as companionable as a stone image would be, and they worry you because you never know what they are thinking, or what they want to do, or whether they are pleased or displeased. You finally get to the point where you can hardly restain yourself from sticking pins and needles in them to see if you can get any human reaction out of them.

Expect Conversation

The majority of men much prefer the talkative woman to the silent one. They expect women to keep the conversation running, and when they don't they feel themselves grievously ill-used and put upon and they flee from the tongue-tied lady as from the pest. Usually a woman who has nothing to say is avoided by men as if she had some physical deformity.

Of course, there are many husbands who make a standing joke of their wives talking too much. Apparently they agree with Rip Van Winkle, who when the the dwarf in the mountains conveyed to him the information that he had nine sisters and they all were dumb, exclaimed: "My, what wives they would make!" But, in reality, no man really wants that kind of a wife.

The happy homes are not those presided over by silent women, but by those cheery little souls who chirp like canary in a cage, the sort of women who know everything that is happening in the neighborhood, and who can't go down the street without seeing something funny and interesting out of which they can make a good story to tell at dinner.

The main thing that is the matter with domestic life is there isn't enough conversation in it. Whenever you can find a family in which the husband and wife can talk endlessly together, you will find a happy one and one in which there is no danger of the husband getting tired of his wife.

However, maybe some wives do too much. I'll admit that there are times when we all crave bursts to eloquet silence, but even so, better too much talk than no talk than at all.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, August 6

Very interesting and eventful occurrences may prove most surprising, perhaps thrilling and dramatic. A quick grasp of such sudden opportunity for progress and adventure, are quite likely to develop unexpected personal angles, which should bring about unpredictable contacts or thrilling experiences. Domestic, career or public as well as sentimental relations, could eventually figure in the limelight. Conspicuous progress might crown originality, bold innovation and ingenuity. Fast work tells.

Those whose birthday it is, should hasten to take advantage of sudden opening in which the personal as well as business affairs may prove stirring, eventful and far-reaching. Novelty, ingenuity and daring could promote stirring and dramatic activities of more than passing interest. In fact, public tokens of appreciation or esteem could be among the surprising turns of the dial.

A child born on this day should be richly endowed with energy, exceptional talents, skills and ingenuity, as well as being artistic, cultured and romantically inclined.

Urge Parents Teach Children How To Swim

By KAY REX

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 5—(CP)—Wise are the parents who teach their children how to swim—not only is it a good sport, but often it is a means of avoiding a drowning tragedy later on.

Pointing a warning finger at the number of summer drownings annually in Canada, health and welfare department officials say a little time and a little practice beforehand could prevent such heart-breaks.

"For your own sake, learn to swim; and for the sake of others, learn approved methods of life-saving and artificial respiration," say the experts.

When planning on going for a swim, first of all get someone to accompany you. Stay out of the water if exhausted from fatigue, or from any other cause. Avoid bathing within one hour after a meal. Don't go in swimming when the body is cooling after perspiring.

Avoid bathing althogether in the open air if, after having been a short time in the water, there is a sense of chilliness wth numbness of the hands and feet.

When taken with cramp while swimming, the Royal Life Saving Society offers the following advice: Keep calm and, turning on the back, rub and stretch the affected limb.

If seized in the calf of the leg, turn up the toes, straighten the leg, and stretch the muscles; apply friction and kick the surface of the water until they relax.

First Aid Supplies

Health experts warn families to take along a supply of first-aid materials and medicines when they start off on that camping holiday.

At a cottage the following articles should make up the kit: a clinical thermometer; first-aid dressing including sterilized gauze for wound dressings, gauze bandages to hold dressings in place and a roll of adhesive plaster; alcohol for use externally to relieve the pains of strains, sprains and bruises; aromatic spirits of ammonia (one-half teaspoon in water, for faintness); boric acid (one teaspoon in a glass of water for an eyewash); phenol ointment for external use in treatment of small burns; tincture of iodine; oils of cloves for toothache; and milk of magnesia or mineral oil.

Watch Baby's Health

This is the season for enteritis which health and welfare department officials warn is the fourth ranking cause of death of children under two years of age.

In order to guard her baby against the disease which reaches its peak between August and October each year, the mother is urged to maintain sanitary conditions about the home.

Bottles and nipples and all formula and feeding utensils should be sterilized.

Infants should be given a clean place in which to play. Avoid excessive heat on hot days by limiting clothing and giving repeated sponge baths.

Decrease food during warm weather and increase fluids.

NEW WASHING DISCOVERY WITH SUPER-WETTING ACTION

washes everything FASTER, CLEANER, EASIER than any soap on earth!

FAB's Super-Wetting Action means that when you wash with FAB, the FAB-and-water solution instantly penetrates materials . . . soaks them more thoroughly. FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—gets inside materials; pushes dirt out! FAB means faster, cleaner, easier washing of dirtiest overalls, towels, work and play clothes . . . FAB brings extra-dirt-removing power for extra-dirty wash! FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—does away with clinging soap scum! Brings you whiter shirts, towels, and sheets!

Don't miss *FAB*ulous FAB . . . the only thing you'll need for everything you wash!

New scientific washing preparation by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet is a FABulous work saver for the dirtiest overalls, work shirts, children's clothes, towels, shirts . . . everything that's extra dirty!

WHAT IS SUPER-WETTING ACTION?

See for yourself! Take a length of cotton sewing thread. Roll it into a ball. Drop it into a glass of water. It floats; does not become completely wet for a long time.

Now drop another little ball of thread into a glass of water and FAB. It sinks, becomes completely soaked at once. This simple test shows you how FAB makes water wetter . . . instantly penetrates all washable materials faster . . . pushes dirt out! That's FAB's FABulous Super-Wetting Action . . . something no soap on earth can give you!

FAB WASHES DIRTIEST CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP

FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—instantly penetrates materials; pushes out dirt. Washes grimiest overalls faster and easier than any soap on earth! Makes tough dirt like the "line" on shirt collars disappear like magic! FAB leaves no soap scum to "gray" or "yellow" white wash . . . Wash is whiter, cleaner when washed with FAB!

FAB BRIGHTENS SOAP-DULLED COLORS!

Soap-dulled washables look *FAB*ulously brighter, fresher, and newer after being washed with FAB. That's because anything you've washed with soap is made duller and grayer looking by soap scum . . . FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—removes that soap scum . . . leaves no film or scum of its own even in hardest water.

FAB WASHES CHEAPER . . . IN HARDEST WATER

Laboratory tests prove that cup for cup, in hard water, FAB washes up to twice as much family wash as soap. This economy is another *FAB*ulous miracle. Yes . . . FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—is up to twice as economical as soap in hard water. You'll notice that all of FAB washes . . . Nothing is wasted in soap scum!

Coliseum Fills Gradually As Third Liberal Convention Gets Under Way

OTTAWA, Aug. 5.—(CP). — The Coliseum began filling gradually today nearly an hour before the 10 a.m., EDT, starting time of the third national Liberal convention. Guests started filing into the terraced seats that look down upon the convention floor, filled with empty seats and a platform heavily laden with chairs and two huge pictures of Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

First official delegate to take his seat was W. H. Golding, the member of Parliament for Huron-Perth.

The Coliseum had a trim, serene appearance as the delegates and spectators filed slowly to their places. Most of the early activity was at a big registration desk in the main lobby and around a busy information booth. Newsboys did a land-office business, selling people the final round of pre-convention rumor and speculation.

One of the first arrivals was Resources Minister MacKinnon. Like many a lesser-known delegate, he went to the information both for directions.

Fill Up Slowly

The provincial caucus rooms began to fill up slowly, though no formal caucuses were opened immediately.

By 10 A. M. the convention floor was filling up rapidly with delegates, many of them women.

The band of the Governor General's Footguards seated just below the platform, checked their instruments and struck up a lively air. Two lonely-looking and kilted pipers standing outside the building, began a highland tune in competition.

Leads In Prayer

As convention opened Prime Minister Mackenzie King led in prayer from behind a battery of microphones. Then he waved in welcome to the crowd and the hall errupted in cheers, clapping and whistles. Photograhpers stood on tables to take shots and the crowd shouted to them to "get down."

Behind Mr. King the cabinet sat in two long rows like so many occasionally whispering schoolboys. Mr. St. Laurent stared into some distant space until someone handed him a telegram.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner sat two seats away from him with Trade Minister MacKinnon. Like many a lesser-known provincial allegiance. All delegations were mixed up. Whenever a delegate spoke briefly he did so through microphones scattered around the room.

As the early formalities were run through, the delegates sat without anything to signify proions were mixed up. Whenever non in between.

When the meeting adjourned at 12.15 p.m. EDT the delegates lined up near the speakers' platform and quietly moved up the steps to shake hands with the Prime Minister.

Couple 79, Enjoy Holiday In Tent

HAVELOCK, Aug. 5.—(ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Forbes, both 79, have returned from a ten day holiday spent at Twin Lakes, where they camped in a new tent purchased by Mr. Forbes for the occasion. It was the first time Mr. Forbes had slept in a tent. During their outing they picke a large quantity of huckleberries and spent considerable time fishing. Not being able to find the oars for the boat, Mr. Forbes quickly fashioned a pair of oars from limbs of trees, which proved very satisfactory. Both enjoyed the outing so much that they are planning to go back there again before the summer ends.

Orangemen To Build Hall At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5. — (ENS).—The Orange Lodge will build a lodge hall at the corner of Market and Rear Streets as soon as the purchase of the land is completed, it was said at the Council meeting on Wednesday evening.

Council agreed to sell the corner lot to the lodge for the sum of $400, plus legal expenses and the cost of improvements. This last would be a share of the trunk sewer in that area, and the clerk reminded the members that the cost of the sewer must be limited to that of the size required for the servicing of such an area. He said that a fronting proprietor cannot be assessed for a lineal share of a trunk sewer alongside of his property, as it services other parts of the town.

A sketch of the proposed building was produced for the members of Council, and according to the sketch, the building will be 65 by 32 feet, will have ample lawn on Rear Street back to the building line, and will be 10 feet back from the street line on Market Street.

Present plans call for a start to be made with concrete blocks with some brick, but this may be changed when the working plans are made.

Convention Highlights

OTTAWA, Aug. 5.—(CP). — External Affairs Minister St. Laurent was one of the first delegates to take his seat this morning at the national Liberal convention. He slipped into the Coliseum quietly and was soon surrounded by a small group of well-wishers.

Premier Walter Jones of Prince Edward Island had a brief tussle with the doorman, stopping anybody who didn't have a pass or other credentials. But he finally got through.

Senator Wishart Robertson, Government leader in the Senate, was one of those who got into a last-minute flurry to get registered and properly accredited.

Delegates found themselves staring in every direction at the party slogan, "Liberty, Security, Freedom."

A whole back section of the convention hall, separated from the floor by thick walls, was swarming with desks and typewriters for the possibly 150 to 200 reporters who will be covering the event.

The weather, cloudy earlier, began to break as the convention opening time approached and bright sunshine splashed over the big park area.

St. Laurent supporters were cocky and confident. David Croll (L.—Toronto Spadina) said a definite trend in his favor had been established. Defence Minister Claxton said the weight was two or three to one in Mr. St. Laurent's favor.

Plan Golf Tourney

TORONTO, Aug. 5.— (CP).—The Canadian Professional Golf Association tournament will be held Sept. 27-28 at Point Grey Golf Club in Vancouver instead of at Uplands in Victoria as originally scheduled, it was announced today. The meet, open to Canadian professionals only, is for $1,000 prize money and the Cohama trophy. The winner qualifies to enter the United States P.G.A. meet.

May Build Yet If More Time Given—Ayrhart

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5 — (ENS)—J. Ernest Ayrhart, former mayor of Campbellford, may yet build his projected building on the portion of the old town parking lot which he purchased two years ago, he stated at the resumption of the adjourned council meeting Wednesday.

Mayor Donald explained that the meeting had been adjourned Monday night due to the absence of two members of the council, and as they were both now present, he invited the former mayor to speak.

Mr. Ayrhart again explained, as on Monday, that he had consulted a firm of lawyers who had advised him that the forfeiture clause in the bylaw, under which he would forfeit both the land and the purchase price of $2,600 for failure to erect the building in the required 18 months, (which has already been extended for a further 18 months expiring in November 1948) would probably not hold in a court of law.

He suggested that he be given a deed to the land, or that the council take possession of the lot and refund the purchase price. He realized that it was an awkward predicament for both the council and himself but felt that there was a fair way out.

Councillor F. W. Burgess asked whether council was dealing with Mr. Ayrhart or the company to which the land was sold (Campbellford Lumber and Building Supplies Limited). Mr. Ayrhart replied that the council was dealing with him; he owns all the stock and there are no other shareholders.

"Therefore," said Mr. Burgess, "there is no company".

Mr. Ayrhart said that there is a board of directors, and that the company was properly incorporated under the laws of the province. To a statement from Mr. Burgess that he would like to see the charter, Mr. Ayrhart replied that this could be done at any time.

The ex-mayor told the councillors that when he had purchased the portion of the old town parking lot, he had done so with the full intention of erecting a $30,000 building, containing stores, bowling alleys and apartments. He admitted to a "wave of enthusiasm" which caused him to "bite off more than he could chew", but said that he had stepped into the picture in order to avoid a nasty situation, at the time that the Fingold interests had bid for the lot for the purpose of building a theatre here.

Had he had the breaks, or the finance, said Mr. Ayrhart, the building would have been erected before the time limit was up. In the meantime he had spoken to another man who is willing to take over the lot and erect a suitable building, similar to the one which Mr. Ayrhart had proposed to build.

Mayor Donald asked whether, if this man decided to take the lot, and produced a plan of a satisfactory building, would members of council then be satisfied. Councillor Burgess said that he thought that that would be all right.

Mr. Ayrhart asked whether council thought it right that if the lot was taken over by another man, he should be "stuck with the same conditions as me". Councillor Burgess thought that he would, and asked Mr. Ayrhart whether people who had bought stocks in his companies at a price had received any money back when the stocks went down.

Councillor Palliser asked who was responsible for introduction of the forfeiture clause to sales of town land, and the former mayor admitted that he had sponsored the clause "to prevent land-grabbing".

Councillor Macmillan remarked that the lot has been excavated and asked whether Mr. Ayrhart thought that the land is as valuable in this state as when it was purchased. Mr. Ayrhart thought that it is for "no one would want to build there without excavating".

Mr. Macmillan reminded Mr. Aryhart that as mayor of the town at the time of the sale, he had signed the bylaw and could not help but be aware of the conditions in it to which Councillor Burgess added "Schoolboy deal. Schoolboys would do that, ask for their money back".

Following a general discussion which nearly got out of hand a couple of times, Town Clerk McGregor produced the bylaw covering the sale of the lote to the company, and found that there had been no agreement signed. However, the bylaw contained the necessary forfeiture clause and this was read to the members, as well as the clause which states that the deed to the lot shall not be delivered to the purchaser until the building has been completed.

Mr. Macmillan thought that council had been very fair in extending the 18 month period to three years, and Councillor Locke reminded the members that a reduction in the size and value of the building had also been granted on application of Carl Maier.

Reeve Anderson poured the oil on the troubled waters when he asked if more time would help, and Mr. Ayrhart agreed that it would. He had a number of his investments up for sale, and if the necessary finance could still be procured, the building might still be erected under his sponsorship, or failing that, another party might take over the complete obligation in connection with the land.

Councillors agreed that either of these would be satisfactory, and the discussion was closed with the situation remaining as it is at present, with Mr. Ayrhart's agreement running until the expiry date in November.

At that time, it was indicated, councillors would be inclined to consider a further extension if required in order to help the project along.

Campbellford Police Get $200 Increases

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5. — Campbellford police are to receive an increase of salary amounting to $200 per year each, retroactive to July 1, it was decided at Wednesday's meeting of the council.

The matter was brought up by the chairman of the police committee, Councillor F. W. Burgess, who asked the clerk to read a letter which he had received from Constable Wilfred E. Cargin requesting an increase of $400 per annum, due to the high cost of living, and the fact that his working hours were now approximating 70 weekly.

Mr. Burgess said that he realized the financial position of the town, but he also had to keep in mind the high cost of living. At 70 hours per week, he said, Constable Cargin was receiving about 50 cents an hour.

He suggested that council offer Cargin $200 annually, and also thought that the Chief, who has not requested an increase, be granted $50 a year for the use of his car, which is frequently used on police duty.

There was much discussion on the question of the car. Members did not favor the idea, preferring the use of taxis when required.

Reeve Anderson and the Mayor both thought that it would be unfair to grant one man a raise and not the other, to which Mr. Burgess rejoined that they are both hard workers, and thought that they should both have more money. They are keeping the town clean, he said, and doing a good job all around.

Council agreed and the increase of $200 each was passed.

Stockpen Question Still Unsettled

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5. — (ENS).—Council had a further debate on the matter of a stockyard from which truckers may load and unload cattle to be shipped by truck.

At the July meeting, W. F. Scott ahd proposed that he b given permission to erect such a stockpen, or alternatively that council undertake the job, and rent the pen to shippers.

Mayor Donald told the council that since the proposal was made another man had stepped in to say that he thought council would be giving Mr. Scott special rights if he were allowed to erect the pen. The mayor remarked that no one had wanted to do anything about accommodation for stock until Mr. Scott made his proposal.

Some members thought that $50 or $60 would cover the erection of the pen if Mr. Scott could be persuaded to sell the water rights on the property to the town, and most members thought that he would be willing.

The chairman of the property committee, Deputy-Reeve Locke, is to investigate and report back to council at the next meeting.

Sale Of Shoes To Americans Continues Brisk

There is a mixed feeling among Main St. merchants when asked the question whether or not tourists are buying more Canadian footwear than they did formerly. They all start out with the reminder that during the American rationing period, tourists were accustomed to take home as many pairs of easy-to-get footwear as possible.

Manager W. J. Moorehead of Agnew-Surpass said that he finds sales have increased from 10 to 15 per cent over last year's tourist business. Moccasin slippers and summer sandals are the fastest moving lines and as an addition, colorful ski socks are selling very well. Sales originate from people who have left their own footwear at home in the scramble of getting away or tourists who spent considerable time in the rocky Kawarthas and need new shoes after a few weeks of hard scuffing.

The wedgie style of shoe which used to be a summer fashion rage has been replaced with a baby doll type which has a wedgie heel and comes in many bright colors. Ladies' stockings are not a popular selling line since ladies come to Canada well supplied.

White moccasin slippers are the big seller at the Neill Shoe Store and according to manager Claire Collins, August has aways shown the largest sales when tourists seem to stock up on their way home. He also feels that their need for buying shoes is less than their desire for blankets, china and similar goods of British import quality.

While moccasins, colored sandals and a few good dress shoes are sold, in that order, and have increased 1948 summer tourist sales from 5 to 10 per cent at Harry Silver's, the Walkwel Shoe Store, Kents and C.D.S. shoemen agree Americans are coming to realize that fine Canadian brogues are better value buy for their money than American products; the leathers are of a superior quality.

Most shoe lines in Peterborough shoe sores are made in Canada and although the style trend lags behind the early American designs, shoe merchants feel there is more value in the purchase price of domestic footwear than in American lines.

SALLY'S SALLIES

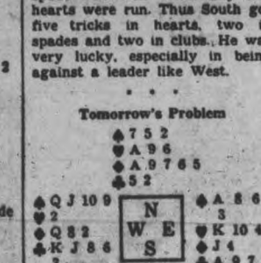
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

AVOID IT LIKE POISON

THERE is one opening lead ordinarily so bad that a good player avoids it as he would poison. That is the suit bid by the hand which eventually becomes the dummy. In only the rarest of instances should it be led, against either a suit or No Trump contract. Unless special circumstances exist—such as a very unusual holding of your own or something special marked by the bidding—a lead of that suit gives the declarer the advantage of getting a head start on something he probably wants to do as early as he can.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)



South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♠
2 NT	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 NT

Have you ever known bidding in which one side showed more impunity toward the other? South practically felt that all three of the other players were on his side, since the only good one among them, in his estimation, was his partner. How right he proved.

West had once heard something about leading "through strength." That was his excuse later when his partner upbraided him for not leading either his own clubs or the spades which East had bid. West pleaded that, when South failed to support the major suit of hearts, which North called, he was sure East had something in it. He did. West's lead of the heart singleton put it immediately under the hammer. The 9, Q and A went on the first trick and the 7 was led by South to the 10 and K. West took the club J return with the A. Now his too late switch to a spade was won in dummy and hearts were run. Thus South got five tricks in hearts, two in spades and two in clubs. He was very lucky, especially in being against a leader like West.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

If North doubles 4-Spades, wins with his A the heart Q lead, then switches to the spade 7, what is the quandary confronting East?

Spike Jones' Music Soothing To Eskimos

It may come as a shock to a lot of hep-cats but up around Aklavik in the Canadian northwest Spike Jones and his music is considered to be just what the doctor ordered to soothe the savage breast.

Sergeant Major Red McLeod, warrant officer in charge of the Army's radio station CHAK at that northern centre, proved it recently.

During a native celebration which followed the closing of the muskrat trapping season, he made a number of recordings of Indian and Eskimo folk songs and war dances. Later, in the station's studios, he undertook to play them back to a full house of natives and whites.

Things went quietly until one big Moosehide Indian brave, carried away by the beat of the tom-toms when his own recording was played back, went into an impromptu war dance sans war paint and tomahawk.

His shrill cries were enough to panic Eskimos in the audience who perhaps still remember Bloody Falls, scene of the last and most brutal massacre of Eskimos by Indians.

Something had to be done and S-M McLeod figures he did the only thing possible. He substituted a hair-raising Spike Jones record for the native one and peace returned almost immediately to the studio.

Steel Production Up

LONDON— (CP)— Britain's steel production in June broke all records. It was equal to a rate of 15,444,000 tons per annum. It compares with an annual rate of 13, 206, 000 tons in June, 1947, and beats the record established last April by 161,000 tons.

Vandalism Decreases

WINNIPEG (CP).—Winnipeggers, young and old, are taking an increased part in the activities of community centres, according to Charles A. Barbour, recreation director, public parks board. He says that as a result vandalism and juvenile delinquency have shown a decided decrease.

Gas Rationing Irks Hotel Men

INVERNESS, Scotland, Aug. 5 (CP).—The Highlands, as much dependent on the tourist trade as Banff, Alta., and Muskoka, Ont., find gasoline rationing about as helpful as an earthquake.

From Perthshire northwards, innkeepers and householders who depend on "letting" to meet their bills raise their lament over the worst season in memory.

The basic gasoline ration allows the motorist to travel 90 miles a month. This means, says the Highlanders, that the tourists who used to come north with their holiday money are forced to stay home.

Alexander Dunbar, owner of the Kingussie, Invernessshire, Royal Hotel, said "We have thus far got only about a third of our ordinary seasonal business.

No Holiday Without Car

"People simply won't use their petrol allowance travelling up to the Highlands from the south and they consider that a holiday in the Highlands without the use of their own car robs their visit of much of its attractiveness."

Another hotel in the same district, with accommodation for 40, had eight guests.

A Grantown-on-Spey hotelkeeper said it was "ironical" that the Scottish tourist board should ask Canadians and Americans to spend their holidays in Britain when many restrictions hampered hotels.

Even hotels which depend on tourists who travel by train said their business had been damaged by increased fares.

The most cheerful aspect of the Highland summer was the prospect that grouse would be more numerous on many moors after devastating losses due to disease and vermin during the war years when gamekeepers were away.

The grouse shooting season, one of the "musts" for the well-to-do in pre-war years, opens Aug. 12.

Must Abolish Fear Of Want King Urges

Need Fence-Mending Program in Party After Wartime Lapse

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.— (CP).— Social security must continue near the top of the Liberal program, Prime Minister King said today in addressing the party's national convention.

"The most effective means of promoting social security," he said, "are the preservation and extension of freedom. Where there is no freedom there can be no security; and where there is no security, there can be no freedom."

To combat the fear of want, Liberal policies had been shaped to encourage production and trade. Measures had been taken to stave off fear of unemployment.

"The party will, I know, continue to inspire and to carry forward policies to promote equality of opportunity and social security in our own and in other lands."

Fundamentally, the mission of the Liberal party was the defence and the advance of freedom.

Must Mend Fences

A political fence-mending program was also urged on the Liberal party.

Attributing recent by-election losses to lack of organization, Mr. King said the party had "barely begun" reorganizing its election-winning machinery after a wartime lapse.

Organization was second only to the party's principles and policies he declared. He could not emphasize its importance too strongly.

"No matter how good its principles and how sound its policies," Mr. King said, "no political party in these days can hope to give effect to either, or to retain or gain office without effective organization."

While the party leader should have a decisive voice in organization, responsibility for it should be voluntarily undertaken by other leading party members. Nothing was more discouraging than lack of such organization.

"Whoever my successor in the leadership of the party may be," Mr. King added, "I can think of nothing quite so necessary to his effectiveness and to the success of the party, as a well-equipped and properly functioning party organization."

In all, 30 planes will make the flight.

Gunman Admits Killing Youth In Bishop's Home

BOLTON, Mass., Aug. 6 (AP)— A brozen young gunman who, police said, admitted firing two wild shots at Suffragan Episcopal Bishop Raymond A. Heron and the fatal shooting and axing of a 17-year-old youth in the clergyman's home, was held on open charges today.

Frederick S. Pike, 19, of Boston, was held at police barracks after being brought from Providence, R.I., where he was captured Thursday in the bishop's car three hours after the shooting.

Pike waived extradition and was turned over to Massachusetts authorities after, police said, he admitted in a signed statement he shot at the bishop and killed Paul Zayka, a youth who lived with the prelate.

Pike, a reformatory parolee, was taken into custody following a bullet-spattered 75-mile-an-hour chase through heavy traffic.

The young gunman boldly admitted shooting Zayka three times with a .25-calibre automatic pistol and then striking the youth with an ax before dragging the body to the cellar of the bishop's home.

Pike was quoted as saying he shot Zayka when the latter put up a struggle after being robbed of $2.

The gunman recounted how he confronted the bishop with a pistol in the driveway of his home, fired two wild shots at him as he fled, and then forced him to return to the house where he robbed him of $25 and keys to his automobile.

"I wish I hit him," police quoted Pike as saying.

Pike also told police he took a .22-calibre target pistol and a double-barrelled shotgun and cut the telephone wires to the bishop's home before he escaped in the car.

Have Stormy Session

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Aug. 6 — (CP) — The United Nations trusteeship council Thursday angrily rejected a Soviet charge that the council is "an instrument of United States policy." In one of the council's stormiest sessions, the delegates voted to strike this and other "offensive" statements out of a minority declaration which Russia wanted to attach to the council's report to the general assembly.

1000 Pounds Obtained At Port Hope

Statement Made In Spy Probe Before Congress

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—(CP) —Representative John McDowell (Rep. Penn.) said today a "significant" amount of uranium metal, a "vital compound" of the atomic bomb, was sent to Russia in 1945. A portion of it came from a Canadian manufacturer, he added.

In a speech to the House of Representatives, McDowell said these shipments were in addition to those he told the house un-American activities committee Thursday were made during the war years.

The Pennsylvania representative said he has testimony and records to prove that among shipments of uranium metal sent to Russia were 500 pounds each of uranium nitrate and black uranium oxide shipping by the Canadian Radium and Uranium Corporation from Port Hope, Ont.

These shipment were made to Great Falls, Ont., and thence to Col. A. N. Kotikov of the Russian purchasing commission.

Across the capitol, senators who have been looking into Communist activities and alleged spying suspended their public hearings because they said the administration refuses to give them necessary facts.

Chairman Homer Ferguson (Rep. Mich.) of the Senate Investigating sub-committee announced the decision. He made public also a refusal by Attorney-General Tom Clark to supply official Federal Bureau of Investigation records on William W. Remington.

Meantime, the House of Representatives un-American Activities Committee went under-ground for a secret meeting with a mystery witness in its own similar investigation.

Clark's refusal to turn over the FBI records on Remington was in line with an order from President Truman who denounced the Congressional hearings Thursday as a "red herring" intended to divert public attention from what he calls the refusal of the Republican-controlled Congress to enact adequate anti-inflation legislation.

The house sub-committee went to unusual efforts to keep its activities from being known.

The sub-committee was supposed to leave Thursday night, arrive at its destination by noon today, start questioning the mystery man this afternoon, and get back to Washington by Monday.

Mundt left the impression that the mystery witness turned up by the sub-committee has had some sort of dealings with the Communist underground or spy network. But he wouldn't say so definitely.

He described the man as "a person in a very splendid position to tell the whole story."

Atkinson Estate Found Nearly 9 Million Dollars

TORONTO, Aug. 6—(CP)—The estate of the late Joseph E. Atkinson, owner and publisher of the Toronto Daily Star and the Toronto Star Weekly, whose will was filed for probate today, is valued by the executors at $8,767,854.

The will expresses the desire that ownership and operation of the two newspapers shall not fall into private hands and that Mr. Atkinson's shares shall be held in Trust for the Atkinson Charitable Foundation. Announcement that he had left his newspapers to the foundation was made at the time of his death May 8.

From Mr. Atkinson's remaining assets, annuities of $35,000 each are to be paid to his two children, Mrs. H. C. Hindmarsh and Joseph S. Atkinson. On Mrs. Hindmarsh's death, an annuity of $5,000 is to be paid to each of her If Mrs. J. S. Atkinson survives four children who survive her. her husband she will be entitled to an annuity of $15,000, and Mr. H. C. Hindmarsh will receive a similar annuity if he survives his wife.

Legacies amounting to $17,200 are to be shared by domestic employees. Personal and household effects are to be divided between Mrs. H. C. Hindmarsh and Mrs. J. S. Atkinson.

Other legacies totalling $83,000 are payable to a sister-in-law, Mrs. Earl Atkinson, two nieces, a granddaughter, Catherine E. Atkinson and 11 great grandchildren.

The total estate consists of the following:

Cash on hand and in bank $59,297; life insurance 1,999,260; bonds and stocks 6,656,822; real estate 45,000; miscellaneous 7,475. Total $8,767,854.

Expanded Trade Program One Of Main Planks In New Liberal Platform

Convention Blows Up On Living Cost Policy Motion Temporarily Shelved Charge It's Only Made Up Of Platitudes

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Aug. 6—(CP)—A resolution calling for an expanded trade program was quickly adopted today at the National Liberal convention as one of the main planks in a new platform now being developed on the convention floor. The motion breezed through in short order but the unanimity of the convention soon blew apart on a second resolution covering Liberal policy on the cost of living.

Two delegates on the floor took issue with the cost-of-living resolution, which defines the party's proposals for employment and high living standards and the motion was temporarily shelved.

As the resolution was put, James Patterson of Montreal, a member of the University Liberals, jumped to his feet with the cry that it was made up of platitudes while the pressing question was that Canada now had "out-of-hand" inflation.

Plans Amendment

The second dissenter, D. A. MacDonald of Glengarry, president of the Eastern Ontario Liberal Association, indicated he would move an amendment this afternoon demanding temporary price controls.

The contentious resolution was introduced by Walter Tucker, Saskatchewan Liberal leader, and set forth Liberal support for:

1. Private enterprise to increase production.
2. Measures to combat monopolies.
3. State action only where the public interest calls for public enterprise.
4. Public investment in conjunction with provinces and municipalities to off-set economic fluctuations.
5. Federal aid in housing, slum clearance, community planning and building research.

The resolutions came before the more than 2,000 delegates and alternatives at the opening of this second-day session.

They were the first of perhaps 40 resolutions which will form the first convention-drafted platform since 1919. The present platform, now going into the discard, was drawn up at that time and has been refurbished from time to time.

Machinists Cut Girl's Arm Free Of Grinder

TORONTO, Aug. 6 — (CP). — For 69 minutes Thursday, machinists cut a meat grinder from the right hand of Ana Fowler, 19, of Toronto.

Dr. Smirle Lawson said some of the girl's fingers and her thumb will be amputated. He said the efficiency of the machinists avoided amputation of three inches of the victim's arm.

Miss Fowler was grinding meat at the head office of a chain store when her fingers were caught in the machine's five-inch jaws.

She turned the machine off and walked to the company nurse carrying the grinder. Taken to hospital, she was driven four miles across the city when hospital authorities were unsuccessful in removing the meat grinder.

Machinists used an electric metal cutter and a grinding machine to free the girl. She was under an anaesthetic while the grinder was cut away.

Sheets were erected to prevent sparks from the machinists' equipment exploding the anaesthetic. Dr. Lawson said the jaws of the machine were almost at her elbow before it was turned off.

Arthur Vincent, steel company superintendent who directed the three workmen in cutting the machine away with grinders and hacksaws, explained that the girl's hand was caught in the hopper section of the meat grinder. The hopper, which weighted about 12 pounds, was detachable from the motor mechanism of the machine weighing more than 100 pounds altogether.

Child Missing 3 Days Found Alive Today

SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 6.—(CP). —Four-year-old Berneta Morinet, missing in the woods near George's River since Tuesday when she strayed from her family's camping tent, was found alive today.

Duncan Beaton, one of hundreds of volunteers who joined the search, located the girl on top of George's River mountain, about 2¼ miles from the camp.

She was taken to Harbor View Hospital at Sydney Mines and was described as "in pretty good condition." No further detail were available immediately.

First clue to the girl's disappearance—a footprint in the mud—was located Thursday and concentrated the searchers on the area.

3,500 Drowned In China Flood

NANKING, Aug. 6.—(AP). — Flood waters of the Yellow river drowned nearly 3,500 persons and left 400,000 homeless in the rich North Honan Province, official reports released here today said.

The Water Conservation Commission said reports from North Honan magistrates described the flood the worst in 100 years. More than 1,000,000 fertile acres were flooded.

(Frequently preliminary reports of this nature are exaggerated as to casualties.)

Nine districts north of Chenghsien were reported flooded when the dikes of the Tsinho, a tributary of the Yellow river, collapsed. Reports here from magistrates gave 3,485 missing or drowned, 400,000 homeless and 42,499 homes destroyed.

Three Allied Envoys Call On Molotov At Kremlin

MOSCOW, Aug. 6—(AP)—Envoys of Britain, the United States and France called today on Foreign Minister Molotov. Walter Bedell Smith, United States ambassador, entered the Kremlin first. Frank Roberts, special British envoy, and French ambassador Yves Chataigneau followed him immediately. The same three conferred Monday night with Prime Minister Stalin, seeking a basis for ending the Berlin blockade and resolving other east-west differences.

The Kremlin conference started at 10 a.m. EDT.

Stalin was not believed present at this meeting, which the western diplomats had sought with the foreign minister.

(Diplomats in London said they expect a Big Four communique to be issued this week-end, announcing plans for a new meeting of the Foreign Ministers' Council. The council is the four-power agency whose last two meetings broke up in disagreement.

(The Russian-licensed Berlin newspaper national Zeitung said the three western envoys intended to see Molotov today to "five the time and place for a new four-power conference.")

Britain's special representative, armed with a stuffed brief case, called on Smith early today.

The British, American, and French envoys had stood by until after midnight Thursday, apparently awaiting a second conference with Prime Minister Stalin, but it failed to materialize.

Observers noted that the British diplomat, Frank Roberts, had chosen an unusually early diplomatic hour—10:30 a.m.— to call on Smith. The latter arrived at his desk at 9:30 this morning. Roberts, who came direct from the British Embassy, looked tired, but said he had slept well.

The three diplomats conferred at length on their next steps in the East-West crisis. Their respective Embassies all have received the first reactions from their home governments on the Monday night conversations with Stalin, and are believed in position to plot their next moves.

Will Go Ahead

(In London, a Foreign Office spokesman reaffirmed the West's intention to proceed with plans for a Western German government this fall.)

Indian Units Attack Base

SHOLAPUR, India, Aug. 6 — (Reuters)—Indian army units have gone into action with full fire-power to blast a Razakar stronghold at the village of Yelsangi in Hyderabad State territory.

They relieved Hadalgi, besieged Indian enclave in Hyderabad territory six miles from the Indian border with Hyderabad.

Details of casualties in the action were not yet available. Hadalgi, southeast of Sholapur, had been surrounded by a force of more than 300 Razakaras (Moslems demanding an independent Hyderabad) and Pathans for the last four days.

Attackers were using Yelsangi as a base of operations.

A small armed police party at Hadalgi and kept raiders at bay with the help of the local population until Indian military forces arrived. Indian army units went into action immediately clearing the road from Dudhni to besieged Hadalgi which the raiders had blocked.

This was the second time Indian army units had been in action in Hyderabad state territory. The first was an Nanaj, July 25.

2 Killed During Election

Crump Suffers First Defeat In 20 Years

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 6.— (AP)—A second death in election-day violence was reported today, with the aftermath of Thursday's state-wide balloting in which E. H. Crump, Democratic political leader, suffered his first major defeat in 20 years.

A hospital attendant in Copperhill, Tenn., said the body of a man shot in the back was found on a road at dawn today.

Copperhill is in Polk County where another man was slain and a companion was wounded on Thursday night in an ambush near Benton, the county seat.

A nurse at the hospital said the man had been tentatively identified as Earnest Loudermilk, about 35.

The sheriff's office in Benton declined to discuss the shooting.

The bloodshed erupted in Polk County while on the other side of the state the 72-year-old Crump was going down to defeat in the Democratic primary, which determines candidates in the forthcoming elections.

Both the candidates Crump backed—for the United States Senate and for governor — were trailing far behind today on nearly-complete unofficial returns. Republicans also held their primary Thursday but voting was light.

Can't Be Drafted Into Leadership—King

Criticizes Party Organization, Wants New Machinery Set Up Immediately

OTTAWA, Aug. 6 — (CP). — Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the Liberal party flatly today in a farewell address he cannot be drafted back into the party leadership however kindly any such movement may be.

Addressing some 3,000 party adherents in this second day of the National Liberal Convention, he revived his 29 years of stewardship.

Turning to tomorrow's leadership balloting, he told the delegates:

"Let me make my position perfectly clear. It would be much less embarrassing to me, and fairer, in every way, to others who may be nominated, if it is fully understood that were my name to be placed in nomination tomorrow, I should have to request that it be withdrawn before the voting takes place.

"Your duty tomorrow is to choose a successor to myself in the party's leadership. When your choice is made, I shall return to the party the trust which it placed in my hands 29 years ago."

Need Organization

He criticized the party organization, though he placed no blame on officials of the National Liberal Federation, and attributed recent by-election losses to lack of organization. The party had "barely begun" reorganizing its election-winning machinery after a wartime relapse.

Liberalism, he said, had shown the way to the defeat of Communism.

The 73-year-old Prime Minister noted that "certain quarters" had expressed doubt that he actually intended to retire as Prime Minister as distinct from the political post of party leader.

He posed this question:

"It it reasonable to assume that, at my age, in seeking relief from great responsibilities, I should seek such relief only in relation to the leadership of the party and not in relation to a position which carries with it more in the way of responsibility than any other in the whole country?

"Nothing could be further from my mind."

As for his retirement from the prime ministership, he repeated that a prime minister was not responsible to a party organization or a political party, but to parliament and through parliament to the people of the country as a whole.

"Unless we are to abandon the basis on which constitutional government rests, and substitute the decisions of a single political party for the authority of parliament, and for the respect owing to the crown, we cannot guard too closley against any course which, even to appearances, might tend in so disastrous a direction.

Must Guard Freedom

"The substitution, by force or otherwise, of the dictates of a single political party for the authority of a freely-elected parliament is something which, in far too many countries, has already taken place. It is along that path that many nations have lost their freedom."

Once the new leader was chosen, he planned to confer with him as to the time at which, "all circumstances considered, I should seek, from His Excellency, acceptance of my resignation as prime minister." This would carry with it the resignation of the entire ministry and would involve the formation of a new administration.

"I am sure," he said, "that you will agree with me that, at a time like the prseent, this is not a step to be taken without due consideration of many factors of international as well as national significance."

Not Sudden

His decision was not sudden or recent. It had been reached with the "greatest reluctance."

"It is true that new and highly dangerous situations have recently arisen . . . were it not for the reasons that lies at the root of my decision, the threatening world situation which has since arisen, would be a challenge to remain on, rather than to seek retirement."

Toss Bomb At Soldiers

No Casualties At Plant As Guards Duck

DAYTON, O., Aug. 6.—(AP).— A smoke bomb was hurled from a speeding car and exploded in the area of the troop-guarded Univis Lens Company plant today. There were no casualties.

National Guardsmen (Militia) called by Governor Thomas J. Herbert of Ohio four days ago to prevent fresh picket-line skirmishes at the strike-bound plant, ducked for cover as the bomb exploded.

There were 10 gaurds in the vicinity when the box, containing three paper bags filled with powder, was hurled near the plant.

Col. George Schiele, Guard commander, said the bomb was a missile commonly fired from mortars and intended to cause smoke and create confusion.

The Univis Company struck by the United Electrical Workers (CIO) 95 days ago, re-opened this week to allow some employees to return to work. It was then the Guard was called after a strike-settlement plan was rejected by rank-and-file union members. The dispute originally involved wages.

Missing Plane Wreckage Is Sighted

U.S. Cutter Discovers Seats, Other Items In South Atlantic

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 —(AP)— Flame-charred, splintered wreckage, found off the African coast in the South Atlantic, was believed today to have come from a giant French flying boat missing since Sunday with 52 persons aboard.

The wreckage, including airplane seats, was found by the United States Coast Guard cutter Campbell, whose commander told headquarters here there was "little doubt" it was the remains of the 73-ton, six-engine Air France Lateorere 631.

The mammoth craft was en route from Martinique to West Africa and was 1,200 miles off Dakar when its last official radio signal was heard shortly after midnight Saturday.

Early Thursday a United States air force B29, part of a large fleet of ships and planes searching many hundred square miles of ocean for the lost seaplane, spotted wreckage and radioed the cutter Campbell, searching nearby.

Find Plane Seats

The vessel said it found itself in "the midst of numerous bits of wreckage a short time after connected seats had been plucked from the ocean with grappling hooks a scant 70 miles off the normal course of the Air France plane."

A message from Martinique said the plane's last known position was 19:27 north and 38:25 west. The Campbell's position at the time it found the wreckage was within 100 miles of that position.

Aboard the cutter was John Folk, Coast Guard correspondent, who radioed a dispatch to New York headquarters of the Coast Guard. He said an intensive search of the area followed the discovery of "leather - trimmed, rose-upholstered seats."

"The plane seats thus far are the largest of several items taken aboard the Campbell to aid in determining the cause of the tragedy and are comparatively unmarred in sharp comparison to charred bits of plywood, a table top and a locker door," he reported.

REPORTS FROM BRITISH Columbia say that the strongest delegation from that province will be supporting Rt. Hon. James C. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, at the Liberal Convention in Ottawa. The Liberals are holding the convention to choose a new federal leader. Mr. Gardiner is shown holding grandson Jimmy. Beside them is Jimmy's momther, Margaret. Behind them are Mrs. Gardiner, right; Mr. and Mrs. "Shorty" Stackosky, employees on farm.

Demand Legislation

FRANKFURT, Aug. 6. — (AP). — Anglo - American authorities told German leaders Thursday to pass legislation allocating materials to German industry within 30 days or the two military governments would do it themselves. They said the military governments could not risk irreparable damages to German economy that would result if the legislation is not passed.

Moves Motion

Trade Minister Howe moved the resolution, which declares the prosperity of every part of Canada depends on enlarged world commerce.

Main points in the trade program are:

1. Reduction and removal of world trade barriers.

2. Continued arrangements to facilitate trading between empire countries.

3. Further reciprocal agreements with the United States and other countries and the earliest possible removal of emergency resrictions and export embargoes.

4. Encouragement of private industry in developing world markets, and continuance of export credits and insurance where needed.

5. Industrial diversification.

6. Development of the tourist traffic.

Greater Demands

Mr. Howe said the higher standard of living caused greater demands for available goods. There was no doubt Canadians were living better than ever before.

"We will carry on with the Liberal program for prosperity," he said.

Three years ago today the first atomic bomb was dropped on Japan and the war was near a sudden end.

The sudden ending threatened to disrupt the Canadian economy then geared to heavy war production.

Today there were more jobs, more trade and more income than ever before.

The transition was accomplished with less than four per cent of unemployment of the available working force.

Income Higher

Income now was 25 per cent higher than the wartime peak, trade was running a record $5,500,000,000 annually. Instead of a slump there was an unprecedented boom. Capital investment was at a staggering figure for a country the size of Canada.

The Liberal economic program would continue to be based on brisk world trading policies and a sound investment program at home. The party would assist in strengthening the multi-lateral trading system with everything in its power.

Refuse To Stand

Health Minister Martin announced from his office he will support External Affairs Minister St. Laurent for the leadership and will not stand himself as a candidate.

Premier Macdonald of Nova Scotia told a caucus of Maritime members he will not be a candidate. He told delegates to vote for other candidates according to their own individual choices. He did not indicate how he would vote.

Finance Minister Abbott, Trade Minister Howe, Defence Minister Claxton and Transport Minister Chevrier all told newspaper men they are not in the running.

Many of the delegates and 3,000 Liberals attending the inaugural sessions said Mr. St. Laurent, 66-year-old lawyer from Quebec was gaining strength hourly and possibly would win the leadership on the first ballot.

Large Block of Votes

Mr. Gardiner, 65, who resigned as premier of Saskatchewan to enter the Federal cabinet several years ago, commands a large block of prairie votes and runs Mr. St. Laurent a close second in convention betting.

Mr. Power, 60, who quit the Federal cabinet in 1944 over the conscription issue, said he would be in "there to the last ballot." He does not yet know who will nominate him.

J. Gordon Fogo, chairman of the convention, said that nominations for leadership will be accepted until 2 p.m. EDT Saturday. The convention decided that each candidate should be given 20 minutes to address the delegates before the balloting. It is not known in which order the candidates will speak.

"Long continued strain cannot fail to be followed by some unfavorable reaction. The reaction may not become evident at once, it may be long deferred, but sooner or later, it is bound to make its ill-effects known.

"Were I not now in my 74th year and had I not the best of reasons for knowing that my strength no longer is what it once was, I should feel very differently than I do . . . ."

But while he was giving up his official posts, he hoped there still would be before him "some years of service to our country and to the Liberal cause; some opportunity to view the political scene from an atmosphere less charged with contention than the one I have lived in for so long."

Compares Position

Mr. King compared the position of the party today and when he assumed the leadership 29 years ago.

In 1919, it was in defeat and split by a "well nigh mortal wound" over the issue of conscription. It's fortunes were low, and a legacy of ill-will had divided many of its supporters. It had lost its great chief, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and had been out of office for eight years.

Today, it had been in power 21 of the 29 years during which Mr. King was at the helm. It was still in office and the life of the present parliament still had two years to run. It had contested seven general elecitons and won six.

"Most gratifying of all," said Mr. King, "in contrast with conditions as they were in 1919, I am able to look today upon a united party, and a united country. This achievement is the greater in that unity was maintained through six years of the most destructive and terrible of wars in human history."

He wanted to thank his fellow Liberals and his cabinet colleagues for their help and support. His success was "due mostly" to their collective wisdom.

Real Bulwark

He termed Liberalism the "real" bulwark of freedom and said it never could countenance any form of dictatorship.

"The trend towards totalitarianism, with the evils and terrors of which we are already all too familiar, is, I believe, the most serious of present-day problems For some time to come, this trend is certain to be as well the most dangerous of all.

"The supreme task of Liberalism today is to thwart the growth of totalitarianism and, by so doing, successfully combat the menace of Communism.

"The immediate purpose of Communism is the complete control of the individual in the name of the state. Its ultimate aim is world domination. Beneath its mask are concealed the secret police, slave labor and the concentration camp."

He warned "it may be that, at any hour, the free nations may be called upon again, as twice already they have in the course of a single generation, to defend freedom."

Young Liberals Urge Drafting New Constitution

OTTAWA, Aug. 6 — (CP). — A group of Young Liberals are urging the government to call a Dominion-Provincial meeting to draft a new federal constitution.

The proposal, contained in a resolution adopted by the national executive of the Young Liberal Federation, is being considered by the resolutions committee of the National Liberal conventiin.

The Young Liberals want a constitution retaining safeguards for racial and religious minorities but redistributing powers among the Dominion government and the provinces "in a manner befitting present-day conditions and problems."

Canada's prseent constitution is the British North America Act of 1867. Technically, it may be amended only by the United Kingdom parliament.

Move From Original

The preamble to the resolution says that the Privy Council's interpretation of some parts of the Act has "to some extent frustrated" the intention of he men who drew up the Act. Since before the turn of the century there had ben "very great" changes in Canada's population and economy.

"....By reason of these changes and by reason of the relatively fixed nature of our constitution it has been necessary for the Government of Canada and the various provincial governments to resort to various expedients to a temporary nature in order to make the constitution workable in he light of present-day conditions...."

It was desirable that Canadians have the legal power to change their own constitution, meanwhile, constitutional difficulties had enabled "sectional interests" to obstruct Canada's development and to hold up social legislation.

Another resolution adopted by the Young Liberal executive urges the Liberal Party to work toward these "ultimate goals" of Canadianism and national unity:

1—A system "so that within five years immigrants to this country are educated to the desire for Canadian citizenship."

2—"Our own National Anthem."

3—A "specifically Canadian flag."

4—Complete and full authority "to deal with our own constitution."

Canada and Dominion Sugar and Loblaws were up 1¼ in the food group and a few steels dipped down.

Senior golds weakened and the losses doubled gains in juniors. Sigma was down 20 cents, while Lake Shore gained ⅜s. In secondary issues, Pickle Crow, Lingman, Hard Rock, Giant Yellowknife, Eldona, Donalda and Conwest eased from 1 to 5 cents.

Gulf Lead, in base metals, dipped 25 cents. Waite-Amulet, Falconbridge, Eureka, and East Sullivan were down from 1 to 15 cents. Base Metals gained ½ at 23½ and International Uraniunt, Normetal, Quemont, and Golden Manitou edged upwards.

Royal Family Spend Holiday In Scotland

BALMORAL, Scotland, Aug. 6 —(AP). — Medieval and modern pageantry mingled today as the Royal Family arrived for a holiday.

The King wore traditional Highland dress as he inspected a detachment of his own Scottish guard. Overhead flew a helicopter bringing the morning mail for the Royal Family at Balmoral Castle.

Princess Elizabeth was sprightly in a lime-green dress.

Princess Margaret told Scottish friends, "I hope there's no more measles about." She had a siege of them when she visited here last May.

Visits Reservation

BRANTFORD, Aug. 6 (CP).— Magistrate O. M. Martin of York County returned to the Six Nations Reservation Thursday to visit the Six Nations Indian Council which was in session. An enfranchised Indian and well-known soldier, Magistrate Martin spoke briefly to the Council and described his visit as purely a social call. "It has been many years since I last visited the Council House," he told the meeting upon being welcomed by Chief Councillor Leonard Staats.

Minille Escorted To Kingston Pen

KINGSTON, Aug. 6 — (CP). — Handcuffed, his legs in chains, Nick Minille Thursday night was returned to Kingston Penitentiary from where he escaped with two other convicts just a year ago this month.

Three officers of the R.C.M.P. brought Minille here by automobile from Fort Erie where earlier Thursday they took over the convict's custody from United States Immigration officers who had escorted Minille from the Pacific coast to Buffalo. Minille was arrested in May during an attempted drugstore hold-up at Los Angeles.

Minille was half-lifted from the car at the penitentiary entrance. His leg chains appeared to give him only six inches of movement.

His return ended two-thirds of the story that started with the escape from Kingston in August, 1947. Ulysse Lauzon recently was found shot to death, apparently a victim of gangland warfare, in Mississippi. Mickey McDonald of Toronto still is free, believed somewhere in the United States.

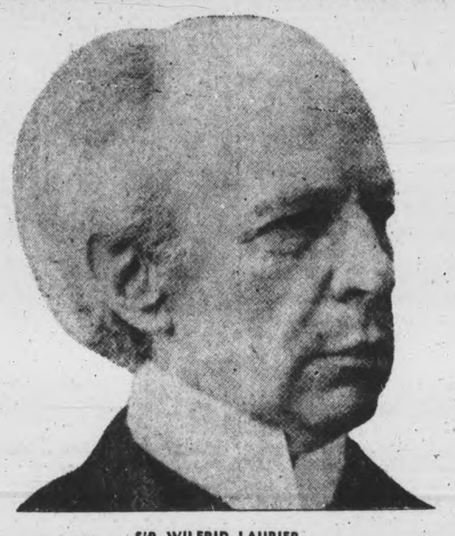
AN OPEN LETTER TO THE DELEGATES OF THE NATIONAL LIBERAL CONVENTION



FELLOW CITIZENS:

"We are a free and happy people, and we are so owing to the liberal institutions by which we are governed, institutions which we owe to the exertions of our forefathers . . . The policy of the Liberal Party is to protect these institutions, to defend and extend them."

These words, spoken in 1878 by the great Liberal statesman, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, should apply we believe with equal force to Liberal policies in 1948. Unhappily, they do not.

For the past eight weeks the Canadian Seamen's Union has been engaged in a legal strike against two shipping companies who have seen fit to ignore the labor laws of Canada. The C.S.U., it must be remembered, is the legally recognized bargaining agency of the seamen.

Mr. Leonard W. Brockington and Mr. J. Douglas McNish, both prominent supporters of your party, have in their capacity as Commissioners appointed by the government to investigate the Lake dispute, offered this opinion about the companies: "The defiance of the existing law, the breach of the existing agreement, and the failure to fulfil the promise made by these companies to the government are a serious threat to the recognized practice of labor conciliation, and are, moreover, the worst possible weapons any employer could use in a dispute with the legally constituted bargaining representatives of his employees. We have reason to believe also that this conduct which goes to the root of labor relations in this country, raises far wider issues than the isolated dispute with the Canadian Seamen's Union, and that there is grave danger that the discord will not be restricted merely to relations between this union and these companies."

SIR WILFRID LAURIER
1841 — 1919

A "GRAVE DANGER"

Despite this strong condemnation, these shipping companies continue to flout recognized labor practices in a manner which constitutes what Commissioners Brockington and McNish called a "grave danger" to all labor-employer relations in Canada. The procedures to which they referred are contained in the laws written into our statute books.

We have contended from the very beginning that the present Liberal government should have taken action to bring these intransigent companies into line with the spirit and principles of accepted labor practices as embodied in Canadian law.

We need hardly remind you of the magnificent contribution which the Canadian seamen made during the past war. Throughout the war the Canadian Seamen's Union was frequently in consultation with government leaders and repeatedly requested to carry out the most arduous duties. The Canadian Seamen's Union was an important factor in winning the Battle of the Atlantic. Time after time our union seamen were commended for their selfless zeal in carrying out their tasks.

NOT ALONE

Is it nothing to you that these men, in seeking to correct a gross industrial evil, should first be locked out of their jobs, then shunted around by the Labor Department while seeking recourse to legal action, finally be forced to take strike action, and today encounter government indifference both to their needs and to the lawless activities of the shipping companies? Is it nothing to you that these men — the sons of Canadians who served with equal devotion in the first world war — should be compelled today to defend their elementary rights in a dispute which it should be the duty of the government to defend for them?

We are not alone in this struggle. Throughout the eight weeks of this strike we have had the full support of our parent body, the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and its respected leader, Percy R. Bengough. We have sought and will continue to seek his wise counsel. A. R. Mosher, president, and Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, and all that organization's affiliates, have also expressed their solidarity with us in this just fight. In doing so they have acknowledged that acquiescence in the injustice done the seamen will open up the way for similar attacks on other trade unions. The million-strong labor movement of this country has clearly affirmed that where one union is in danger, all unions are in danger.

SERIOUS INJURY

This strike is doing serious injury to the economy of our country and is putting a heavy strain on those of our members who are manning ships on the high seas. The leadership of this union has been under pressure to extend this strike to other Lake shipping and to the deep sea. This we have refused to do because such action would deprive many needy people in Europe and elsewhere of essential food and supplies.

It has been suggested that ours is not a democratic organization. May we remind you, therefore, that the policies and leadership of the Canadian Seamen's Union are decided at bi-annual conventions of the union membership? May we also — without malice — remind you that the last convention of the Liberal Party was held almost thirty years ago?

It has been suggested that the Seamen's Union has encouraged the violence in this strike. This we firmly deny. The members of the Canadian Seamen's Union have believed that our labor laws say what they mean and mean what they say. They contend that the inexperienced men placed on ships are acting as strikebreakers, depriving them of their rightful employment. The Canadian Seamen's Union has an admirable record for having lifted the living standards and wage levels of the working seamen to a decent level. It now has harmonious relations with 48 Canadian shipping companies. The Canadian Seamen's Union is not on trial in this strike. Rather are those on trial who oppose our efforts to bring the entire shipping industry into line with Twentieth Century living.

In a very real sense, the seamen's action in attempting to clear the ships of strikebreakers is an attempt to do what the government itself should have done. They have exercised this legal right because all government departments involved in this strike have failed consistently to enforce Canadian laws against the lawbreaking shipping companies. In the face of this lawlessness the Minister of Labor and the Minister of Justice have "passed by on the other side." The dereliction of these departments is alarming evidence that labor can no longer depend on government authorities to solve labor disputes on the basis of accepted practices and labor laws.

When the companies ignore the Federal Labor Code and attempt to impose an illegal organization on the seamen, the Labor Minister names the strike a "jurisdictional scrap" and ignores the overwhelming evidence that it is not.

When the companies arm their ships with illegal weapons, and equip their officers with shotguns, the Department of Justice remains silent as a tomb.

When a total of more than $300,000 in bail is imposed on legal strikers arrested on the most trivial charges, and while the companies continue to violate laws which the government is honor-bound to preserve, the government gives those companies the protection of the state police.

When the deliberate shooting of five seamen occurs, and one shipping company official boasted that "Winging five out of six is pretty good shooting," we see the strange spectacle of the Transport Department issuing a statement which practically legalizes an action which the Canada Shipping Act specifically forbids.

When the report of Commissioners Brockington and McNish is issued, we see the even stranger spectacle of the Federal Cabinet withholding action to bring the dispute to a speedy and just settlement.

Yet the Brockington-McNish report states that the actions of the companies are plainly in defiance of the law.

EYES OF MILLIONS

The eyes of a million trade unionists from sea to sea — and their families — are fixed on your convention. They expect you to adopt policies which are consistent with the great Liberal tradition of the revered Laurier. We are confident that if he were alive today he would not countenance the sort of treatment we have been accorded.

Your convention has an unequalled opportunity to right this terrible wrong. We are not asking your convention to bestow a favor on the Canadian Seamen's Union. We ask only that you act in the spirit of those laws which your party helped put on our statute books in response to the great labor and public reform movements which — in the wise words of Sir Wilfrid Laurier — "We owe to the exertion of our forefathers."

The issues between the Canadian Seamen's Union and the shipping companies are very clear. Ours is not a lawless struggle. Our fight has been for the upholding of the law, the execution of the law. Our fight has been for bringing into line those groups who would bring injury to those Canadians who have stood in the forefront of social and economic justice. Our aim is to win a greater measure of security for a larger number of our people.

MANTLE OF LAURIER

On an earlier occasion, when the laws of Canada were subverted, the Hon. C. G. Powers said: "If this is to be the funeral of Liberalism, I do not wish to be a pallbearer." Surely the present issue touches on principles no less essential to our freedom than on that occasion. While the CCF members in the House of Commons have strongly supported our just fight both in and out of the House. it must be noted with regret that not a single Liberal M.P. has raised his voice in defence of common justice.

Has the mantle of Sir Wilfrid Laurier fallen on shoulders outside the Liberal Party?

EMERGENCY CONFERENCE

We trust that in your convention deliberations you will give this crucial issue your careful consideration. The importance of the principles involved here cannot easily be minimized. That is why we will be joined at the entrance to your convention by scores of trade unionists who are coming here from coast to coast to see that justice is done. That is why President Percy R. Bengough has summoned a national emergency labor conference in Ottawa. That is why for the first time in Canadian labor history both labor Congresses are joined in a common cause. The peace, prosperity and continued progress of our nation requires that you respond decisively to labor's appeal.

What can the convention do? You can accept the fair proposals of Mr. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress to which we are affiliated, who said: "If the laws are to be the same for all citizens, then I say the licenses should be taken away from those shipping companies until they recognize the law and recognize their obligations as Canadian citizens. We cannot tolerate a situation where there is one law for the rich and another for the poor. I say that the government must not only enact the laws but must find some measure to enforce the law."

We are convinced that if these simple principles of Canadian democracy are carried out, the demands of justice will be satisfied and peace be restored eventually to Canada's inland waterways.

Delegates to the National Liberal Convention: Which side are you on? Will your party continue to maintain silence in the face of a terrible injustice to Canadian seamen? Does your party approve of giving state police protection to shipping companies who have chosen openly to defy the nation's labor laws? Does your party endorse an anti-labor policy which may lead to the destruction of all trade unions?

This is no time for smokescreens and evasion of duty. It is time for constructive action.

What will your convention do about it? Canadian labor awaits your answer.

The Consumer Is The Goat

Business competition is supposed to protect the consumer, on the theory that he will go to the shop where he can buy more for less. The system functions satisfactorily some of the time and with some types of goods. It is not working well for the consumer these days. One reason for this is that the consumer of today is buying in a market where the demand often exceeds the supply; the buyer has to take what he can get at the price the merchant demands. Another is that more and more goods are being produced or sold by firms which have real or virtual monopolies on the product. Monopolies never favour the consumer; they charge the poor fellow as much as they can squeeze out of him. That is called 'charging as much as the market will stand'.

* * *

We have a few homely questions to ask. Recently the Government took off the 25 per cent. special tax on a wide range of articles, many of them still in short supply. Are all electrical appliances now retailing at prices 1/5 lower than they did last week? Fifteen per cent. of the 25 per cent. tax on cars has been removed. Is the price of all cars exactly correspondingly reduced? Is the shortening and soap now being sold in many local shops at new high prices stock that was bought since last Monday, stock bought after the subsidy was removed? Are the new prices on all products containing fats no higher than the removal of the subsidy warrants? In this regard we call attention to a report from Ottawa:

> The fats and oils subsidy has been costing something under $24 millions, though falling prices recently have brought it down to a very much smaller figure and given promise of its near elimination in any event.

Despite this, the price of soap, shortening and the like is skyrocketing. The total Government subsidy paid was less than 24 million dollars. The manufacturers now have to collect this (or a "very much smaller figure") directly from the consumers through increases in prices. In other words, they have to collect less (perhaps much less) than two dollars a head from every person in Canada who uses soap and cooking fats, and they all do. The producers, wholesalers and retailers will collect it pretty fast if soap jumps one or two cents a bar and lard and shortening 10-15 cents a pound.

* * *

The largest retail monopoly business in Ontario is the Liquor Control Board chain store system. What voice have the consumers of wines and spirits when the Board's moguls water the whisky and juggle prices? (Some price juggling went on last week.) They meekly have to pay what is asked or do without. Another virtual monopoly is the brewery business, because of the system of licensing both the breweries and their retail outlets. The price of bottled beer was pushed up a few weeks ago—not one brand, but all of them. The consumer has no chance to bleat about it before the new prices were authorized. On Wednesday beer served in hotel beverage rooms became more expensive. Again the consumer had no voice in the matter.

* * *

The consumer is being made the goat. He is being pulled by the horns, pushed from behind, and mulcted on both sides. There seems to be pity for the poor goat but no defence against maltreatment. True, a Royal Commission on Prices has been set up (a sequel to the ineffective Parliamentary Prices Committee), as a kind of protection-to-dumb-animals society. We fear its benevolence may be too little and too late, and too hedged in by religious scruples about the great god Business.

Yugoslavia is building a new large city on the ruins of an ancient one. Yugoslavs' devotion to Tito will be affirmed directly in its name; their lip-service to Stalin's Russia will merely be echoed in it. The name is Titograd.

Peterborough's Pollution

Doctors attempt to cope with disease in two ways. They take immediate action to minimize its effects—they provide salves, medicines and attempt to neutralize the germs. The more basic action is to root out the infection and take away the causes of disease. Doctors try to prevent disease by removing the causes.

Our Medical Officer of Health is a doctor. He has been reporting on the pollution of Little Lake and the Otonabee River. "Little Lake is polluted by Ashburnham sewage because there is little or no treatment of it. Sewage from the rest of the city is emptying into the river without being adequately treated". Like a good doctor, he recommends immediate treatment to neutralize the germs. Chemicals should be used to make the sewage less harmful.

That is the method of expediency. As a doctor, the M.O.H. would acknowledge that adequate chemical treatment of the sewage will ameliorate conditions, but it will not do away with them. The sewage, decontaminated or not, is still sewage, and as long as it is dumped into Little Lake and the river within the city limits, the city waterways will not be clean. How can water be called clean which has garbage, muck and corruption floating around in it, no matter if the offal is chemically sterilized? "Clean dirt" may be scientifically possible, but is not humanly acceptable. Peterborough residents should not have to put up with dirty water, sterilized or unsterilized.

Doctoring of our water is necessary now, but it is not a substitute for a complete treatment. When a patient has a gangrenous leg, the gangrene is cut out, not spread with ointment. So the sewage must be taken out of the river. It must not be dumped into it at all. The whole sewage disposal system must have a complete overhaul, no matter how expensive the operation will be.

Chided, Chastened, But Unconvinced

We had the temerity to say in a recent editorial on the Ganaraska River Authority that the river "misbehaves so badly every spring". The Port Hope Guide gently chides us for this phrase, and as befits a paper which was in long Victorian skirts when we were in diapers, and is even now on the spot to know the facts, it tut-tuts that there has not been a river-"bust" (that is the Guide bursting out, by the way) since 1937. We shall be Guided, chided, but remain unconvinced.

This last spring (1948) we saw the fearful river, we heard it roar, we saw ten times as much water in it as we saw last week, for instance. Was that no misbehaviour (its not ours)? Was there not a lamentable drowning in those same flood waters this spring? And now, Dear Guide, do you account for a great chunk of ice about half the size of the large rock at Buckhorn which reposed across the road 188 feet from the banks of the river after the torrent had subsided? We saw it with our own eyes, we poked it with our own index finger and know that it was not a case of the iceman cometh but of the Ganaraska gushing. All this is said merely to pour oil on troubled waters and with no intention of feuding with the Port Hope Guide over a river with such a pretty name as Ganaraska.

"Austerity" Taxes Removed

The removal or reduction of nearly all the special taxes imposed last November in order to conserve American dollars has been hailed with relief if not with pleasure. The withdrawal of these taxes does not mean that Canada is out of its American dollar quandry; in fact, the continuance of the restrictions on imports shows that we are not. It does mean that the taxes have not had sufficient value in reducing the buying of goods which are entirely or in part American. Their purpose has not been served, therefore, as the Government promised, they have been removed. Fiscal measures aimed at closing a breech between production and demand or free money and available material are awkward tools; the recent trial shows that they are effective only if the gap is small. If it is large (as it now is) other measures—like rationing or prohibitions—are necessary.

The method of doing away with the special taxes has been criticized. How else but suddenly could it have been done, unless trade was to be disrupted for the weeks between the announcement and the removal of the taxes? It was as fair and necessary a method as the sudden imposition of the taxes. Then (last November) used car dealers—one of the groups now complaining—made a handsome sudden profit. Now some of them stand to lose. They cannot have their bread buttered on both sides.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Our readers are invited to send questions, either of general interest or related to local lore, to this column.

EVERYBODY says the Lift Lock in Peterborough is the largest in the world. Is that because it is the only one in the world?

ANSWER: Tut! Tut! What a slanderous thing to say about our pet possession. It is the largest in the world, and there are others — all of them smaller. Farther up the Trent Canal system at Kirkfield there is a Lift Lock, which lifts boats 49 feet. The Peterborough lift is 60 feet. Another difference between the two is that the towers supporting the lifting chambers of the Kirkfield lock are of steel construction, those of the Peterborough lock are of concrete. Before the Peterborough Lift Lock was built (opened 1904), there was a Lift Lock in England (built about 30 years earlier) and two on the continent, one in Belgium, the other in France (Le Louviere and Les Fontinettes).

QUESTION: Last week in your remarks about the Duke of Kent, the father of Queen Victoria, you said that Queen Victoria "was the only legitimate child of the Duke of Kent." Did he have illegitimate children as well?

ANSWER: The Hanoverian Kings and Princes before Victoria were no more restricted by conventional bourgeois morality than were other royal European families of the times, but I cannot give you a definite yes. My colleague Omega is the expert on royal genealogies and bars sinister, but he is now in Berlin surveying the current crisis there. It is true that many English people were discontent with the attitude and dissolute conduct of the sons of George the Third and even the London Times hoped publicly that the nation could be rid of them and the whole royal family. Victoria changed their notions.

During the years when the Duke of Kent lived in Montreal and Halifax he was considered a very gay and unusual bird, though sober Canadian histories of the period say merely that he added colour to the local society. Legends of him and his progeny still persist in Halifax and Montreal. In Montreal he had a mistress named Madame St. Laurent who ran his household. She went with him to England when his duties in Canada came to an end and the pair kept house at Ealing. They lived peacefully together for 27 years. When the Royal Duke became conscious of both his duties and his debts, he hit upon a method of dealing with both at the same time. His brothers had not produced an heir for the throne of George III. If he offered to marry with the intention of providing an heir, the grateful nation would, he was confident, reward him suitably—that is, with a large marriage settlement.

After surveying the field of possible females, the Duke of Kent married, in 1818, two years before his death, Princess Victoria of Saxe-Coburg-Saalfield, of an impoverished German family and a widow. Parliament did not provide the expected additional income for the Duke. Madame St. Laurent retired to a convent.

IS it true that the hymn "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" was written in this district?

ANSWER: The hymn, once popular in evangelical churches in Canada and abroad, was written by Joseph Medlicott Scriven, B.A. He was an Irishman born at Seapatrick, County Down in 1819. He came to Canada in 1844, two years after his graduation from Dublin. He settled in the Rice Lake area, acted as a tutor to the Pengelley family there, and was buried in the Pengelley cemetery, a few miles from Bewdley, in 1886. There is a memorial to Scriven on the east side of the Port Hope highway a mile south of Bewdley, bordered by a grove of young pine trees. You cawnt miss seeing it as you drive past, if you look for it. In the Town Hall park of Port Hope is another monument. Both have the words of the hymn engraved in the stone. The hymn was written in Port Hope in 1857.

QUESTION: Does the United Church still believe in the principle of the "elect"?

ANSWER: Several local savants of theology, hagiology and demonology whom I consulted were either vague or loquaciously exalted above my head. The Rev. Dr. A. felt himself and his flock to be among the elect, though he believed others would have a gambler's chance at the Last Trump. The Rev. B. was rather doubtful about the whole business. He was probably mindful of Thackeray's comment that Heaven does not choose its elect from among the great and wealthy. The Rev. C. said modestly that, well, the United Church elected its moderators and he had hopes....The Rev. D. elected silence. Perhaps you, Dear Questioner, are confusing religion with politics, Presbyterianism with United Churchism, or Judaism with Christianity. For my part, I question your use of the word "still" and suggest that you consult your Maker for the proper answer.

FOR THE RECORD: There are approximately 80 level railway crossings within the city limits. In 1945, according to exact count, there were 76; since then Peterborough's boundaries have been extended and more level crossings included. Every thoroughfare and major street has at least one.

All For Quiet Weddings

Of course, no one wants to put a serious damper on the rightful gaiety of a wedding party, but there's a proper limit to everything. We can't believe that a procession through the city streets, with horns blaring, really contributes anything to a happy marriage. In view of the undoubted annoyance it causes householders, office workers and everyone else within earshot, it should be discouraged.—Cornwall Standard-Freeholder.

OPENING CONVERSATION

Fallen Emperors

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

THESE periodical laments on youth, like wet Bank Holidays and railway accidents, run in cycles. This summer there has been an epidemic of public regrets on the shortcomings of our young people. Mrs. Fisher's letter from Lambeth Palace in a Sunday paper followed swiftly on Lord Montgomery's address to the Mothers' Union a week ago. The "disease of youth" she took for granted; the prescribed remedy was what it always has been since the days before Socrates and, indeed, Mr. Bevan—the need for parents to pull up their socks. As the mother of six sons and a schoolmaster's daughter and wife, she speaks with authority, if not with originality. But as for the C.I.G.S., it seems only yesterday that he was praising the young men of his Eighth Army to the skies. He had not much to say in 1943 (nor had the rest of the censors) about the disease of youth; then it was "every man an emperor." But read again his latest elegy:

"The youth of Britain are suffering from a spiritual malaise. This is a disease of morale, it is a sickness of our national character and must be treated as such....The young have little faith in democracy, in God, or in themselves. They have no sense of religious truth."

Who are these naughty young people? Not, surely, the Spitfire pilots, the sappers of 30 Corps, the sailors of the Renown. Presumably they are today's eighteen and nineteen year olds who ran wild during the war, when fathers were in the forces and mothers were working. The problem of present juvenile delinquency is admittedly grave. But a good many grey heads have been shaken in gloomy generalizations ever since Pliny groaned at the irreverent and aimless ways of his young. Oxford Union who fell from grace in 1933 surprised themselves and their critics before many years, and today's "diseased" boys and girls will do the same.

Not So Bad As Painted

(PORT HOPE GUIDE)

WITH much appreciation we acknowledge the attention recently given the town of Port Hope and the Ganaraska River Conservation Authority in the editorial columns of The Peterborough Examiner.

In reproducing The Examiner's laudatory remarks here, for the encouragement of our readers who have given much effort and energy to the establishing of the Conservation work in the district, and who look forward hopefully but patiently to its rather long range success, we chide the paper in a friendly way for its opening reference to the foibles of the local river which over the years has earned a questionable name for itself through intermittent floodings and threatenings to flood.

Notwithstanding the erroneous statement of a Toronto paper last year that Port Hope had suffered a disastrous flood every year for generations, or words to that effect, and the ensuing correction made by the secretary of the Ganaraska Conservation Authority, the Examiner falls into the same error by stating blandly that "The river which flows through Port Hope and misbehaves so badly every spring is the Ganaraska." Shame on you, Examiner. Here are the facts:

The last "every spring" flood of the Ganaraska River was in that far off year 1937. Not since then has the River Demon spread his wet clutches on the town of Port Hope. Prior to that he may have got a bit fresh at times, and undoubtedly did make a little trouble.

But the "every spring" stuff is out; the capers have not been on the annual, never-miss basis at all. If the townsfolk have been keeping their fingers crossed, and hoping violently on many occasions since 1937, it still may be recorded that 1937 was the most recent river "bust". There were abundant river pranks this year in British Columbia, in Long Branch, in Western Ontario, and "Ole Man River" Mississippi himself, became rampageous. But here in Port Hope we just saw the waters roll by on their merry course to the lake. When, and if they faltered, some Walton Street merchant may have thought of the hot dogs, or crepe de chines, or beaver furs stored in his basement; but he had the pleasure of reading all he know about river floods in despatches from such places at Whitby, Galt, Chatham, Missouri, New Westminster and Chungking.

What very largely excuses The Examiner for believing unfounded rumours about Port Hope's treatment at the hands of the meandering, playful Ganaraska is the use it makes of old exaggerations to highlight the grand work being done hereabouts in the way of conservation. For the achievements of the Ganaraska River Conservation Authority, and more especially the great promise it holds out for the future, really are something of which to be proud. They mean a great deal to this solid section of Old Ontario.

Two American music-hall artists sought employment in one of London's leading theatres.

The manager inquired the length of their act.

The pair hadn't had an act for a month of Sundays and didn't know just what to say; but, being resourceful, replied, "Twenty-five minutes."

"Twenty-five minutes!" exclaimed the manager. "Why, my dear sirs, ours is a long bill. I cannot give you twenty-five minutes. I suggest that you go on for eight minutes."

The performers stared at him aghast.

"Eight minutes!" they screamed. "Why, we how for seven minutes!"

"On the right....form platoon!" roared the sergeant.

The recruits carried out some kind of manoeuvre, which left him speechless. He looked at them for a moment — two moments. Then his voice returned.

"All right," he said, in tones which no mere words could possibly describe, "now take your partners for the Lancers."

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit into Galilee: and there went out a fame of him through all the region round about. And he taught in their synagogues, being glorified of all.

And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up: and, as his custom was, he went into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and stood up for to read. And there was delivered unto him the book of the prophet Esaias. And when he had opened the book, he found the place where it was written, The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord.

And he closed the book, and he gave it again to the minister, and sat down. And the eyes of all them that were in the synagogue were fastened on him.

And he began to say unto them, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears. (Luke 4: 14-21.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And when Jesus was come into Peter's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, and sick of fever. And he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and she arose, and ministered unto them.

When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick. (Matt. 8: 14-16.)

Door Stops

(One day in May, Harry Spencer, of Rubyvale, Central Queensland, picked up some stones he had been using as door stops and put them carefully away.)

He had just read that someone in America had said that a black star sapphire he had was worth £94,000 and Mr. Spencer, a gem buyer, thought it would be more prudent to use ordinary rocks to keep his door open, instead of star sapphires.

"I sent that sapphire to America," he claimed. "It was found by my son (then aged 12) 14 years ago, lying on the surface on the reward claim on the Anakie field here. I showed it to a number of gem experts, but they all told me it was worthless, that there were no star sapphires in Queensland. Now I know that there are."

The American sapphire weighed 1156 carats in the raw and cutting reduced it to 733. It is claimed to be the biggest in the world—170 carats more than the Star of India.

"And I've got a bigger one here," said Mr. Spencer. "One weighs 2000 carats. It was found on the same claim seven years ago and I bought it from the man who found it. I've had several oversea offers for it, many from America.

"But why should I sell? I'd have to pay most of the money in tax. Also Australian export regulations prevent gem sellers obtaining adequate prices on world markets.

"No, I'm not leaving Rubyvale," said Mr. Spencer. "I've been here 43 years and I guess sapphires are in the blood."

The Queensland Black Star sapphires all drew crowds to the window in New York in which it was displayed in a silver-edged glass box lined with black velvet. Light from a hidden source shone on its face, and a brilliant six-sided star, perfectly centred, was reflected.

A Melbourne jeweller said a regular supply of good quality sapphires came from Queensland, but only the best stones were cut. They were worth from £5 to £20 a carat, but, as large stones were not popular here, the average size of a sapphire ring was from two to three carats. The danger to all natural sapphires was the increasing popularity of synthetic stones.

Their flaw was that they were flawless.—Australian News Letter.

For Young Leaders

Canada is a young country and it is getting new people in increasing numbers. True, we need experience in leadership; but what we need most is action and an understanding of the problems and aspirations of the younger generation. Canada can afford mistakes better than she can afford to stand still.

The job of leading a major political party in this country is one that demands the energy, mental and physical, that can be offered by a younger man.—Vancouver Province.

Suggest Changes To Improve Tourist Services

COBOURG, Aug. 6.—(ENS).—The Chamber of Commerce bulletin, issued Thursday, carries the following comment on the Civic Holiday week-end program:

"Another Civic Holiday week-end has come and gone. There is still much to be learned. The youngsters and their judging (calithumpian parade) is still a problem. The main point is that the celebration can very well be built into greater and still greater value to the town. It provides relaxation for those of us who live here the year round. It is a good excuse for our friends to come back and visit with us. It provides 'the stranger within our gates' with an insight into what makes us tick, and it definitely brings extra money to those who cater to those who want to spend. It is a tremendous amount of work and to all those who shared in it the town is grateful."

The same bulletin has something to say about the tourist business on the south shore of Rice Lake:

"From all reports, business along the south shore of Rice Lake is good. Here and there weak points show up. This seems to be more in the American plan type of resort and there may be two reasons for this. First, the fishermen are just beginning to get strikes about the time they should be leaving in order to be on time for dinner at the resort. Secondly, it is beginning to become obvious that price affects business. For instance, one Rice Lake resort operator turned his housekeeping cabins into the American plan. His reservations not only fell off but were cancelled, but this particular manager was smart enough to change right back to housekeeping cabins and has been filled ever since and will be right into the middle of September."

The bulletin goes on to suggest that the tourist resorts at Rice Lake can remain "on a fishing camp basis" or expand and improve. Could tennis courts be provided and could all the resorts get together and build a centrally-located golf club?

"Sooner or later the Rice Lake operators must come to a decision to stand still or go ahead. As a unit made up of all the individuals, it would be much smarter. American business is worthwhile, but, generally speaking, it is confined to July and August when this business is at its peak. Why is it not intelligent to concentrate more on Canadian business which is easily accessible and with our local holidays would be more useful. One prominent inn to the north operates 11 months in the year, closing down each November for a clean-up and overhaul. Their great percentage, by far, is drawn from Ontario and Quebec. The important point is to try and reach a happy medium by developing an out-of-season business among our own people. Let us put it this way—seven months of Canadian and American business is much better than two months of American dollars only."

SPECTATORS, DELEGATES AND supporters jammed Ottawa for the National Liberal Convention which opened Thursday. Convention marks the third time the party has held one in Canada's history. The gathering is being held to choose a new leader to succeed Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Newfoundland observer at convention is Joseph Smallwood, left, who led fight for confederation. Candidates for Liberal leadership are Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner and Rt. Hon. Charles Power. Forces supporting Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner have assumed threatening proportions. At right he is seen washing his hands flanked by T. H. Ward, left, Regina, and Colin Campbell, Ontario Liberal organizer and leader of the Gardiner supporters.

Urge 2 Classes, SoapBox Racers

COBOURG, Aug. 6. (ENS)—The soap box races on Saturday last, part of the Civic Holiday week-end program were not as well patronized as last year and there was a decrease in tre number of entries, mainly in the definitely "home-made class. One suggestion to increase interest has been made by a motorcycle fan who thinks that a novice and an expert class as in motorbike racing might improve it. While this classification in motorcycle racing refers more to the rider's ability and experience than his machine, the meaning could be broadened to apply to soap box races in that the expert class could take in the type of "soap box" that is sponsored by a manufacturer and is the latest in design and quality.

It was noted in the Peterborough entries, the cars were streamlined, some had ball bearings and they were away out in front in comparison with some of the entries made by local boys who had only some packing boxes, a hammer and nails and a bit of wire to work with. A few boys made up their cars just for the fun of it but did not enter them because they realized they would not have a chance against the "professional" jobs. The crudely-fashioned cars that were entered didn't offer competition to the ones sponsored by manufacturers.

Next year there may be a class for the super-dooper jobs and a class for the cars made from odds and ends. It should increase the number of entries and also the interest of the public.

Free Family Hold Annual Reunion

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 6. — (ENS). — Fifty-one members of the Free family attended the annual family reunion on Civic Holiday at the Ayrhart Woodland Estate, Healey Falls.

Everyone had a great time, the festivities commencing with a chicken dinner served on the picnic grounds. Afterward there were races and games, and the main event of the day was a tug-of-war with members of the family, the two teams being captained by Captain H. T. Free and Major G. H. Free.

Before supper those attending were taken for a cruise on the river in the Ayrhart yacht, which was made available for the occasion.

The oldest person attending the event was Mrs. John Free of Campbellford, 87 years old, and the next in line was Mrs. Catherine Free, 82 years old.

The youngest member of the clan was Robert McGregor Jr. of Peterborough, seven months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McGregor. Travelling the longest distance to the reunion was Russell Stevenson of Toronto, and the largest family present was that of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Free of Campbellford.

Officers of the Free family descendents' reunion picnic for 1947 were re-elected en bloc, with J. C. Free, Hastings, president; R. J. A. McGregor, Campbellford, secretary; Mrs. P. Kilbank, Brighton, treasurer.

Elected to the sports committee were Mrs. R. J. A. McGregor, Campbellford; Mrs. June Dew, Hastings; Edmund Brown, Peterborough, and Fred Stevenson, Hastings.

It was decided that the next picnic-reunion will be held at the Ayrhart Woodland Estate on Civic Holiday, 1949. At the close of the affair, those present passed a hearty vote of thanks to J. Ernest Ayrhart, who placed a portion of the estate at the disposal of the family, together with his yacht and trucks.

K of C Beats Comstock's 11-10 In 12 Innings To Gain Tie; BA Tops Legion 6-1, 2nd Straight

B-A defeated Legion 6-1, to finish two up on their rivals last night at the Bowl, as K. of C. finished in a deadlock with Comstock's in the finale by edging the latter 11-10 in 12 innings. A play-off for third place between the two will take place Saturday, at 2.30 at the Bowl.

The winner of Saturday's game will meet Legion in a series of best of five, the winner of which will then meet B-A in the finals.

Ken Guilfoyle twirled a neat 6-hitter for B-A in the opener, striking out five, walking one and allowing one run, to earn the victory without question.

Starr hit a homer in the first scoring Borland, who had two hits for five and scored two, as did both Starr and Hawkes, to lead the B-A attack.

Jack Crowley struck out 11 men in the nightcap, hit a homer and double and scored the winning run in the 12th, on Tompkin's smash, to cop top honors as his team took Comstock's in the battle of the year to date.

K. of C. led 5-1 in the fourth, but Comstock's put five across in the sixth. K. of C. scored three against one in the seventh, but their rivals put over three in the first of the ninth, to lead by two. A hit by "Skeeter" O'Heron, a walk to Garvey, Spencer's hit and Wade's fielder's choice tied it up again in the K. of C. half. In the 12th, Crowley hit, advanced on walks to Willshaw and Sullivan and scored as Tompkins blasted a scorcher off Anderson's glove at second to end a thriller and send a happy crowd homeward.

Canada's Oarsmen, Yachtsmen Turn In Good Job At Olympics

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON, Aug. 6 — (CP). — Canadian cheering secitons at these 14th Olympic Games have had little to enthuse over, but nobody on the team is really downhearted.

Canadian spirits received a boost Thursday when the Dominion's oarsmen and yachtsmen turned in performances that spelled possible points when the final tallies are made.

But at Wembley Stadium it was Arthur Wint's day. The gangling, loose-jointed Jamaican ran the legs off the world's best to cop the 400-metre title and break the monopoly United States athletes have held in this event since 1928.

Wint overtook his fellow Jamaican, Herb McKenley, holder of the world quarter-mile record, in a tremendous stretch sprint and shot over the line two yards ahead in Olympic-record-equalling time of 46.2 seconds.

Canada's last hope in the 400, Bob McFarlane of London, Ont., had been eliminated during the morning in the semi-final. He ran last.

Different Story

But while the Canadian track and field team had little to show for its day's work, it was a different story at Henley-On-Thames, where the Leander crew of Hamilton won first place in its eight-oared shell heat, and at Torquay, in Cornwall, where Canadian yachtsmen continued to keep Dominion colors in the running.

The smooth-stroking Leander crew entered the semi-finals when they came from behind to overtake a surprisingly strong Portuguese crew. Stepping up their stroke to 40 to the minute a quarter-mile from the finish, the Leander eight cross the line half a length in front.

Hamilton provided a pair of winning yachtsmen, too. John Robertson and Dick Townsend sailed their boat to a second-place finish in Thursday's racing to take over the third-highest ranking in the swallow class competition. The 19-year-old Hamiltonians passed Sweden in the standings and were within reach of leading Britain and Portugal.

In the over-all unofficial standings for the games, Canada is credited with only six points, compared with more than 300 for the leading United States team.

In 8th Place

At the Wembley pool yesterday, Dr. Sammy Lee of Pasadena, Calif., took the high-tower diving championship in which Dr. George Athans of Vancouver wound up in eighth place.

Lee, who announced his intention of retiring from competition after his victory, had 130.5 points while Athans wound up with 62.50. The Vancouver doctor, who finished in ninth place in springboard dives last week, has been plagued with a severe cold.

Although out of the main competition at Henley, double-scullers Gabby Beaudry and Ted Graves of Ottawa placed third in a preliminary and enter another rowoff that can earn them a chance of bettering their position.

Canada's basketball team, already eliminated from championship competition, squeezed out a 58-50 decision over Uruguay in elimination play and now is in fourth place in the elimination group by a narrow margin.

The game was rough all the way and was featured by two fist fights, one of which resulted in the disqualification of Ben Lands, YMHA guard.

Places Fifth

In swimming, Vivian King of Winnipeg placed fifth in the women's 400-metre event and entered the next round as fastest among the losers. Kay McNamee of Victoria failed to qualify in this event.

Doug Gibson of Toronto and Allan Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., were eliminated in the men's 1,500-metre free-style event and Donna Gilmour, Millie Cheater and Diane Foster, all of Vancouver, failed to pass their first test in the women's 200-metre dash.

In the 10-event decathlon, Montreal's Lionel Fournier reached the half-way mark in 23rd place with 3,713 points. The leader is Lieut. Enrique Kistenmacher of Argentina with 3,897 points.

Canada's meanwhile, was eliminated from the team epee fencing by Belgium 12-1. Rosland Asselin of Montreal was the only winner.

Fanny Blankers-Koen of the Netherlands set an Olympic record in the semi-finals of the 200-metre dash as did Joe Verdeur of the United States in the 200-metre breast stroke.

Repechage Heats For Olympcs Crews

HENLEY - ON - THAMES, England, Aug. 6 — (CP). — If you don't know what a repechage is you'd better keep on reading because you'll see it in print a lot before the Olympic games are over.

In a rowing regatta the first day's losers are not eliminated. They are lumped together into a field which remains in the running for the championships through another series of competitions called "repechage heats."

Thus, a rowing crew can lose its first heat, fight its way back out of the repechage and still finish champions.

There are a lot of track and field folk at Wembley who wish they had a repechage..

Ontario Is Favored To Gain Championship

VANCOUVER, Aug. 6 (CP). — Ontario was favored today to gain undisputed possession of the Canadian cricket championship it shared with British Columbia last year following Thursday's triumph over Manitoba by 91 runs.

The west coast province, however, remained in the running, putting Alberta out for 69, then scoring 70 in reply for the loss of four wickets. The games left Ontario the only undefeated eleven, having won four straight. British Columbia has won three matches and lost one, Alberta has won one and dropped three, while Manitoba has lost all its matches.

In Thursday's game Ontario scored 185 runs for six wickets and then declared before dismissing Manitoba for 91. The eastern eleven rested its star bowlers, Les Stroud and Jim Cameron, but skipper McLean carried the load successfully, resisting strong Manitoba batting opposition at the start.

Petes Swamp Orillia 22-7 Sr. B Lacrosse

Unbeaten this season, Peterborough Ostranders won their 14th straight OLA Senior B. game Thursday night in Orillia, swamping the homesters 22-7. The Petes led from the word go, running into almost no opposition. Chunky Lou Vitarelli sparked the Petes with a fine offensive show in which he scored six goals and one assist, while brother Dootch did almost as well, with four points.

Petes went out ahead 4-1 in the first period on goals by the Vitarellis and Terry Gordon, the lone Orillia tally going to Hank Pearsall after a brilliant solo rush. At the end of the second frame, the visitors piled on five more, while Orilia could add only one, to make it 9-2 at intermission.

Orillia hit their peak in the third period when Beaton, Pearsall and Massey connected for three goals for the homesters, only to have the Petes counter with five. The fourth period saw the Petes scoring almost at will as they pushed eight past Windy Varty in the Orillia net.

Kingston Srs. Here Saturday

Kingston Locos, here Saturday against the Marines, took an 8-4 win from the second place Batawa Shoemen Thursday night behind the six-hit pitching of Jack Stone, who struck out 13. This keeps the Locos in the running for a playoff berth, and last night's win proves they're tough competition for any team.

Moe Watson of the Batawas was high man on the hit parade with a triple and two singles in four at bats. For the Locos, Glynn Udall and Tony Connor had two hits each.

Dodgers Down Cubs 6-4 Hermanski Team Sparkpulg

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dixie Walker, the old "peepul's cherce" of Flatbush, is hardly ever missed in Brooklyn these days—all because of the fine all-around play of his successor in right field, Gene Hermanski.

Hermanski enjoyed the greatest batting day of his brief big-league career Thursday when he crashed three home runs and almost single-handedly paved the way for the Dodgers' 6-4 victory over Chicago Cubs. The Dodgers trail Boston Braves by 4½ games, the closest they've been to the top this season.

The Braves defeated Cincinnati Reds 6-4 in a night game at Boston, snapping a four-game losing streak.

With Cincinnati leading 4-2 as a result of a three-run outburst against Warren Spahn in the top of the sixth, the Braves came back to tie the score in their half, then tallied two more in the eighth. Earl Torgeson's triple off Ken Burkhart with two aboard proved the decisive wallop.

Keep First Place

Although they trail Philadelphia Athletics by half a game in the won-and-lost column, Cleveland Indians retained possession of first place in the torrid American League race by .002 points when they defeated Washington Senators 3-0.

The Athletics swept a doubleheader from the White Sox in Chicago, 3-0 and 7-4, to advance to second place—a mere .0001 point in front of the Yankees.

The New Yorkers nipped the Tigers in Detroit, 2-1, to remain half a game ahead of Boston Red Sox who overcame the Browns in St. Louis, 8-7.

The Indians' victory was tempered by an injury to shortstop-manager, Lou Boudreau, who received shoulder and ankle bruises in a collision at second base with outfielder Gil Coan of Washington. While X-rays disclosed no fractures, Boudreau became a doubtful starter in today's game with the Yankees.

Down Sox Twice

Homer-hungry at Chicago's Comiskey Park since 1946, the Athletics hammered three out of the park to down the White Sox twice. Hank Majeski clouted a ninth-inning round tripper as Joe Coleman shut out the Sox on six hits in the opener. Don White and Sam Chapman connected for the circuit in the second game.

Allie Reynolds bested Freddie Hutchinson in the Yankees' hurling duel, although he needed help from Joe Page in the ninth.

The Red Sox saw an early six-run lead go out of the window, then bounced back to tally one in the eighth to beat the Browns. Vern Stephens singled home Johnny Pesky with the winning run.

Four scheduled games in the National League were rained out.

GRUESOME MAIDEN

An early form of guillotine, last used 1710, was then called the "Maiden." Its ax moved in grooves in a frame 19 feet high.

Montreal Mauls Orioles In Doubleheader

By The Associated Press

The cry heard around the International League these days is "break up those Montreal Royals."

Unless the rest of the clubs get some much-needed help, or the parent Brooklyn Dodgers recall a couple of players from the Royals' star-studded roster, the race threatens to become a shambles.

Already the Royals are 9½ games ahead of the Newark Bears, their nearest pursuer. The rest of the clubs haven't even a look-in.

Take Thursday's doubleheader between the league leaders and cellar-dwelling Baltimore Orioles, for example. The Royals won as they pleased, 15-2 and 17-1. They did everything almost perfect. Jack Banta and Frank Laga pitched four and two-hit ball, respectively.

In the only other activity, Newark and Toronto divided a doubleheader. The Maple Leafs won the opener in a walk, 11-1, and the Bears came back to squeeze out a 7-6 victory in the nightcap.

Seven home runs were hit. The homer parade was led by Van Harrington of the Leafs who had two in the second game. They were more than offset by those of Johnny Lucadello, Jackie Phillips and Ted Sepkowski. Phillips' came with the bases loaded.

Lefty Jocko Thompson gained his eighth victory in the opener, holding the Bears to three hits. Puddinhead Jones aided him with a grand-slam homer in the third. Hank Biasatti also hammered his 15th for the Leafs.

Rain forced the postponement of the Syracuse-Buffalo games as well as the Jersey City-Rochester affair.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A grey-fringed Vancouver business man—with the suggestion of a paunch — Thursday came up with a reasonable explanation for Canada's track stars unspectacular showing in the Olympic games.

"We must use the hot-house system of indoor training — the United States proved this in the present games," said Percy Williams, who won both 100 and 200-metre sprints in the 1928 games —a feat no white man has since equalled.

"In the United States development of track stars depends largely on indoor work, in winter months.

"Here what do we have? It is tragic to see our track people in the winter trying to work out swathed in sweatshirts and towels, in rain, mist and fog. You simply cannot train track athletes under such conditions."

President Peter Campbell of the International League Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday announced a verbal agreement has been reached between the club and Philadelphia Phillies of the National League for a tie-up again next year.

"We have come to a verbal agreement concerning many matters for next season," said Campbell. "Phillies have a host of young ball players ready for Triple A inspection and we hope to present a young and speedy club next season."

Bob Porterfield, ace pitcher for Newark Bears in the International League, has been sent up to New York Yankees, Parke Carroll, Bears general manager, announced today.

Condition of speedboat racer Jack (Pops) Cooper, severely injured while racing on Lake Ontario at Picton Monday, was reported "about the same" Thursday at Syracuse, NY. His physician said the 68-year-old Kansas City, Mo., racing enthusiast was still in serious condition, but not on the critical list.

Tippy Larkin, 31-year-old dancing master from Garfield, NJ, stopped Willie Beltram, New York, at the end of the fifth round of their scheduled 10-round boxing bout at Madison Square Garden Thursday night.

Referee Eddie Joseph and Dr. Vincent Nardiello ended the fight because of severe cuts over and below Beltham's right eye.

Lawn bowlers from Canada and the United States will compete for $3,000 worth of prizes in the provincial lawn bowling tournament at the Boulevard Club, Toronto, August 16 to 21.

Tournament officials expect 600 bowlers to participate. Of the 11 trophies, three are for singles, four for rinks, and four for the doubles.

Baseball Commisioner A. B. Chandler Thursday accused some clubs of exercising "extraordinary prowess" in finding ways to circumvent the bonus rule and of ignoring some of the provisions of that dealing with the signing of high school players. "The commissioner's office is not naive enough to be unmindful of what is going on," Chandler said in a directive to all major and minor league clubs.

Lorne Main of Vancouver on Thursday eliminated Dick Cain of Kalamazoo, Mich., 8-6, 6-3, in the United States junior tennis championships at Kalamazoo.

McFarlane Eliminated In 400-Metre Sprint

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, Aug. 6 (CP).—Arthur Wint of Jamaica won the 400-metre run from his Negro team-mate Herb McKenley, and Sweden broke Finland's long monopoly of steeplechase victories as two more track and field championships were run off yesterday at the Olympics.

Wint was clocked at 46.2 seconds, equalling the Olympic record set by Bill Carr of the United States in 1932.

Bob McFarlane of London, Ont., Canada's only qualifier for the semi-finals, had been eliminated before the six-man championship was run.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Batting — Gene Hermanski, Dodgers— Clouted three successive home runs to drive in five runs and lead the Dodgers to a 6-4 victory over Chicago Cubs.

Pitching— Gene Bearden, Indians—Scattered six hits in shutting out Washington Senators 3-0 while helping himself to a home run.

Seeded fifth, Main is the only Canadian left in the tournament. His victory advanced him to the quarter-finals to-day.

Canada Threat To Hollywood Film Supremacy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 6 (AP). — Canada presents a new threat to Hollywood's film supremacy.

Extensive plans are under way to make 10 films in the Dominion in two years, using a studio in Montreal plus unlimited Canadian scenery. Lenny Fields, former producer at Republic Studios here, is lining up Hollywood names. Paul Henreid and Preston Foster are already set.

Stars Roundup

Montgomery Clift hopes to return to Broadway after "The Heiress." He has unsual freedom for a new film personality, his contract permitting him to do stage work whenever he wants to. He may perform in Lillian Hellman's dramatization of the Norman Mailer best-seller, "The Naked and The Dead."

Bill Holden still hasn't resolved his differences with Paramount. His contract is owned jointly by Paramount and Columbia and he says he's "tired of being kicked between the two like a football." He wants permission to do one outside picture yearly.

Lucille Ball reports that square dancing is the latest fad at Hollywood parties. "It's fun — and figure-trimming, too," she says.

Bebe Daniels will give her 16-year-old daughter, Barbara, an acting chance in "Catch Me Before I Kill," a juvenile delinquency yarn which Bebe is producing for Eagle-Lion.

Capsule Review

"A Date With Judy" (MGM) burlesques the antics of teenagers in a domestic comedy with music. The youngsters may well resent it, but their elders may find it diverting. The varied talents of Wallace Beery, Jane Powell, Carmen Miranda and Elizabeth Taylor help offset the obvious story.

DEMON HANOVER, AN entry in the $60,000 Hambletonian stake at Goshen, N.Y., Aug. 11, is pictured with his owner-driver, Harrison Hoyt of Bethel, Conn. The pair won 9 out of 12 starts so far this season.

MARY ALICE MILLER, 19 months, isn't too happy as a fawn she tried to feed thanks her warmly and damply for her kindness. Mary wished to remain an anonymous benefactor, but the fawn would have none of that.

Average Age Of Winning Team 70

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 6 — (ENS). — The Campbellford rink that won the gold cup at Belleville this week, while by no means a group of ancients, still has an average age of 70. Top man in age is 82 year-old T. L. "Les" Diamond.

The others are A. D. Bennett, vice, who was singles champion of District No. 15, PLBA, Walter Wiggins, skip, president of the Campbellford and District Game and Fish Protective Association, who on several occasions has won the doubles shield, in company with Jim Archer, lead.

Mr. Wiggins, accompanied by his wife, left Wednesday for Connecticut, where he will compete in an international match on Saturday.

The gold cup, now on exhibition in Les Diamond's office window, is presented by the Corbin Lock Company for the annual district competition, in which there are also up to $1,000 in other prizes awarded.

Entries for the competition are limited, registration being restricted to 64 rinks. This year the Campbellford entry was filed on January first to ensure that the rink would not be left out of the running. Only Canadians are eligible for the contest, which is the largest and most popular one of its kind in the country, according to local bowlers.

The contest last Monday which resulted in the local rink bringing home the trophy, was representative of the entire province, with most of the large clubs represented on the greens.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

Gertrude Ederle of the United States became the first woman swimmer to conquer the English Channel 22 years ago today. She negotiated the tide - swollen waters in 14 hours, 31 minutes. Eight women have performed the feat since but none achieved the fame of "Trudy" who was acclaimed on her return to New York.

Where's Summer Gone?

WHITE RIVER, Aug. 6.—(CP). —Residents of this community 125 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie shivered in air one degree above freezing Wednesday night —the lowest thermometer reading in Canada. Holidayers all through Northern Ontario pulled up another blanket as the mercury slid down close to the 40 mark.

Locke, Barron Close On Prize

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(AP). — Eight highly-touted pros today began the last round of the Tam o'Shanter scramble for top money of $5,000 only four strokes apart and an extra-hole playoff seemed likely.

Two past champions held a one-stroke advantage as the tourney turned toward the most unpredictable finish in an eight-year history. Bobby Locke of South Africa, defending titlist, uncorked a third-round 36-34-79, two under par, Thursday to overhaul Herman Barron, 1946 winner, who took a standard 72. Both pulled up at the 54-hole mark with 208's—eight under the regulation.

Only one stroke behind at 209 were Pete Cooper of Gainesville, Florida open champion; and veteran Lloyd Mangrum.

Cooper slammed a fine 68 in his third-round bid while the methodical Mangrum, third leading money winner with $20,944, carved a 70.

Scores soared generally in the all-American women's open. Patty Berg fashioned a four-over par 80 for a 54hole tally of 236 and a two-stroke lead over Babe Zaharias. The Babe faded to 81.

JEAN PAUL NADEAU, 21, (inset) of Montreal, frustrated in an attempt to hold up a store recently, took his own life when he found himself cornered after a running battle with police. Photo above, left, shows Ernest Audet, pointing to a nick in the brickwork from bullet which passed over his head while he was reading. Photo at right, shows Mrs. Edouard Paquin and son, Jacques, who are shown standing before the door of an adjoining apartment broken open by bandit in his frantic effort to escape. Asks Tariff Change

Gearhart (Rep.-Calif.) proposed Thursday that the United States tariff law be amended to forbid tourists returning from up to 12-day visits in foreign countries from bringing in chinaware free of duty. Gearhart told the House some Americans visit Canada and purchase English china which is imported to Canada free of duty.

Intimidation Charges Dropped At Goderich

GODERICH, Aug. 6 — (CP) — Charges of intimidation against Robert E. Schumacher of Midland, and Michael Hornack of Welland, both members of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) were withdrawn Thursday at the request of Crown Attorney D. E. Holmes of Huron County.

Mr. Holmes said the charges were dropped because four witnesses, former members of the crew of Northwest Steamships' ship Superior could not be found.

Bail of $1,000 each was ordered returned.

The seamen were charged with unlawfully boarding the Superior in Goderich harbor on June 11. Police said they threw stones and bottles and attempted to prevent persons from working.

Northwest Steamships is one of four lake shipping companies now in dispute with the Canadian Seamen's Union over a contract.

CLEAR DAYS AND A blazing sun at the Olympic Games in London brought out this ingenious style, which is both chic and practical. Wearing a flat straw hat and using a large kerchief to protect her neck, a pretty girl watched the games in comfort.

Civil Servants Disapprove Job For Godbout

OTTAWA, Aug. 6 — (CP). — Liberal convention or no Liberal convention, senior civil servants today voiced disapproval of any possible moves to appoint Quebec Liberal Leader Adelard Godbout or another political figure to the Civil Service Commission.

In the midst of the convention roar, their spokesman, the Civil Service Federation of Canada, addressed a letter to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and told him so in no uncertain terms.

The letter:

"It has been brought to our attion through reliable sources that certain pressure is being brought upon the cabinet for a political appointment (Mr. Godbout) to fill the vacancy on the Civil Service Commission created by the regretted passing of the late Commissioner A. Thivierge.

"May we respectfully submit that the announcement of this political appointment would greatly disturb the confidence of civil servants in the merit system actually in existence in the civil service.

"However, the federation sincerely hopes that the information received is unfounded and that the cabinet will maintain the principle of promotion within the service when considering the appointment of a successor to the late Mr. Thivierge."

As the contents of the letter became public, the civil service commission quickly added a comment — the appointment of Mr. Godbout now was considered "most unlikely."

Hiroshima People Plead A-Power Used For Peace

HIROSHIMA, Japan, Aug. 6 — (AP). — The 230,000 residents of this first atom-bombed city joined today in a plea for world peace and a prayer that atomic energy will be used for the benefit of mankind.

At 8.15 a.m., the moment the bomb burst over Hiroshima three years ago, Mayor Shinzo Hamai led townspeople in renewing "solemn vows to contribute our bit to the peace of the world."

Standing at the foot of the memorial peace tower and looking over the city, which has been partly rebuilt, Hamai recalled the bombing in these words:

"The whole city was razed to the ground. There was nothing left but ruin and disaster. No one can give a full account of the awful sufferings and grievous miseries this single bomb brought to the living as well as the dying, while more than 100,000 innocent people lost their lives on that occasion. The fear and trembling we experienced are indeed quite beyond description."

Lt.-Gen. H. C. H. Robertson, British occupation commander, represented Gen. Douglas MacArthur at the ceremonies. He delivered for the supreme commander "to the worthy people of Hiroshima, my cordial greetings and my congratulations on the marked progress they are making in a reconstructive program."

Lots of Rooms

OTTAWA, Aug. 6—(CP)—Canada may still have a housing shortage on its hands, but despite a Liberal convention Ottawa has 500 vacant rooms. Shortly after 2 p.m. on Thursday the fire department made a run to Otonabee St. near Downers' Corners to extinguish a truck fire. Jaycees Report Busy Weekend At Road Booth

Accommodation for 215 tourists was secured in the Kawarthas district over the weekend through facilities at the Junior Chamber of Commerce tourist information bureau. Reference to the bureau log book also indicates that 120 cars stopped on the parking lot. Enquiries about the district, location of resorts and other information totalled 97.

August 1 was the peak of holiday traffic with 39 enquiries and 80 accommodations filled. Friday night the bureau remained open late to accommodate tourist traffic in the weekend rush.

One motorist lodged a complaint at the bureau in connection with faulty information given by a service station operator in the district. He was routed to Toronto via Bancroft. Given proper directions, the motorist left, but not before suggesting that district people should get to know their own country.

Periodic car counts indicate that the heaviest flow of traffic occurs between 10 and 11 a.m. and in the afternoon between 2 and 5 p.m. Evening traffic drops to a trickle after 7 p.m.

The Jaycees are now entering their third month of bureau operation. Opened June 28 the bureau has been manned by members of the Junior Chamber, assisted by the Associated Canadian Travellers, Peterborough Club.

Resort owners in the district have voiced appreciation for the work done by the Jaycees in routing tourists to their lodges, and accommodating tourists in the district without resort reservations.

Spray Machine Battles Park Mosquitoes

Man, in an effort to exterminate insect pests, took a tip from nature in arriving at some satisfactory method of laying a death-dealing fog in infested areas. He watched fog spread over the land, lie close to the ground, hover in orchards and woods. He watched it permeate every tree and plant, every twig and leaf, and realized that he must duplicate nature in a mechanical way to create a fog that would carry chemicals to be spread in the same manner.

There are many machines on the market for this purpose but few in Peterborough. On Thursday morning, the Parks Department of the city Board of Works in conjunction with the Sanitation department, borrowed a machine from John Stuart, Jr., of Old Orchard Farm, to see what it would do in Jackson's Park. They mixed DDT powder with water and started off at the north end of the park by the cement bridge.

First the water was sprayed and, although there was a fairly stiff breeze blowing, the mechanical fog spread and settled over the creek banks and across the water. Working slowly along the creek drive, the machine operator, Don Nickle, directed the spray into the underbrush on both sides of the road and into the tall mosquito - infested cedars. Even though the park is well underbrushed, no insects could escape the deadly stream, even among the weeds and wild flowers. DDT mixture does not affect growth, nor is it poisonous, officials stated.

The object in making a trial run at this time of the year is to kill the second crop of mosquito larvae that are about to be hatched, stated R. M. MacPherson, Sanitary inspector, who supervised the job. The ideal time is mid-May before the season's first larvae are hatched.

Not only do mechanical sprays work well on parks but orchards, vine crops and cattle spraying is where they do their chief good. John Stewart, Jr., used it with much success at his ranch and summer home at Bald Lake, Harvey township. Hugh Waddell, neighboring property owner, said that about 1,000 feet of shoreline was treated, swampy ground and damp windfall sections; the results were quite noticeable.

Bishton Funeral Held Thursday

The funeral of Charles Harrison Bishton, 29, 772 St. Marys St., was held on Thursday afternoon at the Belleghem Funeral Home, with the Rev. C. E. Moore, St. George's Anglican church, officiating. There was a large attendance of friends and relatives and numerous floral tributes.

Pallbearers were Duke Huggins, Gordon Huggins, Clarence Seabrooke, V. Brown and Ernest Johnson. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Mr. Bishton, who died on Monday of gasoline burns received the previous Wednesday, was the son of Mrs. Emma Elizabeth Slater and the late Frederick Bishton. He leaves a wife, the former Eileen June Huggins, two children, Sandra Marlene, 4, and John Walter, 3; five brothers, Benjamin of Meaford, George of Rosseau, Albert of Thornhill, and Clarence and Raymond of Peterborough; four sisters, Mrs H. Sucee of Pontypool, Mrs. Clifford Daily of Rosseau, Mrs. Sam Watson and Mrs. A. Allen of Peterborough.

Peterborough Rats No Longer Happy

Sanitation Measures Spell Death for Rodents

Peterborough has its own "pied piper" to lead the never-ceasing war on rats. He is Ronald M. MacPherson, City Sanitary Inspector, who lures the rodents not with the sweet strains of a pipe but with the sweet odor of a deadly poison. He guarantees that while this may be less romantic it is more efficient than the method employed by the mythical musician from Hamelin.

Except for one section in the south end, in the vicinity of the Exhibition Grounds, he considers Peterborough relatively free from the rat menace. There are always bound to be some around stables and dumps and the situation in these special areas is closely watched.

Mr. MacPherson points out that the rat menace has been gradually diminishing in Peterborough over the past 10 years, but he believes it was still acute up until four years ago when a particularly potent poison was introduced.

This poison known to the initiated as Alpha Naptha Thio-Urea was shortened to the less forbidding though meaningless word "Antu." Although 400 times more powerful than previous ratacides. Antu is relatively non-poisonous to humans and thus could be left on dumps and other infected areas with only minimum supervision.

The exterminators needed first to find the burrows and runs of the rats. Then the poison, a white powder generally mixed with a sticky substance, was dropped on those places over which the rat was bound to pass. When the rat licked off the substance he was poisoned.

During the war the American Army, faced with the millions of dollars damage done by rats, turned to the Office of Scientific Research Development to invent an even more toxic preparation.

Results were so encouraging that Mr. MacPherson decided to try it out in Peterborough. The powder, Sodium Fluoraocete or known simply as "1080," is said to be 600 times as powerful as Antu and extremely toxic to all warm-blooded animals. For this reason it is not on sale in Canada and experiments are still being made.

Odor Attracts Rats

"Half an ounce of this white powder dissolved in a gallon of water is enough to kill all the rats in Peterborough," said Mr. MacPherson. The liquid is put in a little paper cup in a place frequented by rats. It has a sweet smell that attracts the rodents and they cannot refrain from drinking from the deadly cup.

In one three-room eating place a few thimbles full of the liquid was recently left on the floor in the paper container; the lights were turned off and the sanitary inspector watched from a vantage point. Nine dead rats were counted a few hours later. And for every one found dead it is estimated that another one died in some hidden place.

At one time a building east of the drill hall in the Exhibition Grounds was used for storing feed. The rats swarmed in and multiplied. Then when the building was abandoned as a feed storing place the rats were left without any food and struck out in all directions in search of something to eat.

"If we could have used this poison on them when they were all in the one building our task would be much easier," said Mr. MacPherson.

The Quaker Oats Co. says that it is not particularly bothered with rats. Buildings are tightly built and doors are kept shut which gives the rodents scant chance of getting in. Some trouble with mice is encountered, however, and these are caught by traps.

At the Dewart Milling Co. the grain bins are sealed in cement to prevent the admission of rats or mice. When a section of the plant has too many rats it is sealed off and fumigated. Poisons, they say, are not used.

Many shopkeepers are skeptical of traps and poisons and rely on a cat to keep the premises clean.

The combination of these mechanical and chemical as well as flesh-and-blood devices helps to keep Peterborough property free from destruction and deterioration by the fast-breeding rat population.

Etobicoke Man Faces 3 Charges Theft Of Motors

Chester Crowe of Etobicoke appeared in court today facing three charges involving theft of outboard motors from the Lakefield district within the past few weeks. The accused, who did not enter a plea, was remanded until Saturday.

Crowe is charged with breaking, entering and theft from the storehouses of Gerald Northey and Eric Morin at Lakefield. The third charge is of receiving stolen goods. The goods mentioned in the charge are an outboard motor belonging to Morin and one belonging to John Mose.

The arrest of Crowe was made at Etobicoke Wednesday afternoon by Lakefield Police Chief Samis, who was assisted in the search and investigation by officers of the Criminal Investigation Branch of the Provincial Police and Etobicoke police.

W. J. A. Fair of Peterborough is representing the accused.

Poachers Busy On Ganaraska

PORT HOPE, Aug. 6.—There is evidence that spearing of large brown trout has been taking place in the Ganaraska river in the area from Osaca to Canton.

Seven fish have been found dead floating on the surface of the water. All showed wounds caused, it is believed, by spears. The practice is a direct infraction of the law, to say nothing of sportsmanship.

Weirs and gill nets are also being used on the same stretch of water. One Port Hope citizen states he came across eight young men plying a home-made weir. After watching them for some time he discovered that after placing the weir, the lads went upstream, thrashing the water and poking into likely holes with long poles, thus driving the fish downstream and into the trap. When the witness showed himself, the youths fled, crashing through the wooded country surrounding the spot.

These instances have been reported to the Ganaraska Fish and Game Club, resulting in prompt action on the part of the organization.

The County Game Warden was called in and the stream is now being patrolled by three game wardens; a fact which is published as a warning to lawbreakers who, when caught, according to the officials, will be prosecuted to the extremity of the law, which is harsh. The penalty includes confiscation of all equipment, cars, tackle, etc., plus a fine and possible imprisonment.

The Ganaraska Fish and Game Club have been working for several years restocking the streams for the benefit of sportsmen, but not for the indulgence of individuals who enjoy wholesale slaughter. Co-operation from all citizens in observing and reporting such infractions is requested.

STOP SIGN OBSCURED

The stop sign on King St. at the southwest corner of the King-Rubidge St. intersection is a pretty hard one to see. From Reid St., only the edges of it can be seen, since a telephone pole obscures vision. Not until the driver is about 20 feet from it can he see it.

Further Tax Boost In '49 Appears Unavoidable As Committee Studies Needs

Mayor Ovens took time by the forelock with an executive meeting Thursday seeking definite information of the city's borrowing in the next few years. With him were Aldermen Max Swanston and Hugh Waddell, City Treasurer Couper and City Auditor Edward Humpage.

That was in the morning. In the afternoon there was another financial discussion on a lower level and with vastly smaller sums considering intimations from the Board of Works employees that Utilities Commission last week had boosted both salaries and wages. So, the news got around the municipal yard, and stirred up the question: "What about us?".

On the surface it might have been called one of the quieter days at the city hall, but the morning session was delving into prospective expenditures that mount up into weighty total in seven figures.

At the top of the list an item of $2,000,000 expenditure, most of it provided for, was tentatively set down for the Civic Hospital, and then comes the addition to the sewage disposal plant, and so on down a list which includes the new city hall, and possibly an extra $75,000 for the Community Memorial Centre for which the people have already voted $75,000.

"But, why should we stir up borrowing bogeys in early August while it is still vacation time," Ald. Swanston, finance chairman, remarked to The Examiner.

"I don't know what Mayor Ovens and Ald. Waddell would like about it, but I think we would agree that we might as well wait until we have gone over the figures again, maybe. There is no hurry about it. It will be remembered that Herbert Bradburn when chairman of the finance committee prepared a similar prospect of the trend of financing the city. If it has not been closely followed, the reason is largely that costs have been exorbitant, and the council has been reluctant to involve the taxpayers in expenditures which might be delayed without any great set-back to the city. An exception was the new hospital."

The casual comments of Ald. Swanston, in reference to the morning meeting, was a remark that it seemed now almost a certainty that Peterborough's tax rate would move up somewhat next year. For the present, the council and everybody else are still aware of vacation time in the heart of vacation country, two of the three tax instalments have been paid, and it's a long way to next November, nominations, elections and all that sort of thing.

Peterborough Girl Dies At Fesserton

The large attendance of friends at the funeral of Mrs. Lloyd Craddock at Fesserton Thursday morning was a tribute to her active interest in all its community work. Requiem mass was celebrated at St. John's Church by Rev. Father Fallon, S.J., assisted by Rev. Father Kanavy, S.J. of the Martyrs' Shrine.

Mrs. Craddock was born in Peterborough, Irene Allen, daughter of the late Robert Allen and his wife Margaret Meade, and had lived at Fesserton for the last 12 years. She had endeared herself generally in the community by her spirit of friendship and her interest in the welfare of the people. The pall bearers were: Robert and Leo Allen and John and Robert Baldwin of Peterborough, Allan Blanchard and Carl Cronin of Waubaushene. Burial was at St. John's Cemetery, Waubaushene.

Mrs. Craddock is survived by her husband, her mother, and sisters, Mrs. J. Haugh of Lindsay, Mrs. S. Hensley of Flint, Mich., Mrs. Joseph O'Keefe and Mrs. Marie Baldwin of Peterborough, Mrs. Hazel Blanchard of Waubaushene, and brothers, Robert J. and Leo Allen of Peterborough.

Citizens Donate $10,609 In TB Seal Sale

More than $10,000 has been collected in Peterborough city and county from the sale of Christmas seals, since the campaign in aid of tuberculosis prevention began in 1945. The first year of the campaign a total of $2,285 was collected; in 1946 this figure was nearly doubled, when the campaign included both city and county, and a total of $4,083 was collected from the sale of seals. Last Christmas, there was again an increase in the sale of seals with a total of $4,341.51. The three-year total is $10,609.

In 1945, a Christmas seal committee was sponsored by the Local Council of Women. Mrs. W. Addyman was chairman and the other members were Mrs. W. H. Morton, Mrs. H. T. Rehill, Mrs. W. G. McLaren and Mrs. Ed. Wand. Miss Gene Clark was treasurer, and after her resignation Mrs. G. A. Biggs was appointed secretary-treasurer.

Christmas seals were mailed to 1945. The following year, when approximately 5,000 people in the committee became the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association, the mailing list was increased to include 8,847 people. Last winter, a revised list was drawn up with 8,850 names and addresses. No appeal was made to industry by the association, but merely to private individuals.

Many programs have been carried out by the association, including mass chest X-ray surveys of various municipalities throughout the county, X-ray survey of all secondary school pupils and food handlers in the city, and more recently a bi-monthly referred X-ray clinic at the two city hospitals. These services were entirely financed by the sale of Christmas seals.

STUDY LAKEFIELD HEALTH

Three doctors of the provincial Department of Health arrived in Lakefield this afternoon to make a survey of the village. It is not known whether their work will be a fairly brief inspection or if a more complete investigation of the area will be made. There have been five cases of polio reported there so far this season.

Opening Convention Session Dull Liberals Waiting For Business

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Aug. 6 — (CP) — There were smoke-filled rooms, all right, but in some the cigar aroma was all but stifled by the clinging remembrance of livestock.

Bandwagons there were, too, but they were of the psychological kind rolling for one candidate or another.

There were glad-handing politicians; backwoods delegates from the far corners of the Dominion; the Prime Minister up there on the platform signing autographs; a blowup of Sir Wilfrid Laurier looking benignly down on the party of today; the undercurrent of history in the making.

But above all it was dull, this opening session of the National Liberal convention. It was dull with the dreary disinterest that comes when men want to get down to brass tacks—in this case drafting a platform and singling out a leader—but most spent the day in a stuffy hall wading through the formal preliminaries.

While the microphoned voices droned on from the platform, the men—and women—from the constituencies shuffled their feet; they wandered about the aisles of the Coliseum's floor; they knotted into groups to talk up the chances of one candidate or another.

To and from the sweltering caucus rooms, they walked up and down cleated ramps used for herding livestock in and out of those building used for agricultural exhibitions.

Reminiscent Atmopshere

The stalls had been knocked down to provide seating room, but no amount of airing could camouflage the all-pervading barnyard atmosphere.

The early apathy was expected to give way to livelier interest by Saturday when the convention gets around to picking a leader.

The candidates themselves were a study in contrasts.

External Affairs Minister St. Laurent, the odds-on favorite in the leadership stakes, sat impassively on the platform through the plenary session. At adjournment times, he did his hand-shaking chores and eased out quietly, leaving his battery of supporters to volunteer electioneering.

Energetic little Agriculture Minister Gardiner was a dynamo by comparison. He was all over the place, consulting frequently with his workers, earnestly talking to uncertain delegates and generally master-minding his own vigorous campaign.

Hon. C. G. Power, former air minister, the third definite candidate, was busy, too. But he appeared to be running pretty much of a lone-hand game as compared with the other two. In fact, he said during the day he didn't even know who was going to second his nomination.

Put 5,500 Head Of Cattle Up For Sale

TORONTO, Aug. 6 — (CP). — Some 5,500 head of cattle were up for sale on the livestock market here this week compared with over 7,000 last week. The run was approximately equal to the same week last year.

A large percentage of the cattle were hard-to-get-rid-of common to medium grades and stockers and it was mid-week before their numbers were appreciably whittled down. These grades are estimated at fully $1 lower for the week although they saw so little action the exact drop is difficult to determine. Heifers, while not showing the same quality as last week looked fully 50 cents lower. Good butcher cows suffered the severest cut with large buyers bidding $13 a hundredweight for top cows — $2-$2.50 lower than last week's top. A few good bulls offered sold steady while common to medium sold about the same as last week. Fed yearlings continued to meet strong demand while stockers found an uneven market. Good quality animals found fair success while common to medium grades saw little action. Included in the fresh run were 2,200 western stockers.

Weighty steers sold from $17-$23 and butcher steers from $16-$21.50. Heifers ranged from $15-$20 with an odd top of $20.50. Good butcher cows sold from $14-$14.50 but dropped $1-$1.50 near the close. Common to medium cows sold downward to $11 and canners and cutters downward to $5. A few good bulls sold from $14.50-$15.50 with common to medium downward to $9. Fed yearlings continued steady to strong at $20-$24 but buyers carrying unfilled order to the close of the market.

Stocker prices

Good quality stockers sold from $15-$16.50 with common to medium sold downward to $11. Ordinary quality milkers and springers sold from $100-$160 each, grass cows sold from $9-$13 a hundredweight.

Calves totalled 1,500 head. Good to choice veals opened steady at $20-$22 with an odd top of $23, but by Thursday good to choice were selling stronger at $20-$23. Common to medium vealers sold steady downward to $12. Thin grass calves sold for slaughter at $10-$12.

The market saw 1,700 hogs in this week and prices advanced $1. Grade A were $32.50 and B1 $32.10. Sows were $22 dressed.

Sheep and lambs were 2,200 head. Good spring lambs opened at $25 to small local buyers on Tuesday morning, but the bulk of trade sold at $24 later in the day. Lambs closed at $24 for good ewes and wethers with $1 discount on bucks. Sheep remained unchanged with good lightweights selling up to $9. Culls and fat sheep sold at $4-$6. Cull lambs sold at $15-$20. A few yearlings sold at $10-$11.

Martin Ignores Ontario Pressure

OTTAWA, Aug. 6 — (CP). — Central Ontario Thursday night joined Western Ontario's "Draft Martin" campaign despite the Health Minister's announcement he will not run but will support External Affairs Minister St. Laurent for the Liberal leadership.

Joseph MacDonald, secretary of the Central Ontario Liberal Association, said in a statement:

"The urgent need of the Liberal Party to-day, if we cannot keep Mackenzie King, is for youth and energy in our leadership. The man that can lead us to victory in coming elections must be a young man like Ontario's Paul Martin."

Leader of the "Draft Martin" driver, Russell A. Farrow, Walkerville, earlier said Western Ontario Liberals are convinced the 45-year-old minister is the man the Liberal Party needs.

Mr. Farrow, honorary president of the Western Ontario Liberal Association, said delegates from Western Ontario are determined to double their efforts in the "Draft Martin" campaign.

Ontario has 388 delegates of the 1,299 atending the Liberal convention.

Criticize Truce Team Delays

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 6—(CP).—British authorities expressed concern today over the slow organization of truce observer teams in Palestine.

A spokesman for the British delegation said Britain hoped the teams would be on the job quickly, as the number of small incidents in the Holy Land might increase and thus bring on a renewal of warfare.

United Nations officials, meanwhile, awaited a report from Dr. Ralph Bunche, top secretariat representative in Palestine, on the situation there.

The Security Council has a formal complaint from the Israeli mission to the U.N. against Britain. The Israeli delegation charged that Britain is detaining 11,000 Jews on the island of Cyprus.

Flee Russians Now Find Haven

KITCHENER, Aug 6—(CP)—Seven frenzied weeks of flight from advancing Russian armies and nearly four years of uncertainty and waiting have ended for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bruckler and their two daughters with their arrival in Kitchener.

Fugitives from Russian rule in Romania, they were reunited with Mrs. Peter Schmitz, a daughter.

Through an interpreter, the refugees told a graphic story of the terror which accompanied the Russian occupation of their homeland.

The Brucklers, established farmers, left their farm, implements and grain at the approach of the Russians and fled to Austria in a horse-drawn cart.

"It rained and rained and we slept by the roadside. Our bedding was soaking wet and we prayed for dry weather, but still it rained," gray-haired Mrs. Buckler said.

"We thought sometimes we wouldn't make it, but we had nothing to lose. All we owned, a lifetime's work, we left behind us. We had no home, no country, no future."

Refuse To Send Negro To "Living Death"

TRENTON, N.J., Aug. 6—(AP).—Governor Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey today refused to return John Colier to what his lawyer said would be a "living death" on a South Carolina chain gang for a $5 theft.

Colier, a negro, escaped from the chain gang 11 years ago after serving nine months of a 19-month sentence. He has been held in Newark 27 months on a fugitive warrant.

Refusing to honor South Carolina's demand for his return, Driscoll asserted Colier "has by this time amply paid his debt to society, to such an extent that no further sound purpose could be served by his extradition."

Ways With Beans For Flavor Menu

String beans, that year-round vegetable, are an especially plentiful crop in the summer garden.

The first yield is greeted with joy, but later on one thinks, "More beans!" Varying the flavor will help preserve the string beans' popularity.

Ham and bacon can be used to flavor beans and offer a way of extending meat. Chopped beef combined with beans and other vegetables makes a good oven dinner or heavy luncheon dish. Cook beans in sauce or mellow yellow beans in vinegar and serve cold as a relish.

Here are some ways to prevent bean monotony.

Beans With Ham

2 lbs. smoked ham
1½ lbs. string beans
12 small new potatoes

Cover ham with water and simmer until almost tender. Wash beans and cut into one-inch pieces and add to ham with new potatoes which have been peeled; cook about 20 to 30 minutes or until vegetables and ham are tender. Do not over cook. Approximate yield: six portions.

Green Bean Casserole

1 medium onion, chopped
1 stalk celery, chopped
½ lb. ground beef
1 tablespoon drippings
½ lb. string beans
2 large potatoes
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup soup stock or water

Fry onion, celery, pepper and beef in drippings until beef is browned. Cut beans into one-inch pieces and cook, covered in small amount of boiling salted water 15 to 30 minutes or until tender. Boil potatoes, mash and season with salt and pepper to taste. Combine beans and beef mixture and turn into a well-oiled casserole. Measure fat left in frying pan, adding more if necessary to make two tablespoons. Heat fat in skillet; add flour and cook until lightly browned. Add stock, stir and cook until thickened. Season and pour over beef mixture, top with mashed potatoes and brown under broiler. Yield: four portions.

Bacon-Flavored Beans

1 lb. string beans
¼ lb. bacon, sliced
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced

Break off ends of beans, cut into one-inch pieces and cook, covered, in small amount of boiling salted water 14 to 30 minutes or until tender. Lay bacon in a cold frying pan and cook slowly, turning frequently. Pour bacon fat over beans as it accumulates. When crisp, drain bacon on absorbent paper and crumble. Place beans in serving dish, sprinkle bacon on top and garnish with sliced hard-cooked eggs. Yield: four portions.

Tart Yellow Beans

1 lb. yellow beans
½ cup vinegar
¼ cup water
1 small onion, minced

Break off ends of beans, cut in one-inch pieces and cook, covered in small amount of boiling, salted water 15 to 30 minutes, or until tender. Cool. Combine vinegar, water and onion and pour over beans. Season with salt and pepper and allow to stand in refrigerator for an hour or more. Serve as a relish. Yield: six portions.

Pennsylvania Dutch Boiled Beans

2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter
2 cups boiling water
1 lb. string beans, cut
1 small onion, chopped

Stir flour into melted fat and cook until browned. Slowly add only enough boiling water to cover the beans, and cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add beans cut in one-inch pieces, onion and salt and pepper to taste. Cover and cook 15 to 30 minutes or until tender. Yield: four portions.

Waistlines Higher Coats Tent-Like

PARIS, Aug. 6 — (AP). — Fall fashions were shown in 2 shows Thursday night featuring high waistlines and third - empire dresses with skirts falling straight from waist level to hemlines.

Coats and dresses appeared with a waistline set more than two inches above the 1948 level.

There is a new treatment for suits. They comprise jackets with stand-out fluted basques which often dip either at the back or front and are extremely tight, straight skirts with a slit up the back to allow leg movement.

Over the skirt is placed a folded panel, sometimes two narrow ones of matching material, which hangs loose from the waist. It produces a novel effect.

Suits in one show were mainly of the classic type but many have peplums dipping at the front.

Coats in both collections were tent-like and fur-lined. One designer lines many of his coats with contrasting colors. Velour is the favorite choice of material. This is so heavy it makes them kick out as if they were starched.

A lemon velour swingback coat was lined with black seal. A lavender-colored edge-to-edge tulip shaped short coat was trimmed with wide black lamb.

A fullbacked raglan topcoat of caramel-colored blanket velure had an inch-wide black Petersham binding around all the edges. A fingertip-level jacket in mustard colored duvetene had a gathered fullness falling from the new empire line.

Popular Teacher Given Shower

SPRINGVILLE, Aug. 5.—Mrs. O. J. Dunford, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Clifford Johnston, Mrs. Jack Magee, Mrs. Gordon Darling, Mrs. Milton Dunford and Miss Ida Dunford, entertained with a miscellaneous shower at her home, Elmdale Farm, for Miss Zetta Wilson, bride-elect of this month. Miss Wilson had spent five years as teacher at SS No. 3, North Monaghan. For the past seven years she has been elsewhere, and it was a great pleasure for the community to honor her and to welcome her back for the evening.

A "wishing well," prettily decorated in pink and white, concealed the gifts until games and contests were finished.

The bride-elect opened her gifts and expressed appreciation, and a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses.

Those present were Mesdames Lloyd Whittington, Gordon McIntosh, Wm. Robson, Perry Neals, Cecil Neals, Bernard Preston, Sam Staples, Carman Seymour, Elwood Johnston, Lorne White, Walter Bowles, Harold Cathcart, Misses Viola Neals, Marie Sheppard, Eleanor Bowles, Marilyn Bowles, Myrna Seymour, Lila Seymour, Joy Seymour, Myrtle Davis, Edna Davis, Hazel McIntosh, Nancy Johnston.

Mrs. Owen Murray and Misses Nora Staples and Mayme Cathcart were not present, but sent gifts.

Lack Confidence In Fashions Stylist Says

Business and Professional Women at the club's convention in Regina were surprised to learn from their third vice-president Mrs. Renhold Lang of Waterloo, that Christian Dior "never dreamt that women all over the world would accept his new look." The Paris designer, always an extremist, presented his startling creations, only expecting them to be accepted in moderation, so when clothes-conscious women surprised him, "he is not going to let them down," said Mrs. Lang. "As a result he will continue to portray the fashion picture with audacity and originality."

In describing her visits to the "ten big fashion houses in London" and the style mansion of designers like Dior, Lucien Lelong and Balmain, she pointed out that they all have typical characteristics. Customers may find the doorman very difficult to pass and only special invitations will open the door, "although my Canadian passport got me everywhere," said Mrs. Lang enthusiastically.

From there, an attendant will receive your credentials from behind a huge Florentine desk, at the bottom of a curved marble staircase and she will present you to the hostess in charge. A "vendeuse" will then step down from her appointed place on the stairway to escort you to the show room," usually furnished in period pieces and luxurious with aubusson rugs, crystal chandeliers, good Louis quatorze chairs and heavy with crimson damask or brocaded velvet. "Fashionable, wealthy French women frequently attend the 'Haute Coutuere' showing every day," said Mrs. Lang, "and the cheapest dress they may select may be bought for 80,0000 francs or approximately $270." Always, she added, the sound of silks and the fragrance of perfume precedes their arrival and lingers after their departure.

"Private customers receive all the privileges of a buyer because they know no wholesale in Paris," she said. Stylists rate their customers in the following order of prominence, American, South American, East Indian princesses, who are newcomers since the recent independence of India and lastly the Scandinavian group.

Mrs. Lang advises girls to plan a wardrobe and choose durable clothes that are basically in good taste. "Canadian women," she added, "only lack self confidence in the fashion world." Gowns, as seen in the French sidewalk cafes by Mrs. Lang, feature very full skirts, not restrained as previously reported from Paris; seven inches from the floor with exaggerated fullness in the back and emphasizing faggotting and tucking. Hats are still off-the-face with an abundance of flowers and veiling; navy blue is tops on the list of colors in vogue and sleeves are bracelet length; and accessorwith the gowns.

"Fashion is an industry," she stated, "and women must acquire knowledge about it and accept the opinion of experts as they would that of their doctors."

Whispers are to be heard around corners in English style shops that Philip is anxious that Princess Elizabeth should change her dress-maker, adopt a different silhouette and bolder colors.

While in Switzerland, the land of the "Little Paradise" Mrs. Lang visited their most famous lacemaking factory. While there, she read of the order of a wealthy American, wife of an automobile magnate, for three handkerchiefs at $500 a piece.

Gainer-Mountain At Cheltenham

Summer flowers and fern decorated the Baptist Church at Cheltenham, on Saturday, for the wedding of Ruth Alexandra daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mountain, and Norman James Gainer, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gainer of Bailieboro. The Rev. Albert Luck performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white brocaded satin with fitted bodice and overskirt of tulle. Her tulle was held by a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a cascade of pink delight roses.

Mrs. George Welsh of Fenwick, matron of honor, wore a gown of powder blue taffeta with bustle effect and full skirt of net and carried a cascade of yellow roses which matched those worn in her hair.

The flowergirl, Janie Gainer was in a frock of pink net over taffeta with fitted bodice and full skirt. Her headdress was a halo of pink flowers and she carried a nosegay of pink and yellow roses.

Delbert Gainer was groomsman with Wilfred and Norman Mountain as ushers.

Miss Alfreda Haines supplied the wedding music and Miss Bessie Dolson sang, "O Promise Me".

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Guests were received by her mother, wearing a pearl grey gown with a corsage of pink roses, and the groom's mother wearing a gown of black printed jersey, with a corsage of white gladioli and rosebuds.

Leaving for Muskoka the bride wore a suit of dove grey with grey accessories, and a natural straw hat. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Gainor will reside in Peterborough on their return.

Family Twits Bachelor Girl Prefers Business Career

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl 23 years old. I work and support myself as well as give part of my salary to my parents. Now everything would be all right, except my father and mother are continually asking me if I intend to marry, or if I am going to be an old maid. From the way they carry on, you would think I was a burden to them.

I have come to the point where the twitting me about not being married irritates me. How can I stop my family from doing it?

DISTGUSTED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You can't stop them for teasing a girl about not getting married is the great and original family pleasantry. Don't take their joke seriously. Just tell them that you will get married when you get good and ready.

Dorothy Dix

The main thing is not to let them rush you into marriage. So many girls are driven into marrying men for whom they do not care, and whom they never should have married, by the family's anxiety to get them off of their hands, and the family's harping on their being old maids.

Laugh it off

The self-supporting modern girl does not have to marry for a living, and there is no stigma in being an old maid nowadays. Instead of being pitied old maids are envied, so just laugh off your family's questionniare about when you are going to be married.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a divorcee, 24 years old, still deeply in love with the man I married. He claims that he will never love any other woman and he begs me to return to him. I was a badly spoiled only girl and I guess I expected too much of a husband. I had really no good reason for leaving him, except that every time he did any little thing they objected to Mother and Dad would urge me to come home, so I finally took their advice and divorced him.

Now I am miserable, but my parents have taken a firm stand against my going back to my husband. Do you think if we tried it again we could make a go of it?

UNHAPPY DIVORCEE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is no worse matrimonial bet than the adored only daughter who has been petted and spoiled all of her life by her father and mother, and who expects her husband to continue the process and make a doormat of himself for her.

But probably both you and your ex-husband have learned your lesson and will be wiser and more forebearing with each other. But, if you do go back to your husband, make up your mind beforehand to stick it and not go running back to Mother and Father every time you and your husband do not agree.

It seems to me that in your particular case remarriage might be a good thing, for you have each found out that if you could not be happy together, you still are more miserable apart, and perhaps your experience will enable you to get along better together.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Before I was maried I was a secretary and earned a good salary. After I was married I worked until my baby came, then I settled down into being a housewife and mother. This was four years ago. Now my husband insists that I go back to work, although he makes a fine living.

I feel that my little boy needs me and as it isn't necessary that I work I don't feel that I should go out and hunt up a job. What do you think about this?

A MOTHER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are absolutely right in the position you take in the matter. As long as there are no children there is no reason why a woman should not keep on with her job after marriage if she and her husband consider it best. But when the babies come the whole status of the case is altered.

To be a mother is the biggest job in the world and the most important, and any woman who performs that well has done her full day's work and more, and her husband should not expect anything else from her.

FURS FOR SUMMER may sound like something affected to the superior male, but it can easily be explained to him that they have real uses in the summer, rather more in the spring and fall, and a full time role in winter. Not all weather which chills calls for pelts from chin to toes, but a tempestuous refrigerating system can blow up pneumonia in August, and it's well to have something to fend it off. The handsome cape with stole attributes shown above is such a fur . . . for summer, here and now, for all the other seasons to come. The cape part is deep, and rippled just enough to be lush; the ends may be crossed and fastened a tcenter back. The fur? That luxurious white Kohinor mink, fit for the best of everything.

Abnormal Conditions Cause Of Cruelty - - Investigator

LONDON, Aug. 6 (CP).—More than 100,000 children, many the victims of "gross neglect or cruelty," came under the notice of Britain's National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children last year.

Reasons why parents so often behave abominably to their children are discussed in the report of a Society inspector dealing with a single London borough covering a period of one year.

Of 188 cases, involving the welfare of 407 children and 283 offenders—men and women—105 were of neglect, 34 of ill-treatment, one of assault, two of moral danger. Forty-six other cases investigated by the Society did not call for action.

The majority of the fathers dealt with by the Society, says the report, "are ordinary men reacting to abnormal social and economic conditions."

Typical examples:

1. A man who had served four years in the army, won the Military Medal and earned an honorable discharge, returned home to find his wife had had a fourth child — not his own. Towards his own three children he remained kind and affectionate, but the new baby "offended in every way" and was punished with savage blows whenever it cried.

Hated Fourth Child

"It is said that we hate those whom we have wronged," the inspector said, "and this man undoubtedly hated the fourth child."

2. An ex-RAF man, returning to his wife and four children, had to adapt himself to a two-roomed house with no privacy. At first he struggled with the situation by hanging up blankets to divide the family bedroom into cubicles.

As weeks went by and no better accommodation could be found, he saw his wife losing heart. She became slatternly and short-tempered. Dirt and the noise of quarrelling children made conditions worse. One day tried beyond his patience, he struck his wife and beat up the children. . .

"Thousands of cases like this are handled by the Society," the inspector wrote. "The trouble invariably is bad housing. Decently housed, these families are quickly relieved of the strains and stresses that jeopardize their finer feelings, and normal family life is restored.

"Women who let their home go to pieces are often helped by the knowledge that their problems and difficulties are of interest to people outside the family circle. A little sympathy, a little firmness, a little sound advice are often all that is needed.

"To help is our first objective to prosecute is our last resource."

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, August 7

While there may be exceptional inclination to plunge into certain unusual or intriguing situations or enterprses, as the mentality, feelings, emotions and aspirations are under high stimuli, there also is probability of erroneous judgments, with loss and failure in the last analysis. The imagination is vivid, the emotions dominant, and an urge to excess, extravagance and taking long chances could culminate in regret, crashes, curious adventures or complications. This in business, romance and domestic affiliations.

For The Brithday

Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves in a rather critical predicament, with the mind and impulses keyed to exceptional adventure and experiences, and as well with inclinations to splurge, to extravagance and prodigality Thus submitting even fair prospects to mistakes of judgment, peculiar hunches, or indulgences, not lucrative or desirable. Acute reactions may be felt in domestic or romantic ties.

A child born on this day has exceptional mentality and feelings, with possible unique talents or urges—more spectacular than profitable.

Fashion Flashes

Something new, really new, is due to add delight to something that is most undelightful. Readied for cold rainy days, come autumn, is a delicious wraparound coaot, with casual, self tie belt, wide revers, high collar and huge cuffs—a whale of a coat in soft, cloud blue camel's hair that has been water-proofed.

✧ ✧ ✧

New treatments add interest to new afternoon dresses of fine woolen fabrics. A black wool dress is made with an all-over shirred bodice which gives a very snug fit. The low neck and short, draped sleeves are edged with heavy black lace. The skirt is softly draped.

✧ ✧ ✧

Cited for promotion come fall is the camel hair coat that has been glamorized. Although done specially on casual lines, the new version has dolman sleeves, big collars, important pockets and is cut on very generous lines to give a real great coat effect. And the colors are lovely. Not just the old natural shade but turquoise, deep pink, all shades of green.

✧ ✧ ✧

Always good is the basic dress in shirtwaist style, and it is even better when done in a rich fabric. Violet-blue heavy slipper satin is used for one such frock, which has fake amethyst studs and cuff links.

✧ ✧ ✧

Very pretty is a line of new boudoir coats and hostess gowns, all fashioned of quilted velvet in rich and delicate colors and shades. Shocking pink velvet, all over quilted in a diamond lozenge pattern, is used for a hostess coat which has Alencon lace making the ruffled neckline and edging the wide sleeves. Rhinestone buttons.

✧ ✧ ✧

Lots of charm in little hats designed for travel wear. A small flat hat of grey felt has a platform crown and a pointed uprising visor brim. It is tied on kerchief-fashion with French blue taffeta.

✧ ✧ ✧

It looks like a big success for the dressy shoe of suede with satin touches. A dressy shoe of black suede, with narrow cross straps at the ankle, has a deep turndown cuff of satin. The high-backed shoe has throatline, vamp opening and cuff piped in gold.

✧ ✧ ✧

Braid binds the fashion picture in coats and suits this year. A handsome coat of copper brown woollen, made on sharply flared lines, has bands of black braid in double rows starting just below the bustline on the snug bodice and continuing all the way down.

Wrestler Stages Sit-Down Strike

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(AP). —A big Egyptian wrestler today staged a "sit-down" strike in the middle of the mat during Olympic Greco-Roman wrestling and made the referee change his decision:

Light heavyweight K. E. Nilsson of Sweden tossed Ibrahim Orabi over his head and the referee said Nilsson won by a fall.

The Egyptians protested loudly. Orabi, to express his distaste, stretched out on the mat and refused to budge.

For 15 minutes officials waited for him to get going, but no. Finally in desperation they called Nilsson back out of the dressing room and ordered the match to continue.

Nilsson won by a fall. This time there was no squawk from the Egyptian.

The co-operation of everyone is solicited in a general cleanup of noxious weeds.

Port Hope opened the scoring in the first period, only to have the Petes come back with three goals. Again in the second frame, the Petes outscored the homesters 2-1, and in the third period they picked up three goals while Petes goalie, Joe Hickson shut out Port Hope. In the fourth, the visitors bagged three more to finish off the game.

The teams:

Port Hope — T. Lewis, goal; Hunt, Jarvis, defence; H. Saunders, centre; R. Saunders, rover; Murray, Smith, wings; alternates: Sneyd, Dotgka, Smith, Ambrems, T. Cansilla, J. Hagerman, B. Everson.

Peterborough — Joe Hickson, goal; Renwick, McMaster, defence; N. Carravaggie, rover; Crowley, centre; Hill, Lynch, wings; alternates, Roach, Whitnall, Vincent, Hewitt, Vanallen, A. Carravaggie.

King's Convention On First Day

OTTAWA, Aug. 6 —(CP)—It was still Willie's convention at the end of the first day.

There has been a lot of behind-the-scenes discussion—much of it serious—about whether the Liberal convention would and should be dominated by the end of one era or the beginning of another.

It is, after all, the farewell of Prime Minister Mackenzie King—to Ottawa, he's Willie—after 29 years and corridor reports say no one is more aware of this than Mr. King.

However, the men of tomorrow want to encourage every indication that it, most importantly, launches a new stage of Liberal development.

After one of three days, yesterday still held sway. Mr. King was cheered time and again as he spoke or waved or simply arrived on the platform. None of the candidates for his job has yet had a chance to emerge from the rank of party stalwarts behind him.

But it will come. Mr. King will reach his zenith with his formal farewell speech today. Saturday should see the new man of tomorrow take over. But you never can tell — not with a man like Mr. King.

Hopes Liberals To Be Wise In Choice of New Leader

OTTAWA, Aug. 6. — (CP) — Transport Minister Chevrier today told the National Liberal Convention that he hopes the party will be "wise and fortunate" in the choice of its new leader.

In an address shortly after the three-day convention opened its business for the second day, Mr. Chevrier did not mention any of the leadership candidates by name.

He said that in the past the party had been wise and fortunate in the choice of leaders.

He said the convention, which reconvened 45 minutes late, was called to reorganize party forces, to formulate policies and to select a new leader.

The convention was the third in the last 55 years. In 37 of those 55 years the Liberal party was in power.

Lauds Mr. King

Mr. Chevrier lauded Prime Minister Mackenzie King as "a great Canadian, a great reformer and a world statesman" and said he had legislated more progressive statutes than any world leader.

Now was the time to look ahead. Only Liberalism had the doctrine and the ability to answer the challenge of the times. But the convention must hammer out the platform to make that doctrine work.

He said that Canadians must have full protection of the law. Their religious freedoms must be guaranteed and protected. Freedom of speech and press were also essential because without them democratic order was impossible.

"We must," he said amid a round of applause, "have economic security."

This meant more than the prevention of unemployment. It meant giving to each working Canada an opportunity to hold a place of dignity in the life of the community.

High Tariffs Must Go

"High tariffs must go and trade most go freely around the world," he said.

Capital must learn to co-operate with labor and big business must take more moderate profits. Little business must be assisted.

Totalitarianism was the "greatest menace" directing its weapon against the western world and western civilization. Socialism, its younger brother, was just a step away.

Basic Principle

He said it was a basic principle of Liberalism that its policies should aim at the creation of national unity. Liberalism taught the same doctrine from one end of the country to the other.

Switching into French, Mr. Chevrier said the French-Canadians have always loved liberty and have always fought for it.

He said that a Baldwin-Lafontaine alliance had protected the rights and liberties of French-Canadians. Mr. King extended the alliance with the late Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former justice minister. He was continuing it today with external affairs minister St. Laurent.

Mr. Chevrier said French-Canadians who had contributed to the good of the country in the Liberal party than if they had founded a separate and distinct party.

"Today," Mr. Chevrier said, "we must turn our eyes to the future."

The task of selecting a leader was not easy. The job needed all the genius and vigor of a great individual.

The leader must dedicate himself and his party to the service of the people as a whole.

"And," Mr. Chevrier added, "we have such men in our ranks."

St. Laurent Pulls Fast One On Gardiner

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(CP). —It wasn't obvious just how it happened, but Louis St. Laurent ended one up on Jimmy Gardiner Thursday night in one phase of the Liberal leadership fight.

It was at the huge garden party given for thousands of guests at the Dominion Experimental Farm. As Agriculture Minister, Mr. Gardiner and his wife were in the receiving line among other ministers and their wives.

Then, gradually, all changed. Mr. Gardiner vanished and the other ministers and their wives melted away and the only people left to shake the many hands were the smiling Mr. St. Laurent, Mrs. St. Laurent and Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Grumbled one Gardiner supporter: "We ought to pull the tent down over their heads."

Liberal Briefs

OTTAWA, Aug. 6 —(CP)— Three newspaper men who "covered" the Liberal convention in 1919 are on hand for this week's party gathering. Two are still in reporter's harness: Arthur R. Ford, editor-in-chief of the London Free Press and M. Grattan O'Leary, associate editor of the Ottawa Journal. The third is Senator Charles Bishop of Ottawa.

For the second straight day, the national Liberal convention was slow getting started. At 10 a.m., the scheduled opening hour, no one had appeared on the platform and less than a third of the delegates were in their seats. However, several provincial delegations held caucuses before the formal opening.

The Coliseum acoustics are anything but the best but there should be no excuse for convention speakers not doing their utmost to make themselves heard. In each of the two public-address microphones on the platform is this sign:

"Please speak close to mike."

People at the back of the hall claim some speakers still aren't doing that.

Case Remanded

William Holland, 22 years old, 394 George St., was remanded for trial on Aug. 10 in court today. He is charged with breaking, entering and theft from the grocery store of Peter Goselin at the corner of Queen and Hunter Sts., Thursday night.

No plea was entered. The accused is represented by W. B. Gordon.

Senate Ready To Rush Housing Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—(AP) —The United tSates Senate meshed the gears today to drive a housing bill to passage, but Democrats threatened to delay the House-approved Republican anti-inflation measure.

Meeting an hour earlier than usual, the Senate set aside two hours to argue the issue of government-financed housing before a vote promised at noon.

Up for decision then will be a revised version of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill. That measure passed the Senate in the regular session but ran into a house log jam.

As a substitute, Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) offered a bill deleting the T-E-W provisions for federal financing of low-rent housing and slum clearance projects.

Plants Bomb

While the Republicans were falling out over this issue, Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, quietly planted a bomb near the anti-inflation bill.

That measure, which whooped through the House Thursday by a 264-to-97 vote, went before Tobey's banking committee for a quick preview and expected to bring it to the Senate floor later in the day.

Barkley told a reporter administration supporters were ready to offer President Truman's price, wage and rationing controls as amendments in the committee.

The Senate, he predicted, will get a chance to vote directly, as the House didn't, on President Truman's proposals. The House of Representatives had banned any amendments from the House floor, but Senate rules provide for no such "take it or leave it" manoeuver.

Plan 'Met' Meeting

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP).—A meeting of all unions concerned with the Metropolitan opera was called Thursday for next Monday to discuss the cancellation of the 1948-49 opera season. Lawrence Tibbett, Metropolitan baritone and president of the American Guild of Musical Artists (A.F.L.), called the meeting. The Guild has more members among the opera personnel than any other union.

WHICH GUESS IS YOURS?

A PARTICULAR defender has doubled your suit contract and, when the dummy goes down, you see that there was just barely "enough stuff" out to justify a thin gambling double. Included in the defenders' assets is the king of the trump suit. Now, if it turns out that the success or failure of the contract depends on the question of whether or not the king is shut out from taking a trick, what will you do? Will you consider that a smart competitor, who doubled, is trying to make you think he has the king, whereas his partner has it, or that he holds it and wants you to think he is trying to mislead you? Clairvoyancy is needed as a guide in such extremities.

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

Against that, South led his heart Q, which North took with the A. Knowing from the lead that East had the heart K and probably one or more hearts to ruff, and not wishing to help East play correctly in the minor suits through a lead of them, North returned his spade 7 to the second trick.

Right there East was up against what proved to be the crisis of the hand. Who had the spade K? East decided that North probably had it, as part of the basis for his double, so played low to finesse against it. That enabled South's singleton to win, and two quick diamond tricks then beat the contract.

West, who looked on from the observation post of dummy, told East he should have considered that a slick competitor like North would not have doubled if he had the king of trumps, as he would not have wished to disclose its location. He said East therefore should have played the ace on the trump lead in the hope of felling a singleton. East retorted that he thought of that, but reckoned North was tempting him to make that reading while actually holding the king.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

After West opens with 1-Diamond and North sticks in a psychic 1-No Trump, what should East do?

BRANTFORD INDIAN HELD FOR MURDER

Hold Secret Inquiry In New York

Say Mystery Witness May Crack Soviet Spy Investigation

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 — (AP)—The Daily News said to-day that a three-man House Un-American Activities Sub-Committee arrived here last night "and immediately began to question a mystery witness who, it is said may 'crack the whole Soviet spy case wide open.'"

The News said it learned that the hearings were held in the Fedreal Building and would continue later to-day.

Composing the committee are Representatives John McDowell (Rep.-Pa.), Richard Nixon (Rep.-Calif.), and F. Edward Hebert (Dem.-La.), with Robert Stripling, committee counsel.

"Every efort was made to shield the identity of the key witness," the News said, adding "sources close to the Congressmen said that not only one witness was heard but several."

"The unidentified new key figure in the probe was said not to be a government official," the News continues.

Pushed Shipments,

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Representative John McDowell (Rep.-Pa.) declared to-day a "highly important man" in the United States Government "pushed" wartime shipments of atomic bomb material to Russia.

A second official, he said, approved the shipments.

McDowell withheld both names but he said the two will be asked for explanations soon in special public hearings to follow the House of Representatives' un-American Activities Committee's investigation of alleged Russian spy operations in the United States.

McDowell said that in 1943 Russia got 2,720 pounds of uranium compounds and in 1945 about about 25 pounds of uranium metal, all before the first A-bomb was dropped on Japan. He said some came from Canada.

Meanwhile, Representative K Mundt (Rep.-SD), acting chairman of the Un-American group, said Friday night that William W. Remington, accused of feeding war secrets into a Soviet espionage pipeline, had been fired from his Commerce Department job.

A Commerce Department spokesman promptly denied it.

McDowell, as chairman of two Un-American Activities Sub-Committees, has taken part in both the atomic probes and the Soviet spy investigations.

Say 63 Killed In Boat Blast

TOKYO, Aug. 7 — (AP). — Sixty-three persons were reported killed yesterday at Ie Shima when a small landing craft exploded while ammunition was being loaded from that tiny island off Okinawa.

The United States Far East Air Force said a report from officials on Okinawa listed 50 natives, 11 Filipino crew members and two United States soldiers as the victims.

The landing craft was demolished, as was a smaller boat being used to move war stocks of ammunition from Ie Shima, the island on which war correspondent Ernie Pyle was killed.

Police Seek Firebug In Vancouver Blazes

VICTORIA, Aug. 7 — (CP). — British Columbia police today launched an investigation into the possibility that a "firebug" may have been responsible for five small fires on Vancouver Island during the last two months.

Inspector Robert Owen said carelessness arising from modern high speed production methods may have been responsible for some of the fires, which resulted in two deaths and $3,000,000 damage.

The investigation was touched off last week-end when a fire of undetermined origin destroyed a $20,000 school at Hilliers, B.C. A second fire damaged a church at Coombs, four miles south.

Reds Threaten To Bring Down Allied Planes

BERLIN, Aug. 7 (AP)—A United States air force official said today that "things are going to be pretty rough around here" if the Russians try to force down British and American planes flying supplies to blockade Berlin.

The official Soviet news agency ANB hinted Friday night Allied planes could be forced down for flying over unauthorized areas. It charged British and American aircraft with 62 such violations between July 31 and Aug. 4.

The American official conceded that, "technically speaking," planes which violated flight regulations could be forced down.

The Soviet agency claimed Americans had provisions for forcing down planes which departed from prescribed routes over the United States occupation zone. They implied the same could be applied over the Soviet-zone routes to Berlin.

Nor was it known whether the statement distributed by ANB had been forwarded to British and American authorities as a formal letter of protest.

Frequent Charges

The Russians have made frequent allegations of breach of flight rules since the gigantic night-and-day air lift to supply western Berlin was instituted nearly two months ago.

Western Allied authorities have said the lift will not only continue as long as needed, but will be doubled.

On the diplomatic front, Russian-controlled newspapers carried on their front pages a dispatch from Washington claiming President Truman and State Secretary Marshall had "agreed in principle" that the western-sponsored currency should be withdrawn from Berlin and only Soviet sponsored money circulate throughout the city.

Tears In Mr. King's Eyes At Spontaneous Ovation

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—(Special).—To anyone with a sense of history it was a poignant moment when Mackenzie King took formal leave of the Liberal party on Friday afternoon. But it is not the Canadian way to admit emotion. A delegate from French Canada, speaking to me afterward, said: "It was kind of moving," and as he spoke there were tears in his eyes. That was the spirit of the farewell. Feeling was deep, but it was never allowed to find wild expression.

It was plain that Mr. King himself was sorry to make his exit from the stage which he has so long dominated. Yet his regret was mingled with relief that another man would take up the heavy tasks which have been his for twenty-nine years.

He hands on to his successor a party which is in first-class fighting condition and a party which, under his leadership, has carried through a peaceful revolution in the social structure of Canada. On Friday afternoon Mr. King showed signs of regret. But he plainly felt that he had no cause for remorse.

Spontaneous Ovation

The ovation which greeted the close of his address was long and completely spontaneous. Conventions in the USA have accustomed us to ovations which are built up by cheer-leaders and which are measured in minutes and decimals.

The salute to Mackenzie King from the delegates of his party had no artificial stimulus, yet it continued, and grew until its warmth was unmistakeable. No Canadian crowd wears its heart on its sleeve, but the Liberal convention spoke its mind with greater enthusiasm than any Canadian crowd that I have ever heard.

Plan To Cut Danube In Two

BELGRADE, Aug. 7.—(AP).—The United States bluntly warned today that the Danube river will remain cut in two for traffic if eastern Europe's Communist states deny Austria a seat on the Danube control board.

Its position was laid down by United States Ambassador Cavendish Cannon shortly before the Danubian conference voted 7 to 1 to make the proposed Soviet plan for a new Danube pact the basis for its discussion.

Under the Soviet plan, control of the Danube would be vested exclusively with the seven Communist-dominated states of eastern Europe.

Adoption of this working operation means that Britain, the United States and France can offer their terms for the pact only in the form of amendments to the Soviet draft.

France voted against this procedure. The United States and Britain abstained. Cannon, opening today's session, declared:

"Let us be realistic about Austria. If the views of this important state are not taken into consideration in drafting the convention and Austria doesn't become a party of it, and does not immediately become a member of the commission, the river will remain cut in two."

At present, the river is cut in two at Linz, Austria, where the Russians have blocked non-Soviet shipping from moving down the river since shortly after the war ended. This has kept nearly 700 Danubian vessels, mostly barges, empty and idle in the American occupation zones of Austria and Germany.

Lie Appeals To Big Powers To End German Quarrel

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 7 — (AP). — Trgve Lie, United Nations secretary-general, appealed to the big powers today to end their quarrel over Germany.

He also called for urgent action to stop what he called a race among the great powers to develop and keep stocks of lethal bacteriological and chemical weapons.

In his third annual report to the general assembly, Lie placed the German problem at the top of a list of issues standing in the way of world peace.

"Nothing would contribute more to the effectiveness of the United Nations," he said, "than a settlement of this problem."

Lie ranged over the entire field of political, economic and social problems before the U.N., painting a grim picture of strife and conflict between Russia and the western powers. He spared neither United States nor the Soviet Union in his analysis of the U.N.'s activities during the last year.

He said the United States supported the Palestine partition plan but refused to use force to carry it out. Russia had boycotted several U.N. bodies, including the Korean and Balkan commissions.

Lie made no specific recommendations on the German problem beyond urging the big powers to resume negotiations. He spoke of the future status of Germany as a whole and not merely of the Berlin crisis.

He left it up to the interested powers to decide whether they would turn the German problem over to the U.N., but told them if they decided to do that he wanted it done "only in the spirit of a genuine attempt to reach a settlement."

CSU Fails To Get Convention Hearing

OTTAWA, Aug. 7. — (CP).—Canadian Seamen's Union members Friday succeeded in lobbying Members of Parliament and delegates to the Liberal convention but failed in an attempt to get a hearing by he convention's resolutions committee.

The C.S.U. members and other supporters from a meeting called here by the Trade and Labor Congress in upport of the lake shipping strike gathered outside the Coliseum at the beginning of the afternoon session. There were about 150 of them.

Senator Arthur Roebuck of Ontario carried to the resolutions committee a request from Harry Davis, president, and T. G. (Jerry) McManus, secretary-treasurer of the C.S.U., a request for a hearing.

Find Woman Beaten; No Weapon

50-Year-Old Man Surrenders To Police Confesses Slaying

BRANTFORD, Aug. 7 (CP).—Edward T. Hill, 50, of the Six Nations Indian Reservation here, was charged with murder this morning following the death of his common-law wife, May Maracle, 43.

RCMP, to whom Hill gave himself up shortly after midnight, said he confessed to beating the woman to death at his Reservation farm house.

Police said he was in a "drunken condition" when he reported to them and repeated "My May is dead," after telling them of the beating.

He was arrested immediately and placed in the detachment cells for the night. This morning he was transferred to the Brant County Jail where he is being held until arrival of members of the Criminal Investigation Branch of the Provincial Police who have been called into the case by the RCMP.

Calls Doctor

Hill was driven to the police headquarters in a neighbor's automobile. Before he left the Reservation he arranged to have Dr. C. W. McCormack of nearby Oshweken notified of the beating. After examining the woman the doctor reported to police and verified Hill's statement that the woman was dead.

The body, naked except for stockings, was found covered with bedclothes in the bedroom of the humble two-room farmhouse. Numerous bruises covered the face but preliminary investigation has uncovered no weapon. The room showed signs of a struggle.

Dr. W. J. Deadman, provincial pathologist from Hamilton, is expected to perform an autopsy to-day.

Arab Governments Study Peace Request

CAIRO, Aug. 7 — (AP). — The Israeli request for peace talks to end the Palestine struggle was before the Arab governments today.

Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator, transmitted the request to the Arabs. Returning to his Rhodes headquarters from a six-day trip to Trans-Jordan Jerusalem, Egypt and Israel, Count Bernadotte said:

"I still am optimistic. I think the (Palestine) truce will be kept and we will finally get a solution."

Reports reached Tel Aviv Friday of renewed violence in Jerusalem and on Palestine's southern front.

U.S. AMBASSADOR RAY Atherton, has resigned his Ottawa post and has accepted an appointment to the United States delegation to the United Nations General Assembly.

US Ambassador Ray Atherton Resigns Post

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (CP).—Ray Atherton, United States ambassador to Canada, resigned today to accept appointment to the United States delegation to the United National General Assembly. This added to the growing list of appointments for which President Truman is seeking candidates.

Atherton, whose resignation was expected since his recent appointment as alternate delegate to the forthcoming UN general assembly in Paris, has been in Ottawa since July 8, 1943.

He was then appointed minister but in December of that year both Canada and the United States raised their missions in Ottawa and Washington to the status of embassies.

Leighton McCarthy, then minister, became the first Canadian given corresponding rank.

ambassador and Atherton was

The White House statement said:

"Mr. Atherton's long mission in Canada has been marked by many notable contributions which have played an important part in the edvelopment of the close cooperative rleationship now existing between the two countries.

Truman has been finding it difficult to get suitable appointees for a number of vacancies, notably the labor secretaryship, possibly due to the fact that a general election is coming up.

However, it is unlikely he will have any difficulty finding a candidate for the Ottawa appointment and the vacancy is expected to be filled shortly.

Will Name Liberal Leader During Afternoon; St. Laurent Heads List

Draft Martin Campaign Gaining Impetus As Deadline Looms; Nominations Will Be Closed At 2 p.m.

OTTAWA, Aug. 7—(CP)—The coveted leadership stakes, building up through two days of rumor and speculation, became the dominant theme of the National Liberal convention today as 1,299 delegates from across Canada prepared to elect a successor to retiring William Lyon Mackenzie King. As the convention opened this last-day session at 10 a.m.—four hours before the nominations close at 2 p.m.—five men emerged as prospective candidates for the post which Mr. King won exactly 29 years ago today—on Aug. 7, 1919.

Three of them were certain candidates, in the running by their own declaration, while the other two are being nominated by supporter-delegates and may choose to withdraw.

Candidates

Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, 66, the dapper cultured Minister of External Affairs, who announced six months ago that he would be a candidate and who has the edge in the pre-vote betting.

Rt. Hon. James Garfield Gardiner, 65, the scrappy, word-wise Minister of Agriculture, who put himself into the race a month ago and who is crowding Mr. St. Laurent as the convention choice.

Hon. C. G. Power, 60, the chunky, cheerful wartime Minister for Air, who says he'll be in there "until the final ballot," but who is conceded little chance of victory.

Hon. Angus Macdonald, 57, premier of Nova Scotia, whose supporters plan to nominate him despite his earlier announcement that he did not intend to stand.

Hon. Paul Martin, 45, the portly, friendly Minister of Health, whose nomination was entered Friday by delegates who said they hoped to line up 500 votes before ballot-taking time.

But the list may not end there. There have been, running through the thread of convention gossip, reports and rumors that the names of still other may be placed before the convention.

Other Possibilities

One of these might be Transport Minister Chevrier, whose impressive keynote speech at the opening of Friday's proceedings met wide aproval and developed a scattering of support. He told reporters he would be "delighted" to receive a nomination, but would withdraw before the vote.

In the runner-up column there have been mentioned Defence Minister Claxton, Finance Minister Abbott and Trade Minister Howe, although none have indicated they will stand.

Mr. Martin declined Friday to comment on his nomination, say-

Liberal Convention Quiet As A Church

Weary Prime Minister Appears 'Pathetic Figure' To Onlookers

By BOB OWEN

OTTAWA, Aug. 7—(Special)—(National Liberal Convention Hall)—If a delegates to the late Democrat or Republican presidential nominating conventions happened to wander into this national Liberal convention his reaction would be wonderful to behold. There is about as much whoopla here as you would expect to find in a church. Things may warm up a bit this afternoon when the three candidates to succeed W. L. M. King as Liberal leader get in their 20-minute licks from the platform. Canadians, of course, are not extraverts, generally speaking, and the surface calm existing here is a reflection of the national characteristci for conservatism which is almost unknown south of the border.

The huge Coliseum is dominated by two tremendous pictures of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mackenzie King. Underneath the King picture sits the man himself. The Prime Minister looks old and tired

It seems a bit incongruous to say this, considering King's background and dominating position at this convention, but I thought he seemed a rather pathetic figure. I watched him while speaker after speaker paid him tribute. He sat quietly, a small figure under the great picture above him. There was something wistful in his expression. His mood seemed to be one of quiet regret. I suppose few people give up power and position willingly: to a man like King, who has devoted his whole adult life to politics and affairs of government, dropping of the reins must come hard, even though the action to do so came from his own hands.

Somehow the worn and weary looking Union Jacks and tricolors which drop from the rafters of the Coliseum seemed in sympathy with what I thought was the mood of sadness which seemed to sit in the chair with Mr. King.

Queer Experience

It must be a queer experience to find oneself a living legend—as King does. There is no doubt that he completely overshadows every other person at this convention He does so without any visible effort or desire. The fact is simply that the prime minister has been for so many years, and is today the centrepiece and heart of the Liberal party. No matter who these delegates may choose here as new leader of the party, William Lyon Mackenzie King will remain the counsellor, guide and top man so long as he lives.

There is no active campaigning for any candidate by those addressing the convention, with the exception of the speeches to be made by the three antagonists However, Lionel Chevrier got off a rather new bit of figurative finger-pointing at Louis St. Laurent on Friday morning. By the same token he gave a gentle tap with the back of his hand in the general direction of James "Jimmie" Gardiner. During the course of a good political speech, the minister of transport had this to say: "Our eyes are to the future. Our new leader must not be concerned with domestic problems alone. He must be keenly interested in and have actual knowledge of national affairs." When you consider that Gardiner is the minister of agriculture, distinctly an office concerned with "domestic affairs" and that St. Laurent is minister for external affairs, just as distinctly a post requiring "interest in and knowledge of" world statesmanship the implication of Chevrier's remarks was obvious.

4 Young People Killed As Car Strikes Train

KINCARDINE, Aug. 7.—(CP). —Three Americans and a Sarnia girl were killed today when a motor car in which they were riding was struck by a train at a level crossing just south of this Bruce county town, 50 miles northwest of Stratford.

The dead are identified as: Norma Ferguson, 21, of Sarnia; Daniel Leithauser, 21, of Grosse Pointe, Mich., Francis Slater, 23, of Grosse Pointe, and Robert H. Pipper of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Provincial police who investigated the accident said the car was driven into the side of the train and was carried 150 feet along the Canadian National tracks. Bodies were strewn along the right-of-way. The car was demolished.

Three of the passengers met instant death, Slater died while on the way to Kincardine General Hospital in an ambulance.

Engineer Earl Tarlin of Palmerston said the train was travelling at about 35 miles an hour at the time of the accident. Only slight skid marks were found on the highway.

Sea Serpent $64 Question

MIDLAND, Aug. 7 — (CP). — How does one go about telling a prospective tourist that a sea serpent does not exist? How do you do it without offending those persons, said to be of "sound judgment and good character," who claimed to have seen the water monster from the decks of SS City of Detroit III, inbound for Midland?

That is the problem facing Charles Bushnell, managing secretary of Midland Chamber of Commerce, who has just received this letter from a Minneapolis resident:

"We have heard reports of a sea serpent in the vicinity of Midland. The newspapers said it was seen in Georgian Bay by several persons. A party of six have been planning a two-week trip in the Georgian Bay area, but seven of us are now hesitant. May we have your assurance that such an animal does not exist?"

Three U.S. Tourists "On Loose Again"

JASPER, Alta., Aug. 7 (CP).—Three United States tourists with a passion for mountain climbing today are again "on the loose," after turning up Friday night from a 10-day absence on 12,294-foot Mount Columbia in the Canadian Rockies.

A rescue party scheduled to ascend the mountain to-day in search for them disbanded when the trio—two women and a man—returned to its automobile, whose licence tag remains the sole clue to its identity. The number is Virginia 591-388.

Word-of-mouth reports from the Columbia icefield chalet indicated the venturesome travellers—said by authorities to have "broken every park regulation"—were none the worse for the experience.

They left the chalet July 27 with but four days' supplies, and it still is not known whether they had Alpinists' equipment.

Expect Western Envoys To See Stalin Again To Discuss Differences

Believe Concrete Proposals Delivered By Allied Representatives; Hint New Meeting of Big Four Council

LONDON, Aug. 7.—(AP).—Diplomatic observers said today the three Western envoys probably will see Prime Minister Stalin again in Moscow in the next day or two to discuss settling East-West differences. The United States and French ambassadors and the special British envoy conferred with the Russian leader and Foreign Minister Molotov for more than two hours Monday night. . . . They saw Molotov again Friday.

The Foreign Office said a report on the Western diplomats' meeting with Molotov has been received from Frank Roberts, special British envoy in Moscow. Foreign Secretary Bevin is studying it.

Diplomatic observers said they believed the western powers have delivered concrete proposals to the Kremlin concerning topics to be discussed at a projected Big-Four meeting.

Representative of the restrained optimism here is the opinion of Vernon Bartlett, a member of parliament, who wrote in the London News Chronicle:

"Previous interviews with Stalin, Molotov and Zorin (Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister) were exploratory and designed to discover whether there is any possible basis for an agreement between the east and west.

Second Stage

"Yesterday's interview was proof that the answer was judged to be an affirmative one. The second stage now beginning is the removal of obstacles to discussion."

One well-informed source said he expects a Big-Four communique this week-end announcing a new meeting of the Foreign Ministers Council. But a state department official in Washington said "no arrangements have been made."

The British press suggested the Kremlin discussions have dealt with the Berlin blockade, German currency, the proposed west German government, and perhaps the Ruhr and possible withdrawal of occupation troops. Russia long has sought a voice in control of the industry-rich German Ruhr.

HUSTLED TRAFFIC

Traffic Officer Clare McGillen hustled traffic along Hunter St. last night, the hundreds of cars from the ball game at Riverside. He turned his back on the control lights, giving longer periods and faster movement to get the traffic stream across George St. A provincial officer was helping with the getty-up. There was no patience with the moochers trying to make up their minds as they approached George St. Most of them were chased through toward Aylmer St. and wherever they went they got out of each other's way in a hurry.

ing only that he still adhered to a previous statement that he would support Mr. St. Laurent. However, that statement contained no clear-cut declaration that he would not accept nomination if it were offered.

Mr. Martin's nomination came as a budding 'draft Martin' movement developed during the day but quietly fizzled out in two attempts to stampede the convention into supporting the health minister.

One of these came while Mr. King was speaking. Some 40 to 50 delegates and party members, led by a piper and carrying banners proclaiming their Martin support, attempted to enter the convention hall, apparently unaware that the prime minister was in the midst of his address. Officials stopped them at the door and Mr. Martin asked them to break up.

The nominations will be officially closed at 2 p.m., and, after a half-hour of preliminaries, the candidates who remain will start 20-minute speeches. When these are completed, scrutineers will go among the delegates to collect the official ballots, issued this morning.

Heavy Earth Tremor

ADELAIDE, Australia, Aug. 7. —(Reuters).— Buildings swayed when a heavy earth tremor, described as the worst felt here since 1902, shook the city for two minutes Friday. Officials said cause of the tremors, also felt in Sydney, was subsidence of the ocean bed 200 miles southeast of Adelaide.

New Liberal Platform Has Something For All

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Aug. 7 — (CP). — A Liberal platform with something in it for everybody was being fashioned today at the party's national convention.

The platform — guide to government policy and vote-getter in elections — was less than half complete as the convention entered its final day, but already it had stored up plenty of ammunition.

First complete overhaul of Libral policy in 29 years, its planks as adopted Friday proposed policies that would advance Canada's economy, enlarge her stature as a nation, provide social security for her people and help guard her from aggression.

For Liberals alone, there was the further enticement that the rank-and-file of the party will have a voice in national affairs every four years through conventions. Up to now, these were held only on the abdication of a leader — the last in 1919.

Today, the Liberals set about adding others to these planks, and the indications were that by the time the convention adjourned late in the day, another 20 might be added to the 11 adopted Friday.

Flag Argument

Argument over a distinctive Canadian flag sent a "unity" resolution back to committee for re-drafting. A resolution on employment-living standards was shelved temporarily after it had been criticized as wishywashy. It was expected an amendment would be proposed to it calling for controls on prices where they are "unreasonable."

Meanwhile, the party had the nucleus of a policy, even now many-angled, broad in import and charting a course for the future, though as emphasized by two high Liberals — Defence Minister Claxton and Premier Angus Macdonald of Nova Scotia —not too specified to take flexibility away fro mthe reigning government.

Mr. Claxton made the point particularly in reference to defence policy, which came into the platform under two intermingled headings:

1. Under straight "defence," adequate measures for protection against aggression including co-operation with "free" countries while Canada maintains her own forces capable of quick expansion.

2. Under external relations, participation in a North Atlantic security agreement within the framework of the United Nations charter. This again would take in the "free" nations apart from the U.S. and the United Kingdom, which were mentioned specifically.

Abolish Appeals

For the enlargement of Canada's stature constitutionally, another plank called for the abolition of appeals to the Privy Council.

Generally, the other resolutions were a re-affirmation of current government policy, though couched in new phrases.

A departure from the official federal line was in the immigration plank, which in original form as presented to the convention laid down a program of expanded but selective immigration based on a national survey of the population requirements of each province.

It was understood that behind the scenes Agriculture Minister Gardiner battled for a policy that would multiply Canada's population several times over a period of years. But the powerful Quebec bloc in the resolutions committee overcame this, fighting out their claim against bringing in diverse racial strains that might upset the Canadian balance of population.

Other planks in the program call for:

1. Adequate provision for veterans, with particular attention to the aged, the disabled, and the dependents of those who died in the service.

2. Expansion of world trade through reciprocal agreements and other measures.

3. Full aid for agriculture and fishermen, development of natural resources, and soil conservation.

Complaints Lodged Against 4 Sailors

MONTREAL, Aug. 7 (CP). — Complaints were lodged in criminal court Friday against four seamen, all alleged members of the Canadian Seamen's Union, charging they had illegally boarded the Sarnia Steamship Lines' vessel, Husson, in the Lachine Canal.

The four men, being held pending a court appearance today, were alleged to have boarded the ship and told the crew, members of the rival Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, to "pack your bags and get off."

Sarnia Steamship Linese is one of five companies involved in a dispute with the CSU.

Survivor Of Cave-In Now 56 And Healthy

TORONTO, Aug. 7 (CP). — Grey-haired Alfred Scadding sells stamps to collectors in a Toronto department store these days and recalls only now and then the horrors of the 10 days he was entomed in the Moose River, N.S., gold mine back in 1936.

Toeless because of the exposure of that awful April, 1936, Scadding is the only survivor of the three men who excited the enxiety of the English-speaking world. and Dr. D. E. Robinson died several years ago.

Scadding, 56, and healthy looking now, lost 55 pounds during the 1936 ordeal He weighed 90 pounds when he was hoisted to safety.

MUSKIE TO CNE

One of the bigger muskies for this year, a 40 pounder, may go to the CNE to be exhibited. The big fellow was caught in the French river near North Bay about a week ago by Don Butcher, Snowden Ave., Toronto. Mr. Butcher landed the muskie without a leader on his line. Overall length of the fish was 56½ inches.

Eight-year-old Billy Doherty, of 551 McKellar St., is the outstanding member of the Vacation Reading Club at the Boys' and Girls' Department of the Public Library. Since the end of last June, young Billy has read 47 books and reported on all of them.

Ottawa Convention Briefs

OTTAWA, Aug. 7 — (CP). — Most delegates to the Liberal National Convention would probably agree with this one—but it's at the back of the Coliseum platform and they haven't seen it.

It's a sign advertising the virtues of the Ottawa company which decorated the platform with its brilliant red bunting and its huge pictures of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The company calls itself: "Designers of UNUSUAL display helps."

Before the cleaning job was finished, a count showed 73 "used" flashbulbs on the floor around the platform. Near the two microphones in the centre of the convention floor were at least 25 more. That 98 was the apparent count of the pictures taken during Friday night's three-hour session.

Jean Lesage, Liberal member for L'Islet-Montmagny, winced when a reporter shook his hand with a firm grip at the convention.

"I've hurt it," Mr. Lesage explained, rubbing the hand gently. "I've been banging on a table in the resolutions committee."

Power Cut-offs Touch And Go Saunders Warns

TORONTO, Aug. 7.—The question of whether there will be power cut-offs in municipalities this winter appears to be touch and go, according to statement issued Friday by Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. Much will hinge on water levels which went so low last winter that frequent power cut-offs were necessary.

"Should water conditions be better than average, rationing of power to municipalities may be avoided this year," said Mr. Saunders. "On the other hand, loss of generating capacity (because of poor water conditions) may increase the amount of rationing, since no reserve capacity is now available."

New power restrictions will shortly be announced by the government, and Mr. Saunders said the public is expected to do a lot of voluntary saving. He does not expect, however, the new restrictions to be as severe as last year, particularly regulations covering merchants' displai windows.

Mr. Saunders estimates there will be a power shortage of about 400,000 kilowatts this year. Restrictions and voluntary savings should reduce this by 100,000 kilowatts, he said. The difference may have to be made up by rationing power to municipalities.

The hydro commission does not expect to get extra power from the Gatineau and McLaren-Quebec power companies to help Ontario over the winter shortage, Mr. Saunders said, because these companies are below normal also.

Alberta Debt Reduced Premier Says

EDMONTON, Aug. 7 — (CP) — Social Credit claims of having reduced the provincial debt have entered the Alberta Hustings record. Premier Manning said at Tofield that at the present rate Alberta's public debt will be "wiped out" within 32 years.

The province elects its 11th legislature Aug. 17 and at the same time votes on a rural electrification plebiscite. Social Crediters held 51 seats in the recently-dissolved 57-seat house.

Mr. Manning, urging Social Credit's re-election for a fourth straight term, said less of each tax dollar went in interest on public debt now than 13 years ago. In 1935, when Social Credit first assumed power, 50 cents of each tax dollar went toward interest charges. Interest now claimed only 14 cents and progress indicated debt elimination within 32 years.

Owen R. Browne, public relations director for the Alberta Liberal Association, said civil service vacancies were not advertised. Albertans had no way of knowing what career possibilities public service offered.

Practically all jobs in the civil service are filled on a "who is your friend? basis," he charged a CBC free time broadcast. "The civil service should be removed from the sphere of political influence. We propose to have a service commission which will be free from political interference and influence."

C.C.F. leader Elmer E. Roper said citizens "pay twice as much in taxes as they did 10 years ago" and "the municipal tax payer is paying for provincial burdens which are not borne by the municipal tax payer in any other province."

MOUNTED POLICE, who escorted Nicholas Minnelle from Fort Erie to Kingston Penitentiary in an automobile, added leg chains to the handcuffs he wears as he is taken by three RCMP officers to the waiting car. He was turned over to Canada at the border. Minnelle, who fled Kingston with Mickey McDonald, was caught in California.

Paris Ballet Will Tour Eastern Canada

By PAT USSHER

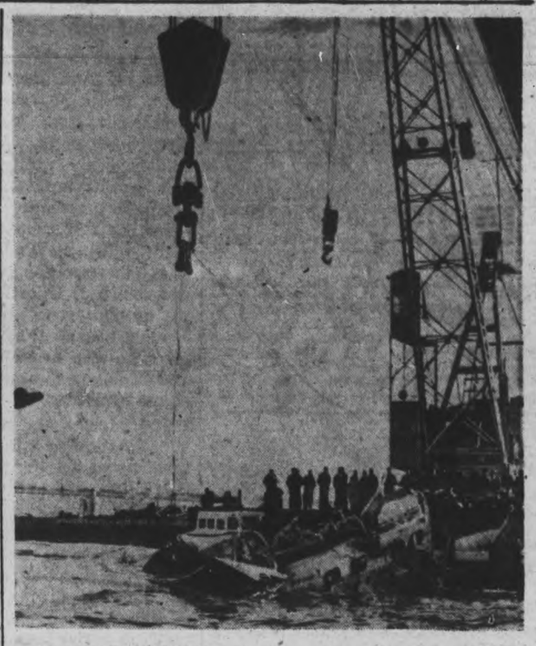
NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (CP). — Word comes from Paris that the ballet of the Paris Opera will make a tour of Eastern Canada and the United States this Fall.

Robert Favre-Le Bret, general secretary, will take a cast of 45 dancers for a three-weeks' trip starting Sept. 5. Canadian cities listed for the tour are Montreal and Quebec. The ballet company also will play in New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Richmond, Va.

"Brigadoon's" Farewell

"Brigadoon," the hit musical play about a mythical village in the Scottish Highlands, closed last Saturday after a run of 580 performances at the Ziegfeld Theatre. The Alan Jay Lerner-Frederick Loewe musical won the critics' award as the best musical for the 1946-47 season The company is scheduled to embark on a two-year tour starting in Philadelphia Sept. 6 . . . Another closing July 31 was "Strange Bedfellows," the Philip A. Waxman comedy which ran for 229 performances at the Morosco Theatre . . . "Finian's Rainbow," another top musical of the 1946-47 season, announces it will close Oct. 2 after 723 performances and will take to the road.

Warm Reception



"Magdalena," a light opera whose chief asset is a splendid score by Heiter Villa-Lobos, Brazilian composer, was enthusiastically received by an audience in Los Angeles on its world premiere the other day. The plot deals with the conflict between Christianity and paganism in the jungles of Colombia, something new in the musical field.

Folk Comedy

Given a suitable reception, "My Aunt, The Doctor," an Italian folk comedy, will be contender for a Broadway showcase this Autumn. This play by Armand Aulicino is due for a tryout in September at Mount Vernon, N.Y.

High Note

It cost $756.35 to stage "Angel In The Wings" on the summer circuit, says Paul Hartman, one of the stars in the revue. During that Summer, it grossed $48,787. The Hartmans (Paul and Grace) then thought optimistically that they could bring it to Broadway for less than $25,000. But after sets were built in union shops and all preparations made, the final cost was $107,536.

Of the 22 persons aboard the craft, 18 were killed and four injured. The crash occurred during a dense fog. The flying boat is believed to have struck a buoy that ripped the fuselage wide open.

Study Wreckage In Plane Crash

MIAMI, Fla., Aug 7 — (AP) — A United States Navy Board of Inquiry to-day studied the charred wreckage of a Navy transport plane in which 10 men and a woman died.

The plane crashed and burned after a collision with a Stearman training plane 23 miles north of here late on Thursday. The two occupants of the trainer parachuted to safety.

Identification of the victims was difficult and the Navy said names would not be available until later.

The Florida Highway Patrol said six bodies were found outside the plane and the others inside the wreckage. Part of a Wave (Women's Division of the Navy) uniform was found, the patrol reported.

A Navy airman flying in the area said both pilots apparently saw each other and pulled up, one on top of the other. He estimated they were flying at about 2,000 feet.

Occupants of the training plane were Thomas M. Poe, Jr., 27, and John Hackett, a student.

Hackett said Poe was at the controls and neither saw the Navy plane until just before the collision. He said the planes were going in the same direction and as soon as they saw what was happening, they threw off their safety belts, pushed the door open and jumped.

Early Viking Lore Sought

WINNIPEG, Aug. 7 — (CP) — Possible proof Vikings settled in Northern Manitoba before Christopher Columbus discovered America in 1492 will be sought by an archaeological expedition sponsored by the Manitoba museum and a Winnipeg newspaper (Tribune).

This is a secondary object of the expedition which will investigate a region in the vicinty of the Upper Nelson and Hayes River, to determine what concentrations of Indians are to be found in the area.

But Walter Hlady, of Winnipeg, leader of the three-man expedition, said today "although this may seem a little far-fetched to many reports of Viking finds have been coming out of the area around Lake Winnipeg for some time."

He added that, although not confirmed, it is believed Vikings penetrated the North American continent long before Columbus discovered what he had hoped was India in 1942.

Mr. Hlady said that apart from the possibility of locating traces of Viking forays, the expedition hopes to find answers to a number of questions on migration of Indian tribes.

Do You Want To Visit A Nudist Convention? Then Just Park Your Clothes And Enter

MAY'S LANDING, NJ, Aug. 7 —(AP). — What is it like to attend a nudist convention?

If you are not a member and you just want to look in, have you to undress?

Certainly you do.

Take the convention of the American Sunbathing Association going on at nearby Sunshine Park. If you present what the association feels is a legitimate request to attend, just strip down and enter.

This is what happened when Joe Grossman, a reporter, arrived at the park gate:

A uniformed policeman asked for his credentials. He was waved ahead. The reporter soon found out that the cop was the only one on the 150-acre property who wore clothes.

"Where could I hang my badge?" he asked.

Has Escort

An escort met the visitor. It was 18-year-old Penny Holroyd. She was—well, you'd have to be there yourself.

Miss Holroyd led the way to her three-storey home.

The reporter was led upstairs to a room occupied by Ralph Anderson, editor of Sunshine and Health, the association's publication.

You leave your clothes there. All of them. Then you get something to put on. It's a disk bearing the words "A.S.A. 1948" on one side and your name on the other. You hang it from your wrist by a rubber band.

After that you go to lunch at the park's mess hall. The waitresses are efficient.

How do you pay for lunch? You carry some bills tucked under your rubber band. Don't get stuck with any change. Eat for at least a dollar's worth. There was one fellow, though, who carried a binocular case slung over his shoulder. In the case he had his pipe, tobacco and money.

American Spy Probe

The American investigation into Communist activities and alleged spying makes us a little sick. Some of the better-substantiated revelations are themselves sickening, even frightening. There is the latest story that Canada, through the "Canadian Radium and Uranium Corporation" (of Port Hope) sold Russia 1,000 pounds of uranium compounds in 1945. The Port Hope establishment is officially known as "Eldorado Mining and Refining (1944) Limited", and is a Crown Company. Its head office is in Ottawa. If this company sold uranium compounds to Soviet Russia, it did so with Government approval, and for reasons that must have seemed sound or essential when Russia was our "gallant ally" and Stalin "Uncle Joe". Whatever the reasons we should like to know them, if the story is true.

• • •

We are sickened on these spy investigations in the United States for another reason. The methods, particularly those of the Committee on Un-American Activities, smack of sensationalism rather than a desire to get at the truth. There was the spring hoop-la "investigation" of Hollywood. Congressman J. Parnell Thomas, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, seems to be more of a showman and publicity-seeker than a methodical, logical investigator. He is addicted to making charges which he never substantiates. In 1941 he charged that the American armed forces were honeycombed with saboteurs. He never supplied evidence. In 1946 he charged that nuclear physicists at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, were in communication with "persons outside the United States". He never explained. This spring he made grave charges against Dr. Edward Condon, a leading American atomic physicist. The Atomic Energy Commission made a long investigation and declared that Dr. Condon's loyalty was "unquestionable". Mr. Thomas' comment was, "That won't stop us". During the last several weeks startling revelations have been made about spying activities by Communists, 'Fellow Travellers' and men and women in high governmental positions.

• • •

Undoubtedly in an investigation as wide as that being conducted now in the U.S. the innocent as well as the guilty will be caught in the net, and the innocent will be exonerated, the guilty punished. Nevertheless there seem to be too many wild accusations and too much exhibitionism for the "spy probe" to have the validity and authority its importance warrants. In saying this we do not mean to impute that Communist activities in the United States have been pure as driven snow and that certain agents have been merely indiscreet rather than treasonable. Where there is smoke there is fire. However, a person is not "Un-American" merely because he appeared on the same platform with Mr. Molotov in 1944. In 1944 President Roosevelt, whom many people think was a good American, sat down at table with Stalin.

Berlin Impasse

The Berlin crisis continues, but there is hope that Russia has not put herself into a position from which she cannot retire and that the Western powers are not in a similar dilemma from which neither withdrawal nor progress is honourably possible. The three western powers' position in Berlin seems to be impossible to maintain, but the impossible can be done under duress. The Soviet authorities have supplied the duress and British and American planes have shown thus far that they can stay in Berlin. The British and American leaders' attitudes have shown that they intend to stay as long as duress exists. Recent history should convince the Russians that the democratic nations are more likely to be immovable objects than the Russians are to be an irresistible force.

Niagara Falls and Falls

We write about the Niagara Falls because we have not seen them for ten years. The impulse comes not from nostalgia but from wallowing in what Wordsworth terms 'recollection in tranquillity.' One cannot judge Niagara quietly at Niagara. The roar of the Falls overpowers serenity, as the spectacle overwhelms the senses, especially at night when the Falls are illuminated and honeymooning couples are billing and cooing. It is, incidentally, clever of the authorities to illuminate the Falls at night instead of by day, for thus visitors who wish to see them glorified are almost obliged to buy bed and breakfast in the district.

Two hundred and sixty years after La Salle established a trading post at Niagara we visited the place for the first time; that was in 1938, when we had been inhabiting this southern part of Ontario for numerous years. Why do people postpone visiting a Wonder of the World which is next door to them and take the first opportunity to dash headlong to see another Wonder five hundred or five thousand miles distant? We know a man in Peterborough who has never seen Peterborough's Largest Liftlock in the World. We have heard of a Kingston resident who has never visited Kingston's Old Fort Henry. We know a Queen's student who had not visited Niagara before he went to see Chartres Cathedral, and a University of Paris student who had never visited Chartres but within ten days of his arrival in Canada had made a pilgrimage to Niagara.

The Falls are scenically grand, but may not always be so, for the Horseshoe (Canadian) Falls have been wearing away at the crest at a mean annual rate of five feet since 1764, of 3.7 feet since 1842 and 2.3 feet since 1906. The drop at Niagara is 155 feet (Horseshoe) and 165 feet (American side). The Canadian Fall has the girth on the American, for it is 2,600 feet broad and the American Niagara a mere 1,400.

Recollecting Niagara in tranquillity we are more impressed by the Montmorency Fall (Quebec) which is 265 feet high, the Takkakaw (Daly Glacier) Fall in B.C. which is 1,200 feet high (though the river cheats by taking the 1,200 feet in more than one leap). We are also impressed by the Angel Fall in Venezuela which has a total drop of 3,300 to 5,000 feet, depending on one's point of view and the weather. It is the highest in the world.

Recollection in tranquillity is bemusing, for the mind is impressed by mere figures of height, but these high leaps are not believed when seen; it is the massive fall at Niagara which when seen is the convincing spectacle. Blondin would never had acquired celebrity and a distinguished onlooker like the Prince of Wales if he had walked across the Angel on a tightrope in 1860 instead of across the gorge of Niagara. And who would give a hoot about a man rolling down Takkakaw in a barrel? Niagara is the one-and-only. We shall visit it next week.

Royal Palace For Ottawa?

Lately Prime Minister King publicly "looked forward to the day when the King and Queen will reside for part of the year in the Capital of Canada". Not long after the words were out of his mouth, certain Ottawa councillors began to plan the building of a new royal residence to house Their Majesties. A resolution has been put before the Ottawa Council to dedicate Rockcliffe Park to the high purpose.

Whether His Majesty and the citizens of Ottawa would approve depriving the municipality of one of its more beautiful public parks, we cannot say. But we venture to think that the King could be put up quite nicely in the two royal residences now available. The Kingston Whig-Standard feels sure that Their Majesties "would be made very comfortable either at Rideau Hall at Ottawa or at the Citadel in Quebec". They are now vice-regal residences, but could become regal if the King should decide to visit Canada or spend part of each year in this country.

A special Ottawa palace for the King of Canada might of course be useful, during His Majesty's long absences from it, as a home for distinguished diplomatic visitors, but we think it would be less infra dig. for His Majesty to live at a vice-regal residence than at a home habitually the resort of unregal visitors.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Sign of the times: "Closed For Stiff Holiday". Well, a hard-working staff should be expected to play hard.

The Conservatives have chosen Ottawa as the locality for their national convention. They had considered Winnipeg. Whichever city they chose, they could not count on overwhelming civic Conservative support, for neither city has had Conservative representation in the House of Commons since 1935.

Diary Of A Political Aspirant

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: At a dinner party this evening and sat next to a charming young woman who confided to me that she had gone to boarding school with a girl who later turned into a man. This kind of thing is becoming regrettably common, and in my opinion it would form an excellent subject for a Ph.D. thesis or a Royal Commission. Only last year when Their Majesties went to South Africa twin girls turned into twin men almost overnight, as a result of excitement engendered by the royal visit. Every thinking man or woman who reads of these cases in the papers begins to examine himself curiously in the mirror; personally I like being a man, and I can face with stoicism the possibility of being a woman, but I dread the intermediate period, during which I should be an It, tossed hither and thither on the turbulent seas of irreconcilable ambitions.

❖ ❖ ❖

MONDAY: The anticipation caused by the forthcoming Liberal and Conservative conventions is almost intolerable, and has even disturbed the tranquil (not to say stagnant) pool of my personal concerns. This very morning a circular in two colours reached me through the mail, with "Draft Marchbanks For Dog-Catcher!" printed on it in huge letters. I will not conceal the fact that this rallying cry shivered my timbers, and that the ambition for public office which lies deep in every man stirred within me, but I stifled it. After all, I am the leader and sole member of The Marchbanks Humanist Party, pledged to attack hokum wherever it may appear in Canadian life; this keeps me dashing in all directions, lashing out with my heels, leading with my chin, and otherwise contorting myself. The high office of Dog Catcher is not one which any man refuses without a sigh of regret, but I know where my duty lies.

❖ ❖ ❖

TUESDAY: However carefully I plan my life there comes a period every few months when I find myself enclosed in a car with two or more children, and I must either amuse them or be driven to the uttermost limits of human endurance by their questions. Tried a game today which was new to them, though old to everyone else: "I love my love with an A because she is ample; I hate her with an A because she is arthritic; her name is Alice and she lives in Antarctica; I took her to a restaurant and fed her almonds and applejack"....and so on, all through the alphabet. But when one plays this with children who are bad spellers and who are somewhat shaky about the alphabet it takes on new and horrific dimensions. By the time we had reached G, I was ready to quit, but they drove me remorselessly on to Z (her name was Zenobia, she was zestful and zealous and lived in Zenith and I fed her on zucchi and zinc chloride, if you want to know) and my reason was tottering by the time we stopped at a roadside joint and I fed my loves on ice cream cones.

❖ ❖ ❖

WEDNESDAY: The problems of children engross me. Why is it, for instance, that children never have to go to the toilet unless there is an adult in it? Why, in houses where toilets are many, can children invent so many ingenious reasons for wanting to use the one which is already engaged? Are children psychic in this respect? The adult who is accustomed to creep away from the cares of life for half an hour with a good book to the only room in the house which can be locked from the inside, is forced to ponder on these problems. No other adult would dream of disturbing him, but an innocent little child will (to employ a picturesque term) unseat him in an instant for a mere whim. Never underestimate the power of a child. If Hitler had had a few Little Ones running about the Rejchskanzellerei, he would not have had such a high opinion of himself.

❖ ❖ ❖

THURSDAY: Visited old Fort Henry at Kingston today and was delighted with it. I was particularly impressed by the polite, well-spoken young men who act as guides, and who seem to me to compare favourably with the best guides that I have seen anywhere....In the museum of the Fort an American girl said to her companion, "Gee, don't it remind you of the Tower of London?" I cannot say that the resemblance had struck me, but I was proud that she found a Canadian historical exhibit impressive ....Hefted a cannon ball of the vintage of 1830 when the guide was not looking, and found it about as heavy as a modern skittle ball. I suppose in a hundred years our atomic bombs will seem equally laughable to the tourists of that day.

❖ ❖ ❖

FRIDAY: Assisted some children in laying out a croquet lawn today, and inadvertently discovered a new prose master in the author of a book called "Croquet Rules and Regulations" which came with the set. Here is one of his gem-like sentences: "When two or more balls are in friendly proximity, rush down and break up their union at all hazards, for such a gathering always denotes mischief ahead". Could that be more prettily put? Could the tittering devilishness of croquet be more feelingly conveyed in words? I think not. I read the whole book of rules with immense enjoyment, and then proceeded to umpire a children's game. The modern child, I discovered, is ill-attuned to croquet. It wants to win, first of all, and the distinguishing mark of the sportsman is a readiness—indeed, a positive eagerness—to lose. Furthermore, the modern child confuses croquet with golf, and wants to hit the ball very hard, whether force is needed or not. In fact, I despair of the modern child; it is too full of vitamins to be a nice companion for a sedentary diarist.

❖ ❖ ❖

SATURDAY: A traveller recently returned from China was showing me a shoe designed for a lady with "lotus feet" today. It was uncommonly small, and I was quite able to believe that a woman who wore such a thing would be unable to walk without assistance...More literature arrives demanding that I offer myself for public office, and the dizzy eminence of Dog Catcher is mentioned again and again. I am wavering to the point where I have decided to attend the Liberal Convention next week to test the temper of the country. I may yet....but no; these are vain speculations.... Examined family records in the possession of my Uncle Fortunatus tonight. How many Marchbanks have met a miserable fate in the bankruptcy courts! The family archives are hideously punctured with the blue balance sheets of that dreadful institution! Would that I had some assurance that I, too, will not pass to posterity on one of those hideous records!

Down With The Experts

("With some 'experts' contending that prices will continue as at present; others predicting even higher prices; and still others that our economy is due for a nosedive, it is small wonder. . . ."—Earle C. King Chief Accountant of the S.E.C.)

It is small wonder I totter,
Feel my intelligence teeter,
Droop like a two-year-old blotter,
Whine like a ravening skeeter,
Groan like a triple offender
Caught in the act with his plunder
By a well-armed apprehender—
No, it is not any wonder!

Experts, why don't you agree?
Experts, why won't you unite?
Blast you, unanimous be,
Whether you're wrong or you're right!
Why am I driven to drudge
Over your clashing critiques?
Who is this nitwit to judge
Which of you verily speaks?
Tell me without a dissent:
Will prices go higher or fall?
Or I swear I'll declare,
As I tear at my hair,
You are none of you experts at all!

"Look," trumpets A, "for a crack-up!"
"Pooh," counters B, "just a slow up!"
Whereupon C, with his back up,
Bellows, "The levels will go up!"
D, though, pronounces them stable;
E then endeavours to straddle;
I, in the midst of the babel,
Long for a club or a paddle!

Experts, why can't you agree?
Strike an accord, or I swoon!
If you must differ in key,
Pipe the identical tune!
Can't your analyses chime?
Can't your statistics be friends?
Can't we have peace in our time
'Twixt your ubiquitous "trends"?
Name it—without a dispute:
Zephyr, tornado, or squall?
Or I'll bleat, I repeat—
And with heat—that you cheat,
You are really no experts at all!

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord reigneth; let the earth rejoice; let the multitude of isles be glad thereof.... The heavens declare his righteousness, and all the people see his glory....

Zion heard, and was glad; and the daughters of Judah rejoiced because of thy judgments, O Lord. For thou, Lord, art high above all the earth: thou art exalted far above all gods.

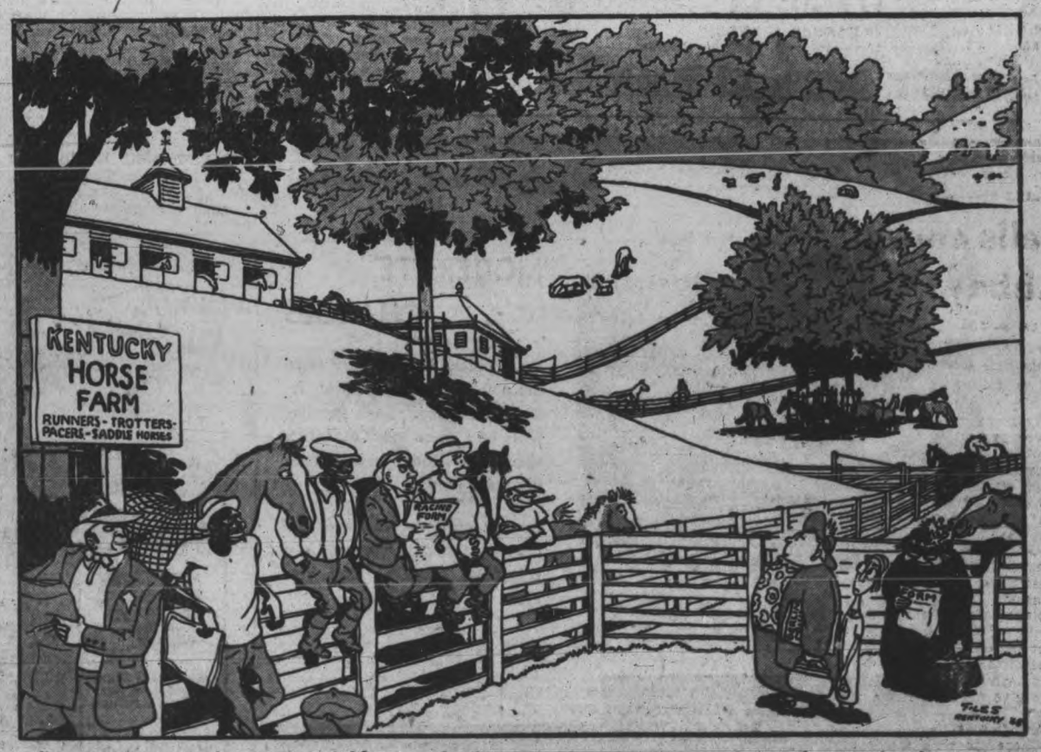
Ye that love the Lord, hate evil: he preserveth the souls of his saints; he delivereth them out of the hand of the wicked. Light is sown for the righteous, and gladness for the upright in heart.

Rejoice in the Lord, ye righteous; and give things at the remembrance of his holiness. (Ps. 97: 1, 6, 8-12.)

❖ ❖ ❖

The Lord is great in Zion; and he is high above all people.

Let them praise thy great and terrible name; for it is holy....



Exalt the Lord our God, and worship at his holy hill; for the Lord our God is holy. (Ps. 99: 2, 3, 9.)

No Sympathy For Used Car Dealers

Very few Canadians will sympathize with these merchants. Furthermore, a large number of Canadians probably think that many used car dealers have been treated as they deserved. The buying public in the used car market has long been irritated and disgusted by the sight of nominally used cars of post-war manufacture selling at higher prices than "new" cars of the same year. Used car dealers running this sort of racket took advantage of the tremendous demand for automobiles to gouge buyers for every cent the latter could possibly pay. It is a practice comparable to ticket "scalping", and we cannot recall hearing about anyone mourning when a "scalper" was stuck with a block of tickets, other than the scalper himself.

Furthermore, most people will probably feel that used car dealers seriously affected by the tax reduction are victims of either their own cupidity or their own stupidity. It was unofficially intimated at Ottawa several weeks ago that the special excise taxes would be abolished in the near future. That intimation should have been enough to make any mildly shrewd business man take steps to avoid being caught with a stock on which he would have to take a loss. It should also have been sufficient to warn the greedy that they would be wise to curb themselves. In some cases, apparently, it was neither.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

GILES IN UNITED STATES

Outdoors

With PETE McGILLEN

WHOPPING BIG MUSKIES are the order of the day. Gerry Mohar, Cleveland, took the lead in the Peterborough district with a 30 pounder from Belmont lake. He was staying at one of John Rogers' cottages. This maskinonge had a girth of 24 inches. Colin McDonald, Toronto, got a 33 pounder in Cameron lake near Fenelon Falls, and Norman Wakeford, Port Perry, snagged one weighing 26 pounds in Sturgeon lake. Everett Akey, Sulphide, took a 33 pound muskie from Stoco lake at Tweed, while John Barrett, Toronto, kept the Trent in the running with a 32 pounder from the Trent river near Healey Falls. Down at Campbellford, Ernest Allen caught a 20 pounder in the heart of the town. J. Wilson, Warren, Ohio, bagged a 20 pounder in Belmont lake and W. Rehor, Canton, Ohio, added a 12 pounder from the same lake. Norman Clements, of Toronto, also caught his first big muskie, an 18 pounder in Belmont lake, and it seems that stretch of water is producing the best muskie fishing of the last five years.

EVER RIDE IN A JEEP, no—well don't. Jeep drivers are a breed apart. Without meaning to be critical, I'd say they were all a bit nuts. I blew the head gasket off my car in Haliburton last week. I had to get home, so a mechanic offered to drive me—in a jeep. Tsk. Tsk. I'm lucky to be alive. On a straight stretch it wouldn't have been so bad, but we crossed the Cheddar Road, 12 miles of twisting, uneven, dirt road. One-way most of the distance, too. The first car we met, the jeep zoomed into a swamp. We bumped along, and the driver jigged with a small gear-shift, and the machine groaned and roared, smashed a rotten stump to smithereens, and jumped back to the road. I gripped the right door with my right hand, and pushed on the dash with my left. We bounced, jolted and flew along the winding trail. Then we met another car. It stopped, but we didn't. No sir, the driver wheeled to the right up a steep bank, and dirt, sticks and stones flew. I was thrown against the driver but in a split second we were back on the road. The motorist sat bug-eyed, wondering whether it was a bull moose or an atomic-powered contraption that had passed him.

FINALLY THE JEEP REACHED the highway. I was sore and bruised, and my stomach didn't feel so good either. On the straight stretch this abominable creation, spawned in wartime, reached the incredible speed of 60 miles an hour. The headlights weren't right, so the driver said. And he stopped the jeep to adjust them. While we were parked along came a Provincial Police cruiser, and I heaved a sigh of relief. The officer was headed for Peterborough, and said he would take me in. Ah, at last I would see my wife and family again. I have always had a torpid liver, but I'm sure that affliction is gone forever. Yes sir, a ride in a jeep across the Cheddar road has six months of stiff setting-up exercises skinned a mile. Ride a jeep, no sir, I'll take a V2 rocket.

NORTHERN TOWNSHIPS haven't too much revenue from taxation. Why, then do they not see to it that more roads are opened to the back lakes. In this county we have several beautiful lakes not accessible by car. The map shows a road into the south end of Jack's lake, but I can't find it. Maybe it's just a wagon trail. It cuts east between Haultain and the depot bridge. If this road was opened maybe a public picnic ground could be obtained. If the land wasn't donated, perhaps there is enough Crown land on the lakefront for such a purpose. Every week-end people ask me, "Where can I take my family for a picnic?" That isn't too easy to answer. There is no road west from Apsley to Eagle (Anstruther) lake, Trout lake, Stoplog, Sucker, Gold, Cold, and many others are inaccessible by vehicle. Every accessible cottage site means a new cottage, and cottages mean revenue in taxes. More cottages mean more business for grocers, gas stations, farmers, restaurants, hardware stores, furniture stores and many others.

HEARD TODAY of a man who must be a slave to the marginal minute. When he goes on a trip, he draws a schedule, to the minute, mind you, not the hour. Eat at a certain time, swim at a certain time, fish at a certain time, rest at a certain time, drive so many miles per hour, get to a spot at a specified time. Ah, nuts, that fellow isn't on a holiday. He's a squirrel in a revolving cage. If I see a likely-looking stream, I want to fish. If I see a berry patch, I want to pick berries. What if the lodge is closed when you arrive, you can sleep in the car. This American stopped at Burleigh Falls because his friend wanted a hamburg, and he was stewing because they were 15 minutes off schedule. I wonder would that fellow stay on schedule if he got lost in the bush. There is some sense to fishing only at major feeding periods but this vacation-timed-to-the-minute, Heaven forbid. Why such a person has let his split-second timing and efficiency become an obsession. First thing he knows he'll burn out a bearing. When you go on a holiday throw the alarm clock into the first swamp you pass. You won't need it, until you get back.

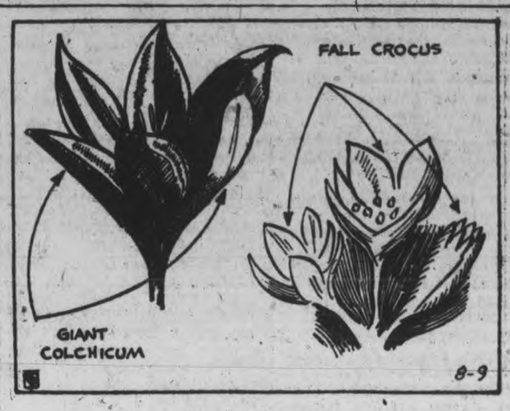
Fortunes Lie In Old Attics All Over Canada

By PETER DAVIS

Dusty and forgotten, in neglected attics and cellars, at the bottom of disused trunks or lost beneath piles of rubbah, fortunes lie all over Canada, awaiting lucky finders.

This fact has been emphasized yet again by the luck of a woman customer in an antique shop in Montreal, who discovered what she thought was a string of black beads lying at the bottom of an old trinket box and bought them for a dollar or two. In London, England, experts have appraised them as a necklet of black pearls, said to be from the collection of Mary, Queen of Scots, and worth probably $4,000.

How did they originally cross the Atlantic? In the Old Country dealers have probed every nook and cranny in search of valuable art master pieces, old silver, furniture or rare books, but many treasures crossed the Atlantic with immigrants and have not been discovered in Canada to the same extent.



Not long ago, an expert visited a Toronto antique shop to search for fans and noticed a picture, bearing the signature J. B. Greuze 1798, which had just been bought in from an old house. He promptly purchased it—"dirt cheap", as he declared. The Greuze again changed hands for $212,000 at Christie's, the famous London auction-rooms.

Again there was the recent instance of lucky Mr. Clerk who borrowed a book on Lady Hamilton from his local library and shortly after reading it visited a friend. An old unframed oil painting caught his eye. It seemed to be of Lady Hamilton, though head and hair had been touched up, and a Romney at that. On a hunch, he bought the picture for $25, his friend all too willing to get rid of it at such a sum. When it was cleaned, the new paint came away—and the painting underneath was assuredly a Romney in perfect condition. An art dealer purchased it for $5,000.

In Ottawa a junk man was asked to take away an old table. The dealer intended to chop it up for firewood but rather liked the look of the table and took it home to his wife, painting it a nice glossy green. A clergyman who visited the house recognized something familiar in the cut and line of the table and asked questions. The table proved to be a Chippendale, worth fully $2,000.

Even the most unconsidered article can fetch big money on occasion. There is, for instance, the exploit of Henry Shirley, whose grandfather had handed down to him a large egg, labelled "penguin". For years it stood on its stand in the lumber room—until Mr. Shirley chanced to read in a newspaper that the French name for the extinct Great Auk was "pingouin" and that its eggs were sometimes erroneously labelled "penguin". Packing up his egg most carefully, Mr. Shirley sent it to a museum, for inspection. Eventually it found its way into the auction rooms and fetched $1,000.

There are similar instances innumerable. A Vancouver dealer bought an old iron bedstead, with flock mattress and found a fortune in English pound notes concealed in the bedding. A schoolteacher recognized in an old picture in a country classroom, used for 40 years as a chalk target by the children, a valuable Venetian painting of the Madona and Child. From the man who found at the bottom of a bag of old stamps a rare Mauritius blue worth over $5,000 to the stenographer who found some Bartolozzi engravings in an old cupboard — you never know your luck!

Autumn Blooming Bulbs of Beauty

Plant Autumn Crocuses Very Early In August

BY DEAN HALLIDAY

Distributed by Central Press Association

For added beauty in the garden this September and October, plant at this time the autumn flowering Colchicums, fall blooming crocuses and the Sterbergia lutea.

Sterbergia lutea is especially beautiful in the rock garden when planted in front of a large rock where the sun can reach and warm it. Its dark strap-shaped thick leaves appear soon after planting. Then thick, golden giant crocus-like flowers appear which never quite open out. In a cold climate these bulbs should be mulched for the winter.

A Colchicum, called "The Giant," is shown in the accompanying Garden - Graph. The range of Colchicum colors is white, lilac, violet or a reddish purple. The foliage appears early in the spring and is coarse and heavy. The leaves die down in the summer and the flowers appear in the fall on leafless stalks.

The flowers of the fall crocus, which has grass-like foliage also are illustrated. Some kinds of autum crocuses flower without leaves, the leaves developing later in the autumn, or sometimes not until spring. Others have the leaves partly developed at flowering time and still others bloom with a full equipment of the narrow foliage.

One point is of special importance in growing autumn crocuses—get them into the ground early. They should be planted in August as soon as received and not allowed to sprout and grow in the bags. In this way their blossoming may be enjoyed this autumn.

The leaves of the crocus must be allowed to take their time about maturing and never be cut off while green.

First Grants In Seymour Made In 1793 But Surveying Area Started In 1819

BY HELEN MARRJAT

Philip R. Frey, the deputy Surveyor for the District of Nassau, had been instructed to survey and mark the front lines of townships from the eastern boundary of that district to Toronto, and to carry back the side lines of each township for one file, well marked. However Frey was given leave of absence to visit his relations on the Mohawk River and failed to return.

Then Augustus Jones was appointed, and instructed by letter. February, 22, 1791, to survey and mark the front line of a row of townships from the eastern boundary of the district of Toronto, and to carry the side lies of each township back one mile, well marked; which township were to be designated on the chart, the first, adjoining the said eastern boundary by the name of Murray, and the rest in the following order, Cramahe, Haldimand, Hamilton and Hope etc. The former two were named in order Governors of Quebec. This survey took 79 days, from July 1 to Sept. 17 1791. Even the Jones reported finding a few person in occupation of land in the front of the township of Murray.

The province has been divided into counties, the twelfth of which had been named Northumberland, its limits being vaguely described as "bounded on the East by the Western most line of the County of Hastings and the carying place of the Prsque Isle ile Quinti, on the south by Lake Ontario until it meets the Western most point of little bay, hence by a line running North sixteen degrees West until it meets the Southern boundary of a Tract of Land belong.ng to the Mississague Indians, and thence along the said Tract, until it meets the north western most boundary of the County of Hastings."

It accordingly included the townships of Murray, Cramahe, Haldimand and Hamilton, and a considerable area of land in the rear, which was afterwards divided into the township of Seymour, Percy and Alnwick.

The first survey of Seymour was made in 1819 by Brown and again in 1833 by Campbell nothing have been done in the intervalm apparently.

One reason for this may have been the decision to appropriate certain townships for the purpose of establishing grammar schools and other places of education, and April, 13 1799, the Surveyor General D. W. Smith selected ten townships of which Seymour was the first. Incidentally, this is the first mention of Seymour in the correspondence of the Lieut-Governor, J.G. Simcoe or his successor, the Hon. Peter Russell. (Russell Papers, vol. 3. p. 174 Seymour is described as" on the Trent, in the rear of Murray."

But although the township had not been surveyed, it was known to contain a salt spring, which was inspected by John Collins, Deputy Surveyor-General, who reported its yield of one gallon of of salt for every three gallons of water. It was at once reserved for the Crown, and in June, 1792 it was visited and the water tested by William Chewett and Angus Macdonnell.

In fact Governor Simco mentioned in a letter Dec. 7, 1791 to Henry Dundas, of H. M.'s Government that "It has given me singular pleasure to learn from Mr. Collins that he has been at and tasted of a salt spring which falls into the Trent River above the Lake of Quinty, that according to the account of the inhabitants yields a gallon of salt for every three of water, and this spring is not situated at a greater distance than Twenty miles from Lake Ontario. . ."

In his correspondence Simcoe makes further references to salt springs, but the one in Seymour was soon given up as a probable source of government income. although several in the Niagara district were thought to be valuable. Simcoe wrote for iformation regarding and machinery for these salt springs, and in reply Government hoped that the colonly would thus be able to raise as much pork as would supply the Troops. The average price of salt at Montreal in 1788 was two shillings and six pence currency per bushel, at Kingston fifteen and at Detroit forty shillings. A salt spring was thus considered an inducement to settlers, who would be able to raise pork an salt it for sale to the Troops. Simcoe was informed that salt smuggled through Niagara from the salt licks in the States sold for five pounds York Currency at Detroit. (Simcoe Papers, vol. 1. p 91.

The only Creek shown on the maps in Belden's Atlas, which meets the conditions described by the early surveyors, flew from west to east through the township of Percy. James McCormack, who settled on lot 22. con. 2. near the toll-gate in the vicinity of Norham in 1938, never needed to "saw his cows" as the Salt Creek ran through his farm. This interesting recollection gave a clue to the locality of the salt spring and was furnished by Miss Lilian Benor, Campbellford Librarian, whose Mother is a niece of the late James McCormack.

According to the topographical survey map of 1933 the Salt Creek rises in the eight concession of Haldimand southwest of Oak Heights, while other branches can be traced through the south half of Percy township. It empties into the Trent River just below Percy Beem about half way between Jett and Potts Island. Somewhere in the vicinity must have been the salt spring so eagerly sought by our first Governor, John Graves Simcoe.

On April 16, 1793, Robert Kerr, the surgeon to the Indian Dept. at Niagara, who had married a daughter of Sir William Johnson and Molly Brant, presented a petition, stating that the applicants "are desirous of settling a township of land to the southward of the Trent River, near a salt spring and opposite an island in said river in rear of the townships of Murray or Cramahe. . .on the same terms as granted to others."

The persons named with him were his brother-in-law, John Ferguson and William Johnson, and James Vanhorn and "others their Associates. (Loyalists)" They were granted th township afterwards named Seymour, its outlines not yet surveyed.

On May 22, 1794, Dr. Kerr petitioned council stating that he and his associates had got a number of settlers on the township (Seymour) and others wre duly expected, but that they sufered great inconvenience "from the lands not being surveyed". A survey was ordered at once, but there seems no evidence that it was made.

Their efforts at settlement seem to have been successful, for on May, 23, 1798, after reading their petition the Council granted them lands, as nominees for the twonship of Seymour. . . .

"Messrs. Kerr and Ferguson (being military clainmants) . . 1200 acres each, exclusive of former grants, and William Johnson the same portion including former grants. But the prayer of the other nominee Vanhorn, cannot be attested to until he becomes a settler in this Province and a subject of His Majesty."

On March, 31, 1797, Dr. Kerr was requested to attend a meeting of Council to receive the Report on the quantity of land, apparently received by him. A complete statement of these lands may be found at the Toronto Public Library.

On May, 21, 1791, William Pitt, Prime Minister of Great Britain, had stated in a speech in the Canada Bill, that as there was a population of about ten thousand individuals, men, women and children, in Upper Canada, that SIXTEEN was a reasonable proportion of those who were fit persons to be chosen Members of the Assembly. Robert Kerr was one of these recommended for a seat in the Excutive Council Upper Canada.

Bells and Bird Sanctuary Abbey Dawn's Attraction

The summer traveller on his way north into Ontario's vacationland is greeted with the rich, mellow tolling of "Gitchie Nagama," if he enters via any one of bridges spanning the St. Law-Lawrence from New York State to South-eastern Ontario. "Gitchie Nagamo" is situated on Abbey Dawn estate, about five miles east of historic Kingston, and 13 miles west of Gananoque, on No. 2 Highway.

"Gitchie Nagamo," Indian for "Beautiful Voice," is one of the great bells of the world, ranking alongside London's Big Ben, Philadelphia's Liberty Bell and mystic Burmah's Amarapoora. Cast in memory of an unknown poet of the Red Man, it bears his own inscription:

"I give my soul to the Silent
Dawn,
And it goes
Where the song of the birds
Has gone."

The line has inspired the Canadian nature poet Wallace Havelock Robb to create a bird sanctury on his estate, Abbey Dawn, in the Thousand Islands district. He has made Abbey Dawn a haven for all things romantic and enchanting, and believing that beauty must not be horded, he has thrown open the Abbey gates to the public, who flock there by the thousands every summer

The Abbey contains an art gallery, a museum, the "House of a Thousand Swallows," and many other weird and wonderful things, all making a visit to Abbey dawn an unforgetable event. Ouptstanding among his collections are relics of a vanished race which he discovered in the neighbourhood, and which he links with a pre-Indian culture closely resembling the earlier Aztec discoveries in Mexico. There are ritual thrones and altars, household implements, weapons and many other richly ornamented articles of unknown purposes, in arrangements strangely reminiscent of England's Stonehenge.

The approaches to Abbey Dawn estate are unobtrusively marked, so motorists on No. 2 Highway are deminded to watch carefully for them.

Indians Down Yankees 9-7 But Feller Slowing Up; Gray Wins For Detroit

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Feller, Cleveland Indians' "Mr. X," continues as much a puzzle as ever to baseball fans.

Although he pitched the Tribe to an important victory over New York Yankees last night to give the pace-setting Indians a half-game advantage in the American League over Philadelphia Athletics, the famous pitcher clearly demonstrated that he was not the great Feller of former days.

President Bill Veeck and the 71,268 fans who watched the Indians defeat the Yankees 9-7, were not as happy as they might have been.

Outside of the fact that Feller, for the sixth straight time, failed to go the distance, everything broke wonderfully for the Indians. They gained a full game over each of the three chief contenders as the Athletics were beaten by the Browns in St. Louis, 2-1 and Boston Red Sox were nipped by the White Sox in Chicago, 4-3.

Cleveland not only ended the Yankees' five-game winning streak, but extended their own to six in a row. Feller went 7⅓ innings to gain his first triumph over the Yankees this season. They had trounced him four times.

11th Victory

Feller, famous for his strike-out feats, fanned only one, walked five and allowed 10 hits before he was yanked in the eighth when the Yankees scored four times in a belated attack. It was his 11th victory of the campagin, and it probably was his cheapest. He has lost 12. His last route-going performance was July 11.

The Indians played minus the services of Lou Boudreau, their ace shortstop-manager who suffered a shoulder injury in Thursday's game with Washington Senators. Johnny Berardino filled in at short, collected a pair of singles and handled four chances in errorless fashion.

St. Louis Cardinals, Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants each gained ground as the National league-leading Boston Braves dropped their fifth game in their last six starts, losing 5-4 to the cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs. The second-place Dodgers defeated Cincinnati Reds 4-1, the Cards topped Philadelphia Phils 6-2 and the Giants nipped Pittsburgh Pirates 7-6.

In the American League, young Ted Gray, making his first big-league start, pitched Detroit Tigers to a 1-0 10-inning victory over Walter Masterson and the Senators. Masterson walked Hoot Evers with two out and the bases full to force over the game's only run in the last of the 10th.

Browns Triumph

Lefty Bill Kennedy gained the decision for the Browns over Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont., and the A's. Despite the loss, the A's held second place over the Yankees by 4/10 of a percentage point.

Pat Seerey hammered his 15th home run of the season with two men on base in the seventh inning to give the White Sox their one-run victory over the Red Sox. The defeat left the Bosox in fourth place, half a game behind the third-place Yankees and 1½ lengths off the pace.

Brooklyn advanced to within 3½ games of the Braves when young Rex Barney shackled the Reds with three singles. Jackie Robinson, with his sixth home run, and a long fly, drove in three runs for the victors. The defeat spoiled Bucky Walters' managerial debut. Walters had supplanted Johnny Neun as Red manager a couple of hours before the game.

The Cardinals also moved up to within 3½ games of the top as Howie Pollet outpitched Dutch Leonard for his eighth victory.

Cards To Hold Tryouts At Belleville

Fair Grounds Park, Belleville, will be the scene of a baseball try out camp Friday and Saturday, August 20 and 21 which will be conducted by the St. Louis Cardinals, and is one of more than 60 such camps scheduled by the Cardinals this summer. It will be open free to all boys between the ages of 17 and 23 who aspire to careers in professional baseball.

Try outs will start at 11 o'clock each morning and continue throughout the day. The camp will be under the supervision of C. S. "Pop" Kelchner, dean of baseball scouts. He will be assisted by Joe Gusick, former Holy Cross star and minor league player and manager. This staff will judge the performances of the players at their chosen position, offering contracts to those qualified.

Every boy in this vicinity who feels that he has what it takes to become a professional baseball player is invited to enroll for a try out. There will be regular drills in running, fielding, hitting and throwing. The pitchers will get a chance to show their stuff in games played between teams made up of players in attendance at the camp. All boys planning to attend are asked to bring their own gloves and baseball shoes, and uniforms if they have them. Any players signed to contracts will be refunded all expenses incident to attending the camp.

Kelly Eliminated

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, Aug. 7—(CP).—Young John B. Kelly, Jr., of Philadelphia, was eliminated from the Olympic single sculls rowing competition today when he was beaten by G. E. Risso of Uruguay. The 21-year-old United State sculling champion, a heavy favorite to duplicate the Olympic championshipn won by his father in 1920, led most of the way but did not have enough left in the stretch. The race was finished in a pouring rain storm.

THE DETROIT TIGERS announced that they had signed 19-year-old catcher Frank House (above) of Bessemer, Ala., at the highest bonus ever paid in baseball. A Tiger spokesman said the sensational young catcher, whose left-handed batting earned him a high school batting average of .750, was signed to a 1949 contract with Flint, Mich., in the Central league. Major league rules provide that he must be brought up to the parent club within one year. The club, while admitting having paid a record-breaking bonuse, refused to reveal the amount of the bonus. It is rumored as having been $80,000.

Teamwork May Win Canadians Honors In Yachting And Relay

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON, Aug. 7. — (CP). — Canadian teamwork in yachting and relay may gain for the Dominion the top Olympic honors which individual stars have as yet failed to garner.

Canada's four-man 40-metre relay team won a place in today's final by coming second yesterday in a heat.

On the water, John Robertson and Dick Townsend of Hamilton hold third place in the swallow class despite the fact they made their poorest showing yesterday.

But the star of the show, almost superseding all national interests, was a 30-year-old mother of two—Mrs. Fanny Blakers-Koen of The Netherlands, who brought her victories in this 14th Olympic Games to three by winning the 200-metre dash.

It was the first time any of her sex has marked this feat. No other competitor in the present games has won even two events.

Previously she won the 100-metre dash and the 80-metre hurdles. Yesterday she set a record of 24.4 seconds in the new event for women.

To Win 4th Title

World record holder in the high jump, Mrs. Blankers-Koen was almost sure to win her fourth title today. But she decided to run only with The Netherlands' 400-metre relay team.

Canada figured in three protests yesterday—two in yachting and one in track.

An international yachting jury upheld Canada's protest against France in the sailing of the firefly-class event, but the decision had no bearing on the second-place finish of Paul McLaughlin of Toronto.

McLaughlin protested that the French vessel, which finished fifth, had failed to "give sufficient room when rounding a buoy." The protest was upheld and the French boat disqualified.

In star-class racing, France lodged a protest against Canada and Britain protested against Holland, but the nature of the protests was not immediately made public. The Canadian entry of Bill Gooderham and Gerry Fairhead of Toronto finished far back in 15th place.

In swallow-class racing, Robertson and Townsend made their worst showing in the four races already held in the seven-race series for each class. They finished 11th yesterday after two previous seconds and a seventh.

Other Protests

The third protest came after Canada's relay team placed second in a preliminary heat of the 400-metre relay, finishing six yards behind a Holland quartet. Argentina, who lodged the protest, placed third.

If the protest is upheld, Argentina and not Canada will enter the final event today. The protest was against placing of the judges who put Argentina third, 1-10th second slower than Canada's 42.3 seconds, slowest qualifying time among all teams.

Arthur Biondi, head of the Argentine track and field delegation, said in a letter to the jury of appeal that he wanted to check the photo-finish of the race.

The Canadian team was made up of Don McFarlane of London, Ont., Jimmy O'Brien of Toronto, Ted Haggis of London, Ont., and Don Pettie of Calgary.

Not So Good

The Canadians did not fare so well in the 1,600-metre event, however, finishing third behind Jamaica and France. Canada was timed in 3:19, compared with 3:14 for Jamaica and 3:17 for France. Only the first two teams qualify.

Canada's participants were Don McFarlane and his brother Bob, Ernie McCullough of Calgary and Bill LaRochelle of Chatham, Ont.

In rowing, Canada was eliminated in the double sculls repechage—second-chance —competition by Uruguay. Gabby Beaudry and Ted Graves of Ottawa took an early lead, but were unable to hold it and finished in 7:08.7, compared with 7:02.1 for Uruguay.

Vivian King of Winnipeg, last Canadian swimmer, was eliminated in the semi-final heat of the women's 400-metre free style swim, won by Karen Harup of Denmark in Olympic-record-breaking time.

Miss King finished last in her seven-place heat in 5:52.7, compared with Miss Harup's time of 5:25.7.

Mob Mathias, 17-year-old California schoolboy, won the 10-event decathlon championship in the basis of unofficial figures. Canada's only entry in the event, Lionel Fournier of Montreal, finished 25th.

In other events, K. Freij, Swedish lightweight wrestler, took the tiel in his Greco-Roman class, Emil Grunig of Switzerland won the 300-metre, full-bore free rifle championship, France won the men's epee team fencing championship, H. Eriksson of Sweden won th 1,500-metre run, Allen Stack of the United States won the men's 100-metre back stroke swimming final, and a United States women's 400-metre free style relay swimming team took top honors in their event.

Mrs. Vicki Manalo Draves became the first double-crowned queen of the women's water sports, winning the high-platform diving championship to add to her springboard diving title.

Fans Do Honor To Oscar Judd At Leaf Stadium

TORONTO, Aug. 7 — (CP). — It was Oscar Judd night at Maple Leaf Stadium Friday night and the veteran pitcher of Toronto Maple Leafs International league team was presented with two showers.

The first was from 800 baseball fans from his hometown district of Ingersoll who showered the 38-year-old southpaw with gifts. Later, the opposing Newark Bears pelted him for 12 hits to hand Toronto a 6-5 loss. It was Oscar's eighth defeat as against a similar number of victories.

However, Judd gave his admirers something to cheer about when he walloped a home run in the second inning to score two runs in the ding-dong battle that wasn't decided until Newark scored the winning run in the seventh frame.

Fans came by special train from Ingrsoll, Woodstock, Brantford and Guelph to present Oscar with a repeating shotgun in a pre-game ceremony. The Leaf team lined up on the first-base line and Newark along third, while the kilted Ingersoll pipe band paraded on the diamond.

Sports announcer Joe Crysdale then introduced Mayor Charles W. Riley of Ingersoll, who welcomed Judd and recalled the veteran's career in organized ball since his early playing days with the Ingersoll club.

Want to Do Honor

"We wish to honor our native son, Oscar (Lefty) Judd," said Mayor Riley. "We have followed his career closely . . . he has brought fame to Ingersoll."

Sam Gibson then presented Oscar with the shotgun and Dr. Louis Staples gave Mrs. Judd a wristwatch. The pitcher's teammates handed Lefty a voucher for a fly-casting outfit.

One of two Canadians on the Toronto team — first baseman Hank Biassati of Windsor is the other — and a veteran of 14 years in minor and major league baseball, Judd couldn't say much in reply to the visiting fans.

"Thanks for coming and I hope you see a good game," was his reply before he went out to start the contest.

He came to the Toronto club after three years with the Philadelphia Phillies in the National League. The Leaf climb from last place in the International to fourth coincided with his arrival. He was a steadying influence on the young Toronto hurlers and was going strong until he bumped into his present six-game losing streak.

Spitfires Win Two In A Row

Spitfires defeated Rockets for the second time this week, making it two straight for them in the tadpole lacorsse loop. Peter Heffernan with four goals and one assist was best for the Spits, but McInnes, Hill, Hickson and Mahonuey all played well. For Rockets, Ron Jay starred with two goals, while T. Davis and Reid tried hard in a losing cause.

The teams:

Spitfires —F. Heffernan, McInnes, Phillops, P. Heffernan, Hill, Hickson, DeNoble, Donahy, Mahoney, G. Heffernan, O'Connell, Grant, Quinlan, Vicgers, Londerville.

Rockets — Doris, Davis, Jay, Hawthorne, Crough, C. Rowatt, G. Sylvester, Johnston, Casey, Parks, Riel, Reid, Rosebush.

Shorts Not Allowed

MONTREAL — (CP). — Women wrestlers competing in suburban Verdun must wear slacks and sweat shirts, Pierre Gatineau, director of the Verdun police department, has ruled. The matter was discussed in council when a promoter arranged to bring two women wrestlers from Boston.

All-Time Record Crowd Sees Cleveland Girls Trim Sunday Morning Class

Glittering stars of ladies' softball graced the diamond at Riverside Bowl last night as Cleveland Erin Brews, crack professional team currently barnstorming, met Sunday Morning Class under the sponsorship of the local Rotary Club.

Brews took the Class 4-2 in a diamond thriller that captivated the largest crowd ever to witness a game in the Bowl, who cheered each dazzling move of both clubs to the echo. Marge Wood, premier pitcher of ladies' softball today, went the route for Cleveland, while Joy Rath toiled eight innings for the Class with Thelma Fidler working the ninth.

The Brews were out-hit 12-8, but bunched their bingles with telling effect in the 5th and 7th, with Betty De Santo, Joyce Gildenmeister and Marge Wood leading the attack. The fielding of Miss De Santo and Jane Eden in right, the latter a lefty with a great arm, was a treat to watch.

The Classers took a few liberties on base and were thrown out five times stretching bases, to hurt their cause. Shirley Smith proved her prowess defensively in a sparkling display afield while Glad Davis and Vern McCormick led at bat with three hits each. The entire piece was studded with brilliant work afield by both teams. It was the finest attraction of the season, to date.

Bears Nose Out Leafs 6-5; Royals Triumph

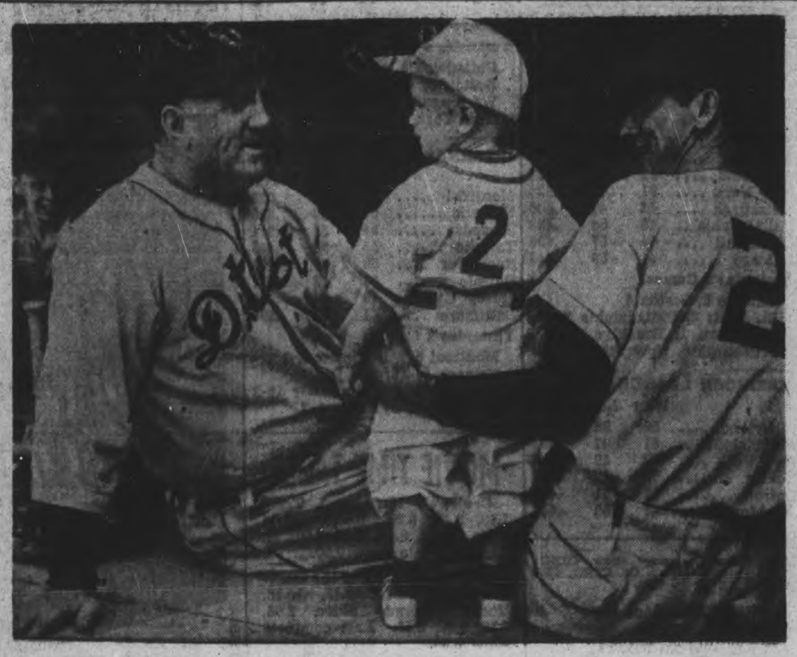
By The Associated Press

With Montreal Royals virtually assured of the pennant, six teams are engaged in tight battle for the International Baseball League's three remaining playoff positions.

The Royals took a twin bill from the tail-end Baltimore Orioles, 6-2 and 2-0, Friday night to stretch their margin to 10 games over the runner-up Newark Bears who are only 6½ games ahead of the seventh-place Jersey City Giants.

Al Zachary and Clarence Podbielan handcuffed the hapless Orioles on two and three hits respectively.

The Bears nosed out Toronto Maple Leafs 6-5, with Lou Novikoff belting a homer in the seventh inning off Oscar Judd to break a 5-5 tie. Puddinhead Jones and Judd each whacked a two-run homer to keep the Leafs in the game.



As a result of their loss, the Leafs dropped into a fourth-place tie with Rochester Red Wings, two games behind the third-place Syracuse Chiefs and only two games ahead of the sixth place Buffalo Bisons.

The Wings divided a double-header with Jersey City, winning the opener 16-4 but losing the second tilt, 5-2. A 10-run sixth inning uprising enabled Al Papai to coast to his second victory in the first game. Andy Tomasic limited the Wings to six safeties in outpitching Max Surkont in the second game.

Syracuse and Buffalo also divided a twin bill, the Chiefs winning the opener 5-1 and the Bisons the second tilt 7-2.

SKEETER WEBB, PHILADELPHIA Athletics infielder, and his little son, Bobbie, who wear a "A's" uniform with the same number as his dad's, fraternize with Steve O'Neill, manager of the Detroit Tigers, during the Athletics-Tigers game in Philadelphia, Pa. O'Neill is skeeter's pa-in-law and Bobbie's granddad. So the truce was quite in order.

British Columbia downed Manitoba, making 165 and dismissing Manitoba for 67, leaving its record at four triumphs and one defeat.

To gain the 1948 title, Ontario needs only to make a draw with B. C. when the teams meet in their final game Saturday. B.C. must defeat the easterners to finish on level terms with them and share the title as they did last year in Toronto.

Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League Friday announced the selection of North Bay as their new training camp. Charles Conacher, manager of the Hawks, said 47 players including those of the Kansas City, Mo., Pla-mors, owned by Black Hawks, would report for practice Sept. 17. Exhibition games will be played at Kitchener and North Bay.

Bobby Locke of South Africa, needing a par four on the last hole to tie, blew up for a six Friday to pass the $5,000 Tam o'Shanter jackpot to Lloyd Mangrum with a 72-hole tally of 277 —11 under par. Mangrum was an earlier finisher with a 33-35—68, four under regulation.

The condition of Jack (Pops) Cooper, 68, Kansas City, Mo., speedboat racer, remains critical, hospital officials at Syracuse, N.Y. reported Friday. Dr. Stanton owned and driven by W. L. (Lin) Fraser of Forest, Ont., set a world's record of 3:13 1-5 for a mile and a half pace over a half-mile track in winning an elimination heat of the Downing Memorial on the Grand Circuit program at Westbury, N.Y. The old record was 3:13 3-5 held by Watson E. Direct which finished fifth in the heat last night.

Leaps From Moving Train To Save Drowning Boy

WINS DOW AWARD

D. L. WAGNER

OF ST. THOMAS, ONTARIO

Performs daring rescue of 7-year-old boy from quarry

The freight train chugged laboriously along the C.P.R. line near St. Mary's, Ontario. Trainman D. L. Wagner, riding atop one of the cars, was suddenly startled by the sound of shouting. Several boys, obviously excited, were standing at the edge of a deep, water-filled quarry . . . pointing downwards at someone in the water.

DIVES 30 FEET INTO QUARRY

Realizing that something was seriously wrong, Wagner leaped from the moving train and ran to the top of the quarry. 30 feet below, floundering in the water, was a young boy. Without even taking time to remove his shoes, the trainman dove to the rescue . . . and after several attempts managed to bring the almost unconscious youngster to the surface . . . and then in to the edge of the quarry and safety.

The heroic action of this 52-year-old trainman has already been brought to the attention of his employers. We are proud to express our appreciation of his gallantry by paying tribute to D. L. Wagner of St. Thomas, Ontario, through the presentation of The Dow Award.

In a matter of seconds the gallant trainman had covered the distance to the quarry. Then, not even pausing to remove his shoes, he dove 30 feet into the water below.

After several attempts, Wagner succeeded in bringing the 7-year-old, semi-conscious youngster to the surface . . . and then swam with him to the quarry's edge where the lad soon recovered.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian newspapers.

Bucky Walters To Manage Cincinnati Reds

BROOKLYN, Aug. 7.—(AP).—Bucky Walters, veteran pitcher of Cincinnati Reds, succeeded Johnny Neun as manager Friday night as the ax struck again in National League managerial ranks.

The switch was announced by Warren Giles, club president and general manager, just before the Reds-Dodgers night game at Ebbets Field. He said Neun's contract was terminated by mutual agreement.

"Walters has been named manager for the remainder of the season," said a brief statement issued by Giles. "Limiting the term to this year was at Bucky's suggestion and with a mutual understanding concerning the future."

Neun, a successful minor league manager in New York Yankees' farm system after his playing days were finished, became manager of the Reds in 1947, replacing Bill McKechnie. The club finished in fifth place and was expected to do at least as well this year. However, a succession of injuries, the most important of which was the one suffered by ace pitcher Ewell Blackwell, hurt the Reds.

They recently had a long losing streak, but came back to defeat the league-leading Boston Braves three out of four games. The Reds, under Neun, won 44 and lost 56 this year and have spent most of the campaign in seventh place.

Walters, 38, broke into baseball as a third baseman in 1929. He was with Boston Braves off and on from 1931 to 1934 when he joined the Phillies where he was converted into a pitcher.

June 15, 1938, Walters was traded to Cincinnati for three players and $55,000. He was voted the most valuable player in the league in 1939.

Wants Sport Treated As Business Venture

LONDON, Aug. 7 —(CP)— A former Canadian Olympic track star and the present coach of Canada's aquatic squad in the 14th Olympic games have come up with the answer to the Dominion's poor showing in the games—sport should be treated as a business, not as a recreation.

Coach Archie McKinnon of Victoria says the basic answer lies in the difference between Canadian and United States attitudes toward sport.

"You can't expect the Canadian kids to compete against crack United States stars like Wally Ris and Alan Ford until Canada treats sport as a business instead of a recreation," he said. "The solution? Give Canadians a chance to compete in schools, colleges and clubs."

Oshawa Band To Give Concert

The band will perform at the morning and evening service in the Citadel, and in the afternoon, following a parade of the cenotaph, will give a concert on the lawn at the public school, commencing at 3.30 p.m.

Following the evening service, and commencing at 8.15 p.m. there will be a concert in the Hollywood Theatre.

Cats And Dogs Tie Up Two Race Tracks

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 7—(CP)—The weather was clear and the track was fast. But at two English race tracks, it was figuratively raining "cats and dogs."

The cat incident occurred at Alexandra Park in North London, familiarly known to racegoers as "Ally Pally." Generations of fans have learned to expect the unexpected at Ally Pally, famed for its "frying pan" course and the working-class families who make up picnic parties along the rails.

As the field swung down the straight in the London Cup, a mile-and-five-furlong event, a tiny black cat streaked on the course and was bowled over by the leading horse, Avignon. Cat and horse survived the tangle and Avignon went on to win by two lengths from Eastern Lyric, with River Patrol third.

The same day, at Pontefract Park, Yorkshire, a dog darted under the rails and into the hooves of Sunhaven and Snip. In the melee the dog was knocked over and two horses, Trigaro and Brenner Pass, fell. Two jockeys were taken to hospital as the judges placed Snip first and Sunhaven second in the event, the Lake Juvenile Plate.

Heart - Breaking

Two boxing managers sat in five-guinea ($21) seats watching their respective heavyweights maul each other in the ring. Action was nil. After four or five rounds, one manager turned to the other and said

"Doesn't it break your heart to see those two mugs getting 75 per cent of our money?"

Given Boost

The trend toward internationalism in sport gets another boost with the visit to be United States of John Jolliffe, racing manager at London's Wembley Stadium. Jolliffe will visit greyhound tracks and breeding establishments in Boston, Philadelphia, Kansas and Florida with the hope of initiating discussions on possible international events between British and American dogs.

Jolliffe will study track and breeding methods. One possibility is an interchange of stud dogs and brood bitches to facilitate breeding of an "ideal" greyhound suitable for racing on both sides of the Atlantic. As things stand now there are many obstacles, one being that American dogs race on sanded courses and British dogs on turf.

The difference in going is blamed for the disappointing performances at American tracks of Trev's Perfection, winner of the English Greyhound Derby in 1947. Trev's Perfection has lost four straight races in the United States.

Three Men Head West To Help In Harvest

CAMPBELLFORD, August 7—(ENS) — Three local men will leave during the coming weekend for the west, where they will take part in the harvest, probably remaining on the prairies for the balance of the summer.

Stanley Wilson, Glenn Jaques of Campbellford and Ray Moore of Cobourg will make the trip to Regina by truck, a half-ton vehicle with a small cabin built on the back, in which they will sleep.

They will take the northern route straight up to Cochrane, where they will turn west to Hearst and then down to the lakehead.

They expect to find good roads all the way, and as the truck is a new one, will probably experience no difficulties. For the trip back in the fall, present plans call for them to take a route through the United States.

THE DIFFERENCE, IN this case, between being able to fight and not able to fight is contained in a little tablet. In England, an experiment was conducted in which 20 men agreed to eat nothing for four or five days and another 20 men agreed to eat nothing but specially prepared tablets. Here is the result at the end of 72 hours: the tablet eaters are boxing, a bit weakly, maybe, but the non tablet men are unable to work up enough energy to even walk.

Board Revises Cheese Subsidy

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 7. — Due to unexpected circumstances, a revision in the announcement regarding the cheese subsidy has been necessary, according to a statement circulated by C. N. Heath, secretary to the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board.

The communication says that "the Ontario government will pay the two cents per pound subsidy on cheese made from July 26 until October 31." This will be paid to the secretaries of the Ontario cheese factories, and cannot be included in the price.

"Buyers who have purchased cheese after June 15, 1948, and previous to July 26, 1948, and have tendered or are tendering the cheese to the Dairy Products Board with the understanding that the two cents is forthcoming from the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board, will have their tenders honored, providing the cheese has ben accpted by the Dairy Products Board previous to September 1, 1948."

Rate Apple Crop 68 Per Cent

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 7. — The apple crop in the Bay of Quinte district and in Northumberland County this year has been estimated at but 68 per cent. of the crop of last year, according to the weekly crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Early apples such as Yellow Transparents and Astrakans are now appearing on the local produce market, but are mainly for cooking purposes only.

In Hastings the oat crop is in full swing with fall wheat and rye being cut. However, little if any threshing has yet been done, except in instances where combines have been used to harvest the crop. The tomato crop appears to have very good prospects.

In Prince Edward County it is reported that the milk flow has fallen somewhat due largely to the effect of dry weather on pastures. This has been reflected in the customary dropping off of the number of cheese offered on the local cheese board during the late summer.

Canada Needs Top Athletes Baillie Claims

KELOWNA, Aug. 7—An appeal for outstanding Canadian athletes was voiced the other night at the annual banquet marking the 42nd annual International Kelowna Regatta being held here.

George H. Baillie, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railways Pacific region, and commodore of this year's spectacular water show, held at the Kelowna Aquatic Club said: "Canada needs badly, some outstanding athletes. We need to take our sports a little more seriously in the future than we have in the past."

Mr. Baillie, who officially declared the annual regatta open in the presence of large numbers of competitors and onlookers from Canada and from below the border, congratulated Kelowna regatta officials and officials of the Kelowna Aquatic Association for the excellent work they are performing in training young Canadians in aquatic sports.

"Together with other aquatic training centres in Canada, Kelowna is showing an example which must be imitated with increased enthusiasm, if the Dominion is to take its proper place in world aquatic sports," Mr. Baillie said.

Thousands Cheer Mr. King For Long Service

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Aug. 7. — (CP).— William Lyon Mackenzie King went out swinging Friday and his 29 years of Liberal leadership were climaxed and concluded in five minutes of tumutuous triumph.

Thousands of delegates and spectators at the national leadership convention stood and cheered him once, twice, three times, bringing a suspicious red to the eyes of the man who handed back the mantle the party gave him in 1919.

He partially ended an era of Canadian history—he's still prime minister—in a speech that was alternatelly proud, reminiscent and whimsical but, above all, fighting for it is his chief desire now to leave his successor a party that s potent and agressive.

And the reacton of the Canadians massed below him left no doubt that he was still the dominant personality of the convention that will pick the man.

Cheered Warmly

When he told them that at no time had their confidence in him surpassed its strength today, they cheered warmly and then it subsided and then suddenly it welled up again, much stronger than before, until the Coliseum was drunk and long with sound.

He boasted of the party's past and they cheered him and he taunted the Tories and they cheered him. Sometimes during this Mr. King stood patiently among the microphones, a light train of hair wisping across a face that bore all the age of his 73 years. At other times he smiled and chuckled and his mouth was boyish and lopsided with a grin.

Then at the end there was ovation and tumult. It went on for five minutes. It rolled forth three times in three cheers and in unorganized shouts. It saw the English sing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and the French sang "Il a Gagne Ses Epaulettes."

Espionage Revelation Blow To Truman's Administration

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—(CP)—Assuming there is only a small percentage of truth in the "revelations" of espionage in high places in Washington, now being made openly here, it all looks bad for the administration on the eve of an election.

There have been many investigations and committee hearings aimed at uncovering any Roosevelt or Truman guilt that might exist, but up to now Democrats have claimed with glee that nothing in the way of scandal has come to light.

Now the Republican-controlled committees are piling up charges of carelessness, to say the least, in administration circles which apparently has not only kept known suspects in important jobs but transferred them to posts where they would be in a better position to serve as spies for another country.

When the Canadian espionage case broke three years ago it was common talk in Washington that the same charges could be brought against people in government and war posts here.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King came to Washington and discussed with President Truman the tremendously "hot" and delicate problem he was faced with and the course he was going to pursue.

Almost at that very moment Miss Elizabeth Bentley, the Vassar college graduate whose open statements have electrified committees and the public here in recent days, was telling the same story to he Federal Bureau of Investigation Agency in New Haven.

Remington Heir

The outstanding fact which precipitated and prompted the move to set up a grand jury investigation here was the employment in a highly-secret capacity of a young man named William Remington.

He is a 30-year-old college man, son-in-law of a woman he says is a Communist, who Miss Bentley told the FBI and others was one of her contacts for secret information during the war when he was with the War Production Board.

He has been before the secret grand jury in New York, he has admitted he had meetings with Miss Bentley but believed he was only giving her information for newspaper stories, but claims he was not a Communist and the "dues" he paid her were contributions to some anti-Fascist cause. He may be telling the truth.

But what the Congressional committees are pounding on is that this man, a few months ago, was made chairman of a departmental committee doing top-secret work in the prevention of export of strategic war materials to Russia.

That is going to take a lot of explaining. Heads will fall and perhaps many of them innocent heads. The administration may be blackened.

Canada's Largest Cities Plan To Cut Smoke Grime

By The Canadian Press

They've been singing "Smoke Gets In My Eyes" for a long time but now, weary of the grime, Canada's largest cities are planning steps to clear the air.

Most communities use municipal by-laws as their weapon against atmospheric pollution — which includes smoke, fumes and flying ash — and already some cities claim improvement.

An important part of the campaign is an effort to persuade industries to use devices to cut down the volume and density of the smoke their plants emit. This embraces railway lines, heating equipment in office buildings, incinerators and ships in harbors.

Toronto, said to have a smoke problem greater than any other city of comparable size in North America, plans to tackle the smoke abatement job by revising its 1915 smoke by-law and seeking the co-operation of industries.

Details of the campaign will be worked out this Fall when a report of a special committee goes before city council. If the recommendations are approved, a system of checking on smoke emission and helping plant operators to reduce the nuisance will go into effect.

Already the railways have placed 30 Diesel-electric locomotives in the Toronto area. Harbor ferries now use oil-burning equipment and excursion boats have improved boiler installations.

Montreal Method

Montreal fights smoke through its Municipal Smoke Abatement Committee. Its main field of operations is in the grimy precincts of west-end St. Henri Ward, made famous in Gabrielle Roy's best-seller, "The Tin Flute." Much of its smoke comes from railway yards which lie on both sides of the ward.

The Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway recently bought four Diesel locomotives for yard work and the Canadian National Railways installed steam jets on its Hamilton yard engines to cut down smoke there.

Windsor is working on smoke-control rules in co-operating with neighboring Detroit. The region blames its smoke on trains, car ferries, lake steamships and factories. The Lake Carriers' Association has promised to co-operate in reducing smoke from ships.

Progress also is reported from Ottawa, where a smoke abatement by-law has brought the problem under control within the last year. City officials say they have received good co-operation from owners of buildings, some of whom converted heating plants to oil-burning equipment.

Few Grave-Diggers Sydney Funerals Slow

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 7—(CP). — Sydney grave diggers are a dying race.

Undertakers say that they have so much difficulty in getting laborers dig graves that they fear there will be an end to burials in Sydney within a few years.

People will have to be cremated regardless of their religious beliefs, according to one leading undertaker. He told a reporter that his firm now embalmed all bodies because of frequent delays in the cemeteries. Labor shortage has held up funerals for days and a number of funerals have been diverted from one cemetery to another.

Undertakers predict a small fortune for anyone who invents a mechanical grave-digger.

Booster Park Is Popular Spot

MARMORA, Aug. 7—(ENS)—Booster Park at Crowe Lake has been receiving its share of patronage this summer, as shown by its visitors' book. The councils of Marmora village and Marmora and Lake townships have jurisdiction over the park. Mr. and Mrs. Perry Eamer of Deloro who are active in Boy Scout and Girl Guide activities are resident caretakers this season. The two goats, Punch and Judy, mascots of the Deloro Girl Guides, are also under their care there and create interest among the campers. The park has been cleaned up and trees unnecessary in its beautification scheme cleaned out. The record camping party for numbers has been that of J. Badame of Toronto who brought 16 others with him. Other recent guests have been Harold Gilbride, Cleveland, O., Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Skelsey, Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Twining, Oshawa.

On No. 7 Highway where the road branches to Booster Park, Crawford Russell, an old Marmora boy, has established a groceteria and lunch counter which has been receiving good patronage. In this, his second summer, he is erecting two fine cabins which are almost completed. Unlike other wayside inns, the Russells are serving breakfasts to travellers.

Have No Credentials Delegates Can't Vote

OTTAWA, Aug. 7 — (CP) — Several delegates to the National Liberal Convention may be deprived of the right to vote in the balloting for a new Leader. They forgot to bring with them the credentials issued when they were chosen as official delegates.

Alternate delegates who have their credentials will vote for the official delegates in some cases. But in others both the alternate and the official delegates left the credentials back home.

He vigorously denied that he is or ever was a "spy or agent of any foreign government." He also told the committee that "the charges made by Miss Bentley are false and fantastic. I can only conclude that she is a neurotic liar."

Ebed-Melech, the Ethiopian 'Friend in Need' to Jeremiah

Scripture—Jeremiah 38: 1-39: 18.
By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

The present series of lessons is a study of some little known characters of the Bible, today's being an obscure Ethiopian eunuch attached to King Zedekiah's household, who was a real friend and hero.

We of the present day can readily understand and admire these men and women of ancient times who were willing to risk their personal liberties and even their lives, to do what they thought right, or to save their people, or a friend.

Even in everday walks of life we know of persons who risk their lives for others, or even to save a cat or dog from death. In a world where cruelty and brutality are all too prevalent, this is an heartening phenomenon.

Jeremiar, the prophet, had been telling the king and people that the Lord was against sins, and that Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, would conquer and destroy their holy city.

The princes of the land thought that such talk was treason, as Jeremiah also told them that those who stayed and defied the Babylonians would surely perish, but those who surrendered would be spared and taken into exile.

MEMORY VERSE

"Let us work that which is is good toward all men."—Galatians 6:10.

The princes contended that the spirit of the soldiers to resist the aggressor was being lowered—which was probably true— and they petitioned the king to have Jeremiah killed.

King Zedekiah turned the prophet over to them. They tied his arms with ropes and let him down into a deep and muddy well, where they thought he would shortly die of starvation and hardship.

When Ebed-melech, the enunch, heard this, he without considering what might happen to him, went to the king and pleaded with him to save Jeremiah's life.

The king was evidently touched by his arguments that the princes had done an evil thing so to treat the prophet of God. The king told Ebed-melech to make a rope of rags and let it down to the prophet by cords, which he could fasten to his arms. Ebed-melech took 30 men with him and with the rags and cords they oulled Jeremiah out. Thereafter he was kept a prisoner, but in the court of the prison.

King Zedekiah went secretly to Jeremiah and asked him to tell him truly what was going to happen to his kingdom. Jeremiah repeated his prophecy as before, telling the king that the only hope was in surrendering to Babylon.

Before he would repeat his prophecy, however, he made the king promise that he would not be put to death nor given up to his enemies because of what he felt he must say. The king promised.

Zedekiah said he was afraid of the Jews who were prisoners of the Babylonians, that they might kill him. Jeremiah replied they would not do so, and begged the king to "obey the voice of the Lord," but zedekiah did not. He made Jeremiah promise him that if the princes questioned him about this talk he would tell them nothing, and Jeremiah kept his promise.

"In the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month came Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and all his army against Jerusalem, and they besieged it."

Although the people of Judah resisted, they were overcome and many slaughtered. The king was taken prisoner, his children killed before his eyes and he was blinded, and taken to Babylon. Jerusalem was burned and the walls pulled down. Nebuchadnezzar however, had Jeremiah well treated.

The Lord told Jeremiah to go and speak to Ebed-melech and tell him not to be afraid. He would be delivered from the Babylonians and his life would be spared 'becaues thou has to put thy trust in Me, saith the Lord."

King Zedekiah, with all his wealth and power behind him, did not dare oppose, his own princes to defend a prophet, even though he probably felt Jeremiah was right in his prophesies and warnings.

However, the humble servant in the king's household put his trust in what he knew to be right and God's will, risking his life by so doing, to become a hero for all time.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Jeremiah 38:1-39:18

Ebed-Melech, the Ethiopian

Jeremiah prophesied that the king of Babylonia would conquer Jerusalem, and that those who remained in the city would be slaughtered, but those who surrendered would live, so King Zedekiah let his enemies throw him into a filthy well to die.

Ebed-melech, the king's Ethiopian eunuch, went to the king and pleaded with him to take Jeremiah out of the well where he surely would die, and the king listened and told Ebed-melech to take thirty men with him and pull Jeremiah out.

Ebed-melech took cast-off garments and rags, attached ropes to them, let them down into the well and he and his men drew Jeremiah out and thereafter the prophet was a prisoner in the court of the prison until all were taken to Babylon.

After the Babylonian king, Nebuchadnezzar, had sacked the city, killed many and taken the rest prisoner, Jeremiah went to Ebed-melech and told him that his life was saved by the Lord because of his good deed.

Man's Heart, Mind, Soul Must Respond to Teaching

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Jesus said: The Kingdom of Heaven is like unto leaven which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal till the whole was leavened.—St. Matt. 13:33.

Would you be moved to know that "Time", an influential American weekly, was spending money to make people think, and above all quoting Scripture: "Where there is no vision the people perish". Every day people heard this parable and nodded their heads in approval. Mentally they saw the woman take the leaven and hide it in the three measures of meal till the whole was leavened. But did they think? Some did. What has this parable to teach you?

1. "The woman took the leaven and hid it in three measures of meal". It is clear that the leaven works from the centre outwards. But did you think of this before you read this? "The Kingdom of heaven is within you" is the principle laid down by the Lord. The Lord Jesus must take possession of your heart, mind and soul and work from within. His principles must penetrate into your inmost being and its effect will be seen in your acts and habits. Your character is being changed by the indwelling Spirit, Who will drive out evil thoughts and suggestions.

Centuries earlier Jeremiah prophesied: "This is the new Covenant which I will make in those days, saith the Lord. I will put my laws in their hearts and write it in their minds, and I will be their God and they shall be My people." Jer. 31:33. Bishop Westcott tells us that this Scripture is unique in the Old Testament. Jeremiah is the first to teach that religion consisted of a personal relationship with God. It is not merely outward respectable conduct that is required. There is to be a real conversion of heart and mind resulting in a new life, which will be seen in the new character.

2. The leaven does not change the meal. The barley will not become wheat. But the leaven puts a new power into the meal bringing out the best in it. It infuses a new force. This is the work of the Holy Spirit which slowly transforms you into a new man in Christ Jesus Our Lord. The Lord saw Simon and prophesied: "Thou art Simon; thou shalt be called Peter, the Rock man". The condition: "Follow Me". It is instructive to remember that Our Lord rarely calls Simon by his new name Peter. He has not become forthy of it.

3. The leaven works slowly. "Till the whole was leavened". This is a startling truth for this rapid age, which expects results quickly. Yet all good work takes time to develop; time for thought and through understanding of the principles of your trade or profession. Christian character takes time to develop. The gravest social problem of Our Lord's day was that of slavery. Yet neither Our Lord nor His Apostles said a word against it. They taught the slave to do his best; to be just and upright in all his dealings; to be thoroughly trustworthy. But the Master laid down a principle which takes time to develop. "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. In time this broke the chains of slavery.

4. The leaven creates fermentation and stir. When Christ enters into a man's heart He creates opposition from the strong man within. Satan hates the Christ. Your victory is based on the truth: "I can do all things through Christ which strengthened me."

5. The leaven must be fresh. Daily you must pray, read and meditate upon Holy Scripture and fresh strength will be given you daily according to your need.

Above all keep in mind that the fundamental word in this parable is "CONTACT". The Divine leaven must enter and touch you. You also must touch and come into contact with others in order to spread the Kingdom of God. This needs courage.

BE STRONG AND OF A GOOD COURAGE FOR THE LORD THY GOD IS WITH THEE WITHERSOEVER THOU GOEST.

ROSS MILES, CO-PILOT of the Rimouski Air Lines' Dakota that crashed recently with 29 persons aboard in Canada's worst air disaster, was a New Zealand air force fighter who only recently had chosen Canada as the land with a future for fliers. At the end of the war he went back to New Zealand with his Canadian wife. In 1946, however, he decided that Canada was the land with a future for fliers.

8-Room School Planned For North End

Plans are now being drawn up for an eight-room elementary school for Roman Catholic pupils. It is to be situated on a three-and-a-half acre lot north of Bellevue Ave., facing Benson Ave. The new school will look after overcrowding at St. Peter's and also accommodate those families who will be moving into the housing areas now under construction in the north end of the city.

J. G. McCarney, chairman of the Separate School Board, said that already there are 125 children in that area eligible to attend the school. Classrooms can accommodate up to 40 pupils each, giving a top attendance of 320 for the eight rooms.

At first, although the eight grades will be taught, only six classrooms will be used. Two teachers will instruct two grades in single rooms.

Mr. McCarney said that the modern school, which it is hoped will be ready by September 1949, will be a two-storey structure, 140 feet by 60 feet. Total estimated cost is $150,000.

"It should take care of pupils coming from north of Parkhill Rd. east to the Otonabee river," he said. Those living on the east side of the river will be in East City and will attend Immaculate Conception school.

The new housing area — the Brookdale project and the War-Time Housing—will bring many new families into the district whose children would have had to attend St. Peter's if they were not given accommodation at the new school.

The ground will be broken next month and it is hoped to have the class rooms open a year from that date.

There will be no basement; both floors will be above ground level. The only excavation required will be for the boiler room and the fuel storage bin.

The school has not yet been named and final architectural plans are still being drawn up.

51 POUNDS OF MUSKIE are lying on the back of this Ohio car, while their captors grin happily on either side. The bottom fish is a 30-pounder, caught by Jerry Mohar, Cleveland (RIGHT), and the one on top is a 21-pounder, landed by Anthony Kobe, Cleveland (LEFT). Both muskies came out of Belmont Lake, near Havelock, and were caught on Wednesday and Thursday. The big fellow is only one inch longer than the other, being exactly 48 inches from his nose to the fork in his tail.

Wm. E. Brooks Dies At Age 84

William Edward Brooks, of Young's Point, died on Thursday at his home in his 84th year. Born in Harwood, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks, and retired several years ago after many years as a hotel keeper. His wife, the former Helena Kerney, died three months ago.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Elmer Johnston (Geraldine), Young's Point; Helen, Peterborough; three sons, Oswald and Russell of Toronto, and Adrian of Peterborough.

Funeral service will be held at his home at 2.30 p.m. today. Burial will be in Young's Point cemetery.

British Plant At Ajax To Employ 5,000

One of Britain's leading radio manufacturers, Pye Ltd., is to take over a large part of the wartime explosives plant at Ajax. The Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Reconstruction, yesterday confirmed the lease of buildings formerly used by Defence Industries Ltd., and which have been vacant since the end of the war.

The British firm, it is reported will eventually employ 5,000 at the factory, and as wartime houses in Ajax become vacant they will be taken over to house employees.

The date has not yet been set when the firm will actually start operations. According to the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, which administers Ajax advance parties of technicians and equipment will soon arrive to start set-up of the factory.

Ohio Angler Takes Lead Bags 30-lb. Maskinonge

"They're growing all the time," smiled Jerry Mohar of Cleveland, Ohio, as he hauled a 30-pound muskie out of the car trunk. Another Clevelander in the party, Anthony Kobe, also smiled as he pulled out his first muskie, a 21-pounder.

Both fish came out of Belmont Lake, near Havelock, and the bigger fellow fought for 30 minutes before he was gaffed and brought into the boat. Mr. Mohar has been fishing in Belmont Lake for 12 summers, and his muskies are getting better all the time. First, in 1936, was a five-pounder, followed by a 25-pounder, and finally, the big one.

Mr. Kobe is finishing off his third trip to Belmont, but the muskie, which he got yesterday morning, is his first. Both say that pickerel and bass have been plentiful, but not large.

Mr. Mohar is going home on Friday, and thinks that this is a perfect way to wind up a holiday. Mr. Kobe, going home on Saturday, said it's pretty good, too.

The pair didn't stay in the city too long. They were going back to the lake.

This 30-pounder gives the lead to Mohar over George Christiansen of Camp Cleveland. The latter had captured a 28-pound muskie in Pigeon Lake about two weeks ago, and is still gunning for first prize in The Examiner-Lucky Strike fishing contest which one of the camp guests took last year. These references to big muskies apply only to the waters close to the city, but all waters of the district are included in the area covered by the contest.

Approval was given for the payment of wolf bounty of $30 to Victor Callahan, for the killing of six wolf pups, at the meeting this week of the Emily Township Council held in the council chamber, Omemee.

The letter also stated that the township was committing a legal offence in not certifying a number of employees as being permanent.

The reeve was authorized to sign an order for a maintainer and snow plow to be delivered as early in 1949 as possible.

Honey Appears On Market Two Pounds For 55 Cents

Honey in the comb, and also in the can, was back on the market this morning. Interested in this crop and its appearance was somewhat lessened by the stocks which have been showing in retail stores.

But, any way the war must be finally over when honey is flowing to go along with such commonplace combination as wholewheat bread and Cheddar cheese. H. G. Parkin of Norwood was quoting 40 cents for clover in the comb, and 55 cents for two-pound containers.

F. A. Spencley was showing button-sized mums in bloom, creating a false sense of fall for which the weather provided atmosphere that was exceedingly discouraging to halters, if that's the word, and other contraptions designed for display of feminine epidermis to the sun. That sentence wandered a long way from the early Spencley mums which were offered at 50 cents a bunch.

Huckleberries were $2 the six-quart basket; even pickling cucumbers, green peppers, gladioli were holding places in a market display that felt and looked like the fall. The thermometer during the night was down in the 40's. Green peas and beans, the last of the red raspberries at 40 cents a quart, the blueberries at $2 the six-quart basket, were a few of the fruits and vegetables showing today.

Girls' Council At YWCA Co-ordinates All Activities

Many people people regard the YWCA solely as a residence for girls and do not realize how many varied activities take place there. The residence department is only one of the three departments of the YWCA; the other three are the swimming, gym and club departments. The activities of all departments are co-ordinated by means of the Girls' Council, which is composed of representatives from all groups within the YWCA.

Swimming is continuous throughout the year, with qualified instructors giving classes in both swimming and life saving. Hundreds of swimmers have been taught in the "Y" pool. There are classes for all ages from 3 years old upwards.

This year, for the first time, swimming instruction is being given at the YWCA Camp Inglestane on Stony Lake. Last year, 134 girls attended the camp which is open for six weeks during the summer. It is also rented for a further two weeks to CGIT.

The gymnasium department is open from September to May. It covers many activities including basketball, badminton, archery and ballet dancing.

Four teen-age clubs and three clubs for business and professional girls are organized by the "Y" which also sponsors the Overseas Club, originally for war brides; the Old Country Club, and the 40 Plus Club, a young adults club run in conjundtion with the YMCA. The Club department is hoping to be able to organize a young married women's club.

One of the latest activities of the YWCA has been assisting DP's to adjust themselves to their new environment. English classes have been held one a week in co-operation with the National Employment Service, and DP girls are given six months' free membership.

Other activities include a room registry, which enables strangers to secure approved rooms; the Children's "Y" Theatre; So-Ed, which is held in conjunction with the YMCA. It is hoped that discussion groups on world affairs will be held in the near future.

The "Y" sends representatives to six local organizations: the Community Chest, the Local Council of Women, Girls' Work Board—CGIT; Leaders' Council—CGIT; the Peterborough County and City Religious Education Council and the Film Council.

In addition to all these and other activities, rooms are rented to outside organizations for music recitals, club meetings and wedding receptions.

Complete 330 Ft. Rock Fill At Chemong Lake

Satisfactory progress is being made on the Chemong Lake causeway according to an official of the Thompson Construction Company which has the contract to build the rock fill.

Up to Thursday evening 330 feet of roadway 45 feet wide had been completed. One day, the long roadway grew only six feet because the men had reached a spot where the lake is 40 feet deep, and at this point the mud was thickest too. On other days they complete as much as 20 feet depending on the depth of the lake. The work has been underway now for almost a month, and there is no sign that the rock fill is settling. From the point they have now reached to midlake, the water is about 30 feet deep, but from there on, it slopes gradually to the Smith township shore, and faster progress will be made.

Seven trucks including two 7-yard capacity jobs have been used up to mid-week, when four more dump trucks and another shovel were brought in to speed the work. One bulldozer is being used to level the roadway as the trucks dump their loads. On several occasions the heavily-loaded trucks have narrowly escaped toppling into the lake as they up-ended when dumping the rock.

Three openings eight feet in diameter are to be made in the causeway, but these opens will not be dug out until the entire fill job has been completed.

Also Completed

The approach at the Ennismore shore has also been completed and the work at this point was temporarily held up awaiting changes in a submarine cable which crosses the lake at that point.

Workmen for the company claim many objects are being forced to the surface in the mud as the rock falls into the water. Recently they were surprised to see several large coils of rubber-insulated wire forced up. The theory is advanced that the wire was stolen in Peterborough and the new owners became frightened and jettisoned the loot in the lake, off the floating bridge.

No Final Decision

The County Roads and Bridges Committee has not reached a final decision whether or not to sell the wooden bridge which is being replaced by the Chemong causeway. Recently the County Engineer called for tenders and at least one local lumber company offered to buy the whole of it. It is believed that the committee felt the bid was too low.

A number of individuals also made bids for portions of the half-mile-long bridge. These bids, however, amounted to about 700 feet, just more than a quarter of the total length.

The final decision on what to do with the wooden planking will be made at the next meeting of the committee.

4 In Front Seat, But One Sitting On Lap So Careless Driving Charge Dismissed

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 7 — (ENS). — A charge of careless driving laid by provincial police against Francis J. FitzGerald, Seymour, was dismissed in police court here Friday by Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

Provincial Constable A. F. Grayling told the court that the accused had been involved in an accident, and the charge resulted from the fact that there were four persons occupying the front seat of his car, and, contrary to law, were judged to be in a position to interfere with the control of the car by the driver.

W. J. A. Fair, for the defence, stated that he would, if the court wished, introduce evidence to show that the front seat was built to hold three people, and that the fourth person was sitting on the lap of one of the passengers on the right hand side of the seat.

Magistrate Baxter thereupon dismissed the charge without hearing any further evidence.

A charge of careless driving against Charles Ingram, Campbellford, resulted in a fine of $5 with $1 costs, after the court was informed that the damage to two other cars was being attended to by the mother of the accused, who was in court.

The charge was laid by Chief Constable George Hardy, who asked for a minimum penalty in view of the age and previous good character of the accused.

Brantford Has Same Worries As Peterborough

Peterborough's city council may find some little comfort in its concern about pressing civic problems from the various municipal company with similar worries throughout the country. Brantford is one of them.

Brantford has not built a school in 24 years, and is now asking the Ontario Municipal Board for permission to issue $233,400 for two new ones.

More sewers are an immediate necessity. A sewage disposal plant received the approval of the taxpayers some years ago, one mill was levies in the tax rate instead of the original three, and that is as far as they get with that project.

Brantford General Hospital and their waterworks plant need enlarging. On a secondary list they had expenditures contemplated for recreation facilities, plus an arena and civic auditorium. Completion of their war memorial has been long deferred. These are municipal growing pains entailing costs and borrowing that wind up in the tax bills.

Question Restriction

The Brantford Expositor in a cursory survey of the prospect of financing is inclined to question the Municipal Board's restriction of the term of the proposed school debentures to 10 years. It comments that the use and benefits of schools serve a community for some generations. "Why, therefore, should one generation assume the obligation exclusively?"

After scanning the civic projects that are demanding attention and action, the Expositor dwells on the prospect accumulating expenditures in words that are weighing in the thoughts and planning of Peterborough's council: "Careful consideration as to the amount of the burden that could be safely borne at one time."

That identical question was discussed by Mayor Ovens and immediate financial advisers this week, and it is understood that some statement will be presented to the ratepayers either this month or early in September.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Deny Statement TLC Meeting 98 Per Cent Red

OTTAWA, Aug. 7 (CP).—Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, today described as untrue a statement by Frank Hall that Thursday's TLC meeting here was attended by "about 98 per cent Communists and two per cent fellow travellers."

Mr. Hall, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, was among a group of officials of TLC organizations who refused to attend Thursday's meeting.

In the afternoon it split into halves, one attended only by officials of TLC organizations, and the other by members of several Canadian Congress of Labor unions. The meeting was called in support of the Canadian Seamen's Union's strike against four Lake shipping companies.

Mr. Bengough, addressing a renewal of the joint meeting today, did not identity Mr. Hall by name. He made it clear, however, that he was referring to a statement the railway union official issued Thursday night.

Out of Touch

Other speakers criticized Mr. Hall by name.

Mr. Bengough adjourned the meeting "as far as the TLC is concerned" and turned it over to Harry Davis, president of the CSU.

Mr. Davis discussing Mr. Hall's statement said he didn't feel the officials who refused to attend Thursday's session were in touch with their own membership.

C. S. Jackson, Canadian head of the United Electrical Workers (CL-CIO) was chosen as co-chairman. He disclosed that Mr. Bengough has asked that there should be no demonstration from the conference to the Liberal convention which is meeting here. He thought delegates to the Liberal convention should be approached individually.

Liberal Press Arrangements Catch Eyes Of Conservatives

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, Aug. 7 (CP).—Wallace (Wally) H. Ward, chunky, bespectacled veteran newspaper man was in charge of press arrangements at the Liberal convention.

In the sprawling Coliseum at Lansdowne Park he set aside one section of the building for the exclusive use of the press. It was within a few feet of the speakers' platform. A public address system kept newspaper men, busy at their desks, informed of what was going on in the convention hall.

So good were Ward's arrangements that the Progressive-Conservative party, which will hold a leadership convention next month, decided to adopt his set-up.

Not Too Old

John Hart of Vancouver may have decided he was getting too old to be Premier of British Columbia, but he's still not too old to dance. The white-haired Irish-Canadian, one of the more distinguished-looking delegates at the Liberal convention, loves to shake a leg.

To quote Cliff Tripp, Chateau band leader, "He's up with the first note and, brother, does the old boy go."

Laurier Monument

The Laurier Monument Committee used the convention to good advantage in plugging the memorial it hopes to build in Montreal.

The committee, headed by Senator T. D. Bouchard of Montreal, plans a nine-foot bronze statue of Sir Wilfrid Laurier on a 20-foot granite monument. The cost is estimated at $75,000.

Sir Wilfrid's picture is everywhere at the convention; his words and deeds are in most convention literature. And, in the lobby, the monument committee is at work. In front of a sketch of the proposed monument, committee workers passed hundreds of explanatory letters to delegates and spectators.

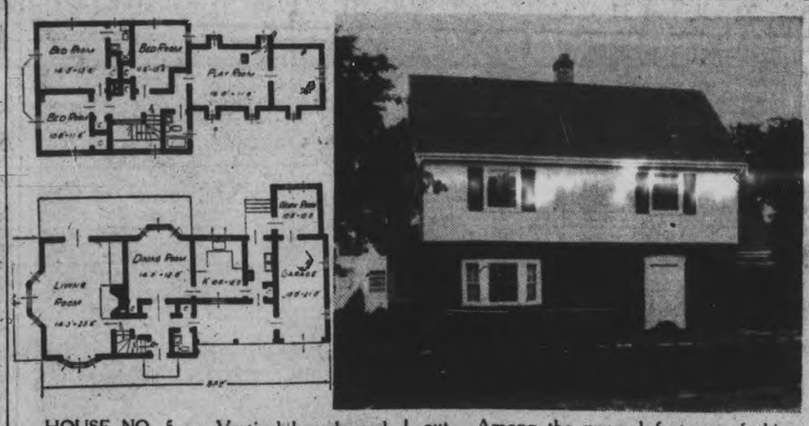
With each letter is a donation form. Committee officials say they believe the $75,000 objective will be reached easily.

Havelock Couple Marks 45th Anniversary

HAVELOCK, Aug. 7 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. James N. Diaper of Havelock will quietly mark their 45th wedding anniversary on Sunday August 8.

Mrs. Diaper was formerly Ethel Mabel Williams and the couple was married August 8, 1903 in St. Mary's Church at Sholing, county Southhampton, England. It was double ceremony, performed by the Vicar, Rev. Francis Davidson which also united in wedlock Mrs. Diaper's sister Sarah Louis Williams to Arthur Charles Sansome, both are still living in England.

Mr. Diaper came to Canada in 1914 and entered the C. P. R. shops here as a wiper. Mrs. Diaper joined her husband here in 1916. The same year Mr. Diaper answered the call for volunteers for service in World War 1. enlisting in the 93rd Battalion from Peterborough County. He was transferred overseas to the 21st Battalion. He was gassed, while on active service in France, a condition which is now causing him considerable suffering and undermining his health. At the close of hostilites he came back to Canada and service with the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. as locomotive fireman a position he held until he was superannuated in 1942. Edward and Bert Williams brothers of Mrs. Diaper who came to Canada prior to Mr. Diaper, also were members of the 93rd Battalion, and both were killed in action. Her father also lost his life in the merchant marine during the war.



Mr. Diaper is a member of Royal Lodge I. O. O. F. No. 286 and has recently recieved his 25 year membership jewels from that order. He and Mrs. Diaper completed 24 years membership last April in Dorcas Rebekah Lodge, No. 98.

A Different Flag

OTTAWA, Aug. 7—(CP)—The Canadian University Liberal Federation Wednesday urged adoption of a distinctive Canadian flag "containing neither the Union Jack nor the Fleur-de-Lys." The Canadian Press Wednesday night reported erroneously that the CULF proposed a flag with "either the Union Jack or the Fleur-de-Lys."

HOUSE NO. 5 — Vertical boards and battens painted chocolate brown, topped by white clapboards, form an interesting contrast in color and line. The Colonial exterior is matched by an interior which is equally interesting. There are plank floors throughout. Among the unusual features of this house are the spacious glass-in porch, the playroom and the work shop. Of course the living room in this house would be difficult to equal anywhere! For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Study Style and Placement Of Windows In House Plan

The windows of a home are no longer viewed only as functional units. Today they are called upon serve important architectural and decorative uses as well.

Architects today are achieving interesting results by placing a prominent window to frame a tree in the manner of a "living picture." Its changing pattern from Spring to Fall and throughout the Winter makes for a scene that is always refreshing. Similarly pleasing effects are obtained if the surrounding landscape permits a view of a sweep of river, a winding creek, or even a broad expanse of rolling land.

Like so many other functional parts of a modern small house. windows today have improved considerably in design and construction.

Improve Exterior

Wisely chosen window designs improve the exterior appearance of the home and add cheer to the interior.

Among the wide variety of window styles from which the home buildings can select are: double-hung windows having sash which moved up and down and casement windows whose sash are hinged at the side and open in or out. Bay windows are available in many sizes and attractive styles. Dormer windows can be used to lighten atties or bedrooms under the roof. Where wall space is at a premium the use of corner windows is often found advantageous.

Careful thought should be given the placing of the windows not only to obtain an attractive exterior appearance but also to assure sufficient wall spaces in the living rooms which will permit convenient placement of furniture. The glass area should be sufficient to insure good light and ventilation in proportion to the size and character of the room.

You can paint your house another color . . . you can change your wallpaper every year, but rarely, if ever, do you buy new windows. Therefore, future home builder, study the window situation carefully. Windows are being featured more in the modern Canadian home. An architect is very helpful on this point, as he has studied the merits of each style and type as to operation and architectural suitability.

The windows in your home can be made to exert a decided influence on its style and character. Tall, narrow windows give the effect of height; broad, low windows will make your house look wider.

After arranging your windows to the best all-round advantage you will do well to insist that they be glazed with window glass of high quality. Its sparkle and brilliance will add liveliness and warmth, create an atmosphere of friendly hospitality.

The selection of the right type of window for your home should depend on its architecture and your personal preference. Casement windows have much to recommend them as they may be opened so that the extending window acts as a deflecting ventilator, as well as giving 100 per cent opening.

Properly fitted windows are important ina new house. Rattling windows are usually due to careless fitting of the window stops (the narrow strips which hold the sash in place). Windows may bind a little, if they are in place while the plastering is being done until the house dries out, or the woodwork has time to adjust itself to atmospheric conditions in the completed house.

Influence On Style

Recent developments in the manufacture of wood windows have given home builders the opportunity of buying perfect fitting stock windows already insulated against cold. These are available in all styles, basement sash.

Tries To Drop Suitor Gets Year In Jail

SHANGHAI, Aug. 7.—(AP).—Regularly, Constable Wong Suyuen dropped around to woo pretty Miss Hsu Su-chi.

Finally she grew tired of it and decided to get rid of him.

She wrote him a letter saying she was a Communist and that it would ruin his career to associate with her. That, she thought, would rid her of the constable.

In tears today Miss Hsu denied to a judge that she was a Communist. But the judge was firm. He ruled the letter a confession and sentenced her to a year in jail.

Says Good Girls Again Flower On The Screen

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 7 (AP).—Because of the war, the "Good Girl" can again flower on the screen, says that ace good-girl portrayer, Olivia DeHavilland.

The dark-dressed, Tokyo-born actress has an opinion on nearly everything and she's vehement on the belief held in some quarters that badness makes a girl interesting, but goodness not so. To this theory she delivers the ultimate in Hollywood criticism: "How corny!"

"During the 30's," she continued, "it became a fad to portray bad girls on the screen. There seemed to be a feeling a destructive personality was automatically interesting. It's really dangerous to civilization to think that way."

Olivia accused the over-sophisticated society and Hollywood of proposing such a view.

Perversion of Values

"It was a perversion of values," she said. "In reality, the bad people are often the dull ones; law-breakers are usually a dreary lot. Yet they have remained popular on the screen."

The war changed the tide, and made "a number of old-fashioned virtues important again. The men in service realized more than ever the kind of girl they preferred."

Needless to say, Olivia is currently portraying a good girl in "The Heiress." In fact, about the only bad girl she has played was in "The Dark Mirror." Half of her role was as Terry, the twin with a hobby of sticking sharp objects into gents' backs. "I didn't like to live with her," she remarked about the disturbing part.

SIMPLE DESIGN ADDS BEAUTY TO HOME, MAKES DOLLAR STRETCH

$1,000 Damages To New Car

LINDSAY, Aug. 7.—(ENS).—Wilbert Charlton, 5[illegible] of Oshawa, had a narrow escape from possible injury Friday afternoon when the new car which he was driving and a Lindsay dump truck sideswiped on a curve five miles north of here.

Charlton was proceeding north towards Cambray and came in contact with a dump truck owned by Moss Ford, Lindsay, and driven by Melburn Middleton, RR 6, Lindsay. The rear dual wheels were smashed off the truck and the whole left side of the new car was completely smashed. Damage to the car was estimated by OPP Constable Douglas Dennison, of Lindsay, at $1,000. Charlton was cut on the left arm.

U.S. Reds Re-elect Heads

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 — (AP). — United States Communists Friday re-elected to high party posts all 12 leaders indicted on charges of advocating the overthrow of the United States government. They also announced officially their support of Henry A. Wallace for president. A 3,000-word platform, called on all Americans "who hate Fascism to defend the rights of Communists," and lauded Russia as the world's "strongest bulwark for peace."

Admits Espionage

HONOLULU, Aug. 7 — (AP). — Louis Budenz, former Communist, testified Friday he worked for three years with Soviet secret police in the United States and helped establish a "connection" for Russian espionage on the American military potential in 1943. He is a witness in a hearing on suspension of two Hawaiian educationists accused of being Communists.

Woman Has Twins On Newfie Express

COME BY CHANCE, Nfld., Aug. 7 — (CP). — A likelier spot than this couldn't have been found for the infant children of Mrs. Edward Carroll of Placentia.

As the Newfoundland express left Gander, Friday, Mrs. Carroll, a passenger, informed porter Leo Murphy that "I am going to have a baby."

Murphy made a hasty tour of the train and came back with Dr. Ian Fraser. They hurriedly made what preparations they could and a few minutes later a boy was born.

Half an hour later the boy was presented with a twin sister.

And not long after that, the train pulled into Come By Chance, where the family was transferred to hospital. They're all doing fine.

35 New Homes Underway North On Lakefield Road

LAKEFIELD HIGHWAY DEVELOPMENT has been going forward at a great pace during the past two years and most noticeably in the current year. At least 30 new dwellings in all stages from excavating to roofing are in full swing; there are also a few businesses. TOP LEFT photo shows the neat homes of Fred Lawrence, Left, and

There is a joke going around among Lakefield people who drive to work to Peterborough every day that Peterborough is rapidly becoming a suburb of the village. It has not quite reached those proportions but from the looks of all the building activity that has been going on for the past two years, it would be fairly safe to say that Water St., north has extended another nine miles.

Counting building lots north of Langton St., on which well diggers are probing for water, new excavations and frame work going up, to completed houses that already need a second coat of paint after two seasons, there are more than 35 home sites. More than half of these are being lived in and a few families who weathered out the past winter in garages and sheds have relegated these primary buildings to their proper use and moved into the homes proper. There are two summer camp dwelling sites that are steadily adding more cabins and it is not unlikely that if these were taken into consideration, the count would be closer to 50.

Residents of both Lakefield and its "Suburb-Peterborough" agree that the scenic drive is one of the finest for many many miles as the Highway winds along the upper west bench of the Otonabee River, the blue water snaking along the valley bottom and rising ground on either side chequered with neat farms and rolling wood lots. Many residents who are building along the Highway have taken advantage of all this wonderful free scenery and already the distant views thfough many a door frame a building bears it out. Not only are there homes but one service station has been in operation for 18 months and a small factory run by veterans turns out plywood furniture. Not forgetting that a little pleasure is necessary during this short life of ours there is also a very pleasant spot, just completed, to while away the evening hours after dusk.

New Theatre Built

Peterborough's latest, and certainly most unique amusement centre, is the new Drive In Theatre just north of Nassau on Highway 28. It opened its doors, or we should more correctly describe them as wing walls, last Saturday night as cars, bumper to bumper, flocked to the natural amphitheater in the Smith Hills to witness the first show; it was a sell-out and several cars were turned away.

Supposing you had never been there and wonder what a drive-in theatre is like, it would be the same as being able to drive into your local theatre in your car and view the show without getting out. No one cares whether or not you wear working clothes, take of your shoes, pack the car with kids, or bring Uncle Jack and Aunt Martha who are shutins and haven't ever seen one of these new-fangled "speaking" pictures; its an amusement meant for family groups. Even newlyweds with a small baby at home to mind need not worry about the sitter problem or periodic bottle warming; there is a free service of the latter type available.

As you drive in the entrance beside showy beds of perennial flowers to the modern ticket stand where two winsome girl take your price of admission, a uniformed attendant with a flash light directs you into the body of the theatre to a slightly-raised ramp beside one of the many iron standards. On each post are two loud speakers boxes; you hang one on the door sill of your car and if the night is cool you may still crank the window up. The curved ramps are slightly elevated which enable you to see over the cars ahead of you to the massive projection screen 40 by 30 feet. The modern fire-proof projection booth equipped with the latest twin projectors throw the image 230 feet to the screen.

These "In" theatres are mushrooming all over the continent just as quickly as building materials are available. In New Jersey there is a "Fly-In" theatre with accomodations for 25 light aircraft and complete with runways and in another Eastern State, a "Canoe-in" project.

The building statistics of the Peterborough Drive-In Theatre are interesting in themselves. The theatre scenee rises 48 feet and a: its base houses offices and change rooms for the staff of 25 who work six nights a week. The front of the tower facing the roads acts as a marquee and wing fences on either side prevent glare from passing traffic headlights on the Highway. The whole field area is surrounded by an aluminum fluted sheeting fence eight feet high and the front area of about four acres will be completely seeded to grass and landscaped. The Theatre will operate from May 1st until the end of October and will offer the finest first-run movie fare to be seen anywhere.

Allow Will To Stand Scratched On Tractor

SASKATOON, Aug. 7.—(CP). —Surrogate Court of Saskatchewan has admitted to probate a will scratched on a tractor fender.

When Cecil G. Harris of McGee, Sask., 75 miles southwest of here, was pinned early in June beneath a tractor for nine hours, he scratched his will on the fender.

It read: 'In case I die in this mess, I leave all to the wife." He signed it.

Harris succumbed two days after his ordeal. In his pocket was discovered a penknife which bore evidence of being the instrument which scraped the message.

Sturgeon Yields 30-Pound Muskie

LINDSAY, Aug. 7.—(ENS). — A new challenger for the "Isaac Walton" title in this district was declared today when Bill Brown, veteran Lindsay fisherman, landed a 30-pound muskie off Sturgeon Point.

Using a double spinner, Brown was forced to land the fish in record time as the hooks were showing. It measured 50¼ inches and was the third muskie landed by him this week. Previously he had caught 11 and 20-lb. muskies.

While Brown's whopper is claimed to be a record for Sturgeon Lake, the fish caught by Colin McDonald off Brockenshire's shore at Cameron Lake on July 18th, is bigger by three pounds. On Wednesday Norman Wakeford of Port Perry, landed a 28 pound, 46 inch muskie near Long Beach, Sturgeon Lake.

Budget Survey Gives Family Meals for Two Days at $5

By MARGARET LANCASTER

High prices have far exceeded the weather as a topic of casual conversation. Particularly this week when an increase of 13 cents on one pound of shortening rubbed pie off the menu of the average Canadian family. With meat at an all-time high, a "buy no meat for one week" campaign was being organized across the country when suddenly eggs shot to 78 cents per dozen.

Curious as to how Mrs. Peterborough is to "make ends meet", a survey was made of prices in local grocery stores, taking into consideration the specials for her week-end shopping, and the advantage of buying large sizes and quantities. With careful planning, and very careful planning is a "must," she can healthfully feed a family of two adults and two children on $16 this week.

The computation was made with strict adherence to Canada's food rules for health taking thte minimum of milk, fruit, vegetables, cereals, bread, meat, fish, eggs and cheese considered necessary for each individual per week. Absolutely no pastry is served and there is no ketchup, or pickles, or dressing for salad. There may be housewives in the city who can keep their budget under this figure, depending on the particular appetites of the family and the size of the children. In such cases food supplements such as cod liver oil and vitamin capsules are usually necessary, and they are even more costly. However, there are very many homes in which the weekly food bill is greatly exceeding $16 these days, in fact it is easily doubled and still provides no out-of-season tidbits.

As a part of its "Save Food Campaign" the Canadian Association of Consumers offers a sample budget covering six meals for Saturday and Sunday, and asks experienced housewives to send in their own suggestions for bettering it. The menu they choose is simple but good:

For the two breakfasts: apple or tomator juice, dry cereal, eggs in some form for one breakfast, buttered toast, tea or coffee and milk.

Saturday lunch: bean soup made with navy beans and balance of tomato juice, peanut butter sandwiches, tea and milk.

Saturday dinner: pot roast, mashed potatoes, buttered cabbage, bread and butter, jello, coffee or tea and milk.

Sunday lunch: creamed salmon on toast, cottage cheese sandwiches, tea and milk.

Sunday dinner: remainder of pot roast, whole potatoes, buttered beets, bread and butter, baked custard, tea or coffee and milk.

In Peterborough this week-end sufficient supplies only for the above meals can be bought for exactly $5. There is a slight inconvenience to be considered here, however: th shopper must have made a careful survey of prices in the various stores and buy each article where it is the cheapest.

Checking on food store advertisers in the Examiner during the first week of August, 1939, just a month before war with Germany was declared, it is found that exactly the same food could have been purchased for $2.50. So, if the salary has not doubled in the past nine years there is good reason for strong objection to present day levels and fear of rumors of further increases to come shortly.

Saddest part of the situation is that greatest increases are found on the food staples which one must have to live. Bread, sliced or unsliced, brown or white, came at two loaves for 13 cents in 1939. A family of four requires more than five loaves per week which today costs more than 75 cents.

First grade butter was available then at two pounds for 45c. Eggs, A large, were quoted at 26 and 27 cents, today they are 78c. Fresh milk has gone from 10c per quart to 17c, and the evaported variety which was hard to sell at three tins for 25c is now two for 29c. Cheese, an important source of vitamins, was selling for 18c a pound for the brand now quoted at 42c. Creamed cheese that was 15c is now 24c. Cornflakes were selling then at three packages for 25c, now, two for 27c, with other dry cereals increased seven to ten cents per package.

A peck of potatoes, or 15 pounds, was 25c in 1939, choice corn came at two dozen for 29c, and a six-quart basket of tomatoes was 25c. Bananas were three pounds for 23c and oranges three dozen for 47c. Fresh table pears and peaches were advertised on August 4th at six for 19c. Tomato juice was just three cents for ten ounces then, and orange juice was two tins for 19c. There has been little change in the price of fresh carrots, cabbage, celery and grapefruit.

Meats, of course, show the greatest change: in price per pound:

	1939	1948
Boneless brisket pot roast	15	49
Chuck roast	11	45
Pork tenderloin	13	90
Round steak	23	74
Hamburg steak	12	39
Peameal cottage rolls	18	55
Breakfast bacon	21	73
Prime rib roast	24	54
Sausages	13	45

But morale hit a new low when the page was turned and bold black type asked the question, "Why pay rent when you can own a home like this for $21.75 per month?" A cosy five-room brick bungalow is pictured and the vital statistics are: lot, $50.00, cost of house $2,450.00; total $2,500. Terms are ten per cent down and the balance in monthly payments which includes taxes.

Liberal Women's Resolutions Not Yet Reached

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Aug. 7 — (CP) — With at least 10 women on the resolutions committee chances are the National Federation of Liberal Women won't have to bring on those 26 "strong" women it threatened to do, should the committee fail to place its resolutions before the convention.

As the convention resumed today there were still many proposals to be studied, and a committee member, Mrs. Maurice Cormier of Montreal, said the women's resolutions had not yet been reached.

"However, when they do you may be sure we will fight for them," she assured.

Top resolution introduced by the Federation uges that the party give its women members the "political oppertunities and political recognition they deserve."

A second resultion asks that one-third of the senators appointed in each province be women.

Another asks the appointment of the fair sex to important positions in the government.

Lastly there is one recommeding the establishment of Mackenzie King centres in all large cities of Canada "where students, professoinal an industrial persons, might meet to discuss mutual problems."

Other women on the committee include: Mrs. J. J. McMahon, North Bay and Mrs. Dobbie, Port Arthur.

Current Fashions No Longer Funny

NEW YORK. — We can't go around laughing at women's clothes any more, the lady said.

Kay Sullivan, former president of the New York Fashion Group, says they're "no longer the funny bone of current history."

Because nobody could still be laughing at long skirts and tent-shaped coats. And nobody, so far, has come up with anything funnier.

This fall's clothes, Miss Sullivan told a fashion group meeting, are like last year's or just a little less so.

Their length is about the same —12 inches off the floor for daytime, 10 inches for dress-up short of formality.

Their shoulders are still narrow, but a little more padded. Their waists are still small, but not breathless.

And their hips, it is noted, have for a change "a significant flat look."

Coats remain full-flared in many cases, but an almost equal number are fitted. And the back flare of the peignoir begins lower—just below the shoulder blades instead of the hairline.

Skirt fullness has lost lots of its bumps. A good many skirts come straight. Some of the prettiest have a moderate flare below slim hips. And those that still use lots of material have a straight spot someplace—usually in front.

Collars and pockets are going to be "interesting." Miss Sullivan promised. They've got collars on everything—even strapless evening dresses, she said. All kinds. And pockets.
